Dr Farry: No arms length bodies have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment

Invest NI: Bonus to Chief Executive

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, to detail (i) whether she has received or approved any recommendation from the Board of InvestNI in relation to the payment of a performance bonus to the Chief Executive of InvestNI in the (a) 2009/10; (b) 2010/2011; and (c) 2011/12 financial years; (ii) when any such bonuses were paid; and (iii) how much was paid on each occasion.

(AQW 10938/11-15)

Mrs Foster (The Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment): The arrangements relating to the performance element of the Invest NI Chief Executive’s remuneration for 2009/10 are set out in the Invest NI Annual Report and Accounts for 2010/11. No decisions have been taken in relation to the 2010/11 and 2011/12 financial years.

Quinn Group

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how much support her Department and InvestNI have given to the Quinn Group since May 2007.

(AQW 12100/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Quinn Glass was offered support of £750,000 (against eligible costs of £22.8million) from Invest NI in July 2007 for the upgrading of two furnaces to enhance the capacity and improve the capability of downstream production equipment. This offer has been fully drawn down in two tranches in September 2007 and September 2008.

Although no longer part of the Quinn Group, Quinn Insurance was offered support of £300,000 in July 2007 for the implementation of a training and development plan which was fully implemented. Quinn Insurance Limited was acquired by the Liberty Mutual Group in November 2011 and the transferable skills developed through the aforementioned training investment were retained by the new owners or enhanced the local labour pool.

Arm’s-length Bodies: Pension Schemes

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether all pensions across her Department’s arm’s-length bodies, including InvestNI, are now exclusively Consumer Price Indexed, including benefits earned by contributions before the change from the Retail Price Index; and to detail any exceptions.

(AQW 12177/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Invest NI is covered by the Principal Civil Service Pensions Scheme (NI).

As outlined in EPN12/2012, the measure used to uprate public service pensions from April 2011 is the Consumer Prices Index. As this is applicable to the Principal Civil Service Pensions Scheme (NI) it is also applicable to all Invest NI staff within the PCSPS (NI).

There are no exceptions.

North West 200: Funding

Mr Craig asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how much funding her Department has allocated to the North West 200 in each of the last three years; and for what purpose was the funding used.

(AQW 12441/11-15)

Mrs Foster: In 2011/12 the Northern Ireland Tourist Board (NITB) awarded the North West 200 £65,000 towards Marketing and Marquee Costs.

The Events Fund for the previous 2 years 2009/10 and 2010/11 came under the remit of the Department of Culture, Arts & Leisure (DCAL).

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what plans she has to reduce (i) the number of QUANGOs; and (ii) the operational cost of QUANGOs.

(AQW 12542/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My Department sponsors four Executive NDPBs and there are currently no plans in place to reduce the number of these bodies.

The NDPBs are planning to absorb any increased operating costs through the generation of efficiencies.

Natural Gas Network

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether there is a conflict between her duty to promote the natural gas network and the exploitation of deep geothermal resources.

(AQW 12597/11-15)

Mrs Foster: No.

Unfair Contract Terms Legislation

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for her assessment of consumer rights in Northern Ireland, with specific regard to the suitability of Unfair Contract Terms legislation.

(AQW 12626/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The Unfair Terms in Consumer Contract Regulations 1999 implement for the UK European Directive (93/13/EEC). The regulations apply to all contracts between a seller or supplier and a consumer. Terms found to be unfair are not binding on a consumer. The regulations give power for injunctive action to be taken, either by the Office of Fair trading or one of the 'Qualifying Bodies' (of which the Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment is one) in Schedule 1 to the Regulations, through the civil courts to stop the continuing use of such terms.

The regulations have a significant role to play in ensuring that consumers are protected from unfair trading practices.

Hydraulic Fracturing: Assembly Resolution

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what action she has taken in relation the motion passed by the Assembly on 6 December 2011 which called for a moratorium on hydraulic fracturing and the withdrawal of the licences issued to companies intending to conduct hydraulic fracturing, given that under the ministerial pledge of office she has a duty to support, and to act in accordance with, all decisions of the Executive Committee and the Assembly, and that the First Minister stated on 24 February 2009 that a Minister is compelled by law to act in accordance with the Assembly's decision and if a motion is passed the Minister is compelled by the Assembly's decision to act.

(AQW 12656/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The motion passed on 6 December 2011 stated that 'a moratorium should be placed on the onshore and offshore exploration, development and production of shale gas by withdrawing licences for hydraulic fracturing...'. As I pointed out during the motion debate, my Department has not issued any licences or permits for hydraulic fracturing and thus there are none to withdraw.

'Game of Thrones'

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, in light of the announcement of series three of the Game of Thrones and the continued use of the Glens of Antrim as a film location, whether she will ensure that any publicity in relation to series three will include the Glens of Antrim.

(AQW 12660/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My Department through the work of Invest NI, NI Screen, the Northern Ireland Tourist Board and other relevant agencies seeks to capitalise on the publicity opportunities available from the use of the many key locations across Northern Ireland, used in Game of Thrones, and other recent productions such as Your Highness, Whole Lotta Sole and the Oscar winning production The Shore. Both Invest NI and Northern Ireland Screen are currently utilising Game of Thrones in their international sales promotions. It is clearly understood that the credibility of association with international production projects, of this nature and scale, has significant added value opportunities for the Northern Ireland economy, not least in terms of tourism growth potential across the many film sites utilised throughout Northern Ireland including the Glens of Antrim.

Internships

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many internships are available in her Department; and if none, what plans she has to introduce an internship scheme.

(AQW 12680/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The Department of Finance and Personnel (DFP) has overall responsibility for the promotion of careers and outreach activities, using initiatives such as internships, in the NICS. In 2009-10 Corporate Human Resources (CHR) in DFP worked alongside Queens University Belfast (QUB) to initiate a placement programme for interns from the School of Politics, International Studies and Philosophy to positions within the NICS. This enables final year students to spend three days per week, for twelve weeks, engaged in workplace based learning. My Department facilitated an Internship opportunity for a QUB student in 2010/11, and although we were unable to identify a suitable internship opportunity this year, future opportunities will be considered in the next academic year.

Electricity Safety, Quality and Continuity Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2011

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for an update on the consultation on the Electricity Safety, Quality and Continuity Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2011.

(AQW 12697/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My Department carried out a 12 week statutory consultation on the proposed Electricity Safety, Quality and Continuity Regulations. The consultation ended in October 2011 and received 16 responses. These were analysed and the draft Regulations amended accordingly. The draft Regulations has now received ETI Committee approval and it is my aim to have the Regulations laid in the Northern Ireland Assembly before the Summer Recess, to come into operation by December 2012.

Written Answers

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, pursuant to AQW 11020/11-15, AQW 11021/11-15, AQW 11022/11-15 and AQW 11023/11-15, why these questions remain unanswered when previous communication stated that the answers would be available before the end of May 2012.

(AQW 12724/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Previous communications stated that 'the information requested was not yet available due to an ongoing data verification exercise by Invest NI following its financial year end'. It was also stated that Invest NI would 'make this information available to the member once this process has been completed, which should not be later than the end of May'.

The verification exercise has now been completed and the information requested has been prepared. I will write to the member separately and place a copy of the letter in the Assembly library.

Renewable Energy Generators: Cost

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for an estimate of the cost of connecting renewable energy generators to the grid; and what support is available from her Department.

(AQW 12761/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Connection costs for renewable energy generation vary in scale depending on the size, type and location of the generating station.

NIE operates a cost reflective charging process under a regulatory framework determined by the Utility Regulator and as detailed in their connection charging statement.

There is no support available from my Department towards the cost of grid connection.

Renewable Energy Generation: Targets

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether she would consider setting in-year targets for differing types of renewable energy generation, to include quarterly, half-yearly or annual targets, with a view to encouraging the industry.

(AQW 12763/11-15)

Mrs Foster: I am not minded to consider setting in year targets for differing types of renewable energy generation as the Department's targets of 40% renewable electricity and 10% renewable heat by 2020 are technology and geographically neutral. The Programme for Government has set interim targets of 20% renewable electricity and 4% renewable heat by 2015.

The intermittent nature of renewable technologies, especially wind, and the length of time required to build new installations means that targets need to be monitored over a rolling period. Over the twelve month rolling period to end March 2012, on average, 14 per cent of electricity consumption was from renewable sources.

It will be for the market to bring forward the most cost effective technologies which is consistent with other areas of the UK, none of which have technology specific targets.

Department of the Environment

Incinerators: Guidance

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the circumstances which led to his Department issuing misleading guidance to a pharmaceutical company in 2003 regarding the operation of incinerators, and whether an investigation will be carried out into the matter.

(AQW 1804/11-15)

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): Further to an investigation conducted by officials I wish to advise as follows. Guidance on Directive 2000/76/EC (Waste Incineration Directive) was issued by the Department in November 2003. The Guidance included a policy view (also contained in equivalent guidance for England and Wales) that some small waste burning appliances (notably small waste oil burners or 'SWOBs') would not be considered 'technical units' as defined in the Directive and would therefore not be subject to the controls set out in it. At the time, this view was taken because such appliances were not considered to be of the size and sophistication intended to be covered by the Directive. The large numbers of SWOBs and the fact that they were already subject to control were also taken into consideration. The Department has changed its interpretation, taking account of correspondence from the European Commission and Court judgments in the case of the pharmaceutical company in question. The Department now considers that appliances such as SWOBs are covered by the Directive and is currently consulting on amendments to the Pollution Prevention and Control Regulations (NI) 2003 and associated Guidance to reflect that change.

The Department advised Norbrook Laboratories Ltd that permits were required for the incinerators installed at its premises and confirmed this in writing on 5th May 2004. That view has been upheld by the Courts. Whilst the Department issued a subsequent letter of 7th June 2004 (which reflected the policy contained in the Guidance of 2003), the Court of Appeal found that this letter did not undermine the clear and unambiguous statement (contained in the Department's letter of 5th May 2004) setting out the Department's position.

I trust this explains the situation. I would be willing to discuss this matter further with the member, if this would be of assistance.

Planning Application V/2011/140

Mr Hilditch asked the Minister of the Environment why it took the Land and Resource Management Unit more than six months to complete the consultation on planning application V/2011/140.

(AQW 10075/11-15)

Mr Attwood: NIEA's Land and Resource Management Unit received a planning consultation for the above application on the 9 November 2011 and issued its response to Planning on 30 March 2012.

- 1 Planning permission was granted on 7 August 2008 to develop two blocks of apartments at lands at 7-39 Ellis Street, Carrickfergus in which a number of negative conditions were attached to manage the risks to health receptors and support the new use of the site. The recent consultation was seeking advice to vary three of these conditions.
- 2 The Service Level Agreement between NIEA and Planning details a number of performance targets and timelines for the NIEA in providing its advice and responses to planning consultations. These timelines are based on the nature of the consultation and detail of information to be assessed by NIEA in advising Planning.
- 3 In the case of this Ellis Street consultation, a site report and revised remediation strategy were submitted and a target response date allocated by LRM of 21 December 2012. A response was issued on the 30 March 2012, so the target date was clearly missed. This is regretted.
- 4 The LQ team within the LRM Unit deals with consultations of this technical nature for the whole of Northern Ireland and consists currently of four technical staff. The planning workload in itself far exceeds this resource capacity and consequently this team is under pressure in meeting consultation deadlines. Priority in the first instance is being given to social housing developments and strategic development projects. I hope this is understood.
- 5 There are two vacancies at the Senior Scientific Officer level within the LQ team and, through a collaborative arrangement with the Strategic Investment Board, progress is being made in seeking to recruit two hydrogeologists for a three year period. Interviews have been scheduled after Easter with appointments to be made after that. This will help address the issue identified in the AQ.

4x4 Vehicles: Bumper Bars

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of the Environment whether he has any plans to introduce measures which would require 4x4 vehicles to be fitted with bumper bars to stop other vehicles from being crushed in road traffic collisions and to bring them into line with the requirements for other large vehicles.

(AQW 10111/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The design and construction of the frontal area of motor vehicles is regulated by European Commission Regulation (EC) No. 78/2009 which is designed to maximise protection for pedestrians and other vulnerable road users. No new motor vehicle can be approved to enter service which does not comply with the strict technical requirements of this EC Regulation; the responsibility for certifying vehicles for use on the UK's roads is a matter for the Vehicle Certification Agency, part of the Department for Transport.

I therefore have no plans to introduce additional frontal protection measures for 4x4 vehicles.

Cost of Providing Services in Our Divided Society

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of the Environment for an estimate of the annual additional cost to his Department of providing its services in our divided society, broken down by (i) capital; and (ii) revenue costs.

(AQW 10169/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The cost of division research was commissioned on 29 March 2006 and as such was conducted and finalised during direct rule. The interpretation of and commentary on the datasets contained in the report produced by Deloitte therefore represent the views of Deloitte. The report of itself does not form an agreed basis for future policy development.

The report cites a total figure of £1½ billion pounds as the estimated value of additional, annual expenditure as a result of division in our society. The research provides an upper limit of the cost of the divide by comparing Northern Ireland's public expenditure as a percentage of the GDP with that of other comparable regions.

This comparison indicates a maximum additional spend in the range of £1 ½ billion but a wide range of other factors influence this level of spend, such as deprivation and demographics, not just the impact of the divide or the troubles. The £1½ billion figure is not a summation of the actual costs that were able to be identified but a comparator with other regions.

Therefore, overall due to the number of variables involved it is not possible to calculate the annual additional cost of service delivery that is due to our divided society. However, in relation to the services provided by DOE it is likely that any additional costs would be of a lower level.

Assets Owned by District Councils

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment to list the assets owned by each district council, excluding property, which are worth more than £100,000, including the individual value.

(AQW 11011/11-15)

Mr Attwood: A list of council assets currently worth more than £100,000 Net Book Value (NBV) is included in the table below.

| Council    | Asset   | Amount£ |
| Ballymena  | 26 Tonne Refuse Collection Vehicle with a NBV | 121,833     |

National Parks: Consultation

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment whether the majority of the responses to the consultation on National Parks last year were in support or opposed to the creation of National Parks.

(AQW 11056/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department received a total of 234 responses to the consultation. Of these, 164 took the form of identical campaign letters from private individuals, largely from the Mourne area, objecting to the establishment of a national park. A number of other respondents (in addition to those who signed campaign letters) were also opposed to national parks. A synopsis of responses is available on the Department's website.

I believe the greater weight of response and the greater weight of argument is firmly in favour of national parks.

Marine Conservation Zones

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the impact that Marine Conservation Zones will have on shooting rights and shooting leases.

(AQW 11062/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Marine Bill will provide for a new national designation process for the establishment of Marine Conservation Zones (MCZs) in Northern Ireland's territorial waters to enhance protection for nationally important marine wildlife and habitats.

They will be agreed on a site-by-site basis. The development of MCZs will be undertaken in collaboration with key stakeholders and potential MCZs will be subject to full consultation.

It is envisaged that most MCZs will be designated primarily for the protection of seabed features and as such will have little impact on shooting rights and leases.

High Court Action: Cost

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment what consideration he has given to the cost of High Court action as set out in Clause 8 of the Marine Bill.

(AQW 11064/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Clause 8 of the Marine Bill defines the grounds upon which a person aggrieved by a marine plan may apply to the High Court - that the plan is not within the powers of the Department, or that a procedural requirement has not been complied with.

The Marine Bill clearly sets out the powers of the Department and the procedural requirements for the preparation, adoption and publication of a marine plan. The Department will develop marine plans within these boundaries, and thus legal challenges

(and their associated costs) should be minimised. Furthermore, due to the participative process by which marine plans will be developed, it is anticipated that such legal challenges would be unlikely.

The Department has the normal arrangements in place in respect of any High Court challenge. Should a potential risk be identified the Department has procedures in place for the assessment of any identified risk. At that stage, potential costs could be calculated. I trust that there is no suggestion that government should attempt to frustrate proper access to High Court remedy, if legally valid and justified.

Marine Bill: Consultation

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment what consultation his Department has carried out with the (i) British Association for Shooting and Conservation; (ii) Countryside Alliance Ireland; and (ii) Northern Ireland Marine Task Force in relation to the Marine Bill.

(AQW 11067/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has consulted with a wide-range of stakeholders on several occasions during the preparation of the Marine Bill. Methods of engagement included; newspaper advertisements, dedicated websites; notification letters and stakeholder events.

Both the British Association for Shooting and Conservation and the Northern Ireland Marine Task Force submitted responses to the consultation on policy proposals for the Marine Bill, which was undertaken in April 2010. The Department has also provided responses to regular requests for information on the Marine Bill from both organisations.

Countryside Alliance Ireland has made no representations to the Department on the Marine Bill but there has been regular correspondence with the organisation in relation to terrestrial conservation and wildlife issues.

Further consultations will be undertaken by the Department in respect of marine plans, designation of Marine Conservation Zones and any byelaws associated with these zones.

PPS 21: Farm Dwellings

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of the Environment, for each of the last two years, to detail how many planning applications for farm dwellings under PPS 21 have been (i) submitted; and (ii) approved, broken down by divisional planning office.

(AQW 11071/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The number of planning applications (i) submitted in the last two years for farm dwellings under PPS 21 is detailed in Table 1 below.

| Area Office                          | 2010/2011  | 2011/2012 (Q1-Q3) | Total      |

Please note, the figures provided for 2011/2012 relate to applications received and decisions made in the first 3 quarters up to 31 December 2011 and are the latest statistics currently available, are provisional and may be subject to change following validation for the publication of the 2011/2012 Annual Statistical Report.

Private Residential Dwelling/Care Home Facility

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of the Environment what actions an owner of a private residential dwelling must undertake to change it to a care home facility, including meeting the obligations of planning policies and consulting with individuals living in close proximity to the facility.

(AQW 11103/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Part C (Residential Uses) of The Planning (Use Classes) Order (Northern Ireland) 2004 provides a useful starting point for anyone considering changing the use of a property to a care home facility.

The Use Classes Order groups together uses which are sufficiently similar that a change from any use in a class to any other use within the same class does not involve development. By virtue of this Order a change of use from a dwelling house used by a single person or by people living together as a family to a dwelling house used by not more than 6 residents living as a single household where care is provided for residents is not considered to be development and therefore does not require planning permission.

If, however, the proposal does meet the above limitations or involves a change of use from a dwelling house to a residential institution and care to people in need of care, a planning application would be required. The fact and circumstances of each particular case must therefore be considered.

There are many material considerations that may be relevant in the determination of a planning application for a care home facility and these will vary depending on the specific circumstances of each case. Each application is therefore considered on its own merit.

However, as a starting point, Planning Policy Statement 1 General Principles sets out the key themes that underlie the Department's overall approach to planning across the whole range of land use topics. Development Control Advice Note (DCAN) No 9 sets out the planning considerations to which the Department will have regard when considering applications for residential and nursing homes. As highlighted in DCAN 9, considerations can include issues such as the siting of the proposal, the location, traffic implications, history of the site, impact on amenity as well as design and layout. This list is not however exhaustive.

Where relevant, the land use zonings and local policies contained within the local area plan will also provide local policies and land use zonings to be taken into account in reaching a balanced decision.

Adjacent neighbours will be notified of the application under the neighbour notification scheme; it will be advertised in the local press and available for viewing on the Planning website. The general public will therefore have an opportunity to make comments to Planning on any planning issues in relation to the proposal.

I would encourage applicants to discuss any proposals with those adjacent to the site and those they consider would likely to be affected by the proposed development. This communication at an early stage in the process may assist in alleviating concerns in relation to the proposal.

Planning will take all planning comments received into account, including comments from relevant consultees to the planning process and the local council before reaching a balanced judgement on the planning application.

Planning Applications

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number of planning applications received by each divisional planning office in each of the last five years.

(AQW 11131/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Table 1 overleaf provides the number of planning applications received by each divisional planning office from 1st April 2006 through to the latest published figures as at December 2011.

Asda Store at Loughside Recreation Centre, North Belfast

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) the public meetings between his Department and local residents on the proposed Asda store at Loughside Recreation Centre, North Belfast; (ii) the individual submissions for and against the development; (iii) whether his Department weights individual submissions differently from collective submissions when assessing whether a development ought to proceed; (iv) whether his Department is aware of any proposals/actions taken by Asda to purchase other land in the vicinity of the project; (v) for his assessment of whether the proposals negatively impact on people's access to free, local outdoor spaces; (vi) for his assessment of Belfast City Council's use of a tick box form as a reliable method of gauging the wishes of the local community; (vii) for his assessment of the results of Asda's tick box form, which were submitted to his Department, to back up the case in favour of the new Asda store as a reliable method of gauging the wishes of the local community.

(AQW 11176/11-15)

Mr Attwood: There have been no public meetings between the Department and local residents regarding the current planning application – which includes a proposed Asda store – for Loughside Recreation Centre, North Belfast.

The Department has so far received 1,482 individual letters of objection to the application and two individual letters of support.

When assessing a planning application, the Department does not distinguish between individual and collective submissions in terms of weight attributed to them. The Department will focus on the issues raised as opposed to the method in which they are raised.

The Department is not aware of any proposals/actions by Asda to purchase other land in the vicinity of the application site.

The potential impact of the proposed development on the open/outdoor space will be fully considered by the Department as part of the ongoing assessment of the planning application.

With regard to the use of a tick box form as a reliable method of gauging the wishes of the local community, there is no legal impediment to submitting information in this format. The Department will consider the issues raised as opposed to the format in which they are submitted.

Given that the processing of this application remains ongoing, I am not in a position at the present time to comment on the results of any submissions made by Asda.

Carbon Reduction Targets

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 9512/11-15 (i) what progress has been made in reducing green house gas emissions; and (ii) what are the targets set for each council.

(AQW 11200/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Executive is committed through its Programme for Government to continue to work towards a reduction in greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by at least 35% on 1990 levels by 2025. The latest data (2009) show that GHG emissions in Northern Ireland fell by 20% compared with 1990 levels.<sup>1</sup>

I chair the Cross-Departmental Working Group on Climate Change whose Greenhouse Gas Emissions Reduction Action Plan<sup>2</sup>, published in February 2011, sets out the policies and measures which each department would undertake to help meet the Executive's emissions reduction target. The plan also contains a commitment to report to the Executive annually on performance. The first progress report to the Executive is due this month and will be published in the coming weeks on my Department's website.

I intend to bring forward a Climate Change Bill with challenging emission targets on the face of the Bill. I asked for and received positive advice from the Committee for Climate Change in this regard. I would wish to see this robust approach part of Council practice and I will assess how this can be done.

Pollution at Kinnegar Lagoons, Holywood

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister of the Environment why no formal action has been taken by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency against NI Water in relation to the on-going pollution at Kinnegar Lagoons, Holywood.

(AQW 11278/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Following substantiated polluting discharges from the Kinnegar Waste Water Treatment Works (WWTW) in 2009 and 2010, Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) issued Northern Ireland Water (NIW) with a Warning Letter under the Water (Northern Ireland) Order 1999 on 20 August 2010.

NIEA has not issued any further warning letters or carried out further enforcement action in relation to the Kinnegar WWTW as poor environmental performance is mainly due to historic under investment in sewerage infrastructure rather than poor operational management. NIW has responded to the warning letter issued in August 2010 and has been working with NIEA towards establishing a resolution to this issue.

Given the pollution history, magnitude of impact and the interconnectivity of the both the pond/reed bed and sewerage systems, NIEA has raised concerns with NIW that there may be other unidentified discharges occurring in the area. With the age of the existing sewerage infrastructure and the fact that some of this infrastructure is beneath the ponds, the possibility of sewage leaks from subsidence can-not be ruled out.

As a consequence of this, NIEA requested that NIW carry out a full survey of the operation of the sewerage infrastructure in the area. A report, detailing the findings of the survey, was requested as a condition in the Warning Letter issued in August 2010.

The draft report which was produced in October 2010 recommended a new gravity sewer along the Belfast Road to collect sewerage from Strathearn Court, Jackson's Road and Palace Barracks and pass forward to a new pumping station located on NIW land adjacent to Kinnegar WWTW. The sewer will close the overflows currently discharging to the reed beds adjacent to Kinnegar WWTW. This recommendation is being developed as a conclusive solution.

The report also identified defects within the existing network which have been addressed. NIW has indicated that consultations with stakeholders are on-going with a view to starting on site early 2013. There is potential for this project to be advanced to the autumn of 2012, subject to funding.

In the interim, NIEA carried out a further investigation on 3 August 2011 in relation to this issue. The Agency's investigation suggested that the three Combined Sewer Overflows (CSOs), which were the focus of the consultant's investigation initiated by NIW, may not be the sole cause of the current problems. NIEA identified a potential area of concern in the sewer network and requested that NIW investigate the issue further.

This investigation was carried out on 19 August 2011 by NIW with NIEA officials in attendance. The investigation involved a dye test which showed that the flow was entering Kinnegar WWTW inlet but did not highlight any areas of leakage from this section of sewer.

NIW has carried out desilting of the three CSOs and has increased the frequency of their maintenance visits in order to prevent pollution to the area and also to monitor the situation more closely. NIW have also removed a restriction downstream of the Palace Barracks CSO which will also assist towards reducing spills to the local waterway.

Life-saving Equipment: Helen's Bay and Crawfordsburn Beaches

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister of the Environment what life saving equipment is in place at Helen's Bay and Crawfordsburn Beaches to reduce the risk of drowning.

(AQW 11279/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Royal National Lifeboat Institution (RNLI), in November 2011, at the request of the Northern Ireland Environment Agency, assessed the risk of drowning at both Helen's Bay and Crawfordsburn beaches. The assessments indicated that the risks at both beaches are low. The key control measures suggested by the RNLI to make the beaches safer included signage to provide information to visitors before they arrive at the beaches and Public Rescue Equipment for the river mouth of the Crawford's Burn, which shelves steeply. These measures are being procured and are expected to be in place by the end of May 2012. RNLI has advised that life rings and throw bags have been found to be ineffective for gently-shelving beaches such as Helen's Bay and Crawfordsburn.

Goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of the Environment what steps he is taking to ensure that in future planning regulations are enforced at the goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh.

(AQW 11305/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I have instructed planning officials to provide me an update every six weeks on the implementation of the recent Ombudsman conclusions and how current planning conditions are being complied with. I have also advised the Divisional Planning Office to advise the mine operators that there will be a 2 monthly stocktake with them, meeting to monitor compliance.

Goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of the Environment why it took the Planning Service more than a year to issue an enforcement notice informing the company to stop the unauthorised removal of rock at the goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh.

(AQW 11306/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In responding to the complaint raised with the Ombudsman, the Department advised that the delay in taking effective enforcement action was as a result of negotiations with the mine operator along with requests for legal advice. The Ombudsman did not accept this explanation and it was his opinion that the delay demonstrated a complete failure to protect the public interest. The Department accepts this conclusion. I also refer to AQW 11305/11-15.

Goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to the goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh, for his assessment of the statement by the Northern Ireland Ombudsman that Planners failure to act in relation to the issues at the goldmine and that this represented maladministration and a major system failure at the Planning Service.

(AQW 11308/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I have stated previously, and will do so again, be it on planning applications or planning enforcement, the planning system has to act properly, move quickly and give confidence to all. If there is a failure to live up to these standards, it is right and necessary that Planning and the Department are held to account and be seen to be held to account.

The Department accepts the findings of maladministration and major system failure set out in the Ombudsman's report. The Department also accepts the Ombudsman's recommendations and I have asked for an update every six weeks on how the recommendations are being acted on. I refer to AQW 11305/11-15 in this regard.

Belfast International Airport: Private Car Parks

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment how many of the private car parks at Belfast International Airport do not have planning approval, and how many applied for planning approval retrospectively.

(AQW 11374/11-15)

Mr Attwood: South Antrim Area Planning Office is currently investigating 6 alleged unauthorised car parks in the vicinity of Belfast International Airport. Of these, 4 applied retrospectively for planning approval for car parking, 1 applied for a Certificate of Lawful Development for commercial car parking and 1 has applied retrospectively for a car storage compound associated with a car hire business. A summary of the planning applications and application for Certificate of Lawful Development is contained in Appendix 1.

Vintage Vehicles: Tax Exemption

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of the Environment whether he has any plans to extend tax exemption for vintage vehicles dated after 1971.

(AQW 11393/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The criterion for an historic vehicle to be exempt from vehicle excise duty is that the vehicle must have been built or registered prior to 1 January 1973.

Responsibility for rates or duty and criteria for exemptions are a matter for the Treasury, as part of wider fiscal policy, and the Department for Transport. I understand there are no plans at present to change the criterion for exemption of an historic vehicle, but would be prepared to make representations if there was good argument and good support.

LIFE+ Programme

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment if his Department has any plans to make a bid for funding under the LIFE+ Programme in 2012.

(AQW 11433/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) is part of a consortium preparing a bid to LIFE+ for a project called 'Marine Pathways'. This project is to assist manage the growing threat from the spread of invasive alien species in the marine environment. The bid should be submitted to the current LIFE+ call for applications and the consortium includes bodies in Northern Ireland, ROI, England, Scotland and Wales.

The total value of the bid is around £3 million over 5 years.

If the bid is successful the Loughs Agency will lead a cross border project team and part of its work will focus on invasive alien species in Belfast Lough.

NIEA is also in discussion with QUB regarding a possible appointment of a researcher to assist with monitoring and restoration work associated with the horse mussel (Modiolus) reefs in Strangford Lough. The post holder will be required to seek opportunities to secure LIFE+ funding for this work.

I consider that the opportunities for funding are not being exploited to the full, including under the €50 billion FP7 research/innovation/development fund. I am looking of how to build greater capacity into DOE and learning from the Dublin experience and success. I do not consider the current situation satisfactory.

LIFE+ Programme

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment why his Department has not yet made a bid for funding under the LIFE+ Programme since its inception in 2007.

(AQW 11434/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) made an application in 2010 for LIFE+ funding, unfortunately without success.

The Agency is however a partner with the Environment Agency for England and Wales in two LIFE+ projects. The first project is designed to monitor waste from production to collection, transportation, treatment and disposal on a national scale. The other project is designed to demonstrate to businesses and stakeholders new methodology to derive quality waste products without the need for waste controls, in order to raise consumer confidence in such products.

The two projects are worth €7.5 million with 50% funding provided by LIFE+.

LIFE+ Programme

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment whether he is aware that the LIFE+ Programme provides matching funding of €2 billion for environmental projects.

(AQW 11435/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am aware of the LIFE+ funding programme and that the budget allocation for the duration of the programme, 2007 – 2013, is €2.143 billion.

Every year the European Commission launches one call for LIFE+ proposals. This year the call for Proposals was launched on 13 March 2012 with up to €276 million being made available for co-financing of projects under three headings: Nature and biodiversity; Environment policy and governance; and Information and communication.

In keeping with normal practice the Commission has allocated every Member State with an annual allocation and for 2012/13 the United Kingdom's allocation is €21.6 m.

LIFE+ Programme

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment whether he is aware of the funding available through the LIFE+ Programme.

(AQW 11436/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The LIFE programme is the only European Union funding programme dedicated to delivering European environmental policy and legislation. LIFE+ is the current phase of the programme.

The Department, as a Competent Authority, has responsibility for providing the Government view (in consultation with relevant Departments/Agencies) and agreement to the proposal (A8 form) for Northern Ireland based LIFE+ projects.

The European Commission launches one call for LIFE+ projects proposals per year and provides information on these annual calls by issuing press releases to publicise availability. The Department re-enforces this publicity by informing Councils, other environmental agencies and the NGO sector. In addition it also publishes information on LIFE+ calls on its website.

The 2012 Call for Proposals was launched on 13 March with up to €276 million available for co-financing of projects. The United Kingdom's allocation is €21.6 million.

The deadline for the submission of A8 forms to the Department is the 29th June 2012.

National Parks

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment (i) for an update on the timescale for the introduction of the enabling legislation to designate a National Park; (ii) to outline any problems that his Department is facing in introducing the legislation; and (iii) for his Department's assessment of the financial benefits of a National Park.

(AQW 11440/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am holding a series of meetings with stakeholders to address some key points that emerged during the consultation process. Officials will then take these matters into account in drafting enabling legislation. With the agreement of Executive colleagues, I envisage bringing draft legislation before the House in the autumn. At this stage I am not aware of any major issues that would hinder this process.

The consultation document on national parks was published last year (www.doeni.gov.uk) and detailed the substantial economic benefits that national park designation can bring to an area and its communities. It cites the example of Northumberland national park, which generates a cost benefit of £9 for the local economy for every £1 the authority spends on promoting tourism.

Review of Public Administration: Fermanagh

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment how he intends to ensure that the Review of Public Administration does not place an unfair burden on rate payers in Fermanagh, given the significant difference in debt levels and rates bills between the Fermanagh and Omagh District Councils.

(AQW 11444/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am aware of the concerns which have been expressed by representatives of Fermanagh District Council, and others, about rate convergence and debt issues arising from the implementation of local government reform. I will also be meeting members of the council shortly to hear their concerns at first hand.

I do, however, recognise the need to develop plans and procedures to minimise any negative impact of change and ensure that those affected are treated as fairly and equitably as possible. Indeed, this was identified as a key priority at the inaugural meeting, on 25th April 2012, of the Regional Transition Committee (RTC) which I chair. The local and central government officers in the Finance Working Group, which supports RTC, have been commissioned to develop rates convergence proposals and present recommendations for the early consideration of the Committee.

It goes without saying that the concerns that have been raised arise from the decision to go with an 11 council model. Under a 15 council model Fermanagh would have retained its independent status.

New Councils: Administration Centres

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment how the location of the administration centres for new councils will be decided.

(AQW 11445/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Decisions on the location of administrative centres for the new councils will be a matter for local government to settle on, particularly deciding on the most efficient and effective use of their properties. They are best placed to come to a decision and may consider opportunities such as rotating the venue of their meetings between several administrative centres within the new council areas.

Listed Buildings

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number and location of the buildings (i) that have been listed in each of the last two years, broken down by category; and (ii) that are under consideration to be listed.

(AQW 11450/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In regard to part (i) of the question, 104 buildings have been listed in the past two years 62 in 2010/11 and 42 in 2011/12. These are located across Northern Ireland but principally concentrated in the Council areas recently covered by Northern Ireland Environment Agency's Second Survey of Buildings of Architectural and Historic Interest. I attach Tables 1 and 2 which provides information on the location of these buildings broken down by category (ie listing grade).

