

Individual 26

Dear Sir/Madam

As a counsellor and an addiction worker I cannot stress the utmost importance of how hidden abuse remains a cancer within our society. Every woman that I have spoke to in 30 years has agreed that to recover from a bruised face or even a broken bone is soo much easier than the mental anguish of domestic abuse. It also leads to the breakdown of the family unit and often negative self coping strategies which lead to addiction.

If you require any further information please call me