

Annexe 1: Comparison of the DCAL Draft Museums Policy and the CAL Committee Recommendations

No.	CAL Recommendation summary	Reference in draft Museums Policy
1	Department should develop a formal museums policy	A draft Museums Policy was released for consultation by DCAL in June 2010.
2	Important to cover all museums in the sector – independents, local council and nationals	Coverage or remit of the policy is not specifically addressed in the draft policy itself, though the accompanying Ministerial Statement indicates that the policy ‘sets the framework for the development of our national and local museums’.
3	National, local council and independent museums should work in partnership; create a cohesive museums sector	The themes of cohesion, integration and partnership are mentioned a number of times throughout the draft policy, especially in sections 2, 3 and 8. However, no specific structures or governance arrangements are described.
4	Strategic body in place, whether Northern Ireland Museums Council (NIMC) or successor body, to co-ordinate development of museums on geographical and thematic lines	Goal IIR1 states the intention ‘to strengthen the governance, management and leadership across the museums sector’. However, no specific body is mentioned in the policy.
5	Museums should be able to tell the stories of their communities in an independent manner, albeit within the context of the Programme for Government commitment to the Shared Future agenda	This point is addressed in 3.5, 8.2 and 9.2. There is an emphasis in the draft policy on museums meeting the cultural rights of citizens, particularly within the context of four human rights conventions listed in Appendix 1.
6	Policy should raise profile of museums within government and place them in a cross-departmental context	3.1 states that the ‘overarching context’ for this policy is the Executive’s Programme for Government, and 8.2 refers more generally to the contribution of museums to the ‘broader policy agendas across Government’. No further reference is made specifically to cross-departmental contexts.
7	Strengthen links between museums and education at a departmental level – involving DCAL, DE and DEL	Section 6 deals with ‘Education and Learning’, stating that museums should be ‘excellent centres of learning’. Goal EL4 states an intention to ‘enhance museums’ engagement with the formal education sector’, but the main emphasis would appear to be on museums themselves developing better educational programmes and facilities. Links with DE and DEL are not referred to.
8	Links between museums and tourism should be strengthened and taken forward at a departmental level – links between DCAL and DETI important	Goal DA4 identifies the need to ‘strengthen museums as a key component of the tourism product of Northern Ireland’. However, no explicit links with DETI are referred to.

9	Policy should address how museums can contribute to Shared Future agenda, in consultation with OFMDFM	Policy states in 3.3 that museums 'have a critical contribution in creating a shared and better future in Northern Ireland', though no further details are given. The draft CSI document refers in section 6.6 to the aim of ensuring that 'museums are seen as safe places for everyone to explore and participate in diverse types of community activity'.
10	Address how current functions of NIMC will be carried out after RPA comes into effect. Non-national museums rely on NIMC for support and guidance	NIMC is not referred to in the draft policy, and nor is RPA.
11	NIMC should continue in its present form until museums policy is implemented; urge Minister to note strong support for NIMC	As above – no reference to NIMC.
12	Include a strategy for the accreditation scheme under RPA	Accreditation is described in 3.4, and identified as a specific goal in IIR2, 'to consolidate the Museum Accreditation Scheme as the sector standard and as the gateway to public funding'. No reference is made to RPA.
13	Consider appropriate level of museums provision across post-RPA council areas; ensure greater equality in museums provision across the different council areas	A number of general references to the relevance and importance of museums to local interests and agenda are made (such as 2.3 and 8.2), and goal IIR5 states an intention to 'ensure that local museums...have adequate and effective guidance and support'. However, the issue of balance of provision across council areas is not addressed.
14	Provide local councils with guidance on how to develop the museum sector in their area	This is not referred to in the draft policy.
15	Set out strong vision of museums in our society; must be clear about what museums do and for whom, including both the needs of their local communities and the needs of tourists	Draft policy as a whole attempts to do this, particularly in section 2 and the associated Ministerial Statement.
16	Address the issue of staff training/development, including curatorial skills	Section 7 refers to the care of collections, but staff training is not mentioned here. 2.3 refers to staff having 'the necessary skills and access to training in order to provide high quality visitor experiences', and goal EL7 aims to 'strengthen continuous professional development of staff'.
17	Address the issue of access to museums and whether there is a case for extending free access to more museums	Free access is not referred to , though 2.3 refers in general terms to the importance of museums being considered 'welcoming' and 'safe'. Section 5 states that 'museums should strive to ensure universal access to their buildings and their collections and their services’.

18	Address how museums can contribute to education and lifelong learning	All of section 6 is dedicated to ‘Education and Learning’, with seven goals setting out improvements to museums education services and the encouragement of greater links between museums and the formal education sector.
19	Address the issue of acquiring and managing collections	Section 7 is dedicated to ‘Collections development’, and covers such aspects as the care and management of artefacts, and the development of collections.
20	Accreditation should be addressed	Accreditation is directly addressed in section 8, and goal IIR2, which refers to consolidating the ‘Museum Accreditation Scheme as the sector standard’.
21	Policy should address how the military and maritime museum sectors can be developed	Specific themes and periods of heritage are not addressed, so military and maritime are not referred to specifically.
22	Policy should address which themes are not currently being covered by museums and how these themes can be developed; sporting history is noted in particular	Sporting history is not referred to. However, the principle of identifying in general what aspects of heritage are not presented and undertaking ‘gap’ filling is addressed in section 7.3.
23	Issue of increasing private sector investment in museums should be addressed	Section 8.1 specifically states that ‘museums increasingly need to look at the sustainable use of resources and their capacity to develop streams of self-generated income’.
24	Museums policy development should be taken forward by a panel of key stakeholders, including NIMC, National Museums Northern Ireland (NMNI), and a range of departments	It is not clear whether key stakeholders, or either of the national bodies, played a primary role in the policy-making process.
25	Policy itself should be drawn up by NIMC, drawing on the expertise of its board members, and by NMNI	It is not clear whether either NIMC or NMNI played a role in writing the draft policy.
26	Consultation should take place with all stakeholders, the Arts Council and Sport NI, and those in education, tourism and community regeneration	It is not clear which bodies took part in the consultation.
27	Process of policy-making should include examination of museums policies in other countries	It is not clear which other policies or strategies were consulted.
28	First draft of museums policy should be produced within six months	The committee’s report was released on 11 December 2008, and the draft policy was released for consultation on 24 July 2010.