In regard to part (ii) I can confirm that the NIEA is presently considering 993 buildings for listing as a result of the ongoing Second Survey and one off requests from the public and others. Please note, that as the Second Survey considers the quality of existing listings it is also reviewing an additional 810 buildings which are already listed. As with (i) all of these buildings are located across Northern Ireland, but are principally concentrated in the Council areas recently covered by the Second Survey. As there is a potential threat arising from awareness that a building is under consideration but not yet protected, the location information provided in the attached table 3 is given in relation to District Council Areas.

Beaches: Condition

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of the Environment (i) for his assessment of the current condition of beaches; and (ii) how the criteria used to make such an assessment are decided.

(AQW 11457/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Bathing Water quality results in 2011 were possibly the best ever recorded in Northern Ireland. All 24 bathing waters achieved the mandatory standards of the EC Directive and 20 of these achieved the higher guideline standard and were classified as Excellent.

During the specified bathing season (01 June to 15 September) the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) monitors and reports on bathing water quality, as required by the Quality of Bathing Water Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2008. NIEA follow criteria for water quality classification set down in the EC Bathing Waters Directive 1976. This water quality information is published locally on a weekly basis and reported annually to the European Commission. Beach condition is not actually assessed by NIEA.

Other organisations use the NIEA water quality monitoring data as part of their criteria for making beach awards as a means of recommending beaches to the public. Additional factors they use would include beach facilities such as access to toilets which are provided by the beach operators.

NIEA follow criteria for water quality classification set down in the EC Bathing Waters Directive 1976. Tidy NI operates the Blue Flag scheme in Northern Ireland and use criteria set by the Foundation for Environmental Education. Tidy NI also agrees criteria for Seaside and Green Coast awards with partners in GB and in the Republic of Ireland. Marine Conservation Society (MCS) set their own criteria based on, but not identical to, the standards of the Bathing Waters Directive.

All three assessments ie NIEA, Tidy Northern Ireland and MCS indicate that Northern Ireland's bathing beaches are the best they have ever been. In 2012 the MCS Good Beach Guide recommends 16 beaches in Northern Ireland – up from 10 in the previous year. Also in 2012, Tidy Northern Ireland is poised to make more Blue Flag, Seaside and Green Coast awards than ever before. These will be announced on 24 May 2012.

However, there is no room for complacency. Many of our bathing waters are vulnerable to pollution washed out by extreme rainfall events. NIEA is working closely with Northern Ireland Water, the agricultural community and with stakeholder groups to ensure that all pollution risks are minimised or completely eliminated.

The Good Beach Summits have brought all interested parties together and I am determined that they will continue to co-ordinate effectively both for the good of the environment and to the direct benefit of the coastal economy.

Listed Properties

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of the Environment to detail listed properties that are owned by his Department.
(AQW 11558/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Six listed properties (listed buildings) are currently owned by the Department of the Environment. These are:

- Dogleap Powerhouse, South Watch Tower, Weaving Shed Museum
- Carrick Footbridge (all of which are in Roe Valley Country Park, Limavady);
- Martello Tower, Magilligan; and
- Scrabo Tower (Londonderry Monument) Scrabo Hill, Newtownards.

Draft PPS 18

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to list all the organisations, or individuals, who advocated the removal of references to community benefits from the draft PPS 18 in the last 12 months.
(AQW 11628/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The public consultation to draft PPS18 ended on 21 March 2008 and attracted 90 responses from a variety of organisations and individuals, with 22 respondents referencing community benefits.

Antrim Borough Council, Larne Borough Council, RSPB, CNCC, Ross Planning, Belfast City Council, NIEL, the National Trust, ARC21 and the Fermanagh Trust advocated the use of community benefits but with qualifications on how they should be used or administered.

TCI Renewables, RES, Renewables UK (formerly BWEA), and Turley Associates while not opposed to the concept of community benefits, all sought the removal of such references within the context of the policy document. The Royal Town Planning Institute sought the delivery of community benefits through Article 40 agreements only.

In addition Lisburn City Council, Carrickfergus Borough Council, SWAMP, NILGA (supported directly by Newry and Mourne and Coleraine District Councils) and the Carvill Group all cited reservations about the citing community benefits within the PPS.

PPS18 was published in final form in August 2009.

Wind Turbines: Planning Applications

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) how long each current planning application for a (a) single turbine; and (b) multiple turbine wind farm has been in the planning system, broken down by divisional planning office; and (ii) the average length of time it has taken to determine planning applications for (a) single turbine; and (b) multiple turbine wind farms to date, broken down by divisional planning office.

(AQW 11697/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The details in relation to (i) all current planning applications for (a) single wind turbines; and (b) multiple turbine wind farms and the associated length of time in the planning system broken down by divisional planning office is provided in attached Tables 1A and 1B respectively.

Information showing (ii) the average length of time it has taken to determine planning applications for (a) single wind turbines; and (b) multiple turbine wind farms is found in the following Tables 2A and 2B. The figures provided in these tables are from 1 April 2002 to 31 December 2011.

The median has been used as the measure of “average” processing performance, in line with standard planning reporting practice.

Savings: Capital and Revenue

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the capital and revenue savings his Department has made in each of the last three years.

(AQW 11714/11-15)

Mr Attwood: As part of the Budget 2007 process, which covered the period 2008/09 to 2010/11, all departments had to identify 3% cumulative cash efficiency savings on their total budgets (revenue and capital). For DOE these 3% cumulative savings amounted to £3.32 million (2008/09), £7.73 million (2009/10) and £11.42 million (2010/11) and the Department's budgets for the three years were reduced accordingly. To help deliver the savings, DFP requested all departments to develop an Efficiency Delivery Plan to set out how the savings were to be delivered. For DOE, in the main the overall savings were delivered by reductions in:

- Administration costs (mainly a 15% reduction in the Department's non-salary running costs, suppression of certain vacancies and a reduction in the number of casual employees);
- Consultancy costs;
- Environmental protection and heritage conservation grants (revenue and capital); and
- Resources element of the General Grant.

For 2011/12 the Department produced a Savings Delivery Plan which set out the necessary savings which were required to ensure that the Department operated within the Budget allocation determined by the Executive. The overall savings to be delivered, which included a 2% reduction in the Department's current expenditure allocation from the Executive, amounted to £15.7 million.

The following savings measures were identified to address the pressure:

- Review of Corporate Services functions across the Department (£2m);
- Reduction in resources element of the general grant to district councils (£1.2m), although this was eventually reinstated from slippage in other departmental programmes;
- Reduction in capital investment (£1m); and
- Reductions across all the Department's business areas covering administrative costs (such as vacancy control) and grant programmes:
  - Planning and Local Government (£1.9m);
  - Road Safety programmes (£1.5m); and
  - Environmental programmes covering natural and built heritage and environmental protection (£8.1m).

The table below outlines the overall savings split between revenue and capital.

£ million

|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| Revenue | 4.73    | 8.42    | 14.7    |
| Capital | 3.0     | 3.0     | 1.0     |

Full details of all the reductions and savings measures are detailed in the Department's Efficiency Delivery Plan and Savings Delivery Plan documents which have been published on the DOE website.

Lough Neagh

Mr Mitchel McLaughlin asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) why Lough Neagh is not designated as a Special Area of Conservation, together with Strangford Lough, given its global significance as a critical wetland environment and its designation as a Ramsar site, and its critical strategic economic importance in terms of tourism and as a source of drinking water for over fifty percent of the population; and (ii) whether he has any plans to reassess the designations in place to protect Lough Neagh in light of the renewed focus on it as a critical economic and environmental asset.

(AQW 11719/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Lough Neagh in its entirety does not qualify for designation as a Special Area of Conservation (SAC) according to the Habitats Directive selection criteria, although a small part of the shoreline near Antrim has been designated as SAC for its wet woodland habitat. This is why it is not designated.

However, Lough Neagh is already a Special Protection Area (SPA) for its bird assemblage under the related Birds Directive. Article 7 of the Habitats Directive applies the same protection to SPAs as afforded to SACs. Therefore SAC designation would not materially add to the protection currently afforded to Lough Neagh.

SACs and SPAs together form a network of protected sites throughout the European Union. Collectively they are known as European or Natura 2000 sites.

A small part of the shore of the Lough has been designated as SAC for its wet woodland habitat, i.e. Rea's Wood and Farr's Bay which is one of the best examples of Annex I alluvial forests in Northern Ireland.

I am very aware of the strategic economic importance of Lough Neagh and believe that this is best sustained by a high quality natural environment.

Driving Whilst Under the Influence of Alcohol or Drugs

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment what steps his Department intends to take, over the next 12 months, to tackle the dangers of driving whilst under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

(AQW 11757/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Subject to Executive Committee agreement, I plan to have a Road Traffic (Drink Driving) (Amendment) Bill issued for consultation over the next month. The Bill will provide the powers necessary to introduce a comprehensive package of measures to tackle drink driving, including the introduction of new, lower drink drive limits and new graduated fixed penalties together with additional enforcement powers. I will finalise the provisions of the draft Bill on foot of the outcome of that consultation and I plan to seek introduction of the draft Bill to the Assembly in December.

It is currently an offence to drive while impaired through drugs. Unlike with alcohol, however, there is no specific legislation prescribing driving with a certain level of drugs in the body. As you know, with alcohol, the police simply have to prove that a driver was above a certain limit of alcohol in the blood, breath or urine. There is no requirement to prove that the person's driving was impaired. If a drug driver is detected, however, the police must prove that driving was impaired.

The timing of new drug driving laws to align them more closely with drink driving provisions is largely dependent on the Department for Transport delivering on commitments it has given to deliver the essential scientific underpinning for new primary legislation, as well as progressing the testing and approval of new drug testing equipment. My Department is currently liaising with DfT on this work and, on completion, I will consider how best to move forward the drafting of appropriate new legislation. I would, however, hope that this would allow for relevant anti-drug drive provisions to be included in a Road Traffic (Amendment) Bill that I would plan to bring forward in 2014.

I plan to run an anti-drink driving and anti-drug driving media campaign during the summer and again during the Christmas/New Year period. The anti drink drive campaign will continue to reinforce the 'Never Ever Drink and Drive' message. The anti drug drive message encourages road users to take responsibility for their safety by challenging 'What steps would you take to stop a drug driver from wrecking your life?'

Fines Imposed on People in Breach of Environmental Requirements

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the amount of fines that have been imposed by his Department on people who are in breach of environmental requirements in (i) each of the last four years; and (ii) the last 12 months.

(AQW 11758/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA), an executive agency within the Department of the Environment, aims to protect, conserve and promote the natural environment and built heritage of Northern Ireland for the benefit of present and future generations.

In carrying out its statutory functions, NIEA has obligations to regulate and monitor potentially damaging activities, respond to breaches of environmental legislation and investigate suspected environmental crime.

Once a case goes to court it is up to the magistrate to determine if NIEA has proved the case beyond all reasonable doubt and if so to set a fine appropriate to the offence. The scale and imposition of penalties and sentences is therefore a matter for the courts and not a matter for my Department.

Table A below details the total value of fines levied by the Courts for breaches of environmental requirements or pollution cases in each of the past 5 years.

Table A

| Year    | Total value of fines |
|----------------|-----------------------------|
| 2007           | £53,400                     |
| 2008           | £259,460                    |
| 2009           | £303,900                    |
| 2010           | £114,650                    |
| 2011           | £151,273                    |
| 2012 (To date) | £99,950                     |
| Total   | £982,633             |

It should also be noted that prosecutions often take a considerable time to work their way through the court process. Therefore, while the convictions in the tables above are listed against the year in which the case was heard in court, the offences to which each case refers will almost invariably have occurred some time before (typically 12-18 months previously).

Fines Imposed on People in Breach of Environmental Requirements

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) how his Department has used the revenue collected through fines imposed on people in breach of environmental requirements in (a) each of the last four years; and (b) the last 12 months; and (ii) how his Department intends to spend the revenue in the next 12 months.

(AQW 11759/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA), an executive agency within the Department of the Environment, has obligations to regulate and monitor potentially damaging activities, respond to breaches of environmental legislation and investigate suspected environmental crime. While the Agency expects full voluntary compliance, we will not hesitate to use our enforcement powers, including prosecution where deemed necessary. There is a growing body of evidence that enforcement in this mandate is escalating.

Once a case goes to court it is up to the magistrate to determine if NIEA has proved the case beyond all reasonable doubt and if so to set a fine appropriate to the offence. The scale and imposition of penalties and sentences is therefore a matter for the courts and not a matter for my Department.

Currently, fines imposed by Courts are credited by the Northern Ireland Court Service to the Treasury Consolidated Fund and paid to the Treasury. I believe this is an area where funds generated in NI should remain in NI. I will look to take this approach forward.

The Magistrate however, can also impose a payment of court costs on the polluter. Any claim for payment for investigation and clean up costs from the polluter by the Agency is always pursued independently by the Agency.

Raw Sewage: Ballyhornan Beach, Co Down

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment how many European directives his Department is breaching as a result of the on-going pumping of raw sewage into the sea at Ballyhornan beach, Co Down.

(AQW 11760/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Urban Waste Water Directive aims to ensure that all significant discharges of sewage are treated before they are discharged to the water environment. In particular it requires discharges of treated sewage to coastal waters from settlements of less than 10,000 population equivalent (PE) to have appropriate treatment.

The Northern Ireland Environment Agency has determined the appropriate treatment requirements for Ballyhornan to consist of a long sea outfall and fine screening.

Fine screening is not currently in place at Ballyhornan, which is a breach of the conditions of the Water Order Discharge Consent issued to Northern Ireland Water (NIW) for the Waste Water Treatment Works at Ballyhornan.

As a consequence of this, NIEA issued two warning letters in 2009 to NIW, followed by a postal caution in June 2011, highlighting the breach of consent. NIW has indicated that it has purchased the screens but there are ongoing issues associated with securing the necessary land, and associated right of way agreement, which are preventing their installation.

As Ballyhormon WWTW continues to be non-compliant with its Water Order Consent, NIEA is currently in the process of preparing an Article 12 Enforcement Notice. The Notice will require that all conditions of the Department's consent are complied with by March 2013. It is an offence for any person to fail to comply with the requirements imposed by an Enforcement Notice.

I would confirm that it is not my Department, but the Department of Regional Development and NIW, that have the statutory responsibility to comply with the requirements of the Urban Waste Water Treatment Directive. I trust that the member will acknowledge this, confirm in any comments that this is the case and further acknowledge that the assertion in AQ 11760 / 11-15 that DOE is breaching EU directives is false and a misunderstanding by the member of EU directives in this instance.

Planning Applications: Larne West Suburbs of Larne

Mr Beggs asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 4746/08, to detail the planning applications in the Larne West suburbs of Larne, as defined in the area study published in 1992 (i) that have been approved, including the date approval was given; and (ii) that have been under consideration since April 2008.

(AQW 11767/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I attach a table updating the list, previously provided in AQW 4746/08, of approved planning applications in Larne West other than those applications in respect of individual households. There is one application for two detached dwellings currently under consideration in the defined area.

Belfast International Airport: Off-site Car Parks

Mr Dickson asked the Minister of the Environment what action his Department is taking to ensure that the appropriate enforcement action is being taken to close off-site car parks operating around the Belfast International Airport without the appropriate planning permission.

(AQW 11768/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department is aware of 13 car parks that have been or currently are operating outside the lands zoned for such uses around Belfast International Airport.

As a result of effective enforcement action, 6 of the sites of unauthorised car parks in this area have ceased to operate and 1 is operating lawfully as established by the Planning Appeals Commission.

The Department continues to investigate the operation of 6 alleged unauthorised car parks, one of which has had an enforcement notice served, two are subject to planning (enforcement) appeals, one is subject to a current planning application, one has a court hearing pending and one continues to be investigated.

The Department will continue to deal with such breaches of planning control robustly and use those enforcement powers available as appropriate. To date, the Department has brought prosecutions against the operators of 2 of the remaining unauthorised car parks; both operators have been fined with 1 amassed fines totalling £40,000 from 3 successful prosecutions.

I keep this matter under close scrutiny in an attempt to ensure breaches are addressed.

Belfast International Airport: Illegal Car Parks

Mr Dickson asked the Minister of the Environment what action the Driver and Vehicle Agency is taking against the owners of vehicles that do not meet road traffic regulations, but are operating from illegal car parks around Belfast International Airport.

(AQW 11769/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has primary responsibility for the enforcement of regulations that pertain to the use of buses and coaches on Northern Ireland's roads.

A series of enforcement spot checks have been carried out in recent months on passenger carrying vehicles used for the conveyance of passengers travelling from car parks located close to the Belfast International Airport. During these operations 4 car park operators were detected operating courtesy vehicles without proper PSV licenses or insurance. These detections have resulted in prosecution files being prepared for the Public Prosecution Service covering a variety of offences including: using a public service vehicle without a road service licence in force; using a public service vehicle without a public service licence in force; using a public service vehicle without a certificate of motor insurance in force; and driving a public service vehicle without being the holder of an appropriate licence.

The Department will continue to monitor this situation in conjunction with the Belfast International Airport Constabulary and the Police Service of Northern Ireland, and where vehicles are detected that do not meet road traffic regulations appropriate enforcement action will be taken.

I believe that DOE planning and DOE DVA have critical responsibilities to ensure full and proper compliance with the law. I intend to ensure both live up to these duties.

Arm's-length Bodies: Payment of Invoices

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment what percentage of invoices received by each of his Department's arm's-length bodies, in the last twelve months, were paid within 30 days of receipt.

(AQW 11829/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I would refer Mr Weir to my previous combined answer to AQW 11230-11233, which was raised by David McClarty. That answer addresses this question.

Raw Sewage: Ballyhornan Beach, Co Down

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment to outline the extent to which marine life is affected by the on-going pumping of raw sewage into the sea at Ballyhornan, Co Down.

(AQW 11844/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Experience of monitoring the impact of coastal outfall sites by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA), suggests that such impacts are minimal and localised.

The closest sampling point undertaken by NIEA under Water Framework Directive (WFD) or Area of Special Scientific Interest (ASSI), is approximately 2km North-East of the outfall at Craiglewey Rocks. This site is classified under the WFD as being at High status. WFD classification covers five status classes; Bad, Poor, Moderate, Good and High status.

NIEA intend to conduct a survey of the Killard Point ASSI to 8 June 2012 as the next available low spring tide suitable for a full assessment. This intertidal assessment of flora and fauna will include consideration of the possible effects of the sewage outfall at Ballyhornan.

Personal Occupancy Conditions

Mr I McCrea asked the Minister of the Environment, for each of the last three years, to detail the cases where banks or building societies have been successful in their applications to have Personal Occupancy Conditions discharged from approved planning applications, due to lenders having to repossess properties following a mortgagee defaulting on a loan.

(AQW 11875/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Policy CTY6 (Personal and Domestic Circumstances) of Planning Policy Statement 21 Sustainable Development in the Countryside allows for a dwelling to be permitted in the countryside for the long term needs of an applicant, where there are compelling and site specific reasons for this related to the applicant's personal or domestic circumstances.

All permissions granted under Policy CTY 6 will be subject to a condition restricting the occupation of the dwelling to a named individual and their dependents.

Article 28 of the 1991 Order provides for an application to develop land without compliance with conditions previously attached to a planning permission.

Table 1 shows the number of planning applications approved for the removal of a planning condition under Article 28 in each of the last three years. These totals include applications for the removal of personal occupancy conditions.

Table 1: Article 28 approvals in each of the last 3 years

| Year       | No. of Article 28 Applications Approved |
|------------|---|
| 2009/2010  | 251                                     |
| 2010/2011  | 222                                     |

The Department does not have any records of a bank or building society having submitted a planning application under Article 28 in each of the last three years to have a condition removed from a previous planning approval.

I recognise that there may be a small number of cases where the occupancy condition has given rise to difficulties. I am looking further at the issue.

Wind Turbines: Planning Applications

Mr McKay asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number of (i) wind turbines; and (ii) planning applications for wind turbines that have been approved, in the (a) Ballymoney; (b) Moyle; and (c) Ballymena district council areas.

(AQW 11926/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The table below shows the number of single wind turbines and wind farms submitted and approved in the Ballymoney, Moyle, and Ballymena district council areas during the period of 2002/2003 to 2011/2012.

Table: Number of Single Wind Turbines and Wind Farms received and approved per Council Area

| Council Areas | Single Wind Turbines                       |  | Wind Farms                                 |  |

All Statistics provided relate to applications received and decisions issued on planning applications for Single Wind Turbines for the period 2002/2003 to 2011/2012

All Statistics provided for 2011/2012 relate to applications received and decisions made in first 3 quarters of 2012 up to 31 December 2011. They are the latest statistics currently available and may be subject to change following the publication of the 2011/2012 Annual Statistical Report.

Public Bodies: Former Civil and Public Servants

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment how many former civil and public servants are employed as (i) paid; and (ii) unpaid board members of public bodies which are sponsored by his Department; and what this figure is as a proportion of the total number of board members.

(AQW 11950/11-15)

Mr Attwood: As Minister of the Environment I have responsibility for appointing individuals to the following public bodies:

- The Northern Ireland Local Government Officers' Superannuation Committee (NILGOSC);
- The Local Government Staff Commission for Northern Ireland (LGSC);
- The Council for Nature Conservation and the Countryside (CNCC);
- The Historic Buildings Council (HBC) and
- The Historic Monuments Council (HMC).

Members of these bodies are not employed by the public body but are appointed by the Minister of the Environment through a public appointments process based on the principles of openness, transparency and merit. All of these posts, apart from Chairmanship of NILGOSC, LGSC and CNCC, are unpaid and members sit on these bodies on a voluntary capacity. Some of these members are former, and indeed current, civil and public servants and this is detailed in the table below.

| Public Body | Number ofMembers* | Paid Civil and Public Servants |         | Unpaid Civil and Public Servants |         | % of member-ship |
|-------------|-----------------------|--------------------------------|---------|----------------------------------|---------|----------------------|
|             |                       | Former                         | Current | Former                           | Current |                      |
| NILGOSC     | 12                    | 1                              | -       | 2                                | 6       | 75%                  |
| LGSC        | 7                     | 1                              | -       | 1                                | 2       | 57%                  |
| CNCC        | 14                    | -                              | -       | -                                | 2       | 14%                  |
| HBC         | 18                    | -                              | -       | 3                                | 2       | 28%                  |
| HMC         | 15                    | -                              | -       | 3                                | 4       | 47%                  |

* Including the Chair

Civil and public servants comprise a larger majority of the membership of NILGOSC and LGSC due to the specialised remit of these bodies. NILGOSC administers the Local Government Pension Scheme for Northern Ireland and membership of the scheme is open to employees working in local government and to employees in the public sector who are not eligible to join another scheme. Legislation requires that five members of the Board are to be appointed after consultation with organisations recognised as representative of employer bodies and five members are to be appointed after consultation with organisations recognised as being representative of employees, the remaining two members are independent. These legislative requirements result in a higher proportion of civil and public servants appointed as members to the Committee.

LGSC provides professional services and advice on human resource issues to district councils and the Northern Ireland Housing Executive. Membership is representative of the Commission's client base and therefore includes a higher percentage of civil and public servants.

Salt Caverns for Gas Storage: East Antrim

Mr Hilditch asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the salt caverns for gas storage in the East Antrim area; and the impact that the hypersaline discharge might have on the environment.

(AQW 11984/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am aware that a company, Islandmagee Storage Limited, is seeking planning approval to build an underground natural gas storage facility which will have its above ground facilities near Ballylumford power Station, in Islandmagee, County Antrim.

A planning decision has not yet been made on this proposal, however should planning approval be granted a number of statutory environmental permissions will be required from NIEA prior to construction or operation of this proposal, namely:

- a marine licence is required to control the deposition of materials below the Mean High Water Spring tide mark, under Part 4 (Marine Licensing) of the Marine and Coastal Access Act 2009. This licence, if granted, will include conditions to protect the aquatic environment during construction of the proposed caverns. A separate licence will also be required for the proposed sea outfall pipe;
- a discharge consent, issued under the Water (Northern Ireland) Order 1999, will be required for the proposed hypersaline discharge from this proposed development;
- An abstraction/impoundment licence, issued under the Water Abstraction and Impoundment (Licensing) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2006, will be required for the proposed water abstraction aspect of this proposal.

As part of the application process for each of these statutory environmental permissions my Department will ensure that the impacts of the proposal are fully considered and assessed in order to protect and conserve the aquatic environment.

I am also aware of another gas storage proposal being put forward by two companies, Bord Gais Eireann and Storengy. This project is not as advanced as the Islandmagee Storage Limited proposal however all relevant planning and environmental requirements will be applied to this project also, should it proceed to a more advanced stage.

Geothermal Projects: Regulation

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of whether current planning policies are sufficient for the regulation of deep geothermal projects, or whether new policies would be required.

(AQW 12596/11-15)

Mr Attwood: PPS18 'Renewable Energy' sets out the main considerations that my Department will take into account in assessing proposals for renewable energy and heat generating facilities. PPS18 aims to facilitate the siting of deep geothermal facilities where such proposals will not result in an unacceptable adverse impact upon for example, local natural resources such as water quality.

Given geothermal and other energy possibilities, I will ensure that all appropriate planning and environmental standards are upheld at all stages of any proposal. If I believe, further assessment of regulatory requirements is needed, I will consider the issue.

Water Rates: Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin sites at Marlbank, Co Fermanagh

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the cost to his Department of water rates for the Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin sites at Marlbank, Co Fermanagh in each of the last ten years.

(AQW 12607/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The total cost to NIEA for water rates for Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin sites at Marlbank, Co Fermanagh for the financial years 2007-08 through to 2011-12 is £163.64. This includes water rates from November 2006 to May 2007.

Our records indicate that there was no payment for water rates at any NIEA properties including Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin prior to 2007.

The Companies Act 2006 states that the Accounting Records of a company must be kept 'for six years from the date on which they are made'. It is the policy of the Department to keep financial records for 7 years. Consequently NIEA does not have any financial transaction reports dating before 2005.

Fencing Repairs: Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin Sites at Marlbank, Co Fermanagh

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the cost to his Department of fencing repairs for the Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin sites at Marlbank, Co Fermanagh in each of the last ten years.

(AQW 12609/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The cost to NIEA of fencing repairs for the Killykeeghan and Crossmurrin sites at Marlbank, Co Fermanagh, is not available as a unit cost in individual years. This is because fencing materials were purchased in bulk and used on several different locations for subsequent years.

In previous correspondence (Our reference D02-10-615) dated 15 November 2010 my Department, in a reply to a direct question on fencing costs, indicated: "The total amount the NIEA has spent on repair and replacement of boundary structures from 2006 to 2010 is approximately eight thousand pounds. This figure includes contractor costs, NIEA labour, costed at current rates, and all costs for materials, though some of these material costs may be attributable to compartments other than the grazed lands."

Our records for 2005-06 do not show any expenditure against this item. NIEA does not have any transaction reports dating before 2005. This would be in accordance with the PRONI requirement to retain financial information (7 years).

There has been no expenditure on boundary structures at Crossmurrin and Killykeeghan since 2010.

By-laws: Minerstown Beach

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment when he will confirm the bye laws for Minerstown Beach.
(AQW 12641/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Since receiving the bye-laws for Minerstown Beach, officials have worked closely with Down District Council to reach a version of the bye-laws which is suitable for confirmation and which is agreeable to all parties.

Bye-laws suitable for confirmation are:

- consistent and not in conflict with any legislation;
- clear and certain, so that members of the public will be able to understand what is covered by the bye-laws, and their responsibility to comply with the bye-laws;
- reasonable and not unduly restrictive;
- intra vires; and
- enforceable.

The Department is awaiting further information from the Council, requested in March 2012, to enable the bye-laws to be finalised.

By-laws: Minerstown Beach

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment why it has taken his Department four years to process the bye laws for Minerstown Beach.
(AQW 12643/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The bye-laws for Minerstown Beach were received by the Department in February 2009.

When the bye-laws were received, Down District Council did not have the necessary power to make them. The enabling powers are in section 82 of the Public Health Acts Amendment Act 1907, which does not extend to Northern Ireland automatically. In August 2007, on a separate issue, the Council was informed that in order to make bye-laws for its seashores, it would have to apply to the Department for an Order to extend section 82 of the 1907 Act to its district. The Council made the necessary application in October 2009.

It was over forty years since such an Order had been made and as such, officials worked closely with Departmental Solicitor's Office to make the Order. This process was completed in January 2011 and an Order was made, enabling the Council to proceed with the bye-laws for Minerstown Beach.

By making bye-laws, a council is creating offences which are punishable on summary conviction. Since the bye-laws were received, the Department has worked closely with the Council and Departmental Solicitor's Office to reach a draft which is agreeable to all parties and which is within the council's powers to make.

The Department is currently awaiting further information from the Council, requested in March 2012.

The Department will continue to work closely with the Council towards producing a final draft of the bye-laws that are suitable for confirmation. The time period has been considerable and a shorter timeframe should have been achievable.

Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011

Mr Agnew asked Minister of the Environment (i) which of the 249 clauses of the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 have already been commenced and why these have been prioritised over other parts of the Act (ii) to provide the proposed schedule of commencement orders for the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011, and (iii) to outline when Part 1, section 2 of the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 will be commenced and the measures he intends to take to ensure that the promotion of well-being is integrated into the decisions and policies of the Department.

(AQW 12675/11-15)

Mr Attwood:

(i) The following sections of the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 have been commenced:

| Section of the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 | Date of Commencement                   |
|---|--|
| Section 250 (Interpretation)                        | Commenced on Royal Assent (4 May 2011) |
| Section 251(Further Provision)                      |  |
| Section 254 (Commencement)                          |  |
| Section 255 (Short Title)                           |  |

| Section of the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011   | Date of Commencement                    |
|---|---|
| Section 249(Increase Penalties for certain offences under the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991) | Commenced on Royal Assent (4 May 2011). |
| Section 247 (Regulations and Orders)  | Commenced on 1 December 2011.           |
| Section 248 (Amendment of certain time periods in relation to enforcement.                            | Commenced on 1 December 2011.           |

The reason these measures have been commenced is because I believe it is important to fast track those elements of planning reform that are not dependent or contingent on the transfer of planning powers to councils. In addition, the Environment Committee requested that the Department ensure that elements of the Planning Act which can be implemented in advance of Local Government Reform are not delayed.

- (ii) Commencement of other reforms and provisions within the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 is dependent on the transfer of planning powers to councils and the development of associated subordinate legislation and guidance. When subordinate legislation and guidance is drafted a schedule of commencement orders will be put in place.
- (iii) Part 1, section 2 of the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 will be commenced upon transfer of planning powers to councils. I intend, however, in advance of the transfer of powers to councils to bring forward a Bill that will accelerate the implementation of a number of reforms to be administered by the Department. This will introduce the requirement for the Department to produce a statement of its policy for involving the community in its development plan and planning control functions within one year of the section coming into operation.

The Planning Bill will also introduce a requirement on the Department to carry out its plan making and policy functions with the objective of “furthering sustainable development and promoting or improving well-being”. The proposed single, strategic planning policy document will, inter alia, address how well-being considerations will be taken into account in the planning system.

Crawfordsburn Beach and Country Park: Cleaning

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment why there has been no cleaning of Crawfordsburn beach and Country Park in recent weeks.

(AQW 12677/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Prior to 31 March 2012 a contractor has been employed by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency to clean the Crawfordsburn Beach and Park. Since the expiry of the contract for this, the Northern Ireland Environment Agency has continuously been using its staff to clean the Crawfordsburn Beach and Park. Indeed around 8 tonnes of litter was lifted by them during the last week of May.

NIEA has been using contractors to lift litter and dog foul and to cut grass and effect repairs at its properties over several years. The contract for this expired on 31 March 2012 and a replacement contract was tendered but not awarded as a result of the threat of legal challenges to the procurement processes.

NIEA has employed interim measures to have its properties cleaned and the grass cut while seeking to resolve the threat of legal challenges and to retender for site maintenance services.

The NIEA Site Maintenance Contract which was awarded in 2007 expired on 31 March 2012. The contract for cleaning Crawfordsburn Beach and Country Park was awarded to Bryan Hynds Services Ltd (Portadown). This company was subsequently acquired by The Landscaping Centre Ltd (Ballyclare) which took responsibility for the obligations under the contract.

NIEA sought to tender for site maintenance services so that a new contract would commence at the expiry of the previous one. The services were tendered but following the evaluation and DFP's Central Procurement Directorate (CPD) publishing the intention to award the contract, several legal challenges were made to the processes employed by CPD in procuring the contract on behalf of NIEA. This resulted in CPD advising NIEA against awarding the contract to avoid facing subsequent legal writs and court cases.

Since the expiry of the previous contract, Park staff at Crawfordsburn have been performing all the litter collection since 1 April 2012, at times starting as early as 6:00am to get to grips with the problem before the public started arriving later in the morning. They start with emptying bins and lifting obvious litter in the areas of high public use and then move to deal with more remote locations during the day as resources and time permit.

Aside from using its own staff, NIEA has now been included in the scope of an existing CPD Property Maintenance contract to lift litter and dog foul and cut grass.

Crawfordsburn Beach and Country Park: Cleaning

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment to detail when, and to which company, the last contract was awarded to clean Crawfordsburn Beach and Country Park.

(AQW 12681/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The last contract to clean Crawfordsburn Beach and Country Park was awarded to Bryan Hynds Services Limited in April 2007. Bryan Hynds Services Limited was acquired in 2011 by The Landscaping Centre Limited which also took responsibility for the obligations under the contract.

Tree Preservation Orders

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment (i) whether Planning NI is required to publish details of Tree Preservation Orders (TPO); (ii) where the details are published; and (iii) what is the status of a TPO if details are not published.

(AQW 12765/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has a statutory duty under Article 64 (duty of Department in relation to trees) of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 to secure the preservation of trees.

Before a tree preservation order (TPO) is confirmed by the Department, notice of the making of the order shall be given to the owners and occupiers of land affected by the order.

Notice is served on the owner of the property and copy of the order will be attached to a protected tree in an obvious location and neighbours will also be notified by letter. There is not a publication in a newspaper.

A statutory charge will be attached to the land affected by the TPO and details can be found by an official search of the local land charges register.

The Department holds details of all TPOs and these can be made available for inspection by contacting the Tree Officer in the Area Planning Office. Work is ongoing on placing TPO maps and an Orders Register on the DOE Planning website.

Any person who contravenes a TPO by cutting down, uprooting or wilfully destroying a tree, or wilfully damaging, topping or lopping a tree is guilty of an offence under Article 66 of the Order. Any person found guilty of an offence under Article 66(1) will be liable on summary conviction to a fine.

Tree Preservation Orders

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment whether a Tree Preservation Order could be imposed on a laurel, given that it is considered an invasive species.

(AQW 12815/11-15)

Mr Attwood: A Tree Preservation Order (TPO) is a statutory protection afforded to trees under the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991.

All types of tree can be protected. The TPO can cover anything from a single tree to woodlands. Normally, unless a Woodland TPO is proposed, only trees over 3.5m in height are considered for a TPO. Hedges, bushes and shrubs will not be protected.

Laurel is generally considered to be a shrub and therefore will not normally be subject to a TPO.

Tree Preservation Orders: Breaches

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment whether a person who is accused of breaching a Tree Preservation Order, has the right to know who made the complaint.

(AQW 12901/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Regardless of the nature of the breach of planning control, the Department's policy has been not to release either verbally or on request any personal details which would identify a complainant in an enforcement case. As such, complainants have a reasonable expectation that their identity will not be disclosed.

As you may be aware, requests for information about enforcement investigations are exempt under Section 39 of the FOI Act 2000, Environmental Information. As such, these requests would be considered under the Environmental Impact Regulations (EIR) 2004.

Regulation 13 of the EIR prohibits the Department from disclosing information which would breach any of the principles contained in the Data Protection Act 1998. As complainants have a reasonable expectation that their identity will not be disclosed, the Department would be breaching the first principle which requires the Department to process personal data "fairly and lawfully".

Listed Buildings: Belfast

Mr Humphrey asked the Minister of the Environment what plans he has to protect listed buildings and buildings of architectural merit in the city of Belfast.

(AQO 2179/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department protects buildings of 'special architectural and historic interest' by listing. There are currently 1077 listed buildings in the Belfast City Council area (1974 boundaries) i.e., almost 13% of the total of 8,500 in listed buildings throughout Northern Ireland.

The Department also protects buildings which contribute to the architectural and historic character of an area, through the designation of: Conservation Areas (CAs); Areas of Townscape Character (ATCs); and Local Landscape Policy Areas (LLPAs). There are currently 13 CAs in the Belfast City Council Area, and a total of 52 ATCs, and 67 LLPAs are proposed within the Area, in the draft Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan 2015 (BMAP). This will be a significant increase in protection.

I have provided support to NIEA's Second Survey of historic buildings (which was due to be suspended last year) to allow it to review the buildings of Belfast. A third of the city was surveyed last year with a further third programmed for survey this year. This will help ensure that all, appropriate, buildings in the city are protected as 'listed buildings' and that the protection of already listed buildings is improved by: increased knowledge for decision making; and increased records to help with enforcement.

The Department also offers grant aid for the repair of the historic fabric of listed buildings and this funding is programmed to continue. Last year I was able to increase the funds available to this scheme by 40%, which allowed the capping of individual schemes to be raised to £150K. 23 listed buildings in the city have current letters of offer for assistance, totalling an investment of £3.1million with a balance to pay of £1.1m. The Department is also currently processing applications for a further 13 schemes.

Grant aid has also been made available to charities to help them to purchase buildings at risk, with the aim of restoring them. 11 such buildings have been purchased in the Belfast City Council Area since 2008.

Last year, I was also able to provide £400k of support to the Belfast Building Preservation Trust to enable them to carry out urgent stabilisation works to Carlisle Memorial Church. This support went beyond the repair provisions of the normal grant scheme because of the urgent condition and setting of the building. I have asked that similar funding for other buildings is considered, as part of a current review of the scheme.

In the last year I have also held three Heritage Crime Summits. These have highlighted 12 key action points which are being taken forward. These range from much better coordination with the Police, Fire Brigade and District Councils to a determination to take action where negotiations with owners have not led to progress.

Five Urgent Works Notices have been issued as a result of the summits. In addition, two more prepared within Belfast did not issue as owners responded to a final warning. This is seven in nine months in contrast to two in the preceding 38 years.

Meanwhile Uses have also emerged as vital component of ensuring that risk is reduced and the Ulster Architectural Heritage Society has been commissioned to provide advice which will be published this year. I have also engaged with DCAL's Ministerial Advisory Group, on Architecture and the Built Environment, on the issue.

Finally, it is important that Government leads by example and I am launching revised guidance in this area tomorrow (Tuesday 19th June) at Hillsborough Courthouse ie the Protocol on the Care of the Government Historic Estate. Government Departments and agencies are required to look after not only listed buildings but all heritage assets in their care, in an exemplary way. Each Department will have to report on the management of their assets to NIEA by June 2013. They will then compile a summary report which will be submitted to the Environment Committee of this Assembly by September 2013. It is estimated that there are 121 listed buildings owned by the public sector – including local Councils etc – in Belfast and I am keen that all of these buildings should be seen to be well protected and looked after.

Grange Lane Bridge, Mallusk

Mr Girvan asked the Minister of the Environment what contact he has had with other Departments in relation to the bridge at Grange Lane, Mallusk.

(AQO 2184/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am very much aware of the problems facing the residents affect and the concerns they have about the state of their bridge. The matter has been raised with me and I will work with others to assess how to resolve the issue, if possible.

Against that background, I tasked a senior departmental official to meet with Danny Kinahan MLA and a number of residents on 5 April 2012 to explain the Department's position and to see if there might be a solution to the difficulty.

My Department can provide emergency funding in relation to expenditure incurred by a council in taking immediate action to safeguard life or property, or to prevent suffering or severe inconvenience once an emergency or disaster has taken place. Such funding is not available where there has been an ongoing issue such as the gradual deterioration. My Department can only provide funding to local councils and has no powers to provide funding to private owners.

I had previously raised with DFP a similar issue and was advised by DFP that "damage caused to private bridges and indeed private access roads is beyond the remit of the current Emergency Financial Assistance Scheme" and that "inconvenience suffered as the result of loss and damage to second homes, caravans, motor vehicles, access roads, and indeed bridges is beyond the remit of the Scheme".

However, I am prepared to continue working with others on this issue and see if a solution can be developed.

Planning Policy Statement 21

Ms Ruane asked the Minister of the Environment when the review of PPS 21 will be completed.

(AQO 2185/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The review of the operation of PPS21 is approaching conclusion. I am currently considering the matter.

Marine Bill: Recreational Activities

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of the Environment how he will ensure that Clause 24 of the Marine Bill, if implemented, will not excessively limit country sports and other recreational activities in marine areas.

(AQO 2188/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Clause 24 gives the Department the power to make byelaws for the protection of Marine Conservation Zone's features. Byelaws will manage unregulated activities, be specific to the site and made when such activities are deemed detrimental to the feature(s).

Draft byelaws will be subject to full public consultation and inclusive stakeholder engagement.

It is envisaged that most MCZs will be designated primarily for the protection of seabed features and, as such, any related byelaws will have little impact on country sports and other recreational activities.

The Department already has similar byelaw making powers provided by Article 21 of the Nature Conservation and Amenity Lands (NI) Order 1985 for the protection of marine nature reserves.

The only byelaws developed under this legislation are currently being finalised and will come into operation shortly. These byelaws will regulate anchoring, mooring and diving in certain areas of Strangford Lough which was designated as a Marine Nature Reserve on 4 July 1995.

Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan 2015

Mr Easton asked the Minister of the Environment for an update on the Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan 2015.
(AQO 2189/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Planning Appeals Commission (PAC) delivered all outstanding reports to my Department relating to the Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan (BMAP) Public Inquiry at the end of January 2012.

It is the normal practice for the PAC Reports to be published at the same time that a development plan is finalised, and after my Department has considered the recommendations made by the Commission. However, in the case of BMAP and the Banbridge, Newry and Mourne Area Plan, I decided to depart from normal practice and publish the PAC Reports, in order to provide greater certainty in the current economic situation. Consequently, the reports were published on 6 June 2012, and they are now available on the planning website <http://www.planningni.gov.uk/> I must stress that the reports should be read in conjunction with my Ministerial Statement which sets out the reasons for my decision, and explains the status of the reports.

It is important to recognise that my Department is ultimately responsible for making the final decision on the recommendations made by the PAC, and that a dedicated Team will continue to focus on the adoption of BMAP and complete the process that will result in the finalisation of the Plan next year.

Car Parking: Public Buildings

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of the Environment how he proposes to use the planning system to ensure that family car parking spaces are provided, in new public sector buildings, where car parks are accessible to the general public.
(AQO 2190/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The provision of parent and child parking spaces is a material consideration in the assessment of individual planning proposals where public car parking is required.

When determining planning applications in relation to parking issues, DOE Planning will pay particular regard to current planning policy set out in Planning Policy Statement 3, Access Movement and Parking. PPS 3 states that for retail, leisure and community uses consideration should be given by developers to the provision of 'parent and child' parking spaces.

It has recently been brought to my attention that there has been a low number of such parent and child parking spaces being provided for within approved health care facilities. I have, therefore, instructed officials to highlight this issue to staff to ensure that existing planning policy and guidance is being fully implemented.

To facilitate this new guidance will be issued to all staff to reinforce the need to increase the level of 'parent and child' parking spaces in line with existing policy and guidance.

That said, I have instructed officials to look further at this matter and at the dimensions of car parking spaces generally.

Mineral Resources

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of the Environment whether his Department has identified, through the recently published mineral resources map, any potential commercial opportunities.
(AQO 2191/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Minerals Resources Map of Northern Ireland was launched on 24 May 2012. Separate maps have been prepared for each county. The maps will provide the Department, the minerals industry and local communities with a powerful tool to visualise the distribution of mineral resources across Northern Ireland and to assist future decision making.

The purpose of the maps is not to enable the Department to identify potential commercial opportunities; that is a matter for the minerals industry itself. But I would envisage that the maps will certainly assist the industry in formulating its strategies for future utilisation of Northern Ireland's mineral reserves.

MOT Test: Vintage Cars

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister of the Environment whether he would consider exempting pre-1960 vintage cars from the MOT test, as is planned in England.

(AQO 2192/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has consulted on possible exemption of certain categories of historic vehicles from MOT testing; and the Environment Committee at its meeting on 22 March 2012 considered the synopsis of responses to the Department's consultation. The responses indicated that there is broad support for exemption of pre-1960 vehicles from periodic testing.

The Committee was content with the Department's proposed way forward, which is to develop policy on the basis of the consultation responses that would make use of the exemption in Roadworthiness Directive 2009/40/EC concerning the periodic testing of pre-1960 vehicles. The Department is progressing its detailed consideration of the appropriate way forward, to ensure that the requirements of the Directive are met in the detail of the policy.

Small Businesses: Advertising Signage

Mr McElduff asked the Minister of the Environment whether he will urge Planning Service to reduce enforcement action against small businesses which advertise using modest signage.

(AQO 2193/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The statutory requirement for advertisements is set out in the Planning (Control of Advertisements) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1992.

The regulations allow for a level of advertisement to be "deemed" as granted if it complies with certain conditions such as size, height, illumination and number of advertisements relating to the profession, business or trade at the premises where it is displayed. The full details of the Regulations are available to view on the Planning website www.planningni.gov.uk. Individuals and companies have a responsibility to ensure that they adhere to and comply with the legislation.

I take the breach of planning control seriously. Staff will continue to assess whether to initiate court action in relation to such breaches, guided by the impact of the unauthorised advertisement on amenity and public safety and where the unauthorised advertisement is considered unacceptable, the Department will normally pursue court action.

Where it is considered that an unauthorised advertisement would be acceptable, subject to conditions, the approach of the Department will be to advise the owners or occupiers of the land to submit, without undue delay, a retrospective application for consent to display an advertisement, together with the appropriate fee.

It is not acceptable for individuals and companies to deliberately flout planning regulations and where it is considered expedient, my Department will continue to take action to secure the removal of signs which cause concerns in terms of amenity and public safety. There is also a wider responsibility on the Department to ensure that we respect our natural and built environment.

Department of Finance and Personnel

Ballylumford Power Station: Rates Rebate

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how he intends to ensure that Larne Borough Council and its ratepayers will not suffer financially as a result of the claim for a rates rebate for Ballylumford Power Station.

(AQW 12457/11-15)

Mr Wilson (The Minister of Finance and Personnel): As Minister, I cannot interfere in the valuation process of individual properties, or any associated appeal. The impact of any changes on the rates base, positive or negative, must legally be borne by both the district council and the Executive.

I recognise, however, the sudden, substantial and exceptional impact the revision in the Valuation List to Ballylumford Power Station may have on the district revenue rate base and the genuine concerns of the Borough Council about their ability to deliver essential local services.

In this regard we need to be mindful that we are in the early stages of the rate year and as rate revenues ebb and flow it is difficult to predict with any degree of certainty what the end of year position will be for the Council in terms of revenue finalisation. However, my Officials in Land and Property Services (LPS) have assured me that they will look sympathetically at any problems that might arise for the Council in the event that a clawback situation arises at the end of the 2012-2013 rate year.

Clearly we would all want to avoid a situation that may lead to unplanned cuts in front line services particularly if the loss was not something the Council could have predicted when district rates were being struck for this rate year.

Should the Ballylumford loss lead to an exceptional clawback situation then LPS will seek to cushion that impact by staggering the clawback over more than one year. LPS officials will arrange to meet with the Council to discuss the position and potential resolution of any clawback situation. That meeting could also be used to discuss a range of issues and possible options to increase the Council's revenue income between now and 31 March 2013 and thereby reduce to a minimum the potential for clawback in the 2013 finalisation process.

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what plans he has to reduce (i) the number of QUANGOs; and (ii) the operational cost of QUANGOs.

(AQW 12540/11-15)

Mr Wilson: DFP has 5 small Arm's Length Bodies (ALBs) and the Department has provided information to the Budget Review Group to inform their recommendations as part of its review of ALBs across all Departments.

Details of the Department's ALBs, the functions they perform and the associated costs are included in the table overleaf.

Although the cost of ALBs does not represent a significant proportion of the DFP's budget, the department continually examines the potential for efficiencies in all areas of its business and will continue to consider the position following further advice in relation to the wider review of ALBs.

| Arm's Length Body   | Function   | Approx Annual cost |
|---|--|--------------------|
| Public Service Commission (PSC)                                   | To make recommendations to government on the guiding principles and steps necessary to safeguard the interests of staff and to ensure their smooth transfer to new organisations as a consequence of decisions on the Review of Public Administration. | £100,000           |
| Northern Ireland Building Regulations Advisory Committee (NIBRAC) | Statutory body provided for under Article 4 of the Building Regulations (Northern Ireland) Order 1979 to advise the Department on the amendment of building regulations and other associated matters.  | £3,000 - £5,000    |
| Statistics Advisory Committee (SAC)                               | Advisory body established under the Statistics of Trade and Employment (NI) Order 1988 to advise NI Departments on all matters relating to the collection and disclosure of statistical information from businesses.                                   | £500               |
| Lay Observer for Northern Ireland                                 | Established under the Solicitors (Northern Ireland) Order 1976 and Solicitors (Amendment) (Northern Ireland) Order 1989 to comment on the process used by the Law Society and on the quality of service provided.                                      | £25,000            |
| Principal Civil Service Pension Scheme (NI) Governance Group      | To monitor the service delivery of the PCSPS(NI), including involvement in actuarial reviews of the scheme, to consider and report to DFP on options for dealing with possible future cost increases.  | £1,000             |

Internships

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many internships are available in his Department; and if none, what plans he has to introduce an internship scheme.

(AQW 12552/11-15)

Mr Wilson: There are no interns in DFP at present. Applications for the Queens University Internship 2012/13 are currently being dealt with by Corporate HR, which coordinates applications for internships within the Northern Ireland Civil Service.

Government Procurement Cards

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel (i) whether any civil servants have the use of Government procurement cards; (ii) how much has been spent in each of the last three years through the use of cards; (iii) what systems are in place to monitor the use of cards; and (iv) what limits are set for the use of cards.

(AQW 12560/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Department of Finance and Personnel currently holds 3 Government procurement cards (prior to 2011-12 the Department held 6 Government procurement cards; 3 of which were cancelled in 2011). One card is utilised to purchase urgent construction supplies to negate potential health and safety issues, and the other cards are used to book official travel.

Spend through the use of cards in each of the last three years is as follows:

|------------|------------|------------|

Use of the cards is monitored by the maintenance of transaction logs which are reconciled monthly upon receipt of bank statements by the line manager.

The limits for the cards currently used to book official travel are set to £15,000 and £45,000 respectively.

The limit for the card used for construction supplies is set at £500 and is restricted to relevant categories of expenditure.

This response is provided for the Department of Finance and Personnel only, as information on the procurement cards held across the wider Civil Service and arm's-length bodies is not held centrally and individual departments should be contacted directly for their information.

Special EU Programmes Body

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail (i) the groups which are currently, or have been, in breach of letters of offer from the Special EU Programmes Body; (ii) what action is being taken to recover grant aid paid under letters of offer; and (iii) the amount of grant aid paid to each group.

(AQW 12561/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The term 'irregularity' i.e. a breach of letter of offer condition covers actions ranging from the loss of original documentation (invoices, receipts, quotations etc) to fraudulent activity.

The term 'reportable irregularity' refers to an irregularity that either involves suspected fraudulent activity or whose value is greater than £8,695 (€10,000)<sup>1</sup>

Within the PEACE III Programme there are currently two projects with open reportable irregularities. The value of the irregularities currently being investigated is around £45,000 from total project values of some £325,000. As these investigations are ongoing it would not be appropriate to name the projects in question.

SEUPB has withdrawn PEACE III funding from four organisations in respect of seven separate projects. In each case, the full value of each Letter of Offer has been disallowed, and all of the funding that had been paid to the project is therefore eligible for recovery. No funds have been recovered to date. This information has been reported in full detail in AWQ 10363/11-15.

There has been one closed reportable irregularity relating to incorrect apportionment methodology and this has seen approximately £24,000 recovered from the project. The project Letter of Offer was not withdrawn as the errors made were not viewed as a 'serious breach.'

Within the INTERREG IVA Programme there are no projects with open or closed reportable irregularities.

Cycle to Work Scheme

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for an update on the extension of the Cycle to Work Scheme to the Civil Service.

(AQW 12588/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Northern Ireland Civil Service Cycle to Work Scheme will be launched on 22 June 2012 which is 'Bike to Work Day'.

Civil Servants: Dismissed or Sacked

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many Civil Servants have been (i) dismissed; and (ii) sacked, in each of the last three years; and for what reason.

(AQW 12638/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The information requested is provided in the following table broken down by reason for dismissal and financial year. The overall figures presented include both industrial and non-industrial staff for the period.

| Year         | Disciplinary | Inefficiency - Performance | Inefficiency - Sickness Absence | Total      |
|--------------|--------------|----------------------------|---------------------------------|------------|
| 2009/10      | 5            | 0                          | 13                              | 18         |
| 2010/11      | 25           | 2                          | 22                              | 49         |
| 2011/12      | 23           | 5                          | 41                              | 69         |
| Total | 53    | 7                   | 76                       | 136 |

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many QUANGOS, that are attached to his Department, have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

(AQW 12654/11-15)

Mr Wilson: My department has one arm's length body which was created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

HMO and Non-HMO Properties

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel why a distinction was not made between HMO and non-HMO properties in the determination of Land and Property Services' evaluations in 2005 and 2007, which resulted in questionable levels of rates for Stranmillis Properties, particularly in the Sandymount area.

(AQW 12684/11-15)

Mr Wilson: No distinction was made between what is referred to as HMO and non HMO properties, as the property transaction information gathered in 2004/2005 for the 2007 domestic revaluation did not suggest such a differentiation. At the time of this exercise the planning policy was evolving and its impact on values (if any) during this period was inconclusive.

Civil Servants: Rates Office in Londonderry

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail (i) how many civil servants work in the Rates Office in Londonderry; (ii) how many are in domestic rates arrears for (a) 6 months; (b) 12 months; (c) 18 months; (d) 24 months; and (e) 30 months or more; and (iii) the total cost of these arrears.

(AQW 12729/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Twenty one (21) civil servants work in Londonderry - on rate related duties for Land & Property Services (LPS).

In relation to your request for (ii) and (iii), LPS are unable to provide the number of LPS personnel, based in Londonderry, who are in rating arrears. To enable LPS to collate and provide these figures, each individual staff member's personal rating account would have to be viewed and interrogated. In this instance, therefore, LPS would determine that it would be discriminatory to release this specific information.

The Data Protection Act 1998 clearly states - For data to be processed legally, it must not lead to any kind of discrimination and should not go against any other laws such as the Human Rights Act 1998.

Civil Servants: Long-term Sick Leave

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the average percentage of civil servants who have been on long-term sick leave, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12772/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The percentage of civil servants who have been on long-term sickness absence in each of the last 5 available years is provided in the table below. Long-term sickness absence is defined as lasting more than 20 consecutive working days. The figure for 2011/12 will not be available until the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA) issue their annual publication on sickness absence in the NICS.

Percentage of staff in the NICS with 1 or more spells of long-term absence

| Year    | Percentage of staff | Notes                               |
|---------|---------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 2010/11 | 10.8%               | Non-Industrial and Industrial staff |
| 2009/10 | 10.4%               | Non-Industrial and Industrial staff |
| 2008/09 | 10.2%               | Non-Industrial only                 |
| 2007/08 | 11.4%               | Non-Industrial only                 |
| 2006/07 | 12.3%               | Non-Industrial only                 |

The increase in 2009/10 was in part due to the inclusion of Industrial staff. The main reason for the increase in 2010/11 was the inclusion of staff from the Department of Justice and the Public Prosecution Service.

Northern Ireland Annual Business Survey

Mr F McCann asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the publication threshold for the Northern Ireland Annual Business Survey in (i) 2009; (ii) 2010; (iii) 2011; and (iv) 2012.

(AQW 12784/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The publication threshold for Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry is determined by the requirements of the Statistics of Trade and Employment (Northern Ireland) Order 1988. Article 5(a) of the 1988 Order prohibits the disclosure of "the number of returns received with respect to the production of any article if that number is less than 5."

Additional disclosure control methods are employed to protect the confidentiality of individual business data in line with the Code of Practice for Official Statistics and associated guidance on the confidentiality of official statistics. These take into account the relative share which individual businesses contribute to a published total. Precise details of the disclosure control method are not released in line with the guidance, to minimise the risk of unauthorised disclosure.

If any of these primary suppression thresholds are met, the data is not released. A secondary suppression is performed to ensure that primary suppressed data cannot be calculated from other published values.

Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry

Mr F McCann asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel whether companies which have local branches and head offices in Britain, form part of the Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry return.

(AQW 12785/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Those companies with local branches in Northern Ireland and head offices in Great Britain are included as part of the Northern Ireland business population, from which businesses are selected by NISRA to participate in the Annual Business Inquiry.

Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many businesses were contracted as part of the Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry; and (ii) what proportion of businesses this accounted for in (i) 2009; (ii) 2010; (iii) 2011; and (iv) 2012.

(AQW 12786/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The eligible population for the Annual Business Inquiry (ABI) includes those businesses registered for VAT and/or PAYE on the Inter Departmental Business Register (IDBR). The survey coverage includes the Production, Construction, Distribution and Service industries in Northern Ireland and some elements of the Agriculture and Financial sectors. Those establishments whose principal activity is in the public sector are excluded. Table 1 shows the number and proportion of eligible Northern Ireland businesses contacted as part of the Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry during the period 2009-2012.

Table 1: NIABI sample size and business contact rate

| Year conducted | Survey Reference Year | No. of IDBR businesses sampled | Total no. of IDBR eligible businesses | Percentage contacted |
|----------------|-----------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------|

Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the cost of conducting the Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry in (i) 2009; (ii) 2010; (iii) 2011; and (iv) 2012.

(AQW 12787/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The requested information is provided in Table 1 and includes the costs to the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA) which is responsible for the conduct of the survey. Please note that the 2012 Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry, which collects information relating to business activity in 2011, is currently underway and therefore total figures are not yet available.

Table 1: Cost of conducting the Northern Ireland Annual Business Inquiry

| Year conducted | Survey Reference Year | Survey design and processing costs (£) |
|----------------|-----------------------|--|
| 2009           | 2008                  | 138,584                                |
| 2010           | 2009                  | 141,561                                |
| 2011           | 2010                  | 144,320                                |

Economic and Labour Market Statistics User Group

Mr Lynch asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to outline the procedures used to identify the membership, and potential membership, of the Economic and Labour Market Statistics User Group.

(AQW 12789/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Economic and Labour Market Statistics (ELMS) User Group is a forum whereby statisticians from the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA) can engage effectively with users of such statistics to promote trust and maximise public value in line with the Code of Practice for Official Statistics.

Attendance at the ELMS user group meetings is open to any user of economic and labour market statistics. NISRA issues an invitation prior to each meeting to those individuals, academic institutions, organisations, consultants and economic commentators who regularly use or request economic or labour market information from NISRA.

The agenda and minutes of user group meetings are placed on the DETI Statistics Research website together with contact details to enable any user to contact NISRA should they wish to take part in any future meetings.

Economic and Labour Market Statistics User Group

Mr Lynch asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to list the membership of the Economic and Labour Market Statistics User Group in (i) 2009/10; (ii) 2010/11; and (iii) 2011 to date.

(AQW 12794/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Attendance at the Economic and Labour Market Statistics User Group meetings is open to any user of economic and labour market statistics. NISRA issues an invitation prior to each meeting to those individuals, government users, academic institutions, organisations, consultants and economic commentators who regularly use or request economic or labour market information from NISRA.

The agenda and minutes of user group meetings are placed on the DETI Statistics Research website together with contact details to enable any user to contact NISRA should they wish to take part in any future meetings.

The table overleaf is a list of organisations that have been represented at the user group meetings in 2009/10, 2010/11 and 2011 to date.

Gay Marriage

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what contact his Department has had with HM Government on the implications, for Northern Ireland if, gay marriage is introduced in England and Wales.

(AQW 12967/11-15)

Mr Wilson: I am not aware of any contact between my Department and HM Government on the implications, for Northern Ireland if, gay marriage is introduced in England and Wales.

Rates: Empty Homes

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how much revenue was raised between 1 October 2011 and 31 March 2012 as a result of rating of empty homes.

(AQO 2207/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Details of the amount of revenue raised in respect of Rating of Empty Homes during 2011-12 is currently subject to audit review and certification, and is expected to be available in early July when the LPS Trust Statement 2011-12 is scheduled to be laid before the Assembly recess. However, the provisional figures for the amount of revenue raised is £14.7 million.

Government Contracts: Social Enterprise

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for his assessment of the current situation on the issue of procurement guidance for integrating sustainable development, particularly social enterprise, into public contracts.

(AQO 2199/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Procurement Board for NI published guidance in 2008 on integrating equality of opportunity and sustainable development into public procurement. This guidance was produced jointly by Central Procurement Directorate (CPD) and the Equality Commission for Northern Ireland and was endorsed by the Executive.

Further guidance aimed at promoting and supporting delivery of the 2008 guidance will be published shortly. This includes a toolkit being produced by the Strategic Investment Board and a suite of model contract performance clauses developed by CPD to assist procurement practitioners integrate social clauses into contract specifications and performance requirements. The draft model clause guidance has issued to the Procurement Board for consideration and comments received, including those from the Ministers representing DCAL, DARD and DE, are being considered. A revised draft will issue shortly.

Procurement law does not allow any sector or type of firm tendering for public contracts to be treated differently from others. However CPD has produced guidance aimed at helping social economy enterprises develop their capability to compete successfully for contracts and a companion guide to help procurement practitioners provide SMEs and SEEs with greater access to public procurement contracts.

Rates

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for an estimate of the level of domestic and non-domestic rate charges in the future, given the downward trend in property values in recent years.

(AQO 2200/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Levels of future rate charges will be determined by regional and district rate increases. The latter, which are the responsibility of district councils, are outside this Assembly's control.

In 2011 the Executive's agreed budget included a commitment to restrict regional rates increases to the level of inflation over the four year budget period.

As for declining property values, it is important to understand that rates are unlike other systems of taxation. Rate bills are worked out after the total amount that is needed to be raised is decided. This is translated into individually assessed rate bills, by sharing the overall burden out in proportion to the estimated value of the property at a fixed point in time.

This is the general approach taken for both households and businesses, so the downward trend in values will not affect rate charges until there is a revaluation and even then it merely redistributes the burden, it won't decrease 'the overall take'. Lower values at a revaluation would simply result in higher rates in the pound.

The Executive has no plans to undertake a capital value revaluation of domestic property during the life of this Assembly. A non-domestic revaluation, based on rental values, is scheduled for 2015.

DOJ: Equal Pay Claims

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel whether the £26m included in the Department of Justice budget for equal pay claims is at risk of being returned to Her Majesty's Treasury if the claims are not met in the current year.

(AQO 2201/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The £26m set aside for DOJ equal pay claims is available in 2012-13 should a liability be established and payments made to staff. It is ring-fenced by HMT and can only be used for this purpose.

If a liability is established after 2012-13 then there is a possibility that this £26m may no longer be made available from HMT for this specific purpose.

Energy Saving

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what level of energy savings was realised over the last three years under his Department's implementation of the Energy Performance in Buildings Directive and the energy assessment and certification process.

(AQO 2202/11-15)

Mr Wilson: It is not possible to calculate the level of energy savings which have been realised in Northern Ireland since the introduction of the first requirements of the Energy Performance of Buildings Regulations in 2008.

The scope of these regulations extends to all buildings on construction, for sale or for rent, to large public buildings visited by the public and to buildings with air-conditioning systems. All certificates and inspection reports are accompanied by details of cost-effective recommendations to improve the energy efficiency of the building or system, but there is no statutory requirement to carry out these recommendations nor to have the building or system re-inspected for the purposes of measuring the level of any such improvement.

Empty Premises Relief Scheme: South Antrim

Mr Girvan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what uptake there has been within the South Antrim constituency on the Empty Premises Relief Scheme.

(AQO 2203/11-15)

Mr Wilson: At 8th June 2012, three applications for Empty Premises Relief have been received by Land & Property Services from the South Antrim Constituency Area. Unfortunately none of the applications have been successful.

Small Business Rate Relief Scheme

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for an update on the uptake of the Small Business Rate Relief Scheme. (AQO 2204/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Small Business Rate Relief scheme was introduced in April 2010 to support the growth and sustainability of small businesses across Northern Ireland. With this in mind, my Department devised the scheme whereby it would be applied automatically to all qualifying businesses. Uptake, therefore, is 100% based on the data held by Land & Property Services.

As at 10th June 2012 the scheme has benefited 26,285 small businesses across Northern Ireland to the tune of £26.6 million.

Rates: Debt

Mr Easton asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what is the total amount of unpaid rates over the last three years. (AQO 2205/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The total amount of unpaid rates as at 31st March 2012 is provisionally (subject to audit) estimated to be £160.8 million including debt related to Rating of Empty Homes. This figure breaks down over the last three years as follows:

- £92.2 million related to assessments raised in 2011/12 including assessments related to the Rating of Empty Homes from 1st October 2011;
- £33.4 million related to assessments raised in 2010/11; and
- £16.8 million related to assessments raised in 2009/10.

The remaining debt of £18.4 million is associated with the assessment years prior to 2009/10.

Empty Premises Relief Scheme

Mr S Anderson asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many people have availed of the Empty Premises Relief Scheme to date. (AQO 2206/11-15)

Mr Wilson: At 8th June 2012, Land & Property Services had received a total of 49 applications for Empty Premises Relief. All applications have been assessed, with 13 successfully meeting the criteria of the scheme.

Civil Service: Equal Pay

Mr G Kelly asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for an update on the outstanding cases in the Equal Pay Settlement. (AQO 2208/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Approximately 4,500 equal pay cases were lodged by NIPSA with the Industrial Tribunal and 64 of these have yet to be withdrawn. A further 6 equal pay cases related to the same issue are also currently listed before the Industrial Tribunal. All but 1 of the 70 cases has been stayed pending the outcome of 13 breach of contract civil bills. These are likely to be heard by the County Court in September.

Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety

Social Care Provision

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in determining future health and social care provision, whether any assessment has been made of other acute hospitals, anywhere in the UK, where the withdrawal of emergency surgery has resulted in 80 percent of hospital work continuing as before such a withdrawal. (AQW 12417/11-15)

Mr Poots (The Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety): My Department is not aware of any published research which indicated that the withdrawal of emergency surgery from a specific acute hospital resulted in 80% of the hospital's work continuing as before. Transforming Your Care sets out a vision for the future of health and social care services but does not detail the future service profile of individual acute hospitals.

Local Commissioning Groups in partnership with Health and Social Care Trusts are currently undertaking initial work on developing Population Plans. The purpose of Population Plans is to identify the projected needs for an area and how best to meet those needs, consistent with the principles in Transforming Your Care. The development of any new policy or strategy will include consideration of evidence of best practice.

Causeway Hospital: Accident and Emergency Department

Mr McClarty asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what risk assessment has been carried out on the potential risk to the population within the Northern Health and Social Care Trust area if the Causeway Hospital's Accident and Emergency Department is closed or its opening hours are limited.

(AQW 12474/11-15)

Mr Poots: Transforming Your Care recognises that significant change will be required to ensure that our health system is resilient and safe and delivers the best possible outcomes well into the future. Population plans are currently being developed for each Trust area and any proposals for change will be based on an assessment of need and investigation of the most appropriate way to achieve the safe, sustainable and resilient delivery of those services.

As this process has not yet been completed no decisions have yet been made in relation to the future configuration of services in the Northern Trust area, including the Causeway Hospital. Where there are proposed major changes to service configuration in local areas, these will be subject to full consultation.

Desertcreat Training College

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what opportunities will be available for local contractors to sub-contract work in the construction of the Desertcreat Training College.

(AQW 12495/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- Desertcreat Training College, with a capital value of approximately £140 m, will be procured in compliance with the Public Contracts Regulations (2006), Northern Ireland Public Procurement Policy and best practice guidance.
- The competition to select a main contractor was advertised in the Official Journal of the European Union on 16 February 2012.
- Local contractors will have every opportunity to compete for sub-contract work packages.
- In line with other major projects, it is envisaged that a significant number of sub-contract firms will come from the local area.
- Additionally, the construction contract will provide opportunities for the unemployed, apprenticeships and students in accordance with Northern Ireland Public Procurement Policy.

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what plans he has to reduce (i) the number of QUANGOs; and (ii) the operational cost of QUANGOs.

(AQW 12539/11-15)

Mr Poots: In February 2011, the preceding Executive announced a review of Arms Length Bodies (ALBs), led by the Ministerial Budget Review Group. This review of ALBs considered the scope for each ALB's abolition, integration with parent Department or merger with another body. The review is currently under consideration by the Budget Review Group and recommendations will be made to the Executive in due course.

My Department is currently facing significant financial and service challenges. All Arms length Bodies within DHSSPS's responsibility will be expected to contribute to meeting these pressures and closing the funding gap, including focussing on administrative costs.

Community Hospice Nurses

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what action he intends to take to address the cut in the number of community hospice nurses.

(AQW 12555/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department is not responsible for the number of community hospice nurses as they are not employed by the HSC. Although nurses such as hospice or McMillan nurses are invaluable and involved in a very appropriate way in palliative and end of life care, it is District Nurses who are the key workers developing co-ordinating and delivering the care plan. The number of district nurses in training has increased by 2/3 since 2010-11. In addition District Nursing is now made up of skill mix teams which include not only district nurses, but also staff nurses working in the community and community healthcare assistants.

Bronchial Challenge Test

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety which hospitals employ qualified personnel to carry out a specific bronchial challenge test.

(AQW 12556/11-15)

Mr Poots: A bronchial challenge test is a medical test used to assist in the diagnosis of asthma.

I can advise that the following hospitals employ qualified personnel able to carry out a bronchial challenge test:

- |                  |                  |               |
|------------------|------------------|---------------|
| ■ Royal Victoria | ■ Mater          | ■ Altnagelvin |
| ■ Belfast City   | ■ Craigavon Area |               |

Air Ambulance: Viability Study

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for an update on the viability study for an air ambulance. (AQW 12559/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Health and Social Care Board has now presented the final version of its feasibility study on the provision of a helicopter emergency medical service/air ambulance in Northern Ireland to my Department.

This is an important matter and I will, therefore, wish to consider carefully the implications of report's findings and recommendations for my Department's policy on the provision of this service.

Oasis Healthcare

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) the value of the contract awarded to Oasis Healthcare; (ii) the number of patients registered with Oasis Healthcare; and (iii) the average cost, per patient, of dental treatment provided by Oasis Healthcare to date.

(AQW 12576/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) The value of the contract awarded to Oasis Healthcare is £5.7m per annum.
- (ii) As at March 2012, there were 47,361 patients registered with Oasis Healthcare.
- (iii) The contractual arrangement between the HSCB and Oasis Healthcare is not on an item of service basis. However, based on activity information supplied by Oasis to the BSO during 2011/12 it has been assessed that the cost of dental treatments in 2011/12 was £1.5m (including patient contributions) and the number of patients that received these treatments during 2011/12 was approximately 39,400. Therefore an estimate of the cost per patient, of dental treatment in 2011/12 has been calculated at £38.

Notes:

- 1 Average cost has been based on the financial year 2011/12 as this was the first full financial year in which all 14 Oasis practices operated. Oasis practices were opened on a phased basis with the final practice opening in August 2010.

Source: Family Practitioner Services, Information and Registration Unit - HSC Business Services Organisation.

High Street Dentists

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, for the 2011/12 financial year, to detail (i) the total amount of money paid to high street dentists; (ii) the number of patients treated by dentists; and (iii) the average cost, per patient, of the treatment provided by dentists.

(AQW 12578/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) The total amount of money paid to high street dentists<sup>1</sup> in 2011/12 was £105.7m (including approximately £18m of patient contributions).
- (ii) The total number of patients treated by high street dentists in 2011/12 was 885,024.
- (iii) The average cost<sup>2</sup>, per patient, of treatment provided by high street dentists in 2011/12 was £65.89.

Notes:

- 1 High street dentists are defined as all health service dentists excluding Oasis practitioners and salaried practitioners. The total amount of money paid out includes all payments for treatment, patient registration payments, fees and other allowances covered in the Statement of Dental Remuneration.
- 2 Average cost is based on all patients who received treatment from a high street dentist during 2011/12. Treatment includes specialist and orthodontic treatment.

Acute Brain Injury Unit: Belfast Health and Social Care Trust

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients, who are being treated in the Acute Brain Injury Unit of the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust, have completed their treatment and are awaiting transfer to an appropriate level of community care.

Mr Poots: It is assumed that this question refers to the Regional Acquired Brain Injury Unit.

With this in mind, at 8th June 2012, no patients who had completed their treatment in the Regional Acquired Brain Injury Unit, Belfast were awaiting transfer to an appropriate level of community care.

Brain Injury: Extra-Contractual Referral

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to outline the cost of treatment for each patient with brain injuries who has been sent to Great Britain under the extra-contractual referral arrangement.

(AQW 12585/11-15)

Mr Poots: In 2011/12, ten patients with brain injuries received treatment in Great Britain under the Extra Contractual Referral process at an average cost of £141k. It is not possible to provide a cost per actual case, as each patient's treatment spans a number of years - the total cost per case is not known until the period of treatment is complete.

Brain Injury: Extra-Contractual Referral

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety which Health and Social Care Trusts have sent patients with brain injuries to Great Britain for treatment under the extra-contractual referral arrangement in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12587/11-15)

Mr Poots: I have been informed by the Health and Social Care Board that the Northern Health and Social Care Trust were the only Trust in Northern Ireland to transfer a patient with a brain injury to Great Britain for treatment under the extra-contractual referral arrangement during 2009/10. The Western Health and Social Trust was the only Trust to do so during 2010/11 and no patients were transferred by any Health and Social Care Trust in Northern Ireland during 2011/12.

Brain Injury: Extra-Contractual Referral

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients have been transferred to Great Britain under the extra-contractual referral arrangement for treatment for brain injuries in each of the last three years

(AQW 12589/11-15)

Mr Poots: I have been informed by the Health and Social Care Board that during 2009/10, there was one patient transferred to Great Britain under the extra-contractual referral arrangements for treatment for brain injury. This patient was from the Northern Health and Social Care Trust. A further two patients were transferred from the Western Health and Social Care Trust during 2010/11 and no patients were transferred by any Health and Social Care Trust in Northern Ireland during 2011/12.

Nebuliser Equipment: Funding Assistance

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what funding is available in the South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust area to assist patients in purchasing nebuliser equipment.

(AQW 12610/11-15)

Mr Poots: The South Eastern HSC Trust does not provide financial assistance to patients to purchase nebuliser equipment. The Trust will, however, provide a nebuliser to children with complex healthcare needs, with associated chronic respiratory conditions.

The medication that is delivered through a nebuliser is available on prescription, however the nebulisers themselves are not.

Nebuliser Equipment: Funding Assistance

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether any arm's-length body can provide financial assistance for the purchasing of nebuliser equipment.

(AQW 12611/11-15)

Mr Poots: None of the arm's length bodies within the health and social care sector provide financial assistance for the purchase of nebuliser equipment. The Belfast, South Eastern, Southern and Northern Health and Social Care Trusts provide nebulisers to children with complex healthcare needs with associated chronic respiratory conditions.

The medication that is delivered through a nebuliser is available on prescription, however the nebulisers themselves are not.

Prank Calls: Fire and Rescue Service

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the total number of prank calls received by the Fire and Rescue Service, in each of the last three years; and the estimated cost of these calls.

(AQW 12628/11-15)

Mr Poots: The table below details the total number of Hoax Calls received by NIFRS in each of the last 3 years and the estimated cost of mobilisations to Hoax Calls.

| Year    | No of Hoax Calls | No of Hoax Call Mobilisations | Average Cost per Mobilised Call | Estimated Cost of Mobilisation to Hoax Calls |
| 2009/10 | 3,179            | 989                           | £2,693                          | £2,663,377                                   |

| Year    | No of Hoax Calls | No of Hoax Call Mobilisations | Average Cost per Mobilised Call | Estimated Cost of Mobilisation to Hoax Calls |
|---------|------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------------------|--|
| 2010/11 | 3,036            | 819                           | £2,521                          | £2,064,699                                   |
| 2011/12 | 2,778            | 770                           | £2,795                          | £2,152,150                                   |

Prank Calls: Ambulance Service

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the total number of prank calls received by the Ambulance Service, in each of the last three years; and the estimated cost of these calls.

(AQW 12629/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Ireland Ambulance Service (NIAS) has advised me that it received 6,133 calls during 2009/10 which were classified as possible hoax or 'prank' calls. The figures for 2010/11 and 2011/12 were 5,884 and 5,382 respectively.

NIAS estimates the total cost of these calls for the period 2009/12 is £2,609,850.

Brain Injuries: Community Placement

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what is the average cost of a community placement for a patient with brain injuries.

(AQW 12645/11-15)

Mr Poots: Given the range of complexities and needs associated with patients with brain injuries and the diversity of such costs, it is not possible to provide an average cost of a community placement for a patient with brain injuries.

Brain Injury Unit

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients in the long stay facility of the Brain Injury Unit, which was formerly housed in the Maine Villa of Knockbracken Healthcare Park, have completed their treatment and are waiting for a community care package.

(AQW 12646/11-15)

Mr Poots: At 12th June 2012, 6 patients who had completed their treatment in the long stay facility of the Brain Injury Unit at Knockbracken Healthcare Park, were waiting for a community care package longer than the agreed maximum waiting time of 7 days.

Foster Care: Teenagers Leaving

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what support is available for teenagers leaving foster care who are considered fit to reside independently from care for the first time, particularly children with learning difficulties.

(AQW 12647/11-15)

Mr Poots: Support for all young people leaving care, including those with learning difficulties, is a requirement of the Children (Leaving Care) Act 2002 and regulations made under the Act.

Each young person's range and level of support is determined by a comprehensive needs assessment, pathway planning and review. For young people who may be leaving care with additional needs more specialist support may be required where it is deemed appropriate.

In terms of practical support, young people leaving foster care will have an allocated social worker and personal advisor who will help with the practical and emotional support needs of the young person making the transition to independent living. Supports provided includes assisting young people to move to suitable supported accommodation, remain with their former foster carers, if they wish, up to the age of 21 years, acquire practical and financial skills, and enhance access to full time and part time employment, training and volunteering opportunities.

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many QUANGOS, that are attached to his Department, have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

(AQW 12653/11-15)

Mr Poots: Since 2007, four arms length bodies have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly. All four bodies were established under the terms of the Health and Social Care (Reform) Act (Northern Ireland) 2009.

The four bodies are:

- the Regional Health and Social Care Board, established under section 7;
- the Regional Agency for Public Health and Social Well-being, established under section 12;

- the Regional Business Services Organisation, established under section 14; and,
- the Patient and Client Council, established under section 16.

Special Needs: Transfer from Children's to Adult Services

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what action is being taken to speed up the process of transferring people with special needs from Children's Services to Adult Services.

(AQW 12657/11-15)

Mr Poots: I recognise that transition from childhood to adulthood is particularly difficult for young people with special needs and requires planning which recognises individual need. That transition requires the cooperation and support of a number of departments and agencies and the Health and Social Care Board has established a Children and Young Person's Strategic Planning Partnership (CYPSP) to bring those departments and agencies together. This is a regional group and is a cross sector, strategic partnership, consisting of the leadership of all key agencies who have responsibility for improving outcomes for all children and young people in including health, social services, education, policing and housing as well as representatives from the voluntary and community sectors.

The CYPSP is taking forward work to ensure that appropriate transitions protocols are in place in each Trust and that all relevant agencies are appropriately engaged. In addition, I am advised that the Children's Services Framework Standards note transitions as a key area and it is intended that the Framework will include specific standards for transition which will provide the benchmark for health and social care services for this group of people.

Antrim Area Hospital: Bank and Agency Staff

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of hours that bank and agency staff have worked at the Antrim Area Hospital in each month of the last three years.

(AQW 12658/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Health & Social Care Trust advised that it was not possible to provide information on the number of hours that bank and agency staff have worked at the Antrim Area Hospital in each month of the last three years due to disproportionate costs.

Antrim Area Hospital: Staffing

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) whether all wards at the Antrim Area Hospital are staffed to the legally required levels; and (ii) how often the levels of staff are evaluated.

(AQW 12659/11-15)

Mr Poots: There are no legally imposed staffing levels in Northern Ireland. The staff required to deliver safe and effective care is determined through a range of measures that include consideration of the number of patients in a ward area, the complexity of their conditions and the level of care required. Staffing levels are assessed on an ongoing basis by senior nurses in clinical areas and are within a safe normative range at Antrim Area Hospital. A full review of nurse staffing across the wards at Antrim Area Hospital was carried out during the last quarter of 2011.

Child Neglect

Mr Beggs asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail how data on child neglect is being used to plan and integrate family support services and to tackle child neglect.

(AQW 12669/11-15)

Mr Poots: An Information Support Group from the Health and Social Care Board (HSCB) is currently carrying out an exercise to map children on the Child Protection Register by their home postcode which will be compared with the levels of deprivation in each of these areas. This group will report back to the HSCB-led Regional Child Protection Committee and the information will be used to help inform decisions taken by the Children and Young People's Strategic Partnership.

Family support services delivered at locality level are key to providing families with services that best meet their assessed needs, especially in relation to neglect. Work has taken place to develop family support hubs that provide accessible needs-based services to families at locality level through partnership working. As with Sure Start, the lead Hub body may be a voluntary/ community or statutory body. Hubs are currently developing on an ad hoc basis and it is intended to provide a more strategic and uniform approach to this.

My Department and the Health and Social Care Board have developed and implemented a range of strategies which will help address the impact of neglect on children and their families involving a range of agencies from the voluntary and statutory sectors. These strategies include: 'Hidden Harm', which deals with alcohol and drug misusing parents, 'Think Child, Think Parent, Think Family' which responds to issues linked to the mental health of parents and the impact on children and families. My Department and the Department of Justice are also jointly leading on the 'Tackling Violence at Home (October 2005)' and 'Tackling Sexual Violence and Abuse (June 2008)' Strategies, which employ a multiagency approach to domestic and sexual violence.

Branch Surgery Service: Waringstown

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of the future of the branch surgery service in Waringstown.

(AQW 12678/11-15)

Mr Poots: No decision or change of service in the Waringstown area is expected in the immediate future.

The Donaghcloney GP Practice provides a part time GP appointment service from a branch surgery in Waringstown which is located in the local Orange Hall.

Donaghcloney Surgery has advised the HSC Board of its concerns about the condition of the branch surgery premises in Waringstown. The Board and the GPs are in ongoing discussion about the provision of safe, modern, accessible and quality services to all its patients in the context of the strategic direction set out in Transforming Your Care. The future of Waringstown branch surgery will be considered as part of this process, with appropriate consultation with patients as required.

Dental Treatment: Health Service

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12394/11-15, to provide details, in any format available, on waiting times for patients, who have special needs, to receive Health Service dental treatment.

(AQW 12682/11-15)

Mr Poots: Patients with special needs receive dental treatment in a variety of settings. Patients with less complex needs may be treated by the family dentist while those with moderate or complex needs will be treated by the Community Dental Service or the hospital dental service.

In most cases these patients will not be recorded on any waiting list as is normal practice in a primary care setting. However, some patients with special needs, for example those with a learning disability, may require their dental treatment to be carried out under a general anaesthetic or sedation, in which case they will be recorded on an inpatient waiting list for admission to hospital as either a day case or an ordinary admission. While these patients represent only a portion of all special needs patients that require Health Service dental treatment, the table below outlines the numbers currently waiting to be admitted to hospital for dental treatment under either a general anaesthetic or sedation, by Health and Social Care Trust and the length of time they have been waiting for admission.

Doctor and Nursing Posts Transferred from the Causeway Hospital, Coleraine

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many doctor and nursing posts have been transferred from the Causeway Hospital, Coleraine, to the Antrim Area Hospital, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12704/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Health & Social Care Trust advised that no doctor or nursing posts have been transferred from the Causeway Hospital, Coleraine to the Antrim Area Hospital in the last five years.

Northern Ireland Fire and Rescue Service: Scrap Cars for Training

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12121/11-15, for each of the last five years, to detail (i) how much each Northern Ireland Fire and Rescue Service (NIFRS) Area Command has paid to each supplier of scrap cars; (ii) whether there are any agreements or contracts between each Area Command and suppliers; (iii) how much, on average, each Area Command has paid for a scrap car; and (iv) the number of scrap cars purchased by each Area Command.

(AQW 12705/11-15)

Mr Poots: The tables below outline the responses to questions (i), (iii) and (iv) above. In relation to point (ii), the NIFRS has confirmed that there are no agreements or contracts between Area Commands and suppliers.

Beechcroft Inpatient Centre, Belfast

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the age profile of patients who attended the Beechcroft Inpatient Centre, Belfast, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12718/11-15)

Mr Poots: The information requested is not currently available and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Outdoor Gym and Exercise Equipment: PAS888 Standard

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether departmental officials are aware of the new standard PAS888 for outdoor gym and exercise equipment; and whether they will ensure that only equipment meeting this standard is funded directly or indirectly by his Department.

(AQW 12719/11-15)

Mr Poots: There are existing European standards for play equipment but as yet there are no agreed standards for adult outdoor gym equipment. The PAS888 standard is currently out for consultation following work from the British Standards Institute and the Great Outdoor Gym Company. This has not yet been agreed as an industry standard.

When purchasing any outdoor gym and exercise equipment, providers will be asked to demonstrate adherence to agreed standards, the safety of the equipment, and the ability to take all necessary steps to improve safety.

Brain Injury: Extra Contractual Referral

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) how many patients with Acquired Brain Injuries, who have been sent to Great Britain under the Extra Contractual Referral arrangement, have completed their treatment and are awaiting transfer back to Northern Ireland to start or complete their rehabilitation; and (ii) to detail why their return is being delayed.

(AQW 12741/11-15)

Mr Poots: I have been informed by the Health and Social Care Board that there are currently nine people with complex Brain Injury needs funded as 'Extra Contractual Referral placements' in Great Britain receiving specialist assessment and treatment. None of these have completed their treatment and are awaiting transfer back to Northern Ireland to start or complete their rehabilitation.

Board Members of Public Bodies

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 11912/11-15, in relation to the appointment of Chairpersons or board members of public bodies sponsored by his Department, whether details of their full-time employment history is requested; and if not, to outline why.

(AQW 12747/11-15)

Mr Poots: Applicants for appointment of Chairpersons or board members of public bodies sponsored by my Department are invited to provide their 'current' employment. This information is used solely to identify any potential disqualifications or conflicts of interest. The Code of Practice issued by the Commissioner for Public Appointments for Northern Ireland paragraph 3.21 states, 'application forms must be clear and straightforward and should ask only what is truly required'. Therefore, in order to comply with the Code of Practice full employment history is not requested as it is not part of the criterion based selection process used to appoint Chairpersons and board members.

Board Members of Public Bodies

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 11912/11-15, whether application forms for appointment to public bodies, arm's-length bodies and QUANGOs that are sponsored by his Department, have an employment history section; and if not, to outline why.

(AQW 12748/11-15)

Mr Poots: Applicants for appointment of Chairpersons or board members of public bodies sponsored by my Department are invited to provide their 'current' employment only. This information is used solely to identify any potential disqualifications or conflicts of interest. The Code of Practice issued by the Commissioner for Public Appointments for Northern Ireland paragraph 3.21 states 'application forms must be clear and straightforward and should ask only what is truly required'. Therefore, in order to comply with the Code of Practice full employment history is not requested as it is not part of the criterion based selection process used to appoint Chairpersons and board members.

Ratio of Administrative Staff to Front Line Medical Staff

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 11894/11-15, to detail (i) the ratio of administrative staff to front-line medical staff and nursing staff in each Health and Social Care Trust area; and (ii) the number of staff employed in each Health and Social Care Trust area, excluding front-line medical staff and administrative staff, broken down by post.

(AQW 12749/11-15)

Mr Poots: I would refer you back to my answer to AQW 11894/11-15 in that it is still not appropriate to calculate and compare the ratio of administrative staff to front-line medical staff (i.e. doctors) or qualified nursing staff due to differences in the focus of services provided by individual Health and Social Care Trusts. It is also not possible to accurately determine the number of front-line staff from information held on the Human Resources Management System. Obtaining front-line staffing numbers would require a large-scale exercise; therefore all staff within the requested staff groups are included in the following calculations.

- (i) The ratios of administrative staff to medical staff and qualified nursing staff, alongside the proportions of total staff who are employed as administrative, medical and qualified nursing staff, are provided in the table below:

Ratio of Administration Staff to Medical and Nursing Staff by Health and Social Care Trust as at 31st March 2012
(including proportions of total staff employed as Administrative, Medical and Qualified Nursing staff within each Trust)

| HSC Trust | Ratio of Administrative staff to Medical &amp; Qualified Nursing staff | Proportion of Total Staff employed as Administrative staff | Proportion of Total Staff employed as Medical staff | Proportion of Total Staff employed as Qualified Nursing staff |
|------------------|---|---|--|--|
| Belfast          | 0.49  | 18.0%   | 8.9%   | 27.7%  |
| Northern         | 0.58  | 17.3%   | 5.3%   | 24.6%  |
| South Eastern    | 0.53  | 17.7%   | 6.3%   | 26.7%  |
| Southern         | 0.51  | 17.6%   | 6.7%   | 28.0%  |
| Western          | 0.52  | 17.8%   | 5.7%   | 28.8%  |

Notes:

- 1 Figures exclude bank staff, staff with a whole-time equivalent less than or equal to 0.03 and staff on career breaks.
  - 2 These figures will include individuals who are not employees of the Trust but who are on the system for payment purposes only.
  - 3 Ratios and percentages are based on whole-time equivalent staff.
  - 4 Administrative staff provide a variety of support to central functions such as human resources and finance, but they also provide support to social services, allied health professions, medical & dental, nursing and scientific staff. Not all of these staff will carry out a front-line role.
  - 5 Medical staff includes all grades of medical doctor e.g. consultants, associate specialists, staff grade, specialty doctors, hospital practitioners, specialty registrars and foundation doctors. Not all of these staff will carry out a front-line role.
  - 6 Qualified nursing staff includes all nurses employed at Pay band 5 and above. These staff provide services in a variety of hospital, community and social services settings. Not all of these staff will carry out a front-line role.
- (ii) Summary staffing information by Occupational Group and HSC organisation is published in the quarterly Key Facts Workforce Bulletin and the latest available as at 31st March 2012 can be found at: http://www.dhsspsni.gov.uk/key\_facts\_bulletin\_march\_2012.pdf.

Analysis of staffing by post or job title is not centrally available. Information on staffing by grade can be found in the annual NI HSC Workforce Census which provides staffing information as at 31 March. The latest available report provides information as at 31 March 2011 and can be found on the DHSSPS website. The NI HSC Workforce Census as at 31st March 2012 will be published in September 2012.

Pharmacists: Medication for Drug Addicts

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether pharmacists, who dispense medication on a regular basis for drug addicts, are responsible for ensuring that the medication is taken correctly by the patient; and whether they are able to report any concerns they have regarding patient non-compliance.

(AQW 12750/11-15)

Mr Poots: Across Northern Ireland, there is a specific regional substitute prescribing service for addicts (predominantly those addicted to heroin) where a safer substitute drug (usually methadone or buprenorphine) is provided to them on prescription in a controlled and managed way. Pharmacists who dispense medication on a regular basis for drug addicts do so as part of this regional service. In the service, patients are managed under a shared care arrangement, initially being prescribed for by Trust secondary care community addiction teams (CATs) and when their drug treatment is stabilised, they can then be managed jointly by GPs and CATs.

All drugs prescribed by either GPs or CATs are dispensed by Community Pharmacists and a signed agreement between the patient, CAT, community pharmacist and GP where appropriate, is put in place so that the responsibilities of each party is clear. As part of the agreement there is an expectation that any concerns that the community pharmacist may have about the patient will be brought to the attention of the prescriber.

Genito-Urinary Medicine Clinic: Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to provide, for the last two years, the numbers of patients who attended the Genito-urinary Medicine clinic at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast.

(AQW 12759/11-15)

Mr Poots: The total number of attendances<sup>1</sup> at consultant led outpatient clinics within the Genito Urinary Medicine (GUM) specialty, at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast, for each of the last two years is outlined in the table below.

| Financial Year       | Attendances at consultant led outpatient services |        |        |
|----------------------|---|--------|--------|
|                      | New   | Review | Total  |
| 2010/11              | 11,330  | 5,885  | 17,215 |
| 2011/12 <sup>P</sup> | 9,851   | 6,317  | 16,168 |

Source: Quarterly Outpatient Activity Return

P Data are currently provisional and may be subject to change

1 Data do not equate exactly to the number of patients attending GUM outpatient services as a patient may attend on more than one occasion in a single year.

Genito-Urinary Medicine Clinic: Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to provide the numbers of new patients attending the Genito-urinary Medicine clinic at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast.

(AQW 12760/11-15)

Mr Poots: Provisional data for 2011/12 report a total of 9,851 new outpatient attendances at consultant led Genito-Urinary Medicine outpatient clinics at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast during 2011/12.

Occupational Therapy

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, given that the Bamford Report states that occupational therapists are the only health care professionals with the core skills and expertise in the analysis, assessment, treatment and evaluation of the occupational dysfunction that is contributing, or consequent to, psychological problems, and that this gap in the Child and Adolescent Mental Health (CAMH) Service needs to be addressed urgently with occupational therapy representatives, to detail (i) when he plans to put measures in place to address the gap in service provision; and (ii) why, in the most recent assessment of the CAMH Service, there is no mention of the need for increased provision of occupational therapy, despite there being no improvements to the provision of occupational therapy in the last six years.<sup>[R]</sup>

(AQW 12767/11-15)

Mr Poots: RQIA recommended in their report 'Independent Review of Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services' (February 2011) that my Department should confirm through policy guidance a model for service provision in Northern Ireland. Accordingly, the draft document 'Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services – A Service Model' was issued for public consultation in February this year, and is currently being reviewed to take account of consultation responses. The final document is expected to be published this summer.

The policy document outlines what mental health services and interventions should be available through a stepped care model, to meet the needs of children and their families. It recognises that delivery of effective services will require multi-disciplinary working involving a wide range of professionals.

Following publication of the document, it will be for the HSCB and Trusts to translate it into service provision through an implementation plan, taking into account the need for multi-disciplinary working across a wide range of professionals.

Occupational Therapy

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of occupational therapists, per head of population, in the North Down area; and how this compares with other areas.

(AQW 12768/11-15)

Mr Poots: Information on the number of Occupational Therapists employed per head of population within Northern Ireland Health and Social Care is not available at County level. Therefore, information on the number of Occupational Therapists per head of population is provided at Trust level in the table below.

Occupational Therapists employed within Northern Ireland Health and Social Care per 100,000 population by Trust as at March 2012

| Trust Area    | Staff in post WTE | WTE Per 100,000 Population |
|---------------|-------------------|----------------------------|
| Belfast       | 210.97            | 62.8                       |
| Northern      | 186.99            | 40.8                       |

Orthopaedic Surgery: Waiting Times

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to outline the current (i) average and (ii) longest (a) inpatient and (b) outpatient waiting times for orthopaedic surgery in the Southern Local Commissioning Group area.

(AQW 12783/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department collects waiting times for inpatient admission on a patient level basis each quarter. This allows the average and longest waiting times to be calculated. The average waiting time for inpatient admission in the Trauma and Orthopaedic Surgery specialty at the Southern Health and Social Care Trust at 31st March 2012, the most recent quarter for which official statistics are available was 11.7 weeks. The longest waiting time in the Trauma and Orthopaedic Surgery specialty at the Southern Health and Social Care Trust at 31st March 2012 was 42.3 weeks.

Waiting times for a first outpatient appointment are collected by my Department on a quarterly basis by aggregate time band. It is therefore not possible to calculate average waiting time, but the median waiting time band, a similar statistical measure, can be provided. Similarly, it is not possible to calculate the longest waiting time, but the number of patients waiting longest, by time band, can be provided. The table below outlines the number of patients waiting for a first outpatient appointment in the Trauma and Orthopaedic specialty at the Southern Health and Social Care Trust at 31st March 2012, by length of time waiting in time bands.

|                         | 0 - 6                   | 6 - 9 | 9 - 13 | 13 - 21 | 21 - 26 | 26+ |               |
| Trauma and Orthopaedics | 426                     | 158   | 131    | 43      | 0       | 1   | 759           |

Source: Departmental Return CH3

These data show that the median waiting time for a first outpatient appointment in the Trauma and Orthopaedic specialty at the Southern Health and Social Care Trust at 31st March 2012 was '0 – 6' weeks and the patient waiting the longest period of time for a first outpatient appointment was waiting over 26 weeks.

Independent Sector Providers

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients each Health and Social Care Trust referred to an independent sector provider in the 2011/12 financial year.

(AQW 12788/11-15)

Mr Poots: The number of inpatient admissions and outpatient attendances undertaken by patients transferred by HSC Trusts to the Independent Sector during 2011/12, by transferring HSC Trust is outlined in the table below.

| HSC Trust     | Inpatient Admissions | Outpatient Attendances |        |
|---------------|----------------------|------------------------|--------|
|               |                      | New                    | Review |
| Belfast       | 8,129                | 13,648                 | 14,148 |
| Northern      | 970                  | 4,643                  | 319    |
| South Eastern | 1,436                | 3,635                  | 1,095  |

Air Ambulance: Feasibility Study

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 9554/11-15, for an update on the feasibility study on the potential for an air ambulance.

(AQW 12797/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Health and Social Care Board has now presented the final version of its feasibility study on the provision of a helicopter emergency medical service/air ambulance in Northern Ireland to my Department.

This is an important matter and I will, therefore, wish to consider carefully the implications of the report's findings and recommendations for my Department's policy on the provision of this service.

Retired GPs: Average Pension

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the average pension paid to retired GPs who have worked full-time for more than 30 years.

(AQW 12802/11-15)

Mr Poots: As pensions paid to retired GPs are based on a percentage of their revalued actual career earnings, details of their working patterns are not held on their HSC Pension Scheme records. It is not possible, therefore, to identify retired GPs who have worked full time for over 30 years.

It is possible to identify retired GPs who have contributed to the HSC Pension Scheme for 30 years or more.

The average pension paid to retired GPs who have contributed to the HSC Pension Scheme for 30 years or more is £46 600 per annum.

Domiciliary Care: Tendering Process

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) whether the tendering process for domiciliary care providers is the same for each Health and Social Care Trust; and (ii) to detail the contracted domiciliary care package providers in each Trust.

(AQW 12810/11-15)

Mr Poots: Health and Social Care Trusts currently commission and contract their own domiciliary care services, with procurement guidance available to them as necessary. In May 2011, the Business Services Organisation and Procurement and Logistics Service set up the Social Care Procurement Unit to provide more focused advice and support to Trusts in their social care procurement activities.

Please find attached at Appendix A the contracted domiciliary care package providers in each Trust.

Use of 0844 Numbers by GP Surgeries

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for an update on phasing out the use of 0844 numbers by GP surgeries, including when 0844 numbers will no longer be in use.

(AQW 12819/11-15)

Mr Poots: Neither my Department or the Health and Social Care Board have the legal authority to require GP Practices to stop using 0844 numbers.

I instructed the HSC Board to issue policy guidance directing that GP Practices should not enter into new, renew or extend contracts for telephone services unless they are satisfied that patients will not pay more than they would to call a local geographical number. The HSC Board issued guidance to all GPs in September 2011 and again in February 2012.

My Department will explore with the Practices that use a 0844 number the option of installing a geographical line which patients could use as an alternative to the 0844 number along with the option of introducing the call back facility which the Service Provider can set up, until such times as their 0844 contact expires.

Four of the 23 0844 telephony contracts are due to expire by October 2013, 9 by November 2014, 6 by December 2015 and the remaining 4 by April 2016.

Fractured Femur Operations: Craigavon Area Hospital

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many (i) orthopaedic operations; and (ii) repairs to fractured femur operations have been carried out at the Craigavon Area Hospital, during each quarter since the new Orthopaedic Unit opened.

(AQW 12825/11-15)

Mr Poots: The number of (i) orthopaedic operations; and (ii) repairs to fractured femur operations carried out at the Craigavon Area Hospital, during each quarter since the new Orthopaedic Unit opened are shown in the table below.

| Quarter                           | Number of orthopaedic operations | Number of repairs to fractured femur operations |

Legionnaires' Disease

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in light of the recent outbreak of Legionnaires' disease in Edinburgh, what precautionary measures are in place to deal with any outbreak in Northern Ireland.

(AQW 12828/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Public Health Agency wrote to HSC organisations on 6 June 2012 advising clinicians to be alert to the possibility of Legionnaires' disease in those with a recent history of travel to Edinburgh to advise of this outbreak and to ask that Legionnaire's disease was considered as a possible diagnosis in appropriate patients, in particular those with a recent history of travel to Edinburgh.

A Chief Medical Officer's letter to complement the Public Health Agency letter followed on 8 June 2012.

Legionnaires' disease is a notifiable disease and all cases must be notified to the Public Health Agency who has a well established protocol for recording and monitoring any potential outbreak.

To date there are no reports of cases of Legionnaires' disease in Northern Ireland associated with the Edinburgh outbreak.

Occupational Therapy: Waiting Time

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the average waiting time in the North Down area for a referral to an occupational therapist.

(AQW 12829/11-15)

Mr Poots: Table 1 below details the number of people waiting from referral to treatment by an occupational therapist, by aggregate time band, in the South Eastern HSC Trust at 1st June 2012.

Table 1

|--------------------------|--|---------|---------|----------|-----|-------|
|                          | 0 to 3   | >3 to 6 | >6 to 9 | >9 to 13 | >13 | Total |
| Number of people waiting | 399  | 310     | 180     | 169      | 74  | 1,132 |

1 Figures detailed in reply to this question were provided on request by the HSC Board and have not been validated by the DHSSPS.

The median waiting time from referral to treatment in the South Eastern HSC Trust was “>3 to 6” weeks.

The information collected cannot be disaggregated by geographical areas smaller than HSC Trust.

Mental Health

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of people who are recorded as currently having a mental health problem; and what is this figure as a percentage of the population.

(AQW 12833/11-15)

Mr Poots: The information is not available in the form requested; however, under the Quality & Outcomes Framework (QOF) of the General Medical Services contract, the total number of GP registered patients with certain mental health conditions is recorded.

The QOF mental health register includes all people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia, bipolar affective disorder and other psychoses.

Other QOF registers relating to mental health problems are the dementia register and the depression register. The dementia register includes all patients diagnosed with dementia. The depression register only includes patients aged 18 and over, and does not include women with postnatal depression.

| QOF Register  | Number of patients on register | Prevalence |
|---------------|--------------------------------|------------|
| Mental Health | 15,709                         | 0.83%      |
| Dementia      | 11,882                         | 0.63%      |
| Depression    | 182,525                        | 9.62%      |

Denominator populations are taken from the combined registered lists of all Northern Ireland practices as at January 2012.

For comparability, the prevalence has been calculated based on the number of patients on each register as a percentage of the full GP registered list for Northern Ireland. If the depression prevalence is calculated as a percentage of the appropriate subset of the population i.e. the GP registered list for Northern Ireland aged 18 and over, the prevalence is 12.5%

Please note it is possible for an individual patient to be included on more than one register, therefore it is not appropriate to sum the register totals as this may lead to double counting due to co-morbidities.

Case of Mr Adrian Allen from Claudy

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether he will review the case of Mr Adrian Allen from Claudy, who is currently suffering from pancreatic cancer, to establish if he can be given drug treatment which is available in England, Scotland and Wales but not currently available in Northern Ireland.

(AQW 12841/11-15)

Mr Poots: I am unable to comment on individual cases. However, the Health and Social Care Board has made a decision to commission Sunitinib for treatment of a specific form of pancreatic cancer and consequently this medicine is available for patients in Northern Ireland with immediate effect.

Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy Treatment Equipment

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 11876/11-15, whether patients, who are suitable for Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy Treatment, are being referred to Great Britain for treatment; and how many patients each Health and Social Care Trust has referred in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12842/11-15)

Mr Poots: The referral of patients for stereotactic body radiotherapy treatment is a clinical matter for consultants and Trusts. I am advised by the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust that patients who are clinically suitable for this treatment are routinely referred to other parts of the UK.

Information on the number of patients referred is detailed in the table below:

| Year    | Belfast Trust |
|---------|---------------|
| 2009-10 | 21            |
| 2010-11 | 30            |
| 2011-12 | 56            |

Domiciliary Care

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of domiciliary care packages provided by the Health and Social Care Trusts, compared with the number of packages provided by the private sector.

(AQW 12864/11-15)

Mr Poots: Table 1 below presents information on the number of clients receiving domiciliary care services from the statutory and independent sectors during a survey week in 2011.

Table 1

| HSC Trust        | Statutory | Independent* | Clients Receiving Domiciliary Care from both Sectors | Total Clients Receiving Domiciliary Care (excludes double counting) |
|------------------|-----------|--------------|--|---|
| Belfast          | 4,598     | 3,229        | 1,373  | 6,454   |
| Northern         | 3,259     | 1,519        | 547  | 4,231   |
| South Eastern    | 1,531     | 2,970        | 332  | 4,169   |
| Southern         | 2,844     | 1,615        | 240  | 4,219   |
| Western          | 2,288     | 2,551        | 390  | 4,449   |
| Northern Ireland | 14,520    | 11,884       | 2,882  | 23,522  |

Source: CC7b Community Information Return

Information relates to the survey week 18th–24th September 2011 inclusive.

During the survey week in 2011, HSC Trusts provided domiciliary care services for 23,522 clients. 14,520 clients received domiciliary care services from the statutory sector, 11,884 clients received domiciliary care services from the independent sector (this information cannot be split by private and voluntary providers) and 2,882 clients received domiciliary care services from both sectors.

MRSA

Mrs McKevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of people who contracted the MRSA virus during a period in hospital, in each Health and Social Care Trust, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12866/11-15)

Mr Poots: Information on the number of people who contracted the MRSA virus during a period in hospital is not available. However, information is available on the number of MRSA patient episodes in hospitals, in each Health and Social Care Trust, during each of the last three years. This is detailed in the table below:

| HSC Trust     | Number of MRSA patient episodes |         |          |
|---------------|---------------------------------|---------|----------|
|               | 2009/10                         | 2010/11 | 2011/12* |
| Belfast       | 62                              | 48      | 46       |
| Northern      | 22                              | 27      | 19       |
| South Eastern | 28                              | 15      | 14       |

| HSC Trust        | Number of MRSA patient episodes |         |           |

* Information for 2011/12 is provisional.

Depression: Treatment

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many people are currently being treated for depression, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 12867/11-15)

Mr Poots: The information is not available in the form requested; however, under the Quality & Outcomes Framework (QOF) of the General Medical Services contract, the total number of GP registered patients with a current diagnosis of depression is recorded. The depression register only includes patients aged 18 and over, and does not include women with postnatal depression.

The number of patients on the QOF depression register broken down by parliamentary constituency is shown in table 1 below. The QOF data is collected at GP practice level, and patient details such as postcode of residence are not recorded; therefore the figures shown below are allocated to parliamentary constituency based on the location of the GP practice. It should be noted that patients may not reside in the constituency in which their GP practice is located.

| Parliamentary Constituency | Number of patients on depression register |
|----------------------------|---|
| Belfast East               | 9,865                                     |
| Belfast North              | 12,074                                    |
| Belfast South              | 10,376                                    |

Cancer Patients: Sunitinib

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether he plans to introduce the use of Sunitinib, so that cancer patients can benefit from the same treatment as patients in England.

(AQW 12868/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Health and Social Care Board has made a decision to commission Sunitinib for the treatment of a specific form of pancreatic cancer and consequently the medicine is available for patients in Northern Ireland with immediate effect.

Bangor Diabetes Clinic

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12299/11-15, to detail the timescale for the reinstatement of the Bangor Diabetic Clinic.

(AQW 12927/11-15)

Mr Poots: The South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust has advised that it is not yet in a position to determine a date for recommencing Bangor Diabetes Clinic.

Wind Turbines: Health Implications

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether there are any health implications associated with living in close proximity to a wind turbine farm.

(AQW 12943/11-15)

Mr Poots: Scientific research to date has generally not indicated a causal link between living in the vicinity of wind turbines and adverse health effects.

Any public health concerns that may be raised in respect of proposals for wind farm developments should be considered as part of the planning permission process.

Health and Social Care Trust and Board Staff

Dr McDonnell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail (i) the total number of Health and Social Care Trust and Board staff, who are under formal time limited pay protection arrangements; and (ii) where pay protection does not apply, whether healthcare staff are receiving salaries above the published salary for their post.

(AQW 12980/11-15)

Mr Poots: This information is not held centrally and could only be obtained by individual Health and Social Care employers at a disproportionate cost.

Jubilee Garden Party: Tickets

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) his Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13088/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Ireland Office allocated 150 tickets to each Department for distribution to departmental staff and its Arms Length Bodies. There was no separate allocation of tickets made to Departmental Ministers. Additionally, the Northern Ireland Office allocated tickets directly to the 6 Health and Social Care Trusts and the Northern Ireland Fire and Rescue Service.

Suicide: Ministerial Subgroup

Mr G Kelly asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety when the Ministerial Sub-Group on Suicide will meet.

(AQO 2213/11-15)

Mr Poots: I have invited Ministerial colleagues to attend a meeting of the Ministerial Co-ordination Group on Suicide Prevention. The meeting will take on Thursday 28 June 2012. The purpose of the meeting will be to agree how best to drive forward cross departmental action within the revised Protect Life Strategy Action Plan.

Residential Care: Northern Health and Social Care Trust

Mr Dickson asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of the Northern Health and Social Care Trust's proposal to withdraw from provision of residential care home accommodation.

(AQO 2216/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern HSC Trust is in the process of finalising their population plans which will address the future of statutory residential care, in response to recommendations within the Transforming Your Care report.

Once the Trust population plan is completed this will be presented to me for consideration. It would be inappropriate for me to make any assessments before I have had sight of the proposals.

Fertility Treatment: NICE Guidelines

Ms Gildernew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of the proposed National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence guidelines on fertility treatment which will be published in June 2012.

(AQO 2217/11-15)

Mr Poots: I understand that the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence is currently consulting on revised guidance, which contains draft proposals to make changes to the qualifying period for treatment, raising the age limit for women in certain circumstances and clarifying the number of treatments women should be offered.

It is expected that the final guidance will be issued in October 2012 and, as I have already indicated in the Assembly, the final guidance will be considered for its applicability to the HSC at that time.

DHSSPS Budget: Ageing Population

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of the effect that the ageing population will have on his Department's annual expenditure up to 2015.

(AQO 2218/11-15)

Mr Poots: Our ageing population presents a range of challenges to the Health and Social Care system in Northern Ireland. The latest assessment of the financial pressures associated with the ageing population indicates that an additional £40m each year will be required to meet this demand.

Multiple Sclerosis

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for an update on the provision of services for people diagnosed with multiple sclerosis.

(AQO 2219/11-15)

Mr Poots: Within the UK, it is believed NI has the second highest prevalence rate of MS after Scotland. So it is important that we have a health service that is appropriately skilled and understands how best to support people with MS.

Following diagnosis, patients with multiple sclerosis have access to the full range of core community health and social care services across Northern Ireland, including physiotherapy, occupational therapy, community nursing, speech and language therapy, dietetics, social work/social care, domiciliary care, day care and day time opportunities and respite care, including specialist respite care.

Self-harm: Accident and Emergency Departments

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what measures he is taking to ensure that the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence guideline, on the management of self-harm, is implemented in Accident and Emergency departments.

(AQO 2220/11-15)

Mr Poots: NICE clinical guidance on self harm was endorsed for Northern Ireland by my Department in January this year. The HSC Board has developed arrangements for implementation and these are currently under consideration by the Department. The Board will be responsible for monitoring implementation and reporting on progress to the Department.

An enhanced focus on self harm prevention and response services is an objective of the refreshed Protect Life strategy. The implementation of NICE guidance on self harm is one of the indicators by which achievement of this objective will be measured. Specific action within "Protect Life" includes making self harm awareness training a priority for all frontline staff, including accident and emergency staff, dealing with people in distress.

The Health and Social Care Board is also considering how "places of safety" for people who have self harmed can be provided as part of a wider model of integrated care.

Residential Care: Costs

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of the cost of staying in a statutory residential home compared to a private residential home.

(AQO 2221/11-15)

Mr Poots: While direct comparison between private and statutory homes is not straightforward, the information available would indicate that the cost of providing care in a private sector home would be less than the cost of care in a statutory sector home. However, value for money is about more than simply unit cost comparisons. It includes a host of other considerations like the quality of interaction that clients get from staff and whether their specific care needs are being met.

Compton Review: Consultation

Mr Ó hÓisín asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety why the public are not being consulted on the Compton Report in its entirety.

(AQO 2222/11-15)

Mr Poots: A key objective of the Health and Social Care Review was to undertake appropriate consultation and engagement in order to ensure informed debate with a wide range of stakeholders during the review process.

The Review was supported by an extensive engagement process which included an on-line survey, a series of workshops with clinicians, and representatives from the voluntary and community and business sectors; also six public meetings.

The report on the Review, Transforming Your Care, sets out a strategic road map for health and social care into the future. Given the nature of the report, it was not considered necessary or appropriate to undertake a full consultation on the Report itself. It was always the intention that the proposals in Transforming Your Care would be subject to further assessment and development, and the Report sets out a proposed process for Population Plans that would help inform the implementation of the new model of care.

Population Plans are currently being developed by the five Local Commissioning Groups and HSC Trusts for their local areas, and engagement is taking place at local level as part of this process. Population Plans, together with an overarching Strategic Implementation Plan, are due to be developed by the end of June. It will be more meaningful to consult and engage on the more detailed work contained in the Plans and there will be a consultation process on the Strategic Implementation Plan and Population Plans, once they have been agreed.

Where there are proposals for policy changes, or major service changes coming out of the population planning process, these will also be subject to appropriate consultation.

Water Supply: Fluoridation

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for an update on the discussions he was to have with his Executive colleagues on the possible fluoridation of water.

(AQO 2223/11-15)

Mr Poots: I recently announced that I would give consideration to fluoridation of the water supplies. In the first instance I want to seek the views of my Executive colleagues and that process is ongoing at present. I have still to come to a final position on this matter and given that there are strongly held views in relation to water fluoridation, I wish to take further time to give this issue wider consideration.

Department of Justice

Arm's-length Bodies and Quangos: Remuneration

Mr Gardiner asked Minister of Justice to detail the current total annual cost of remuneration for board members at his Department's arm's-length bodies and quangos.

(AQW 12412/11-15)

Mr Ford (The Minister of Justice): The total cost of remuneration for board members in the Department's 18 arm's length bodies is £670,650; a detailed breakdown is set out in the attached table.

Remuneration for Arm's Length Bodies Boards Members in the Department of Justice

- 1 The total cost does not include travel and subsistence or other incidental expenses incurred.
- 2 The Chairman's salary is reimbursed to the NICTS for his time allocated to Commission duties each month.
- 3 The 2011/12 figures are taken from the draft un-audited Annual Report & Accounts of the Commission which may be subject to change.

Judicial Decisions

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) how many times he has intervened in, or over-ruled, a judicial decision; and (ii) to provide details of each case.

(AQW 12466/11-15)

Mr Ford: None. As Minister of Justice, I have no power to intervene in judicial decisions.

Victims of Crime Prior to Death

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice whether the Public Prosecution Service or the PSNI liaise with a family member, or the state executor, of an individual who was a victim of crime prior to their death.

(AQW 12472/11-15)

Mr Ford: Where a victim is unable to act for themselves, through injury or incapacity, the Public Prosecution Service (PPS) and the Police Service of Northern Ireland (PSNI) will often work with the victim's next of kin or nominated representative to ensure the interests of the victim are appropriately represented. In doing this, they will take all steps to ensure that the person they are working with is the most appropriate representative.

The PPS and PSNI are jointly working on a project to introduce witness care units in Northern Ireland. In establishing a single point of contact for victims and witnesses, the units will provide information for those attending court and updates on how the case is progressing. The witness care units will also aid referrals to other organisations if a victim or witness requires specialist help.

In addition, I will be bringing forward a new five-year strategy for victims and witnesses of crime, one of the key themes for which will be ensuring better communication with victims and their families to make sure they get the information they need.

Martin Joseph Corey

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) on what date Martin Joseph Corey applied for compassionate bail at the High Court; and (ii) on what grounds this was refused.

(AQW 12473/11-15)

Mr Ford: Mr Corey made an application to NIPS for a period of Compassionate Temporary Release (CTR) to attend his brother's funeral on 22 May 2012.

His application was initially refused following risk assessment on a number of grounds which included his status as a Category A prisoner and that he had been deemed unsuitable for accompanied release as no appropriate person was available to accompany him.

However, after considering the particular individual circumstances of Mr Corey's case, including the humanitarian aspects, I took the decision to grant him compassionate temporary release; subject to the assurances set out in my answer to AQW/12407/11.

Stuart Townsend

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice what sentence Stuart Townsend received for his first sexual offence conviction; and what sentences he has received subsequently.

(AQW 12536/11-15)

Mr Ford: Mr Townsend's first conviction was at a Youth Court. It is not possible to publish any details of that case as Youth Courts are not public hearings.

The table overleaf sets out the sentences imposed on Mr Townsend in respect of his convictions in the Adult Magistrates' Court.

| Court Venue   | Offence  | Sentence   |

Note: All information as at 11 June 2012.

Ackah and Deane Report

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, given that other pressures prevented the delivery of the training recommended in the Ackah and Deane Report, whether the Northern Ireland Prison Service is in breach of the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service Code of Practice on Discipline and Grievances at Work, which states that those responsible for using and operating the discipline rules and procedures, including Managers at all levels, should be trained for the task and that ignoring or circumventing the procedures, when dismissing an employee, is likely to have a bearing on the outcome of any subsequent Employment Tribunal claim.

(AQW 12538/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) Code of Practice does not apply to Northern Ireland.

Furniture and Decor for Departmental Offices: Cost

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Justice to detail the cost of (i) new furniture; and (ii) the decor, including clocks, carpets and art, for offices under the control of his Department since April 2010.

(AQW 12577/11-15)

Mr Ford: The total spend on new furniture and decor for the last two financial years for the Department and its Agencies is as follows:

- 2010/11 - £319,138
- 2011/12 - £273,858

Please note that:

- some expenditure on furniture and decor may be recorded as, for example, maintenance or refurbishment costs and is not, therefore, separately identifiable. Any such expenditure is not included in the above totals.
- due to the way it is recorded, the expenditure identified above may include furniture and decor costs for accommodation other than offices.

Hospitality Events: Costs

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Justice to detail the costs incurred for hospitality events which have been organised by his Department, including (i) food and drinks; (ii) travel costs; and (iii) professional fees, since April 2010.

(AQW 12579/11-15)

Mr Ford: The cost to my Department, including Agencies, of hospitality events is as follows:

- 2010/11 - £17,181
- 2011/12 - £13,886

Due to the way this expenditure is recorded, it cannot be broken down into the categories requested.

Figures exclude hospitality provided in the course of day to day business, for example hospitality provided at training courses.

Ackah and Deane Report

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 11517/11-15, (i) to detail the number of Northern Ireland Prison Service staff that have been dismissed from service since the Ackah and Deane report, broken down by (a) grade; and (b) gender; (ii) how many of these staff lodged an appeal to the Northern Ireland Civil Service Appeals Board, broken down by date; (iii) how many of these appeals alleged that the Prison Service had breached the provisions of the Code of Conduct and Discipline and statutory procedures; (iv) what were the outcomes of these appeals; and (v) how many members of staff who have been dismissed and subsequently appealed to the Civil Service Appeals Board have also lodged a complaint with the Office of the Industrial Tribunals and the Fair Employment Tribunal alleging a breach of the provisions of the Code of Conduct and Discipline and statutory procedures.

(AQW 12614/11-15)

Mr Ford: Four Male and four Female members of staff have been dismissed; three of whom were Prison Officers and five Prison Support Grades.

The Civil Service Appeal Board (CSAB) notified the NI Prison Service that four of those dismissed appealed and lodged their cases in November 2011, March and April 2012. To date two of these appeals have been upheld; two hearings remain pending.

Three of the staff dismissed and who submitted cases to the CSAB, have also lodged a complaint with The Office of the Industrial Tribunals and Fair Employment Tribunal NI alleging breaches of the provision of the Code and Conduct and Discipline.

Northern Ireland Prison Service Staff

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many current and former members of staff of the Northern Ireland Prison Service were interviewed in relation to the Prisoner Assessment Unit; and whether this number constitutes all the staff who had worked in the unit prior to its closure.

(AQW 12616/11-15)

Mr Ford: During the course of the Prisoner Assessment Unit investigation a total of 22 staff were interviewed.

Of these staff five are serving members of NIPS who had previously worked in the Prisoner Assessment Unit but not at the time of its closure.

One member of existing Prisoner Assessment Unit staff was not interviewed due to being on sick leave.

Fixed Penalties for Minor Offences

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice in relation to the new Fixed Penalties for minor offences, what is the procedure if a person refuses to accept a penalty that has been issued.

(AQW 12617/11-15)

Mr Ford: Acceptance of the new police issued penalty notice is voluntary. If an individual declines the offer of a penalty notice, the offence will be addressed as appropriate in line with current practice.

Marian Price

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the Prisoner Ombudsman has made any representations in relation to Marian Price.

(AQW 12642/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prisoner Ombudsman has not made any representation in relation to Marian Price.

Northern Ireland Prison Service: Code of Conduct and Discipline

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 11188/11-15, to provide a copy of the signed minute.

(AQW 12644/11-15)

Mr Ford: Confirmation has been received from the Northern Ireland Office that the Member can be provided with a redacted version of the document he has requested. Arrangements will be made to make this available to him.

Prison and Young Offenders Centre Rules (NI) 1995

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice why the Code of Conduct referred to in Rules 6 and 118 (3) of the Prison and Young Offenders Centre Rules (NI) 1995 (SR&O No.8) was not included in the Statutory Rule (SR) when it came into operation on 1 March 1995; and whether he intends to amend the SR.

(AQW 12648/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prison Service Code of Conduct and Discipline is enacted under Rule 6 of the Prison and Young Offenders Centre Rules (NI) 1995 and there is no requirement for it to be included in the Statutory Rule (SR). As such I do not intend to amend the SR.

Martin Joseph Corey

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether Martin Joseph Corey is a separated prisoner; and whether he has signed the required compact.

(AQW 12649/11-15)

Mr Ford: I can confirm Martin Joseph Corey is a separated prisoner. Mr Corey has refused to sign the required compact. However, he has been made aware of its content and that he is expected to adhere to the conditions.

Prisoner Assessment Unit: Report

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the Prisoner Ombudsman has received the report by the Northern Ireland Prison Service into the Prisoner Assessment Unit closure and the details of the issues that have arisen following the closure and the report.

(AQW 12700/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prisoner Ombudsman has not received the report.

Code of Conduct and Discipline: Secretary of State

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 11188/11-15, whether the minute constitutes legislative approval by the Secretary of State for the Code of Conduct.

(AQW 12701/11-15)

Mr Ford: The minute from the Secretary of State's Office approves the Code of Conduct and Discipline in line with Rule 6 of The Prison and Young Offenders Centre Rules (Northern Ireland).

Capital Spending

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Justice to detail (i) his Department's current capital spending; and (ii) any projects that are planned between now and the end of the current Assembly Mandate.

(AQW 12723/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Department of Justice capital DEL baseline, split by spending area, is set out in the table below.

The main capital projects that are planned over the Budget 2011-15 period (i.e. to 31 March 2015) include:

NI Prison Service

The NI Prison Service is currently consulting on its Outline Estate Strategy. The Strategy has been developed to meet the accommodation needs of the prison population and also to support delivery of the Prison Service's core aim of improving public safety by reducing the risk of reoffending through the management and rehabilitation of offenders in custody. The outcome of this consultation will inform the main capital projects to be taken forward by the Prison Service.

Police Service of Northern Ireland

In addition to a range of IT, transport and estate capital projects, the Department will also progress the Desertcreat integrated training college, at a cost of up to £138m (this includes £10m of funding in relation to the NI Prison Service elements of the college). The Outline Business Case for the college has been approved by the Department of Finance and Personnel (DFP).

Forensic Science Agency

The Department also plans to develop new laboratory accommodation for the Forensic Science Agency at a cost of approximately £14m over the Budget 2011-15 period. An outline business case for this project is currently being considered by DFP.

| DOJ 2012-13 capital baseline  | £k     |
|-------------------------------|--------|
| Forensic Science NI           | 460    |
| Access to Justice Directorate | 10,900 |

| DOJ 2012-13 capital baseline | £k     |
|-------------------------------------|---------------|
| Compensation Agency                 | -             |
| Safer Communities Directorate       | 400           |
| NI Prison Service                   | 8,300         |
| Youth Justice Agency                | -             |
| NI Courts and Tribunals Service     | 2,280         |
| Police Service of NI                | 41,807        |
| Office of the Police Ombudsman NI   | 100           |
| NI Policing Board                   | -             |
| Probation Board for NI              | 290           |
| Criminal Justice Inspection NI      | -             |
| NI Legal Services Commission        | -             |
| NI Police Fund                      | -             |
| RUC George Cross Foundation         | -             |
| Total Capital Budget         | 64,537 |

Dungannon Courthouse: Security Measures

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice what is the cost of the additional security measures that are being installed at Dungannon Court House; and whether any other court house is having its security measures increased or improved.

(AQW 12764/11-15)

Mr Ford: The estimated final costs of the additional measures at Dungannon Courthouse is £115,000, excluding VAT and professional fees.

These measures follow a review of the court estate which recommended improvements at a number of courthouses.

Injury Compensation Claims

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether an injury compensation claim can be made in the absence of the incident being reported to the PSNI.

(AQW 12781/11-15)

Mr Ford: An injury compensation claim can be made in the absence of the incident being reported to the PSNI. However, such a claim is likely to be refused under paragraph 14(1) of the Northern Ireland Criminal Injuries Compensation Scheme 2002, whereby if a person fails to take, without delay, all reasonable steps to inform the police, or other appropriate body, of the circumstances giving rise to an injury, compensation can be withheld or reduced.

Police Ombudsman: Gerry McGeough

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the Prisoner Ombudsman has made any representations to his Department, or its arm's-length bodies, in relation to Gerry McGeough.

(AQW 12795/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prisoner Ombudsman has not made any representation in relation to Gerry McGeough.

Case Number 11/128987 at Magherafelt Magistrates' Court

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice why case number 11/128987 at Magherafelt Magistrates' Court did not proceed.

(AQW 12796/11-15)

Mr Ford: On 6 June 2012 at Magherafelt Magistrates' Court the Public Prosecution Service withdrew the charges in case number 11/128987.

This is a prosecutorial decision which is the responsibility of the Director of Public Prosecutions and not something upon which I can comment.

Illegal Poisons: Possession

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Justice how many people have been (i) charged with; (ii) prosecuted for; and (iii) convicted of possession of illegal poisons, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12805/11-15)

Mr Ford: There is no specific offence for the possession of illegal poisons. Poison related offences may be prosecuted under a range of statutes including Article 9 and Article 12(5) Poisons (Northern Ireland) Order 1976, Article 15B Wildlife (Northern Ireland) Order 1985, Section 7 Welfare of Animals Act (Northern Ireland) 2011, Section 15 Wildlife and Natural Environment Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 and Section 22 and Section 24 Offences Against the Person Act 1861.

Prosecution and conviction data for the calendar years 2004 to 2006 and conviction data for 2007 to 2008 (the last year for which data are available) record one prosecution and conviction for administering poison to endanger life in 2006 (Section 24 Offences Against the Person Act 1861).

Police Service for Northern Ireland (PSNI) has recorded no charges for poison related offences in the available corresponding years (2006 – 2008).

Data are collated on the principal offence rule; only the most serious offence for which an offender is convicted is included.

Forensic Science Northern Ireland

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12268/11-15, how many cases have been in the Forensic Services Northern Ireland system for more than the 44 day average.

(AQW 12818/11-15)

Mr Ford: At 14 June 2012, 722 cases at various stages of the analysis or reporting process were in Forensic Science Northern Ireland for more than 44 days.

Case Number 12/021693 at Dungannon Magistrates' Court

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice to clarify the circumstances which led to the dismissal of case number 12/021693 at Dungannon Magistrates' Court, after the Public Prosecution Service was unable to offer any evidence.

(AQW 12876/11-15)

Mr Ford: On 8 June 2012 at Dungannon Magistrates' Court the District Judge (Magistrates' Court) made the order 'Dismissed – Prosecution offers no evidence'.

The decision not to offer evidence in any case is a matter for the Public Prosecution Service and the reasons unpinning such decisions are not something upon which I can comment.

Department for Regional Development

Waste Water Treatment: Maze Site

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, in light of the requirements of the Water Framework Directive, what plans there are to construct a waste water treatment works at the Maze site in advance of hosting the Balmoral Show; and what will be the waste water and sewage disposal arrangements on the site.

(AQW 12489/11-15)

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that it has had initial discussions with representatives of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society and with various Government departments regarding the provision of water and wastewater services to the Maze site. Any decisions on the extent of service provision remain premature as there is no firm direction on requirements or timelines from the parties involved.

NIW will address the water and sewerage requirements for the site as part of the normal planning consultation process.

Translink: Management

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, pursuant to AQW 11792/11-15, to detail the current number of management level posts within the (i) bus; and (ii) rail sector, broken down by (a) customer services; and (b) engineering posts.

(AQW 12491/11-15)

Mr Kennedy:

- (i) Translink advise that the current number of management level posts in Bus Services with customer service responsibilities is 23 and engineering posts is 3.
- (ii) For the Rail sector with customer services responsibilities the number is 5 and for engineering posts the number is 4.

This gives a total number of 35 posts.

These 35 posts were included in the overall figure of 82 managerial posts which were referred to under AQW 11792/11-15.

Rambler Bus Service, Co Fermanagh

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister for Regional Development why Translink is not operating a Rambler Service in Co Fermanagh. (AQW 12514/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Rambler Bus services are operated by Translink with support from the Rural Transport Fund (RTF) which is administered by my Department. To qualify for support such services need to comply with the criteria set. These criteria relate to population served, patronage and the level of subsidy required.

There are currently no Rambler services in Fermanagh despite a range of services being previously trialled in the area. These services failed to sustain the RTF criteria for support as set out above.

RTF services are primarily aimed at reducing social exclusion for rural dwellers.

Waste Treatment Plant, Tullygarley

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Regional Development for his assessment of Tullygarley Waste Treatment Plant's capacity to deal with the waste that it receives. (AQW 12530/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that under normal conditions the Tullaghgarley Wastewater Treatment Works in Ballymena operates at approximately 76% of capacity and the performance of the Works is satisfactory.

Discharges from the Works are subject to control by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) under the Water (Northern Ireland) Order 1999 and standards have been set relating to the quality and quantity of effluent that can be discharged to the River Maine. The Works has consistently achieved the standards set and has been assessed by NIEA as compliant.

Waste Treatment Plant, Tullygarley

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Regional Development what type of waste treatment is carried out at the Tullygarley Waste Treatment Plant. (AQW 12531/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water that Tullaghgarley Wastewater Treatment Works in Ballymena is a Conventional Activated Sludge Plant. The treatment processes at the plant include inlet screening; grit removal; primary settlement; biological aeration; final settlement; tertiary sand filters; sludge thickening and chemical addition to aid phosphorus reduction.

River Maine: Discharges into

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the discharges into the River Maine, from NI Water controlled waste treatment plants, during the last three months, including (i) the dates and times of the discharge; and (ii) the volume and nature of the material discharged. (AQW 12532/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that four wastewater treatment works discharge into the River Maine namely Tullaghgarley, Dunloy, Glarryford and Slaght. Discharges from these Works are subject to control by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) under the Water (Northern Ireland) Order 1999 and standards have been set relating to the quality and quantity of effluent that can be discharged to the River Maine.

In relation to (i) all four works are consented to discharge treated wastewater on a continuous basis.

In relation to (ii) NIW is only required to collect treated wastewater volume and quality data for the two larger Works namely Tullaghgarley and Dunloy and this information is provided below for the three month period March to May 2012. The results show that both Works are complying with the quality standards set by NIEA. Dunloy Works is also consented to discharge settled storm wastewater and screened wastewater but there were no discharges to the River Maine from the storm tank during the three month period. There is no requirement to collect volumetric data for Glarryford or Slaght Works so volume and quality data is not available.

NI Water Controlled Waste Treatment Plants

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the discharges into designated water courses, from NI Water controlled waste treatment plants, during the month of May 2012, including (i) the dates and times of the discharge; and (ii) the volume and nature of the material discharged.

(AQW 12533/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that it has 359 wastewater treatment works which discharge to designated water courses. In relation to (i) all of these works discharge wastewater on a continuous basis. In relation to (ii) information in the form requested is not readily available and could only be compiled at disproportionate cost.

Water Mains Network: Berryhill Road, Donemana

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister for Regional Development, pursuant to AQW 11818/11-15, whether the Asset Management Unit has completed plans for the replacement of the water mains network on the Berryhill Road, Donemana, and is ready to commence work when funding becomes available.

(AQW 12574/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that it has an on-going multi-million pound water mains rehabilitation programme that includes network modelling and assessments, solution development and ultimately project delivery. The upgrade of the network in Berryhill Road has been included as one element of this programme but work is unlikely to commence until the 2013/14 financial year.

NIW is currently engaged in developing working drawings to allow the project to commence on site when funding becomes available.

Park-and-ride Facilities

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development to outline what action is being taken to ensure that Park and Ride car parks are being used for that purpose, rather than being used as general parking for the location or by people working in the area.

(AQW 12591/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The use of these sites is controlled by the Off Street Parking Order (NI) 2000 which determines the types of vehicles permitted to use the car parks. The Order does not limit the use of the car parks solely for Park and Ride/Park and Share purposes, however, as most of these are located outside of town centres, their use by other users tends to be limited.

Translink officials advise that many of their Park & Ride facilities have access/egress barriers in place to discourage casual parking. However, it is acknowledged that even where these exist and where staff are on site, this may not necessarily prevent motorists from choosing to use the facility without availing of the connecting public transport. They add that at other locations where there are no barriers, for example at the Park and Ride site at Abbey Street, Bangor, arrangements may be put in place to have a security guard on site to deter casual parking.

Such facilities also have relevant signage, to inform intending passengers of the availability of Park & Ride at that location and to highlight to others the purpose of the facility.

Parking Charges: Bangor

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development to outline what assessment was made of the potential impact on train users of the introduction of parking charges in Bangor car parks.

(AQW 12592/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: As the Member is aware, the Belfast Metropolitan Transport Plan (BMTP) 2015 set out a range of measures to control the demand for parking within the Belfast Metropolitan Area. The BMTP identified an area of parking restraint within Bangor and the car-parks at Dufferin Avenue, Abbey Street West, and Central Avenue all fall within this area.

Plans to introduce charging in a number of Roads Service car-parks were included in the budgetary Savings Delivery Plan relating to the review of car-parking charges. Charges were to have been introduced in 2011 but there was a delay to allow for a consultation period. Roads Service officials have advised me that, during the consultation period, no objections were received in respect of these car-parks.

No specific assessment has been carried out to assess the potential impact that the proposed charges would have on train users. However, tariffs in these car parks have been set at the low end of the spectrum, that is, 20p per hour in respect of Dufferin Avenue car park and 30p per hour at both the Abbey Street West and Central Avenue car parks. Season tickets, which are likely to be an attractive option for train users and offer a significant reduction on these hourly rates, are also available at each of these car parks.

Park-and-ride Facilities: Bangor

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development to outline the plans his Department has to increase Park and Ride facilities in Bangor.

(AQW 12594/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Last year my Department published a Strategic review of Park and Ride. That report highlighted the importance of Park and Ride in promoting sustainable transport. In addition it set out a number of recommendations and identified those strategic locations at which the development of Park and Ride should be prioritised as available funding permits.

The report recognised the need for additional Park and Ride at Bangor Station and identified this as a priority site for development as funding permits. While funding has been secured for the extension of Park and Ride across Northern Ireland, it will not be possible to deliver all priority schemes in the current budgetary period. Recognising this, officials from my Department, Roads Service and Translink are finalising details of those schemes to be delivered up to 2015 and those for delivery beyond that period.

TaxSmart Initiative

Mr Hilditch asked the Minister for Regional Development whether there are any plans to extend the TaxSmart Initiative to employees within the Imperial Civil Service.

(AQW 12710/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise the member that the decision whether or not to introduce the TaxSmart Initiative in the Imperial Civil Service rests with the employing body, HM Treasury.

Grass Cutting in Residential Areas

Mr Clarke asked the Minister for Regional Development to outline the Roads Service policy on grass cutting in residential areas where the 30 mph speed limit applies.

(AQW 12720/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service cuts grass on areas, deemed to be part of the public road, to prevent overgrowth onto carriageways and footway surfaces and obstruction of sightlines and traffic signs. Such grass cutting operations are carried out for road safety reasons and not for cosmetic or amenity purposes.

The present policy provides for two cuts a year in rural areas and five cuts in urban areas. The area to be cut is one swathe width, approximately 1.2m wide, with the complete area required for sightlines to be cut as necessary. This maintains a balance between road safety and environmental protection.

However, for aesthetic and amenity reasons, some Councils wish to have a higher standard of grass maintenance within their boundary than is provided by Roads Service. In such areas, the Councils accept responsibility for the work within their respective boundary and are reimbursed by Roads Service for the cuts that would have been carried out under Roads Service Policy.

Parking Tickets Issued in Omagh During the Olympic Torch Parade

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister for Regional Development how many parking tickets were issued by traffic wardens in Omagh, during the Olympic Torch parade which took place on 6 June 2012.

(AQW 12721/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that of the 14 Penalty Charge Notices issued in Omagh on Tuesday 5 June 2012, the day of the Olympic Torch parade in the town, two were issued during the parade.

NI Railways Services: Wi-Fi

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Regional Development for an update on the introduction of wi-fi to the Belfast to Dublin Enterprise train service, and other NI Railways services.

(AQW 12726/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Translink advise that the target date for introduction of Wi-Fi on all train services is the end of September 2012.

Traffic Calming Measures: North Down

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Regional Development to list the roads in the North Down area that are scheduled to have traffic calming measures introduced; and when these measures will be introduced.

(AQW 12774/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service receives many requests for traffic calming schemes and, as demand greatly exceeds the resources available to supply these measures, all proposals are assessed, scored and prioritised using established criteria. Works programmes are then drawn up on an annual basis and subsequently published in the Spring Roads Service Report to Councils.

In relation to the 2012/13 financial year, I can advise that Roads Service currently proposes to provide the following traffic calming schemes in the North Down area:

- Brunswick Road area (incorporating Brunswick Road, Rugby Avenue, Grange Road and Grange Avenue);
- Bryansburn Road; and
- Groomsport Road area (incorporating Groomsport Road, Windmill Road and Bellevue).

However, I would emphasise that progression of these the schemes will be dependent on the successful conclusion of the public consultation and legislative processes and the availability of funding. In addition, this programme may be subject to change as priority assessments of new requests for traffic calming are completed therefore ensuring that the finite resources available are directed at those sites deemed to be in greatest need of such measures.

In these circumstances, I am currently unable to provide definitive timescales for the introduction of these schemes.

Cycle Lanes

Mr Campbell asked the Minister for Regional Development for an estimate of the change in the number of people cycling, as a result of the construction of cycle lanes in the last five years.

(AQW 12804/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise the member that I remain committed to promoting and supporting the use of sustainable transport including cycling. The Annual Cycling Usage Report for Northern Ireland 2000-2010 contains information on the average daily flow of cycle journeys recorded at both shared and dedicated cycle facilities and shows increases over 47% in the number of cyclists across Northern Ireland recorded. The average daily cycle flow in 2003 based on the Survey was 1245 and in 2010 was 1837. This is likely to understate the volume of regular cyclists. The report is currently being updated. It is unlikely that a direct causal link can be established between estimates of increases in the number of people cycling and cycle lane construction as there are a range of factors involved.

Roads Service: Sandbags

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he has any plans to review Roads Service's policy on issuing sandbags to properties, particularly to those in areas vulnerable to flooding, such as parts of Finaghy, South Belfast.

(AQW 12888/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: During periods of inclement weather, the primary objective of my Department's Roads Service is to deal with the impact of roads related flooding that is caused by blocked or overwhelmed infrastructure, such as gullies or other road drainage systems, for which it has responsibility.

During periods of flood warnings, severe weather warnings or actual flooding incidents, numerous requests are made to Roads Service from the public, elected representatives and traders for the provision of sandbags. If these requests relate to roads related flooding and when resources permit, Roads Service will supply and deploy sandbags. In other cases, where Roads Service is not the lead Agency for the distribution of sandbags, I can confirm that if requested and when resources permit, Roads Service will provide assistance to other agencies dealing with flooding incidents, particularly in cases where public safety is an issue or where properties are at risk of flooding.

It is my view that Roads Service's policy relating to the issue of sandbags is fit for purpose and as such, I currently have no plans to review it.

Department for Social Development

Energy Companies: Meetings or Events

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the occasions on which he or his Special Advisor have taken part in hospitality trips, engagements, dinners, meetings or events arranged by, or on behalf of, energy companies in the last four years, broken down by (i) location; (ii) attendees; (iii) the companies present or represented; (iv) the matters that were discussed; and (v) who covered the cost of each event.

(AQW 12447/11-15)

Mr McCausland (The Minister for Social Development): Please see the attached table for information in relation to (i) to (iv) above. Costs of meetings in the Lighthouse Building or Parliament Buildings would be met by the Department for Social Development, with the costs of other events met by the hosts.

House Rewiring: Gamble Park, Castlederg

Mr Doherty asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) whether the houses at Gamble Park, Castlederg, have ever been rewired and when; and (ii) whether he will arrange for a health and safety audit to be undertaken on the houses to ensure that the electrics and plumbing are safe.

(AQW 12558/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Improvement and maintenance works, including rewiring, were carried out to the properties at Gamble Park, Castlederg in the early 1980's. The Housing Executive recently inspected five of their seven properties in the Gamble Park area and whilst the electrics and plumbing were deemed to be safe, a number of socket outlets were below current standards. A kitchen refurbishment scheme is currently programmed for November 2012 and complete house rewiring for the properties in Gamble Park will be included within this scheme.

Empty Homes Action Plan

Ms Lo asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the new Empty Homes Action Plan.

(AQW 12568/11-15)

Mr McCausland: In October of last year I tasked the Housing Executive with producing a new empty homes strategy and action plan as a matter of urgency.

A working group has been established to bring forward a revised action plan to actively address the issue of empty homes; this includes senior representatives from my Department, the Housing Executive, the Department of Finance and Personnel and Belfast City Council. Two pilots have commenced in the Fortwilliam/Victoria and Upper Newtownards Road areas of Belfast (comprising of 160 houses in total of which 30 are empty); these will inform the development of a regional plan. However, initial attempts to make contact with registered home owners has been disappointing and follow up work is being undertaken. I will bring forward a plan as soon as possible.

Girdwood Barracks Site

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to list all correspondence he has sent to individuals and organisations, in relation to the development of the former Girdwood Barracks site, North Belfast, including the name of each recipient and the date of the correspondence.

(AQW 12573/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I have written to the following individuals and organisations in relation to the development of the former Girdwood Barracks site, North Belfast:

- Caral Ni Chuilin MLA and Gerry Kelly MLA on 12 September 2011;
- Executive colleagues on 27 October 2011 and 18 May 2012;
- Chief Executive of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive on 15 November 2011;
- Judith Cochrane MLA on 5 March 2012;
- Chair of the Assembly's Committee for Social Development on 18 May 2012; and,
- Letter signed by an official, on behalf of the Minister for Social Development, on 18 April 2012 to Belfast City Council officers'.

St Patrick's Barracks Site, Ballymena

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the release of the St Patrick's Barracks site in Ballymena by the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister.

(AQW 12603/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Legal processes for the conveyance of the former military housing at St Patrick's Barracks in Ballymena from OFMDFM to my Department are underway. This will be completed as soon as possible taking account of the normal conveyance period. In the meantime Fold Housing Association is being facilitated with access to the site for planning purposes.

The remainder of the site is owned by OFMDFM. My Department has been engaged since the site was declared surplus in 2008 with other public sector stakeholders who are interested in acquiring portions of the sites for new facilities. There has been no decision by OFMDFM on the next steps in releasing this part of the site.

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister for Social Development how many QUANGOS, that are attached to his Department, have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

(AQW 12605/11-15)

Mr McCausland: One new Non-Departmental Public Body has been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly for which my Department has responsibility since 2007.

The Charities Act (NI) 2008 provided for the establishment of the Charity Commission for Northern Ireland (CCNI), an Executive Non-Departmental Body. The CCNI was established in June 2009 to put in place a new regulatory framework for the charitable sector in Northern Ireland.

Portadown People's Park: EU Grant Application

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister for Social Development to explain the delay in issuing the letter of offer to Craigavon Borough Council for the EU grant application for Portadown People's Park; and when the letter will be issued.

(AQW 12622/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Letters of Offer are issued by the Special EU Programmes Body (SEUPB) subject to approval of the Economic Appraisal/Business Case by the Department for Social Development and the Department of Finance and Personnel (DFP). Since receipt of the Economic Appraisal from the applicant both my Department and DFP have progressed it within the appropriate timescales. In the course of this work it has been necessary to seek further information from the applicants. On the 11 June the applicants provided information that will allow DFP to continue their assessment.

The SEUPB have advised applicants that budgetary constraints within one of the Accountable Departments in Ireland (the Department of Environment, Community and Local Government), responsible for providing match-funding for specific priorities under the EU's PEACE III Programme, have led to a temporary delay in the issuing of letters of offer to a number of projects.

Disability Facilities: South Down

Ms Ruane asked the Minister for Social Development, for each of the last 12 months, to detail (i) how much has been spent on disabled facilities in the South Down constituency; (ii) how many people have received adaptations to their houses; and (iii) how many people have received additional bathroom and bedroom facilities, broken down by (a) areas within the South Down constituency; and (ii) community background.

(AQW 12650/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information is not available in the format requested as the Housing Executive does not routinely collate information by Parliamentary constituency or on the basis of their customer's community background. The number of people is also not available.

However, the tables 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6 below provide details relating to the Housing Executive's Banbridge, Newry and Downpatrick district office areas. Table 2 is by Council area.

Social and Affordable Homes: Foyle

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of social and affordable homes that his Department plans to build in the Foyle constituency in each of the next three years. [R]
(AQW 12671/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Social Housing Development Programme for the next three years has been published and is available on the Housing Executive website at www.nihe.gov.uk and this will identify where new social housing will be delivered in those years. Affordable homes are demand led and cannot be identified in advance as the Member requests.

Universal Credit: Direct Rent Payments

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development whether his Department is considering retaining direct payments for rent to landlords via Universal Credit, as is currently the case for Housing Benefit. [R]

(AQW 12673/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I welcome the overall reform of the welfare system but in doing so I want to be sure that the Northern Ireland position is taken into account when it comes to the question of how that reform is delivered. In this connection I instigated the setting up of the Executive sub-Committee on Welfare Reform and this is one of the questions that Members of that sub-Committee have been addressing. I have yet to take a final view on the implications of the payment arrangements for Universal Credit, in Northern Ireland, as I want to give full consideration to all points of view on this issue.

Social Housing Development Programme

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development how many new home starts have been delivered in the North Down constituency through the Social Housing Development Programme.

(AQW 12706/11-15)

Mr McCausland: During the last three years, we have started 186 new homes across the constituency of North Down. Details of these are noted below for your information.

Motability Scheme

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development to outline the difference between a customer receiving notification, from the Motability Scheme, that their award is for 'life', and a customer receiving the award 'indefinitely'.

(AQW 12711/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Motability Scheme, whereby people who receive the higher rate mobility component of the Disability Living Allowance may exchange all or part of their allowance in return for a car, is administered by the independent charity Motability. Information on administrative matters can be obtained by writing to: Declan O'Mahony, Director, Motability, Warwick House, Roydon Road, Harlow, and Essex, CM19 5PX.

The Welfare Reform and Pensions (Northern Ireland) Order 1999 removed the term "for life" in respect of awards of Disability Living Allowance and replaced it with an award "for an indefinite period", as there had been a misconception held by many Disability Living Allowance recipients that a life award would always remain in payment regardless of their circumstances.

Customer First: Western District

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Social Development whether the criteria, used by Social Security Agency management, to determine the location of Customer First functions throughout its office network in the Western District area, included any consideration of the existing levels of Civil Service posts in each District Council area.

(AQW 12715/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The locations of Benefit Processing Centres were selected following a detailed analysis of staffing capacities in existing Social Security Agency offices and the availability of skilled staff. In addition consideration was given to:

- Customer impact
- Impacts on staff travel
- Accommodation constraints
- Fit with operational delivery for the future

As the Social Security Agency is structured on the basis of 3 geographical regions across Northern Ireland, no consideration was given to the existing levels of Civil Service posts broken down by District Council areas.

Jobs: Strabane District Council

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Social Development, given that Strabane District Council already has a disproportionately low number of civil service and public sector jobs, for his assessment of whether the planned transfer of up to 37 additional posts, from the Social Security Office to Derry, will compound this inequality even further.

(AQW 12716/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The aim of the Customer First Project is to develop and implement organisational structures that represent the optimum long-term model for the delivery of services. In keeping with the successful roll-out of Customer First in what was formerly known as North District and Belfast West and Lisburn, it was determined that the centralisation of back office processing created the most sustainable and viable service delivery model.

Analysis undertaken by officials showed that processing staff across the local office network are currently spread too thinly to assure the continued delivery of a high-quality service into the future. As a consequence, the Agency decided to consolidate these skilled resources to ensure the availability of a 'critical mass' of staff to be able to sustain the Social Security Agency's high level of performance.

Officials are in the process of finalising staffing requirements for processing centres and will continue to work with staff and Trade Union side to consider measures which may militate against any adverse impact such as reasonable daily travelling distances. Agency officials will continue to work with local representatives to ensure they are kept informed as Customer First is rolled out.

Customer First: Western District

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to the planned roll-out of Customer First in the Western District, to detail what consideration Social Security Agency management has given to locating at least one of the new telephony service functions at the Strabane Social Security Office.

(AQW 12717/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Customer First has been rolled-out in what was formerly North District and Belfast West and Lisburn and has proven to deliver significant service improvements. The continued roll-out of Customer First, announced by the Social Security Agency on 1 June, will ensure that all customers of the Agency can benefit from these service improvements.

Whilst officials are continuing to finalise staffing numbers for Benefit Processing Centres and support functions the plans announced recently propose organisational arrangements that provide a viable and sustainable service delivery for customers.

Officials will continue to work with staff and Trade Union side to consider measures which may militate against any adverse impact such as reasonable daily travelling distances. Agency officials will continue to work with local representatives to ensure they are kept informed as Customer First is rolled out.

Child Maintenance and Enforcement Division

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister for Social Development how many Administrative Officers have transferred out of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Division to other parts of the Civil Service, in the last year.

(AQW 12727/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Records show that, in the year from 1 June 2011 to 31 May 2012, 38 Administrative Officers transferred out of the Department's Child Maintenance and Enforcement Division to other parts of the Civil Service.

Mental Health Descriptors: Training

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the training given on mental health descriptors for people carrying out Work Capability Assessments for Employment and Support Allowance, and in particular, the training relating to agoraphobia and other phobic conditions.

(AQW 12728/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Healthcare Professionals carrying out Work Capability Assessments receive mental health training relating to the mental health descriptors as part of their initial training programme. This includes specific training relating to agoraphobia and other phobic conditions.

A yearly training needs analysis is undertaken by Atos Healthcare who are contracted to undertake the Work Capability Assessment, and this is approved by the Social Security Agency. This informs the development of a professional development programme, which for 2012/2013 includes ongoing mental health training for Health Care Professionals.

Mental Health Champions are in place to support mental health training and provide appropriate advice. Part of their role is to provide specialist mental health training to the Health Care Professionals employed to undertake Work Capability Assessments.

Homelessness Legislation

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister for Social Development whether the Northern Ireland Housing Executive has a legislative duty, under homelessness legislation, to house full duty applicants in social housing as opposed to the private rented sector. (AQW 12754/11-15)

Mr McCausland: There is no legislative requirement under homelessness legislation, to house full duty applicants in social housing. When someone presents as homeless, Article 10 (2) of the Housing (Northern Ireland) Order 1988 states that "Where the Executive is satisfied that the applicant has a priority need and is not satisfied that he became homeless intentionally, it shall secure that accommodation becomes available for his occupation."

Housing Management System

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the cost of implementing the new IT Housing Management System; and whether the system has the functionality to extract data for reporting purposes necessary for future planning. (AQW 12757/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Housing Executive has advised that the cost of implementing the new Housing Management System was £12.26m and that the system does have the functionality to extract data for reporting purposes. This functionality is continually being developed as the suite of reports available from the system is expanded and added to.

Social Security Agency: Benefits Processing Section, Strabane

Mr Byrne asked the Minister for Social Development to outline why 37 jobs in the Social Security Agency benefits processing section in Strabane are to be removed under current proposals. (AQW 12762/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The aim of the Customer First Project is to develop and implement organisational structures that represent the optimum long-term model for delivery of services. This involves the centralisation of back office processing which will necessitate the relocation of some staff. Analysis shows that processing staff across the local office network are currently spread too thinly to assure the continued delivery of a high-quality service into the future. As a consequence, the Agency is consolidating these skilled resources to ensure the availability of a 'critical mass' of staff to be able to sustain the Social Security Agency's high level of performance.

Officials are in the process of finalising staffing requirements for processing centres and will continue to work with staff and Trade Union Side to consider measures which may militate against any adverse impact such as reasonable daily travelling distances. Social Security Agency officials will continue to work with local representatives to ensure they are kept informed as Customer First is rolled out.

Northern Ireland Housing Executive: Boiler Replacement Scheme

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Social Development whether a pay-as-you-save model is being considered for the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's Boiler Replacement Scheme, so that up-front costs do not deter customers from switching to more efficient boilers. (AQW 12766/11-15)

Mr McCausland: On the 25th May 2012, I announced a £12m boiler replacement scheme to improve energy efficiency in 16,000 homes across Northern Ireland which will be administered by the Northern Ireland Housing Executive. The scheme, which will launch in September this year, will be open to owner occupiers who earn less than £40,000 and with an inefficient boiler of at least 15 years old. The scheme will provide a grant of up to £1000 dependent on total gross income to assist in replacing an inefficient boiler for a more energy efficient condensing oil or gas boiler; switching from oil to gas; or switching to a wood pellet boiler.

A pay-as-you-save model was not considered as part of the scheme.

West Belfast: Planned Work

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the work his Department is due to carry out in the West Belfast constituency in 2012/13. (AQW 12808/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The new build schemes within the Social Housing Development Programme for the West Belfast constituency in the 2012/13 financial year are attached at Annex A. The information relating to the Housing Executive's planned programme of improvement and maintenance schemes is not available by Constituency. However, the Housing Executive's West Belfast, Shankill and Lisburn Dairy Farm District offices cover the West Belfast constituency and details of the programmed schemes in 2012/13 are listed at Annex B.

My Department also manages a regeneration strategy for the renewal and development of the most deprived areas in and around Belfast, including areas of the west Belfast constituency. The Belfast Regeneration Office continues to deliver the Neighbourhood Renewal Investment Programme, to encourage private sector property development and deliver physical development and environmental improvement projects.

A £5 million regeneration scheme is planned for Bank Square and surrounding area subject to business case approval.

Finally, an announcement to continue the roll-out of the Customer First Initiative within the Social Security Agency's Working Age network was made on 1 June. It is anticipated that approximately 27 members of Shankill Jobs and Benefits processing staff will be relocated to Royston House Benefit Processing Centre in mid - September 2012, which is located in the centre of Belfast.

* Double glazing schemes proceeding. The remaining double glazing schemes are being held pending the introduction of the new procurement arrangements. The delivery of these remaining schemes during this financial year will be subject to the availability of funding and appropriate approvals.

The Information provided is an Official Statistic. The Production and dissemination of all such Statistics is governed by the Principles and Protocols of the Code of Practice for Official Statistics. This is enforced by UK Statistics Authority.

Double-Glazing Scheme: West Belfast

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the double-glazing scheme for the West Belfast constituency. (AQW 12809/11-15)

Mr McCausland: As part of the Housing Executive's review of double glazing, I have agreed what category groups and scheme should now proceed. The following schemes should commence this financial year in West Belfast:-

- Hannahglens Heights
- Donegall Road/St James
- Altan/Glenfearna
- Woodvale/Donaldson

Pavement Cafés: Licensing Legislation

Mr McMullan asked the Minister for Social Development when the Licensing of Pavement Cafés legislation is likely to come into operation.

(AQW 12814/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Subject to Executive approval, I anticipate a Bill to licence pavement cafés will be introduced and approved by the Assembly in its next session. District councils will then need some time to complete the preparations necessary to administer the new statutory licensing scheme. Therefore, the main provisions of the legislation will come into operation on a date appointed in an Order made by my Department, following liaison with district councils.

Fuel Poverty

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Social Development what plans he has for an area-based approach to tackle fuel poverty. (AQW 12820/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My Department is working with the University of Ulster and District Councils to pilot an area based approach to tackling fuel poverty. Working in partnership with other Departments such as OFMDFM and DARD we will target areas most affected by fuel poverty and provide appropriate solutions to improve the energy efficiency of homes in the area. The pilot will start later this year and the outcome will inform our approach to tackling fuel poverty in the future.

Work Capability Assessments

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the qualifications that people who conduct the Work Capability Assessments are required to have to carry out assessments on people with (i) mental health disabilities; (ii) anxiety disorders; (iii) respiratory conditions ; (iv) cardiovascular disease; (v) chronic fatigue syndrome; and (vi) arthritic and rheumatic conditions. (AQW 12851/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The qualifications required of healthcare professionals who conduct Work Capability Assessments are:

- (a) in the case of a Medical Practitioner:
  - to hold a current registration to practice in the United Kingdom;
  - to have 3 years post-registration full-time equivalent experience across a range of relevant clinical disciplines (within the last 6 years prior to an advertisement for positions being placed); and
  - to hold a full and unconditional registration with the United Kingdom General Medical Council.
- (b) in the case of a nurse:
  - to be fully registered, without restrictions or conditions, with the Nursing and Midwifery Council; and
  - to have a minimum of 3 years post registration experience.
- (c) for all other healthcare professionals:
  - to be fully registered, without restrictions or conditions, with the relevant licensing body;
  - to have a minimum of 3 years post registration experience;
  - to possess good communication skills;

- to have an understanding of customer care issues; and
- to have an understanding of disability issues.

Whilst healthcare professionals are not required to have specialist qualifications in areas (i), (ii), (iii), (iv), (v), (vi), as part of their initial training every practitioner is provided with specific training material and is given access to Evidence Based Medicine protocols, which include protocols on a number of mental health, cardiovascular, respiratory, musculoskeletal, neurology and rheumatology conditions, and include one specifically addressing Chronic Fatigue Syndrome.

Northern Ireland Housing Executive: Neighbourhood Wardens

Mr Kinahan asked Minister for Social Development to detail number of Northern Ireland Housing Executive Neighbourhood Wardens in (i) Northern Ireland; and (ii) the South Antrim constituency, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12854/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information is not available in the format requested as the Housing Executive does not routinely collate information by Parliamentary constituency. However, in relation to (i) they have advised that there are currently 70 Neighbourhood Officers throughout their local offices in Northern Ireland and this has been the case for the last five years and (ii) the Housing Executive confirmed that there are two Neighbourhood Officers in each of their Antrim, Newtownabbey 1 and 2 District offices, which contains the areas which comprise the South Antrim constituency.

Private Rental Tenants

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development whether there are any schemes available to help private rental tenants with money towards a deposit to help secure a tenancy.

(AQW 12924/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Housing Executive currently funds a voluntary sector organisation (First Housing and Support Services) for the provision of a Rent Deposit Guarantee Scheme called SmartMove.

The aim of SmartMove's Rent Deposit Guarantee Scheme is to promote the private rented sector as a decent and affordable housing option. They cover such areas as budgeting, applying for Housing Benefit, rent statements and a support plan that deals with securing and sustaining a tenancy.

This scheme, which is available in North Belfast, Londonderry and in a limited number of other locations, enables homeless and waiting list applicants to access the private rented sector without the need to pay a deposit to secure the tenancy.

My Department in conjunction with The Housing Executive is currently preparing plans for the expansion of this scheme across Northern Ireland and I expect it to see it implemented province wide by spring 2013.

Housing Executive: White Horse Group

Mr F McCann asked the Minister for Social Development, given that the White Horse Group is withdrawing its services from West Belfast maintenance for the Housing Executive, which contractor will replace it and when.

(AQW 12931/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Housing Executive state that their new contracts for the provision of response Maintenance Service are currently set for commencement on 1 August 2012. They hope to appoint contractors within the next 2 weeks. As the Housing Executive is still carrying out the procurement process it is unable to provide the name of the contractor who will replace the White Horse Group. Once the procurement process has been completed the Housing Executive will publish the result of the procurement in the Official Journal of the European Union as well as directly informing all those who expressed an interest in providing these services.

In terms of the White Horse Group withdrawing its services, the Housing Executive confirms that the Group will continue to operate in support of tenants, until the new contracts are in place.

Northern Ireland Assembly Commission

Parliament Buildings: Heating

Mr Wells asked the Assembly Commission what were the temperatures recorded, at noon, in Parliament Buildings on 28 May and 29 May 2012.

(AQW 12378/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): Unfortunately, the Assembly Commission is not in a position to provide the information that you request as it does not currently maintain a record of the temperatures within Parliament Buildings.

Should you require any supplementary information I would be very happy to assist with your enquiry.

Parliament Buildings: Heating

Mr Wells asked the Assembly Commission why the heat was on in the Long Gallery and Room 115, Parliament Buildings on 28 May and 29 May 2012.

(AQW 12380/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): The majority of Parliament Buildings is heated by a low temperature hot water system using gas fired boilers. This heating system was not in operation on either 28th or 29th May.

The heating within the Long Gallery and Room 115 differs from the rest of the building in that it is heated by radiators with convector fans. The heat for these convectors is a by-product from the air handling units in the building and is fed by the constant temperature (CT) pumps. When additional heat is required in these rooms the convector fans are employed to circulate the heat.

On the days in question, as the air handling units were in operation, the CT pumps were passing hot water through the system but the convector fans were not in operation.

Unfortunately the Building Energy Management System (BEMS) affords only limited control over the heating and cooling systems in the building and the Commission has plans to upgrade the BEMS system during the forthcoming roof refurbishment project.

Building Services are aware of the problem in the areas that you refer to when there is a high ambient temperature and investigatory work is currently taking place to see if it would be possible to install additional isolation valves to allow greater control over the heating and cooling in these areas.

I hope that the above information provides the detail that you sought, however should you require any supplementary information I would be very happy to assist with your enquiry.

Media Interviews in the Great Hall: Non-Members

Mr Allister asked the Assembly Commission to outline the current protocol on non-members giving media interviews in the Great Hall, Parliament Buildings.

(AQW 12776/11-15)

Mr McElduff (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): The Northern Ireland Assembly Media Handbook, which can be accessed on the NIA website at <http://www.niassembly.gov.uk/News-and-Media/Media-Handbook/> sets out the conditions for interviews in the Great Hall.

In respect of interviews with non-Members the Handbook states that: "Committee witnesses, members of other legislatures and others may be interviewed in the Great Hall. Interviewees must give their consent in advance."

This advice allows for non-Members to be interviewed in the Great Hall along with MLAs or Ministers. Non-Members may not be interviewed in the Great Hall unless they have been witnesses to a Committee as stated above or are being interviewed with a Member.

Parliament Buildings: Car Parking

Mr Copeland asked the Assembly Commission for its assessment of the adequacy of the car parking facilities for users of Parliament Buildings, including staff and visitors; and when it intends to take action to resolve this issue permanently.

(AQW 12987/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): The Assembly Commission fully recognises the difficulties experienced in parking within the car parks, particularly on sitting days. In recent years the Assembly Commission has been working with DFP, who are responsible for Stormont Estate grounds, to find ways of alleviating the problem.

As a result of this work, some realignment work within the lower East car park together with the introduction of the overspill car park, has gone some way towards providing additional parking spaces, and this has been favourably received by the vast majority of car park users. It has also already been concluded that it would not be possible to increase the number of parking spaces within the existing car parks without recourse to significant works and redevelopment.

Whilst further resolution of the perennial problem of car parking cannot be guaranteed at this time, Facilities Directorate will nevertheless continue in consultation with the Assembly Commission and DFP to explore other potential options for improvement. In the meantime, Assembly Security staff will continue to oversee and manage both car parks to ensure that these are used as efficiently and as effectively as possible, and to that end the cooperation and assistance of all car park users is very much appreciated.

Overflow Car Park

Mr Copeland asked the Assembly Commission whether it has sought to renegotiate, with the Department of Finance and Personnel, the terms for use of the overflow car park, to extend the length of time for which it can remain open; and if not, to outline the reasons for its position on this issue.

(AQW 12988/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): The Overflow car park was an additional facility the Assembly Commission negotiated with DFP to help alleviate on-going problems with car parking, and it has undoubtedly gone some ways towards helping with those problems. It was agreed with DFP at the outset however, that like the lower East car park, the Overflow car park would be staffed and managed by Assembly Security Officers whilst open.

To make the most efficient use of finite Security staff resources and still continue to meet other pressing operational security requirements however, it remains necessary to close the Overflow car park at 7pm. At present, it is not possible to extend opening beyond this time within existing resources.

For this reason, all users of the Overflow car park are therefore advised to move their vehicles into the lower East car park before 7pm as spaces become available, and we rely on car park users to comply accordingly.

As with all operational security measures, the Assembly Commission will keep this matter under review.

Written Answers to Questions

Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister

Ministerial Subcommittee on Children and Young People

Mr Agnew asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for an update on the work being carried out on each of the following priorities of the Ministerial Sub-Committee on Children and Young People (i) Safeguarding; (ii) NEETS; (iii) Special Educational Needs; (iv) Early Years; and (v) Vulnerable Young People.

(AQW 10799/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness (The First Minister and deputy First Minister): A summary of progress on each of the five sub-groups is set out below:

(i) Safeguarding

The Safeguarding Board Act (NI) 2011 provides a legislative framework for the creation of a new regional Children's Safeguarding Board for Northern Ireland (SBNI) and a Committee structure of the Board. This multi-disciplinary, inter-agency body will be the main statutory mechanism for agreeing how members co-operate to deliver safeguarding and for ensuring the effectiveness of what they do. The Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (DHSSPS) will publish guidance for the SBNI before it comes into operation.

(ii) NEETs

The Department for Employment and Learning (DEL) has consulted on its Pathways to Success Strategy which set a broad strategic direction and supports cross-departmental actions to reduce the number of 16 to 19 year-olds who are outside education, employment or training, or at risk of being so. It recognises the need to put in place structures or mechanisms to co-ordinate and make these more effective.

(iii) Special Educational Needs

Work on this issue focused on improving transitions for children with Special Educational Needs. This included: the transition from school to the range of post-school settings eg further and higher education, training, social care; preparing for independent living eg housing and benefits; and those who come within the youth justice system.

(iv) Early Years

In line with direction from the Ministerial Sub-Committee, the Early Years sub-group produced an action plan to monitor progress on aspects of Early Years work. The action plan drafted by the Early Years sub-group identifies DE and DHSSPS as the key departments responsible for Early Years Services. The Sub-Group has not met since 2008, but the actions proposed have been taken forward by other means in the absence of any formal meetings. Officials from DE have continued to work closely with DHSSPS on a range of relevant key issues. The action plan was agreed by the MSC in 2009, the Executive in March 2010, and updated in 2011.

(v) Vulnerable Young People

Work has focused on young people at risk of becoming involved in anti-social behaviour and entering the juvenile justice system, with the Department of Justice taking the lead. This work is now being progressed through the Children and Young People's Strategic Partnership and the Regional Steering Group on Community Safety. Both of these Groups bring key agencies together to co-ordinate actions that support children and young people.

Apprenticeship Programmes

Mr Eastwood asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail (i) the apprenticeship programmes available within their Department; (ii) the apprenticeship programmes provided by their Department; (iii) the number of people currently enrolled in these programmes; and (iv) the number of places available on the programmes.

(AQW 12006/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness:

- (i) OFMDFM, together with other departments, participates in the Programme Led Apprenticeship (PLA) Programme which is run by the Department for Employment and Learning.
- (ii) Nil
- (iii) Nil
- (iv) Three PLA places have been identified in OFMDFM.

Maze/Long Kesh: Balmoral Park

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what is the delineation of 'Balmoral Park', and whether the entire Maze/Long Kesh site has been renamed accordingly.

(AQW 12882/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: Balmoral Park refers to the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society's 55-acre licensed area at Maze/Long Kesh.

Investment Strategy: North Antrim

Mr Frew asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister how they plan to implement the Executive's Investment Strategy in the North Antrim area.

(AQO 2178/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Investment Strategy (ISNI) sets out the Executive's high-level strategy for the development of our essential infrastructure across the region in the years ahead – consistent with the level of resources available to us. The investment supports delivery of the Programme for Government by improving and upgrading our economic, social and environmental infrastructure. It also secures much needed jobs in the local construction industry and wider supply chain – in addition to making this region a more competitive place to do business.

Departments and related public bodies have primary responsibility for implementing the ISNI in their respective parts of the public services. They do this by developing capital investment plans consistent with ISNI and their capital budget. For individual projects, a systematic assessment of needs and benefits is undertaken and the best way of meeting this need through investment is identified. This process helps to ensure that value for money is secured for the public purse and that investment is focused on those areas identified as a priority in the ISNI.

The Strategic Investment Board (SIB) within OFMDFM supports departments and related public bodies to implement the ISNI. SIB does this by providing in-house legal, commercial, financial and project management advice at the request of the procuring department. This is particularly important for larger and more complex projects.

Notwithstanding the above support, final investment decisions on individual capital projects rests with the Minister in each respective department.

Following a period of public consultation, we are now considering a final draft of the ISNI 2011-21 prior to publication in the forthcoming period.

In the meantime, work is underway across the region. The Investment Strategy website www.isni.gov.uk which is hosted by SIB provides the facility to view projects being delivered under the investment strategy listed by Assembly constituency. The website currently lists a number of projects underway in the North Antrim area including housing, transport and schools projects. This information is maintained and updated by the departments delivering the projects.

Department of Agriculture and Rural Development

Dairy Industry: Milk Quotas

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what plans her Department has to support the local dairy industry up to, and beyond, the end of milk quotas in 2015.

(AQW 12484/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill (The Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development): The local dairy industry makes a very important contribution to the agri-food sector. It is important that it remains competitive and continues to bring benefit to the economy, particularly in rural areas. My Department's overall aim is therefore to help the industry to improve its performance and grow its potential in the marketplace.

For many years, activity in the dairy sector (including the level of milk production in each Member State) has been subject to various EU restraints and support mechanisms. These, in large measure, had a significant impact on the development of the industry. However, important changes have already taken place and others lie ahead.

Notably, EU milk quotas will end in 2015 and this effectively means there will be no restraints on production after that. My Department is therefore focused on helping the dairy sector as it seeks to grow its potential in the global market place.

For too long, our dairy industry has been reliant on the processing of commodity products which normally generate the lowest returns. However, I am pleased to see that steps have been taken in recent years to move away from the processing of milk powders to higher added value products. But more needs to be done. That is why Arlene Foster and my predecessor provided support to Dairy UK (NI) to undertake an industry-led competitiveness study. The aim was to help the sector plan for the future and representatives from the dairy industry are now taking forward the report's recommendations.

As regards future levels of milk production, I believe that a market-led strategy is vital for the dairy industry. In practice this means that, especially when milk quotas end in 2015, decisions on milk production should be taken by milk producers in the context of their input costs and market returns. Therefore, to help ensure that the industry remains sustainable, my Department through CAFRE and AFBI, remain available to provide education, training, technical support and research to help improve efficiency and competitiveness.

In particular, CAFRE's Loughry Campus supports the processing sector in the key area of product innovation. Additionally, my Department has provided support under the Regional Food Programme and Axis 1 of the Rural Development Programme. While a range of financial and non-financial support measures are available to dairy processing companies from Invest NI to help them remain competitive.

I believe that the dairy sector has the potential to grow further and to exploit opportunities arising from the predicted expansion in world population. My Department will continue to help the industry improve its competitiveness and I would encourage the dairy sector to engage positively with the Agri-Food Strategy Board to help shape the future growth of this important sector up to and beyond 2015.

Central Investigation Service

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the (i) resource allocation; and (ii) actual spend of the Central Investigation Service in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12695/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The resource allocation and actual spend in relation to the Central Investigation Service in each of the last 5 financial years is as follows:

|         | Budget (£000's) | Spend (£000's)         |
|---------|-----------------|------------------------|
| 2007/08 | 232             | Figures not available. |
| 2008/09 | 214             | 172                    |
| 2009/10 | 279             | 148                    |
| 2010/11 | 158             | 122                    |
| 2011/12 | 165             | 154                    |

The budget figures represent the allocation at the outset of the financial year. Both the budget and expenditure figures are net of income as appropriate.

Omagh Show: Single Farm Payment

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether she will reconsider her decision not to attend the Omagh Show, given that it would provide her with an opportunity to interact with the farming community, especially in relation to the delay in issuing Single Farm Payments.

(AQW 12850/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: I plan to visit all local agricultural shows during my time in office and welcome any opportunity to interact with the farming community. However, the Tyrone Farming Society Committee have sent in a letter stating that they would not be extending an invitation to me this year, to visit Omagh Show.

I am pleased to say that good progress is being made in completing the remaining claims submitted under the 2011 Single Farm Payment Scheme. A number of measures have been introduced to increase the speed of applying inspection findings to claims and these are helping to increase the number of payments. Over 96% of claims are now finalised and more than £257 million has been paid out to farmers. The claims not yet finalised are outstanding for a variety of reasons including the need for inspection findings to be applied to claims, duplicate claims, the need to determine the availability of land to support an aid application, the award of probate and the provision of bank account details by farmers to enable payment to be credited to the farm business bank account. It is anticipated that the majority of inspection cases will be finalised by the end of July.

Fish: Illegal Landings

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development for an estimate of the percentage of fish that were landed illegally in the last full year for which figures are available.

(AQW 12874/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: In 2011 there were five prosecutions cases taken by the Department's Fisheries Inspectorate involving landing or attempting to land illegally a total of 1.02 tonnes of fish and shellfish. A further 13.9 tonnes were subject to investigation but no infringement was found or the evidence was not sufficient to support prosecution proceeding. This represents 0.06% of the total landings of 24,919 tonnes landed in the north of Ireland during 2011. A further investigation is still ongoing.

The Fisheries Inspectorate are continually monitoring fishing activity to prevent and deter illegal landings and during 2011 fishery officers attended 92% of fish markets at the ports, monitored 1611 fish landings and carried out 3085 inspections of catches. In addition there were 121 boardings and inspections of fishing vessels at sea.

Prior notification of landing and designated landing port requirements allow resources to be targeted. Satellite monitoring and surveillance data is also employed to validate the fishing records submitted by fishermen and detect infringements.

Broadband: Rural Areas

Mr Craig asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether her Department can fund, under the Rural Development Programme, the extension of broadband to rural communities.

(AQO 2276/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The lead department in telecommunications is the Department of Enterprise Trade and Investment (DETI) and they have responsibility for access to and the upgrade of the broadband network in the North. The £51m Next Generation Broadband Project, which included a £2.5 million investment from my Department was aimed specifically at improving access to broadband in rural areas.

As you know, I announced my Department's intention to invest a further £5 million in Broadband and my officials are working closely with DETI to ensure that these funds are specifically targeted at rural areas to eliminate "not spots" and improve line speeds. I want to ensure that as many rural dwellers as possible can benefit from future initiatives to ensure that those living, working or conducting business in rural areas have access to services, that can offer download speeds of at least 2Mbps and in some rural areas of the North 100Mbps usually from a number of providers.

DARD: Research

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development how much her Department spends, on average each year, on agricultural research.

(AQO 2277/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: DARD spend on agricultural research can be divided into three distinct areas. These are the DARD Directed Agri-Food and Biosciences Institute Research Work Programme worth about £8 million per annum; the DARD Research Challenge Fund worth approximately £1 million per annum; and lastly the DARD Postgraduate scheme valued at around £430,000 per annum. This brings departmental total spend per annum to around £9.4 million.

Common Agricultural Policy

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to outline the current negotiations on the Common Agricultural Policy, in relation to Northern Ireland, for the next five years.

(AQO 2278/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: In October of last year the EU Commission published proposals for reform of the CAP for the period 2014 to 2019. The key features of these reforms include a move to a regional flat rate payment per hectare by 2019 and the introduction of new environmental requirements known as 'greening'. Further changes to farm support arrangements such as introducing a number of additional compulsory and optional direct support payments are also proposed. The complexity surrounding greening and the fact that the current single support payment would be replaced by as many as six (and in some cases more) separate payments has attracted considerable criticism across the EU. Proposed reform of the rural development regulation has proven less controversial.

There was a full public consultation following publication of the Commission's proposals for CAP reform, which provided valuable feedback from stakeholders. These views helped inform a response paper, which I prepared and presented to EU Commission representative Georg Haeusler, Head of Cabinet for Agriculture Commissioner Dacian Ciolos, on 19 April 2012. In this response, I sought to be constructive and offered various suggestions for improving the focus of the Commission's proposals while achieving significant simplification. This meeting was very positive and I followed this up a week later with an additional meeting with Gwilym Jones, member of Commissioner Ciolos' Cabinet.

As well as the Commission, I have had a number of discussion on CAP reform with our local MEPs and hosted a briefing of MEPs in Brussels last month. The EU parliament will play a much greater role in these negotiations compared to previous agreements on CAP reform.

I have been engaging directly with Defra Ministers and my Devolved Administration colleagues on the reform proposals, as well as with Simon Coveney TD, Minister for Agriculture, Food and the Marine in the south. My officials are working with Defra and Devolved Administration counterparts in feeding into the Brussels working groups and discussions and keep in regular contact with officials in Dublin.

Despite the considerable discussion and debate in Brussels since the reform proposals were published last autumn, there has been fairly limited progress in the negotiations. The EU Commission has been unwilling so far to concede to many of the suggestions for change coming from Member States. The European Parliament is currently in the process of preparing its response to the proposals. I expect the negotiations to intensify in the latter part of 2012 and to continue well into 2013. It remains difficult to say exactly when an overall agreement will be reached. However, agreement on the EU budget for 2014-20 will be an important and necessary first step to a deal on CAP.

My approach has been and will continue to be one of engaging directly with the Commission, with Defra and the Devolved Administrations, with MEPs and with the Irish Agriculture Minister, (including through the North/South Ministerial Council). The goal remains a well funded, flexible and simplified CAP that meets our local needs.

Brucellosis

Mr Boylan asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what progress has been made on the eradication of Brucellosis. (AQO 2279/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: We have made very significant progress with brucellosis and the confirmed herd incidence was down to 0.02% at 31 March 2012. This good progress has been achieved as a result of the combined efforts of farmers in the north working along with my Department to tackle this serious disease. We are on track to achieve the target in the Programme for Government to eradicate brucellosis by March 2014 which means that there must be no confirmed case of brucellosis in the preceding 12 months.

Eradication of brucellosis will pave the way to achieving Officially Brucellosis Free status, provided that there has been no confirmed case of brucellosis in the preceding three years. Achieving OBF status will benefit all cattle farmers here through the progressive relaxation of annual and pre-movement testing, which represent an annual £7 million compliance cost to farmers.

However, the last case of brucellosis was confirmed here on 28 February 2012, which shows that we cannot be complacent. DARD and the industry need to continue to be vigilant against any reversal of the downward trend – either from genuine infection or resulting from reckless or fraudulent activity.

The changes that we are making to the brucellosis compensation scheme are aimed at encouraging better biosecurity on the part of all farmers and helping to achieve brucellosis eradication by 2014 and maintaining freedom thereafter. I also call on all farmers to continue to report any suspicions of brucellosis, particularly abortions in cattle, without delay. The earlier we can detect disease the more likely it is that we will be able to stop it from spreading further. The combination of all our actions should enable us to eradicate the disease by 2014 and ensure that it remains eradicated.

Bovine Tuberculosis: Eradication Programme

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to outline the overall cost, since 1996, of implementing the Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication Programme. (AQO 2280/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The overall cost of implementing the Bovine Tuberculosis eradication programme since 1996 is £325.2m. This includes costs for 2011/12 which are provisional at this time.

Dairy Industry

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what efforts are being made by her Department to address the problems being faced by the dairy farming sector. (AQO 2282/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The dairy industry makes an important contribution to the local economy and life in rural areas. I am also aware of the recent changes in fortunes for our dairy farmers. However, you will understand that like many other businesses, dairy farmers experience difficult times as well as good times. Nevertheless, I want to see farmers receiving a good price for their milk.

The current weak prices for dairy products are a result of an increase in milk production in the major dairy exporting countries, as well as here. The economic reality is that the milk price obtained by producers is closely linked to the returns received in the market place and our dairy industry remains too reliant on the processing of commodity products which normally generate the lowest returns.

However, I am pleased to see steps have been taken in recent years to move away from the processing of milk powders to higher added value products. Also, Arlene Foster and my predecessor provided support to Dairy UK(NI) to undertake an industry-led competitiveness study. The aim was to help it plan for the future and I welcome the fact that representatives from the dairy industry are currently taking forward the report recommendations.

The sector also receives significant assistance from my Department through AFBI and CAFRE. In particular, CAFRE's Loughry Campus supports the processing sector in the key area of product innovation. Additionally, my Department has provided support under the Regional Food Programme and Axis 1 of the Rural Development Programme.

In view of the predicted expansion of the world population I believe that the dairy sector may have opportunity to grow further. I would therefore encourage the dairy sector to engage positively with the recently established Agri-Food Strategy Board to articulate its views on the challenges and opportunities ahead.

Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure

Ulster Provisional Government: Proclamation

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what plans her Department has to secure the only copy of the 1913 Ulster Proclamation of a Provisional Government which is due to be auctioned in London next month, given its historical importance. (AQW 11549/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín (The Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure): The Public Record Office NI has no plans to bid for this document. Any procurement decision by National Museums would be a matter for its Board of Trustees.

In line with best practice, I do not expect the Trustees to publicly express an interest in procuring an object in advance of public auction as such an action could adversely affect the bidding process.

Capital/Revenue Savings: DCAL

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the capital and revenue savings her Department has made in each of the last three years. (AQW 11657/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: It is important to make a distinction between capital and revenue budgets.

Capital savings

In contrast to resource budget, it is not possible to give meaningful information about savings in capital budget since there is no baseline or standard against which to measure changing allocations.

Revenue savings

The years in question straddle two Spending Review settlements, CSR 2007 and CSR 2010.

CSR 2007 covers the years 2008/2009, 2009/10 and 2010/11. The Department delivered efficiency savings of £2.92m in 09/10 and £4.78m in 11/12 respectively. In addition to this, the Department had to find further savings in its budget of £5.9m in 2010/11, as its share of the costs of wider pressures in respect of water and sewerage charges, Equal Pay claims and reductions in the Block Grant.

CSR 2010 covers the most recent complete financial year of 2011/12. Using the previous year as a baseline, the Department delivered a saving of £1.26m in 2011/12.

Internships: DCAL

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how many internships are available in her Department; and if none, what plans she has to introduce an internship scheme. (AQW 12480/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: NICS Policy on work Experience includes provision for internships, arranged through Colleges or University to provide undergraduates with work experience relating to the degree course undertaken by the student. During 2011/12 DCAL provided internships to two students through QUB Politics Internship Scheme, which is managed by Corporate HR in the Department of Finance and Personnel. A further placement has been arranged under this scheme for the first semester of the 2012/13 academic year. In addition my Department considers and accommodates, where appropriate, requests received directly from educational organisations.

Galbally Pearses GAC: Funding

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, in light of the presentation of medals commemorating a republican terrorist to children by the Galbally GAC, and the subsequent concerns that were raised by a parent, whether she plans to suspend her Department's funding to the GAA until such time as the Tyrone County Board addresses this issue in the interests of child protection and good relations. (AQW 12619/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Sport NI is responsible for the distribution of funding to sport in the north of Ireland. Decisions relating to funding to any sporting organisation, including the GAA, would therefore be a matter for Sport NI. I understand that Sport NI would only consider suspending funding where there is evidence of a significant risk to public funds and/or where it is clearly demonstrated that specific conditions of award are not being complied with.

Galbally Pearses GAC: Funding

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to outline the use that Galbally Pearses GAA club made of the £200,565 funding that was awarded by her Department in 2008.

(AQW 12632/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Sport NI is responsible for the distribution of funding to sport in the north of Ireland. On 9 January 2009, Sport NI awarded Galbally Pearses GAC £200,565 under its Places for Sport Programme to assist with the construction of a full-size Gaelic games grass pitch. I understand that since the pitch was developed, the club has established a number of programmes and activities at their ground, including 'Gaelic for Mothers' and an over 40's team. Furthermore, they have been pro-active in terms of creating links with a number of schools and other organisations who are also benefiting from the investment.

Arts Council Funding: North Down

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to list the funding awarded by the Arts Council, under the Small Grants Programme, to projects in North Down, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12816/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: A list of the grants awarded in the last 3 years by the Arts Council in North Down, under the Small Grants Programme, is set out in the tables below:

2009/10

| Organisation                              | Project  | Amount |
|---|--|--------|
| Bangor International Choral Festival      | Bangor International Choral Festival   | 2,000  |
| Camerata Ireland                          | The Clandeboye Festival  | 10,000 |
| Friends of Portaferry Presbyterian Church | His Majesty's Sagbutts and Cornetts (HMSC): a Concert and Workshop in Portaferry | 7,000  |
| Hollywood Music Festival                  | Hollywood Music Festival   | 2,350  |
| Seacourt Print Workshop Limited           | Defining Original Printmaking in a Digital Age                                   | 4,500  |

2010/2011

| Organisation  | Project                              | Amount |
|---|--------------------------------------|--------|

| Friends of Portaferry Presbyterian Church | 2011 FPPC Concert Series: The Rietz Ensemble and the Mornington Singers | 4,750  |
| Hollywood Music Festival                  | Hollywood Music Festival 2011   | 2,200  |
| Seacourt Print Workshop Limited           | Conditionally framed and Open Books                                     | 9,006  |

Boxing: Access NI

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, in light of the revelation about coaches operating in boxing clubs without Access NI checks, (i) what action she intends to take; and (ii) for her assessment of the adequacy of the present governance arrangements in amateur boxing.

(AQW 12911/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: I am aware of reports in the media about a recent Belfast City Council (BCC) questionnaire suggesting a number of boxing coaches have not been subject to AccessNI checks. This is a matter, in the first instance, for the governing body of boxing, the Ulster Provincial Boxing Council (UPBC). However, through SportNI, which is an arms-length body of my Department, I already have, and will continue to have, a policy of requiring robust and effective child protection and safeguarding policies and procedures from all sports clubs, including boxing clubs, seeking funding. SportNI carries out this work in partnership with the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children (NSPCC) and, through this partnership, clarification is currently being sought on the exact nature of the findings in the BCC questionnaire. My officials have also contacted BCC about this issue and I understand, from this, that the Council is currently working with the boxing clubs concerned to ensure all coaches, that may be expected to work with children and vulnerable people, have completed any requisite Access NI checks.

There are, in my view, considerable weaknesses within the present governance arrangements for amateur boxing in the north of Ireland. In particular, in many areas, the sport currently lacks the capacity to enable it to avail of public funding, on a competitive basis, or to administer it effectively. The sport also needs support to help it address barriers to participation so that anyone who wishes to take part in boxing at any level within the north has the opportunity to do so. In recognition of these problems, my Department is currently developing a Boxing Strategy in order to help the sport address these weaknesses.

North Down: Community Arts Projects

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how much of this year's Arts Council budget has been allocated to Community Arts Projects in North Down.

(AQW 12957/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: This year the Arts Council has allocated £184,284 to community arts projects in North Down.

Libraries: Capital Spend

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the total capital spend on libraries in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12996/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The total capital spend on libraries for each of the last five years is as follows:

| Year      | Total Capital Spend |
|-----------|---------------------|
| 2007/08*  | £3,548,000          |
| 2008/09*  | £2,917,000          |
| 2009/10   | £4,065,000          |
| 2010/11   | £5,519,000          |
| 2011/12 | £2,387,000          |

Sport: Female Participation

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what actions her Department is taking to encourage female participation in sport.

(AQW 12998/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: I am fully aware of evidence that suggests that females are significantly under-represented in sport in comparison to males. This is an equality issue. To help address this problem, my Department's strategy for sport, Sport Matters, contains a specific target to deliver a 6% increase in women's participation rates by 2019 from the 2011 baseline. In order to ensure this women's participation target is achieved, a series of actions, embracing a range of organisations across the sport and leisure sector, have been agreed as part of a wider, published Sport Matters Action Plan developed by Sport NI led Sport Matters Implementation Groups. These actions include promoting increased female participation through a range of Sport NI investments, and encouraging other parties (such as district councils, governing bodies and clubs) to do the same.

Furthermore, as part of the delivery of Sport Matters, I have been seeking to promote female participation and success in sport publicly in a number of ways. For example, I organised and hosted a special reception for 'Women in Sport' in Parliament Buildings in December 2011. In addition, the last meeting of my cross-Departmental Sport Matters Monitoring Group, which is responsible for overseeing the delivery of Sport Matters, was deliberately held at a girls' school with quality PE facilities in order to highlight the importance of female participation in sport. This meeting took place in April 2012.

Libraries: Assessment of Importance

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what criteria is used to assess the importance of individual libraries; and whether Bangor Carnegie Library would rank highly under these criteria, given its central location in a high density residential area. (AQW 13025/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Libraries NI inform me that there are no specific criteria to assess the importance of individual libraries.

LNI has undertaken strategic reviews of library provision to assess the viability and sustainability of all of its libraries. Each of the libraries that has been deemed to be viable and sustainable is important to the community that it serves and in that context there is no hierarchy of importance.

Jubilee Garden Party: DCAL Ticket Allocation

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) her Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies. (AQW 13121/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My Department, inclusive of its arm's-length bodies, was allocated 150 tickets to the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012.

Armagh County Museum

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, pursuant to AQW 12674/11-15, whether the budget to meet the associated costs will also be devolved to the relevant council. (AQW 13140/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: In reply to your previous question, I have provided financial details pertaining to the Armagh Museum.

With regard to whether the budget to meet the costs associated with the Museum will be devolved, my response follows.

The Executive has agreed two funding principles for RPA implementation namely:

- i that the implementation costs associated with reform will not be met by central government.
- ii. that the functions which are to transfer from central to local government should be fit for purpose, sufficiently funded and cost neutral to the ratepayer at the point of transfer.

This will require the transfer of resources from central to local government when the functions transfer. However, the mechanism for transferring funding has not yet been finalised.

Foyle Pride Festival 2012: DCAL Funding

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail (i) the level of funding her Department has allocated to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry; and (ii) if her Department has not allocated funds to the event, how much it is willing to provide towards the running costs of £15,000. (AQW 13201/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín:

- (i) My Department's funding for Community Festivals is disbursed through local councils. Foyle Pride Festival 2012 applied to Derry City Council for funding however it was unsuccessful. The total allocation for Derry City Council this year is £60k and the four top scoring applications were each awarded £15k thus exhausting the budget.
- (ii) My Department's funding for the Arts is disbursed through the Arts Council. I would encourage the organisation to contact the Arts Council to explore further funding opportunities.

Department of Education

Translink: School Buses

Mr Easton asked the Minister of Education what plans his Department has to cut the budget for Translink's school buses. (AQW 11888/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd (The Minister of Education): In the current financial climate, the Department of Education will be continuing to seek savings from the home to school transport budget in the forthcoming 2012/13 school year. Translink is the main provider of home to school transport, carrying approximately 55% of pupils eligible for transport assistance. I expect the Education and Library Boards to operate the most efficient home to school transport service and within that it is expected that efficiency measures will be reflected in the negotiations for the Translink sessional ticket contract.

Priorities for Youth

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Education to detail when the next Priorities for Youth strategy will be published.
(AQW 12740/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The draft Priorities for Youth policy document is close to completion and will be published for public consultation in early September. The Priorities for Youth will be finalised as soon as possible following the public consultation.

Down High School: Spend on Buildings

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education how much was spent on school buildings at Down High School, Downpatrick, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12792/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The table below details the spend on school buildings at Down High School, Downpatrick in each of the last five years and has been provided by the South Eastern Education and Library Board.

|                                | Capital£ | Maintenance£ | Total£  |
|--------------------------------|----------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|
| 2007/08                        | 450,546.18           | 39,602.91                | 490,149.09          |
| 2008/09                        | 309,724.54           | 75,511.34                | 385,235.88          |
| 2009/10                        | 190,715.68           | 106,783.56               | 297,499.24          |
| 2010/11                        | 28,384.88            | 124,841.19               | 153,226.07          |
| 2011/12                        | 47,468.17            | 79,451.43                | 126,919.60          |
| Total over last 5 years | 1,026,839.45  | 426,190.43        | 1,453,029.88 |

Schools: iPads and Kindles

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Education how widespread the use of iPads and Kindles is in schools; and what potential there is for his Department to make significant savings as a result of their use.

(AQW 12890/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department of Education does not hold figures on the number of schools using such devices. The Department is not aware if schools have purchased kindles, although it is aware of a small number that have invested in iPads for class use. Schools that have purchased iPads or Kindles have done so using their delegated budgets to enhance the C2k core provision.

C2k provides schools with a core provision of PCs. Post primary schools had a PC replacement in the academic year 2009/10 and the C2k managed service provider will support or replace (if necessary) existing core PCs throughout the lifetime of the contract. Primary schools will however receive an upgrade of their core PCs, as a much longer period of time has elapsed since their original installation.

The new C2k service takes account of developments in technology, such as the increasing use of personal smart mobile devices, the need for increased broadband width to accommodate bandwidth-hungry functions and the move to central hosting (the 'cloud'). As a result, major improvements in the use of digital technologies will be delivered to all grant-aided schools. The new C2k service is designed to provide these important infrastructure improvements, it does not include the provision of Kindles or tablet devices, such as iPads.

Schools are best placed to assess the needs of their pupils and it is a matter for schools themselves to reach a judgement on the resources, including books and ICT provision, they wish to use in their delivery of the curriculum. If they wish to enhance their ICT provision by purchasing Kindles and iPads they may do so.

Whether savings are made by a school as a consequence of the introduction of Kindles or iPads, would be a matter for the individual schools that have taken the decision to invest in such equipment which sits outside the core service provided by C2k.

Teachers: Redundancies

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail the amount spent on teacher redundancies in each of the last three years, broken down by (i) Education and Library Board; and (ii) sector.

(AQW 12892/11-15)

| Financial Year | 2009-2010 | 2010-2011 | 2011-2012 |
| Belfast Board         | £354,588.48      | £600,849.50      | £675,968.52      |

| Financial Year              | 2009-2010            | 2010-2011            | 2011-2012             |
| Western Board               | £207,639.23          | £368,727.62          | £1,194,274.56         |
| North Eastern Board         | £446,956.59          | £1,717,123.22        | £2,027,465.16         |
| South Eastern Board         | £300,094.69          | £704,413.98          | £1,171,507.14         |
| Southern Board              | £271,090.68          | £562,186.60          | £986,573.14           |
| CCMS                        | £1,508,445.82        | £2,685,284.38        | £4,801,626.58         |
| Grant-Maintained Integrated | £108,282.08          | £275,139.80          | £269,078.74           |
| Other-Maintained            | £30,615.12           | £64,390.00           | £93,033.90            |
| VGS                         | £434,520.00          | £927,842.00          | £2,976,297.00         |
| Total                | £3,662,232.69 | £7,905,957.10 | £14,195,824.74 |

Autism: Support Classes

Mr Anderson asked the Minister of Education to detail the nature of the support provided to children who attended autism support classes, compared with that provided in a special school setting.

(AQW 12894/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The statutory responsibility for making provision for children with special educational needs (SEN), including those with autism, rests with schools and the five Education and Library Boards (ELBs) which are responsible under special education legislation for identifying, assessing and, in appropriate cases, making provision for children with SEN in their areas.

This provision can be made within mainstream schools, special classes attached to mainstream schools or special schools, tailored to the individual needs of the child and where these can be most appropriately met.

Preschool Provision: Quality

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Education, when the quality of pre-school provision is being measured by the Education and Training Inspectorate, whether the ownership of grounds/facilities is considered.

(AQW 12915/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: When the quality of pre-school provision is being measured by the Education and Training Inspectorate, the key emphasis is on the safety and security of the children and the quality of educational provision which they are receiving. The ownership of the grounds/facilities is a matter for others to consider.

Redburn Primary School, Holywood

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education what action his Department intends to take to secure the site of Redburn Primary School, Holywood, when it closes.

(AQW 12925/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Responsibility for securing the site of Redburn Primary School, Holywood rests with the South Eastern and Education and Library Board (SEELB). The SEELB is in the process of carrying out a competitive tender competition for the demolition of the school. The indicative programme is that the demolition should be completed by the end of 2012. In the interim period between the end of term and the appointment of the successful contractor, SEELB will engage a private security firm to provide 24 hour security.

Baccalaureate Qualification

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Education to detail the percentage of post-primary pupils who would have achieved a Baccalaureate qualification if a system, similar to the English model, was available in Northern Ireland, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12930/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The information requested is not readily available and could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

I note that the English Baccalaureate is not a formal qualification, but is used purely as a performance measure for schools.

Schools: Newcomer Pupils and Language Skills

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Education how many new pupils, who do not speak the same language as with their teacher, have enrolled in schools in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12940/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Information on the number of newcomers enrolled in schools is detailed in the table below. A newcomer pupil is one who has enrolled in a school but who does not have the satisfactory language skills to participate fully in the school curriculum, and the wider environment, and does not have a language in common with the teacher, whether that is English or Irish.

Newcomers enrolled in schools 2007/08 – 2011/12

| Year    | Newcomers |
|---------|-----------|
| 2007/08 | 5,665     |
| 2008/09 | 6,995     |
| 2009/10 | 7,754     |
| 2010/11 | 8,094     |
| 2011/12 | 8,418     |

Source: school census.

Notes:

- Figures relate to pupils recorded as newcomers in nursery, primary, post-primary and special schools.
- Pupils may fall under the newcomer classification for more than one academic year and thus the figures record the total numbers of newcomers in schools in each year. They do not relate to pupils newly enrolled who are recorded as newcomers in each academic year.
- Information on numbers of newcomers in schools is available on the DE website at the following web link. http://www.deni.gov.uk/newcomer\_time\_series\_-\_suppressed\_updated\_1112.xls

Free School Meals

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Education for an estimate of the number of children, entitled to free school meals, who did not claim them in the (i) 2009/10; (ii) 2010/11; and (iii) 2011/12 academic years.

(AQW 12941/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I am keen to ensure that the parents/guardians of every child who is entitled to free school meals establishes that entitlement and that every child who is entitled to free school meals has the chance to avail of a nutritionally balanced meal during the school day. We know that free school meals entitlement is a robust indicator of social disadvantage and that children from disadvantaged homes can face barriers to achieving to their full potential. That is why we provide additional resources to schools to support those pupils in their learning and are keen for pupils to avail of the school meal that is provided.

The Department does not hold estimates of the number of children who would be entitled to free school meals and do not claim that entitlement. However, we can estimate the number of those who have done so and who do not avail of a free school meal. We do this based on the uptake of meals by those entitled to free school meals on Census day and the information is set out in the table below.

| Pupils who have claimed entitlement to but did not avail of a free school meal on Census day <sup>1,2</sup> | 12787   | 13270   | 15512   |

Entitlement Source: School Census 2009/10 - 2011/12

Uptake Source: School Meals Census 2009/10 - 2011/12

Notes:

- Includes pupils entitled to free school meals who were absent from school on Census Day (the Friday of the first full week in October); and pupils entitled to free school meals who were not present for the midday meal, i.e. (i) pupils who attend on a part-time basis, and (ii) new pupils enrolled but who were not present for school lunch due to schools' staggered or phased admissions arrangements.
- Excludes special schools, as free school meal entitlement data is not validated.
- Eligibility criteria for free school meals has been extended over this period. Further details can be found at paragraph 6 of the Approved Arrangements for the Provision of Milk, Meals and Related Facilities. http://www.deni.gov.uk/elb\_milk\_and\_meals\_arrangements\_-\_may\_2012.pdf

Civil/Public Servants: Membership of Public Bodies

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Education how many former civil and public servants are employed as (i) paid; and (ii) unpaid board members of public bodies which are sponsored by his Department; and what this figure is as a proportion of the total number of board members.

(AQW 12948/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: There are currently 6 former civil and public servants serving in a paid capacity as members of public bodies sponsored by my Department. This equates to 5% of the total number of board members appointed by my Department.

There are currently 27 former civil and public servants serving in an unpaid capacity as members of public bodies sponsored by my Department. This equates to 23% of the total number of board members appointed by my Department.

Public-private Partnerships: Unitary Charge

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail the Public Private Partnership projects which had inflationary uplifts to unitary payments.

(AQW 12949/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: A proportion of the unitary charge, for all schools sector PPP projects, is subject to an annual inflationary uplift.

The inflationary uplift is calculated in accordance with the terms set out within the contract.

Early Years: Funding

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail the early years projects that have been allocated funding, following his Ministerial Statement on 15 May 2012.

(AQW 12951/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Additional resources have been allocated to the education and library boards to allow the number pre-school places in voluntary/private settings which will be funded in the 2012/13 school year to be increased where required. At the end of the Pre-school Admissions Process on 1 June a total of over 8,000 places in the voluntary/private sector had been allocated to children. It is anticipated that this figure may increase between now and the start of the school year due to late applications. Funding is allocated on a per place basis and the actual number of places funded in individual settings will not be available until the Annual School Census in October.

An additional £150 per place payment will, as in previous years, be based on the average number of funded places for which each group claims in the period between September and December 2012 and therefore information in relation to this will not be available until after that time.

With regard to the expansion of Sure Start, proposals are currently being developed through the Childcare Partnerships in the Health and Social Care Board to extend services to those areas falling within the top 25% most disadvantaged wards that do not currently have access to Sure Start services. The funding will be made available on a phased basis as proposals are approved and progressed.

Capital Investment: DE

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12032/11-15, for an update on a new build for Strabane Grammar School.

(AQW 12952/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The work on area planning is being taken forward at this time and will in due course identify priorities for capital investment. In the interim, however, I recognise there is a need to ensure capital funding is utilised to improve the schools estate. I have, therefore, asked officials to consider an interim process for the identification of major school projects, which are consistent with and supportive of the Area Planning work and in which capital investment can be made in the coming period.

I would hope to be in the position to confirm an interim capital investment plan before the summer. Until then I cannot comment on any individual school proposal.

Loreto Grammar School, Omagh

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12032/11-15, why Loreto College, Omagh, was not mentioned in his response.

(AQW 12953/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The information previously conveyed in AQW 12032/11-15 clearly stated that the answer related to the Review of Major Capital Projects completed in June 2010 which assessed all capital projects on the IDP against the sustainable schools policy criteria. At that time, there were issues regarding the Economic Appraisal for Loreto College Omagh and therefore it was not one of the projects on the IDP which was deemed to be fully compliant. However, my officials will be meeting with Loreto College shortly to discuss the Economic Appraisal and its status in the current strategic context.

Primary Schools: Inspections

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Education to detail the frequency of primary school inspections in each Education and Library Board area, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13002/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd:

| Education & Library Board | 2009/2010  | 2010/2011  | 2011/2012  | Total      |
|---------------------------|------------|------------|------------|------------|
| BELB                      | 14         | 15         | 9          | 38         |
| NEELB                     | 32         | 24         | 31         | 87         |
| SEELB                     | 15         | 18         | 30         | 63         |
| SELB                      | 38         | 25         | 54         | 117        |
| WELB                      | 14         | 27         | 25         | 66         |
| Total              | 113 | 109 | 149 | 371 |

DE: Diary Commitments

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12365/11-15, (i) whether he visited a school in East Londonderry on 25 May 2012 from which he was called away to deal with urgent business; (ii) whether the visit was of a ministerial or constituency nature; and (iii) to provide details of the urgent business.

(AQW 13004/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I would refer the member to my answer to his earlier question AQW 12365/11-15 which was published in the Official Report on 15 June 2012.

Loreto Convent and St Colmcille's Primary Schools, Omagh: Amalgamation

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of Education when the essential minor works will commence to facilitate the amalgamation of Loreto Convent Primary School and St Colmcille's Primary School, Omagh, to the Holy Family Primary School, Omagh; and (ii) whether he is aware of the Health and Safety concerns of the Interim Board of Governors and that the Board may consider deferring the amalgamation if the work is not completed by the end of August 2012.

(AQW 13021/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd:

- (i) The Council for Catholic Maintained Schools (CCMS) has submitted a number of minor works applications to the Department to facilitate the amalgamation of Loreto Girls Primary School and St Colmcille's Boys Primary Schools in Omagh to form Holy Family Primary School. These are currently being considered for funding alongside other competing priorities. In the interim, work to refurbish the toilets in both schools is being progressed. It is anticipated that the contractors will be appointed during the second or third week of August 2012.
- (ii) I am aware that the Interim Board of Governors has written to CCMS expressing concern regarding completion of the works prior to the amalgamation of both schools. Particular concerns have been raised regarding the condition of external walls in the playground which are considered to pose serious health and safety risks. Work to replace a retaining wall on the Loreto site will be undertaken over the summer months. I am advised that CCMS is aware that the Interim Board of Governors may consider deferring the amalgamation and understand that discussions have taken place with the school Principal.

Miscellaneous Educational Services

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education to detail the potential areas of expenditure of the Miscellaneous Educational Services budget; and what scrutiny can take place on this expenditure.

(AQW 13023/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Miscellaneous Educational Services is a subhead within Request for Resources A of the Main Estimates. It relates to expenditure for direct payments, grants to other bodies and the associated apportionment of Departmental administrative costs. The total funding for this subhead in 2012-13 is £13.8m, which equates to 0.7% of the total Education Resource Estimate. This is analysed below:

| Miscellaneous Educational Services | 2012-13£m |

Budgets are reviewed internally on an ongoing basis. This allows potential internal pressures and easements to be highlighted and considered as part of DFP's monitoring round process.

Early Years Strategy

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Education (i) for an update on the Early Years (0-6) Strategy; (ii) what efforts have been made to ensure that it will be a cross-departmental strategy; and (iii) what involvement he envisages for the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety.

(AQW 13026/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The analysis of the consultation responses is complete. I will be outlining the way forward for the Early Years (0-6) Strategy before the summer recess.

School Workforce Review

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Education what progress his Department has made on the re-profiling of the educational workforce.
(AQW 13035/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I remain fully committed to undertaking a strategic review of the school workforce. Work on this issue, within my Department, is being led by a dedicated Education Workforce Development Directorate which was created with the task of taking forward the School Workforce Review.

The scope of the review is to identify the steps needed to develop a highly motivated, flexible and effective school workforce.

To facilitate this work a number of key steps have been taken:

A Strategic Forum has been established to provide the recognised trade unions with an opportunity to work with the Department to shape and influence policy development and strategic planning before decisions are made;

Reviews of both the teaching and classroom assistant staffing groups are underway. These reviews are scheduled for completion by the autumn along with a review on nursery assistants; and

A comprehensive school-based workforce database is under development with an initial survey of staff currently being evaluated .

Alongside this work, the Department is in the process of finalising a draft strategy for the way forward for teacher education which will consider how to attract the best staff, how to strengthen professionalism and how to motivate and manage performance. The actions arising from this strategy will complement the teaching workforce elements of School Workforce Review.

School Attendance: Fines

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 11990/11-15, how many fines have been issued to the parents of children who are not attending school regularly, broken down by each Education and Library Board area, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13042/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Education Welfare Service in each Education and Library Board has provided the following information on the number of fines in each of the last five years.

|      | BELB | SELB | SEELB | WELB | NEELB |
|------|------|------|-------|------|-------|
| 2007 | 2    | 13   | 0     | 8    | 4     |
| 2008 | 0    | 4    | 1     | 10   | 1     |
| 2009 | 1    | 8    | 4     | 6    | 0     |
| 2010 | 1    | 10   | 3     | 6    | 2     |
| 2011 | 7    | 23   | 6     | 8    | 2     |

Primary Schools: Inspections

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Education how the results of primary school inspections are made available to the public; and whether they are updated after each inspection.

(AQW 13053/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Primary school inspection reports are in the public domain. They are published on the Education and Training Inspectorate website at www.etini.gov.uk

Education and Library Boards: Websites

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Education whether he will review the Education and Library Boards' websites to assess how easy it is to locate information, particularly application forms for registering an interest to be a member of a board of governors.

(AQW 13062/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Education and Library Board (ELB) websites are an important source of information for individuals interested in becoming school governors and it should be a priority to make sure that this information is accessible and designed to encourage a diverse range of people to put themselves forward for consideration as school governors. I understand that the quality of the information available on school governance and the ease with which it can be found on ELB websites varies from board to board. The Department will therefore be writing to the ELBs making clear my expectation that websites should be user friendly and that information on school governor positions, including application forms, is easily accessible.

Irish-medium Schools: Location

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Education to detail the location of each (i) primary; and (ii) post-primary Irish-medium school.

(AQW 13087/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The location details of each Irish-medium school are detailed in the tables below. Details are also provided for all Irish-medium Units attached to English-medium schools.

Travellers: Education

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Education what action his Department is taking to improve education provision in the traveller community, given that 92 percent of Irish travellers have no GCSEs.

(AQW 13093/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In recognition of the need to improve educational outcomes and ensure that every Traveller child and young person is given the opportunity to fulfil their educational potential, a Taskforce on Traveller Education was established in September 2008 to assist my Department with the development of an action plan to address Traveller education.

In 2011 the Taskforce submitted its report to me with a number of high level recommendations.

In response to these recommendations my Department has developed a draft Traveller Child in Education Action Framework which will be issued for consultation in September 2012.

In addition to this my Department invests £1.6million additional funding each year to support Traveller education.

Gaelscoil na mBeann, Kilkeel

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education, following his recent announcement in relation to Gaelscoil na mBeann, Kilkeel, to detail (i) the anticipated enrolment numbers; (ii) the total cost of the project; (iii) the projected annual running costs; and (iv) how the existing evidence of a demand from parents to have their children educated through the medium of Irish merited the construction of a new school.

(AQW 13098/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Development Proposal No 269 published in November 2011 for the establishment of a new grant-aided Irish Medium primary school in Kilkeel estimated that the long-term enrolment of the school would be in the range of 116-145 pupils.

The approval to the new school is conditional on the school achieving the minimum viability intake of 12 pupils in year 1, with the required number of pupils to be registered at the school before 30 September 2012. To be eligible for recurrent funding the school must meet this condition.

The projected annual running costs of the school are approximately £105,000 per annum.

Approval to the Development Proposal does not, however, mean that I have approved the construction of a new school. Initially the school plans to place temporary accommodation on its site and will be eligible to recoup rental costs for this until such time as they become eligible for capital grant.

To qualify for capital funding new primary schools in rural areas must meet the medium term targets of an annual intake of 15 pupils over a period of three years.

Schools: Empty Places

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education to detail the number of empty places in schools in the (i) maintained; (b) controlled; and (iii) integrated sectors in the Kilkeel area.

(AQW 13099/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The number of vacant school places in primary and post-primary schools in the Kilkeel area in the maintained, controlled and integrated sectors (i.e. management type) for the 2011/12 school year is as follows:

| Management Type | Number of Vacant Places |
|-----------------|-------------------------|
| Maintained      | 281                     |
| Controlled      | 374                     |
| Integrated      | 0                       |

Notes:

- 1 The Kilkeel area is taken to be Kilkeel Central Ward and Kilkeel South Ward.
- 2 There are no integrated schools in the Kilkeel area.
- 3 The number of vacant places in schools is derived from the difference between a school's approved enrolment number and the number of pupils enrolled at the school.
- 4 The figures exclude the enrolment pupils in receipt of a statement of special educational needs, and pupils admitted on appeal by the Education and Library Board appeal tribunals or by direction of the independent Exceptional Circumstances Body, as these are admitted over and above a school's approved enrolment number.

Careers Teachers: Qualifications

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education for an update on the creation of a qualification for Careers teachers.
(AQW 13142/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In line with a commitment in the Preparing for Success careers strategy and in order to ensure that those staff involved in the provision of CEIAG are fully equipped with the knowledge, skills and expertise to lead, manage and deliver appropriate learner centred CEIAG, my Department has commissioned the writing of four CPD modules to be rolled out to existing and new careers teachers to meet the specific needs of CEIAG staff in post-primary schools within the North of Ireland.

The modules encompass the key knowledge and skills required of school staff to lead and manage CEIAG effectively.

Careers Education

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of the Northern Ireland Schools and Colleges Careers Association's analysis that the quality of Careers education, information, advice and guidance provision is widely inconsistent across schools and colleges.

(AQW 13144/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I am advised of the nature of schools' careers education, information, advice and guidance in school inspection reports provided to me by the Education and Training Inspectorate (ETI). Objectivity and consistency in making these evaluations, honesty in communicating findings and openness in ensuring that evaluations reflect accurately the school's achievements are key in informing ETI's view of a school's provision and rely, in the main, on first-hand evidence based on observation rather than anecdotal evidence.

ETI base their reports on firm and verifiable data, evidence and a systematic exploration of all aspects of the curriculum including careers. They are currently collating evidence of inspection for the period April 2010 to June 2012 in order to prepare for the next Chief Inspector's report. That evidence provisionally indicates that the percentage of schools inspected where careers education, information, advice and guidance was evaluated as good or better has almost doubled from the 37% of schools during the period 2008/10 to 70% of schools inspected for the current period. This improvement is welcome but there is no room for complacency in this important area.

Careers Education

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education how his Department governs the quality of Careers education, information, advice and guidance provision in schools.

(AQW 13145/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I am fully committed to the continuous improvement of the quality of careers education in schools and my Department is taking this forward through the full and continuing implementation of the joint DE DEL Careers Education, Information, Advice and Guidance (CEIAG) strategy, the aim of which is to develop effective career decision makers, leading to increased and appropriate participation in education, training and employment.

An integrated approach is essential for a learner's career development and Boards of Governors, Principals and Senior Managers are responsible for ensuring the quality of provision and the monitoring and evaluation of the quality of CEIAG provision is sustained. In addition, I am advised of the nature of schools' careers, education, information, advice and guidance in school inspection reports provided to me by the Education and Training Inspectorate.

Construction Contracts

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of (i) his Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13154/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department does not procure construction works. When procuring construction works, the Department's Arms Length Bodies are required to comply with all current applicable procurement legislation and Procurement Guidance Notes (PGNs) issued by the Department of Finance and Personnel's Central Procurement Directorate.

The PGNs may be accessed on-line (http://www.dfpni.gov.uk/index/procurement-2/cpd/cpd-policy-and-legislation/content\_-\_cpd\_-\_policy\_-\_procurement\_guidance\_notes.htm). PGN 01/00, 02/11 and 02/12 are of particular relevance to your query.

- (i) The Arms Length Bodies ensure that opportunities for small to medium companies to tender are permitted. Should a company not meet the relevant financial and notational value requirements to qualify as a lead contractor, they may be able to apply either as part of a consortium or by being included in the supply chain of subcontractors for a lead contractor.
- (ii) The works contract documentation used by the education sectors is designed to maximise opportunities to bid for contracts by setting proportionate minimum standards for experience and financial standing.

Preschools: First-preference Places

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education to detail the number of applicants who failed to obtain their first choice nursery place for the 2012/13 academic year, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 13196/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: There were 22,799 applications for final pre-school places considered during Stage 1 of the 2012/13 admissions process. Of these, 15.6% failed to obtain a place in their first preference setting.

Education and Library Boards do not capture applications to pre-school settings broken down into individual constituencies and this information could only be obtained at a disproportionate cost.

Area Planning Co-ordination Group

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail the membership of the Area Planning Co-ordination Group.

(AQW 13228/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Area Planning Co-ordination Group is chaired by a Senior Departmental Official who is supported by DE officials with responsibility for area planning.

The group comprises the Chief Executive and the Senior Official responsible for area planning from each of the 5 Education and Library Boards and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools.

Schools: Mergers

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Education whether any policy exists to stop a large school and a small school merging.

(AQW 13239/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: There is no policy to stop schools of a different size merging.

The key aim in any amalgamation is to provide high quality education in a school that will be viable and sustainable in the longer term, in line with the Sustainable Schools Policy.

It is the responsibility of the relevant school managing authorities, in the first instance, to ensure that children's educational needs are met. Should this require a significant change to a school, such as amalgamation, then this is subject to the statutory Development Proposal process. This ensures that all interested and affected parties have an opportunity to comment on the proposal. I make my decisions on Development Proposals on a case by case basis, taking account of the policy context and all pertinent information.

Apprenticeships

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister for Employment and Learning to detail the (i) target number; and (ii) actual number of enrolments in Programme-Led Apprenticeships, in each year since 2009, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 12826/11-15)

Dr Farry (The Minister for Employment and Learning): Programme Led Apprenticeships were introduced in September 2009 with the aim of assisting young people who were finding it particularly difficult to secure an apprenticeship through employment due to the economic downturn. There is no target tied to enrolments as the programme is demand led.

The number of enrolments in each academic year, by constituency, is shown in the attached Annex.

| Constituency               | 2009/10  |         | 2010/11  |         | 2011/12  |         |

St Mary's University College

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, pursuant to AQO 2149/11-15, and given that St Mary's University College, Belfast has identified itself as a specialist institution with a distinctive mission that seeks to maintain autonomy to protect its ethos and identity, why his Department continues to fund the college which is setting itself apart from integration; and whether he has any plans to legislate to have departmental funding withdrawn.

(AQW 12871/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department funds St. Mary's University College on the basis of the initial teacher education intake numbers as allocated by the Department of Education each year in recognition of a need to train teachers primarily for both maintained and Irish-medium education schools.

I have initiated a two-stage study of the teacher education infrastructure in Northern Ireland. Stage One of the study is an objective analysis of the financial stability and sustainability of the two university colleges. Stage Two will set out options for a more shared and integrated system for the delivery and funding of teacher education.

South West Regional College

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what steps are being taken to redress the community imbalance of 11 Roman Catholics to 1 Protestant in the management of the South West Regional College.

(AQW 12887/11-15)

Dr Farry: Under the Further Education (Northern Ireland) Order 1997, the Governing Body of each Further Education College, in its capacity as the employing authority, is responsible for all employment related matters, including staff recruitment and selection; the Department has no locus in such matters.

The college's most recent Equality Scheme, which was approved by the Equality Commission for Northern Ireland on 25th January 2012, includes an action by the college to continue to implement and review the college's 'Affirmative Action' plan, aimed at increasing applications to the college from those from a Protestant background.

I have asked the Chair of South West College to write to the member, directly, on this matter.

Kickstart to Work

Mr McCartney asked the Minister for Employment and Learning whether he has considered implementing an agreement between his Department, the Social Security Agency, Derry City Council and others in relation to the Kickstart to Work Programme, to allow a quick and clear implementation of pre-employment programmes, to alleviate the onerous and time consuming procedure which is currently in place when processing new clients onto programmes.

(AQW 12918/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department is aware of the procedures which the Social Security Agency has put in place which impact on Clients who wish to participate on "Kickstart to Work" and other such pre employment programmes which are available across Northern Ireland. I have asked my officials in the Employment Service to meet with their colleagues in the Social Security Agency and the Department of Social Development to seek agreement, in conjunction with programme providers, to find a way in which the procedures for clients who are participating in pre employment programmes of this type can be streamlined.

Step Ahead

Mr McElduff asked the Minister for Employment and Learning to detail the future of the Step Ahead Programme, including any plans for its re-introduction.

(AQW 12921/11-15)

Dr Farry: The Step Ahead initiative ceased in April and I currently have no plans to re-introduce this strand of the Steps to Work programme. The Steps to Work programme itself is due to end on 31 March 2013, and my Department is working on the development of a new employment programme to replace it during 2013.

St Mary's University College

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, pursuant to AQW 11514/11-15, (i) when Stranmillis University College, or Queen's University, Belfast expressed a desire for the proposed merger, and which faculty initiated the first move; (ii) whether representatives of either faculty approached St Mary's University College, Belfast about the merger during the initial stages; and (iii) why St Mary's was permitted to retain its no-merger stance while Stranmillis was not, despite negative responses and Equality Commission concerns.

(AQW 12954/11-15)

Dr Farry: It is my understanding that the Governing Body of Stranmillis University College first proposed the merger with Queen's University in 2008. I further understand that both St. Mary's University College and the University of Ulster were approached by Stranmillis and asked to consider merger with it but both declined. The Governing Body of Stranmillis continues to support the proposed merger with Queen's and has not withdrawn its request to merge. The Equality Commission did highlight some concerns about the impact of the merger on students from a Protestant background but stated that this was not an argument against merger but rather a factor that should be borne in mind.

Special Educational Needs: Statements

Mr Rogers asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what steps he is taking to ensure that young people, who have had a statement of special educational needs throughout their school life, receive a similar level of support when they transfer to Further and Higher Education.

(AQW 13078/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department has a number of initiatives in place to ensure that young people with disabilities and learning difficulties, who have had a statement of special educational needs throughout their school life, receive a similar level of support when they transfer to Further and Higher Education.

Further Education

Under the Special Educational Needs and Disability (NI) Order 2005, further education (FE) colleges are required to make reasonable adjustments to allow students with learning difficulties and/or disabilities access to further education; adjustments depend on the nature of the disability, and the course of study.

Colleges receive funding of £3.5m per annum, through the Department's Additional Support Fund (ASF), which is ring-fenced, and additional to the funding generated by students with disabilities within the Recurrent Block Grant. This funding provides £1.5m to cover additional technical and/or personal support, such as note takers or specialist software, and £2m to provide extra support for those students with disabilities, who cannot be accommodated within a college's mainstream provision.

Higher Education

In financial year 2011/12, my Department provided Disabled Student Allowances (DSA) funding of over £3m. DSA provides funding for disability needs assessments to determine the support needs of each student and the level of award. These allowances are available to help pay the extra costs, which students may incur whilst studying, as a direct result of their disability, mental health condition, or specific learning difficulty. The allowances can help with the cost of a non-medical support provider, items of specialist equipment, travel, and other course-related costs. The amount awarded does not depend on a student's (or their family's) income, and does not have to be repaid.

Additionally, DSA also supports the administration and delivery of a Register of Support Providers in each of the two Northern Ireland Universities. Support from a register is available to all students with disabilities and learning difficulties in the universities, and university colleges. Students on affiliated higher education courses in further education colleges can also avail of a range of support, including note taker, proof reader, typist, campus assistant, and library assistant.

Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment

Sustainable Energy Programme

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to outline the current status of the Northern Ireland Sustainable Energy Programme.

(AQW 12919/11-15)

Mrs Foster (The Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment): The Northern Ireland Sustainable Energy Programme (NISEP) is the independent Utility Regulator's energy efficiency and renewable energy scheme. It is not currently committed to run beyond 31 March 2013. With the agreement of the Utility Regulator, DETI has recently issued a consultation on the Energy Bill which also invites views on whether NISEP should be continued until any new energy efficiency measure is put in place.

Department of the Environment

Planning Permission: Memorials

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment how many existing memorials to innocent victims of the Troubles have planning permission.

(AQW 8437/11-15)

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): In general a free standing structure such as a statue is likely to require planning permission. There may be circumstances where a memorial is minor in nature such that it is considered not to be development requiring planning permission, for example, a small roadside cross or a small wall mounted plaque.

DOE Planning has however dealt with approximately 50 planning applications since 1999 for various memorials. A total of 42 of these applications have been approved and 18 enforcement cases have been undertaken in relation to memorials.

I appreciate the issue identified in the AQ in relation to 'innocent victims'. The Planning system records information in relation to 'memorials', independent of their particular backgrounds.

Planning Approval: Parkgate Quarry

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of the Environment what conditions are likely to be attached to the planning approval of Parkgate quarry, should it be granted.

(AQW 8478/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The proposed conditions to be attached to any planning approval of Parkgate quarry would most likely cover areas such as the types of waste permitted on the site; permitted hours of operation; noise restrictions; landscaping and restoration of the site; roads issues including a detailed programme of works and traffic management proposals, visibility splays, haulage routes and wheel wash facilities. Some of these will be in the form of negative conditions which will require works to be carried out prior to the commencement of waste operations.

Planning Approval: Parkgate Quarry

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of the Environment how his Department intends to enforce (i) the route restrictions; and (ii) the vehicle size and weight on the possible Parkgate quarry planning approval.

(AQW 8482/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I apologise to the Member for the delay in answering the question. Officials are currently liaising with Roads Service regarding the control of the issues you have raised. I will write to you personally with an update once the matter has been agreed.

Wind Turbines/Farms

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number of (i) wind turbines; and (ii) wind farms in each council area.

(AQW 8648/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Table 1 below sets out the number of approvals for single wind turbines and wind farms for the each of the last 3 business years by Council Area.

Table 1: Wind Turbine and Wind Farm Approvals

Planning: Developer Contributions

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment when he plans to introduce a Planning Gain Developer Contribution mechanism. (AQW 9753/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Developers can already be required to make contributions to mitigate the impact of a proposal and overcome a barrier to development, for example, the funding or provision of road improvement schemes or the inclusion of open space and recreational facilities. All such contributions must be reasonable and related to the development proposal in question.

My Department is also working with the Department for Social Development to investigate how the planning system may contribute to securing contributions to affordable housing from developers of residential proposals. I have to say that it is past time to create certainty on this issue and for developer contributions to be put in place.

The issue of wider contributions to regional infrastructure beyond site-specific mitigation, for example motorways, hospitals and water treatment works, is an issue which would need to be considered at Executive level in line with responsibility for the funding and provision of such infrastructure.

I shall write to relevant Ministers (DRD / DETI / FMdFM) to encourage progress in this regard.

Alcohol Consumption: Private Hire Vehicles

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to his plans to curb illegal drinking, (i) for his assessment of bus operators' concerns that they could be placed in a policing role to control their customers consuming alcohol on private hire vehicles; and (ii) what measures he plans to put in place to ensure that bus operators and drivers are not adversely affected by the actions of their customers.

(AQW 9995/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I have discussed the matter with bus operators, and I recognise the difficulty that drivers may face when challenging passengers about consuming alcohol on board their vehicles, and I acknowledge that they can be expected to fulfil only a limited role in policing the activities of their passengers.

The Department's advice is therefore that operators should consider stipulating in advance of any booking that alcohol will not be allowed on board. This control measure should be considered in respect of all high risk journeys, particularly where there has been a history of habitual offending. In the event that passengers become threatening or refuse to comply with the driver's instructions, the PSNI should be contacted.

The Driver & Vehicle Agency recognises that some bus operators may attempt to acquire additional business by permitting passengers to consume alcohol on board their vehicles, and I can confirm that the Agency is stepping up its enforcement activities, in conjunction with the PSNI, in order to target that particular issue.

Alcohol Consumption: Private Hire Vehicles

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to his plans to curb illegal drinking, what measures he plans to put in place to ensure that (i) private hire companies and coach operators, who are in full compliance with the law, are not adversely affected; and (ii) his plans do not increase the prevalence of unlicensed operators.

(AQW 9997/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Whilst the issue of alcohol consumption on buses is primarily an enforcement responsibility for the police, the Driver & Vehicle Agency will continue to work with the PSNI to target operators who flout the law and at the same time to safeguard the interests of those who are fully compliant.

I am also considering, in consultation as necessary with partner organisations, a range of strengthening measures that would serve to enhance enforcement and reduce the prevalence of unlicensed operators. These include changes to legislation that would enable the confiscation of unlicensed vehicles, tougher licensing conditions, the issuing of fixed penalty notices, stricter compliance requirements in respect of vehicle construction, and measures to promote public and industry awareness of legal requirements.

Driver and Vehicle Agency, Coleraine

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of the Environment to outline the proposals he submitted to the Secretary of State for Transport to protect staff numbers at the Driver and Vehicle Agency office in Coleraine.

(AQW 10048/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am very concerned about any threat to jobs, either in Coleraine or in local vehicle licensing offices, that may emerge from the ongoing examination by the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency of the options for the future delivery of vehicle licensing services following the planned integration of IT systems next year.

In correspondence to, and meetings with Ministers in the Department for Transport, I have made it very clear that there should be no reduction in jobs. Even if the new IT system results in more tax discs being purchased online or through Post Offices, there is still a wide range of vehicle licensing services that could be delivered by staff in DVA, either for Northern Ireland customers or for customers across the UK.

I have emphasised to Ministers in Britain the exceptionally high standards of service delivered by DVA and also the special economic conditions in Northern Ireland, our reliance on public sector jobs and the need for time to rebuild and rebalance the economy. I have made it clear that now is not the time to be cutting jobs.

I have raised the matter with the secretary of State, Owen Patterson who I intend to meet and have provided a detailed submission to Justine Greening, the Secretary of State for Transport, who I have also requested a meeting with. I have advised NIPSA of my efforts which have been ongoing since June 2011.

Republican Monument, Kilcoo, County Down

Mr Wells asked the Minister of the Environment what progress has been made in taking enforcement action against the republican monument that was erected without planning permission in Kilcoo, near Castlewellan.

(AQW 10467/11-15)

Mr Attwood: This enforcement case remains under investigation and the Member will be informed of the outcome in due course. I have asked for an update on this case, which I need to consider in the context of similar matters.

Should the landowner submit a planning application, Down District Council would be consulted as the relevant Council and in relation to Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998.

Crown Estate: Devolution

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment (i) for his assessment of the potential benefits to the economy if the administration and revenue of the Crown Estate were devolved; and (ii) whether he will consider discussing with the Scottish Government their position on the devolution of the Crown Estate.

(AQW 10544/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am a strong advocate of the devolution to the Executive of powers held by London. I believe, as with Scotland and more than Scotland, this should be a key element in political developments over the next period. This includes the devolution of the administration and revenue of the Crown Estate.

Hydraulic Fracturing: Interdepartmental Working Group

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) the membership of the inter-departmental working group on hydraulic fracturing; (ii) when the group has met; (iii) plans for future meetings and any future agendas; (iv) the agenda of all previous meetings; and (iii) to provide the minutes of all of the group's meetings.

(AQW 11110/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment (DETI) provides the chair and secretariat for this group and the information requested would be sought more appropriately from that Department. I can confirm that officials from the Department in Northern Ireland Environment Agency, Planning and Environmental Policy Division are represented on the group.

Consumer Focus Scotland: 'Reaping the Benefits of Renewables'

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the report by Consumer Focus Scotland 'Reaping the Benefits of Renewables - The role of community benefit funds in tackling fuel poverty and energy efficiency' including what lessons his Department might learn from this report.

(AQW 11609/11-15)

Mr Attwood:

- 1) I commend the Consumer Focus Scotland report in its assessment of the potential future links between the significant and growing issues of energy costs, fuel poverty in rural areas, the development of renewable energy infrastructure and the resources available through community benefit funds.
- 2) I will also take into account the publication of the Northern Ireland Renewable Industry Group's (NIRIG) protocol on community benefits, which I will discuss with NIRIG at a renewable subgroup of the Planning Forum in late June.
- 3) I recognise fully the view that there should be community benefit / greater community benefit on renewable applications. I have tasked officials to bring forward proposals on how in terms of guidance on / and new policy and / on other means, the requirement for community benefit may be advanced. Clearly, the Scotland report bears on DFP and DSD (energy efficiency / fuel poverty). I will write to the respective Ministers to seek their views.

Wind Farms: Community Benefit

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the report, by the Fermanagh Trust, on the level of benefits that communities here derive from wind farm developments; and what changes will be made to PPS 18 as a result.

(AQW 11612/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I recently met with the Fermanagh Trust to discuss its report, and remain wholly supportive of communities deriving meaningful and long term benefits from the windfarms developments.

You will be aware that the Northern Ireland Renewable Industry Group (NIRIG) is at an advanced stage in the development of a community benefit protocol.

I will consider this protocol when published.

However, I would also refer the member to AQW 11609 / 11-15 in this regard.

Marine Bill: Clause 20(5)

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to clause 20(5) of the Marine Bill which states 'if the authority believes that there is, or may be, a significant risk of the act hindering the achievement of the conservation objectives stated for the MCZ' , to detail what circumstances would be considered a significant risk.

(AQW 11896/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Clause 20 places a general duty on public authorities to inform the Department if they intend to undertake an activity or action that they believe will or may cause a significant risk of hindering the achievement of conservation objectives for an MCZ.

What constitutes a significant risk will depend on individual circumstances. It will be considered on a case by case basis, having regard to, the likelihood and an assessment of whether the protected features might potentially be affected by the location, size, timing or other characteristics/consequences of the activity or development concerned.

Under Clause 22 the Department has the power to provide advice and guidance to public authorities on MCZs. Any advice/guidance will be based on the best available evidence.

In legislative terms 'significant' is deemed to be anything more than minor or trivial. To that end, it would depend on the conservation objectives of each individual site to determine if an activity would be considered a significant risk to the MCZ.

Marine Bill

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment (i) why irrationality (unreasonableness) is not included in the Marine Bill as grounds for judicial review, given that this is accepted as grounds for judicial review under common law; (ii) why, under the Marine Bill, an application must be made no later than 6 weeks after the publication of the relevant document, given that applications for judicial reviews are accepted up to 3 months in common law; and (iii) for his assessment of whether the proposals are compatible with the Aarhus Convention which assures 'access to justice' for people in environmental decision making.

(AQW 11897/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Clause 8 of the Marine Bill defines the grounds upon which a person aggrieved by a marine plan may apply to the High Court.

Legal advice has confirmed that clauses 8 and 9 of the Bill provide for a form of statutory judicial review of the marine plan which substitutes for generic judicial review. Given that the specific grounds for judicial review of administrative acts are reflected in provisions such as clause 8, it is not considered necessary to specify irrationality as a particular ground of review.

Due to the inclusive nature of the marine planning process grounds for challenge are likely to become apparent prior to the adoption of the final plan. In addition anyone who wishes to challenge a marine plan will be able to raise their concerns during the marine planning process. Nonetheless, I acknowledge the point and am reviewing the time limit provision.

Clauses 8 and 9 afford recourse to the Courts and are therefore compatible with Aarhus Convention

Marine Bill: Clause 2(5)

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what constitutes a 'relevant consideration' as stated in clause 2(5) of the Marine Bill.

(AQW 11898/11-15)

Mr Attwood: 'Relevant considerations' for clause 2(5) of the Marine Bill are not defined, as this would be too prescriptive and would not allow for future developments in knowledge, technology and legislation etc. However, relevant considerations could include: the effects of climate change; the development of new technologies; regional considerations or changes in international or European policies and legislation. They could also include matters not reflected in a Marine Policy Statement (MPS) which was under review or being amended.

Although the Bill enables the marine plan to depart from the policies set out in the MPS if relevant considerations indicate that another course of action is more appropriate, this flexibility is not expected to be used as a matter of course. In fact, frequently needing to depart from the MPS could indicate that it was not working effectively, and could need amending.

Since the marine planning process is designed to be inclusive, all stakeholders and those affected by a plan will be able to provide input to the process and will be able to make representations on any departure from the MPS.

Review of Public Administration: Costs

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the cost of implementing the Review of Public Administration in each council area, including the cost of possible staff redundancies.

(AQW 11914/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The economic appraisal of local government service delivery, published by PricewaterhouseCoopers in October 2009, indicated that under the preferred option (i.e. Transformation with Regional Collaboration) implementation of the local government reform programme could involve expenditure of up to £118 million over five years and achieve savings of £438 million over twenty five years. This expenditure included just over £20 million for the redundancy of local government staff, mainly at Chief Executive and Director level. These costs and savings were not, however, broken down on an individual council basis.

I have asked that work is now done to re-examine the cost of reform against the backdrop of the 2015 timescale for reform set out in the Programme for Government 2011-15, the sector's Improvement, Collaboration and Efficiency proposals and the changed economic climate in which reform is now being taken forward.

Each of the Voluntary Transition Committees, which I have asked local government to establish, will also be developing supporting economic appraisals embracing the detailed costs and benefits of implementing reform within their constituent councils.

Agricultural Vehicles

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment for an update on the review of the use of agricultural vehicles, as discussed at the North South Ministerial Council Transport Sectoral meeting.

(AQW 12042/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The review of the use of agricultural vehicles referred to is planned for the Republic of Ireland and no such review is planned for Northern Ireland.

The use of agricultural vehicles in Northern Ireland will however be impacted by the introduction of the Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) Act (NI) 2010 which will come into operation on 1 July 2012. This legislation requires that all those using goods vehicles over 3500kg to carry goods on the road in the course of a trade or business will need to hold an operator's licence.

Licence holders will be required to carry out regular safety inspections and sign undertakings in respect of maintenance, record keeping and observing traffic and transport laws.

The Goods Vehicles (Licensing of Operators) (Exemption) Regulations (NI) 2012, which are subject to affirmative resolution in the Assembly, exempt agricultural tractors being used solely for agriculture, horticulture or forestry purposes from the need to hold an operator's licence. The regulations in this regard were recently passed by the Assembly.

Motorcyclists: Compulsory Basic Training

Mr Spratt asked the Minister of the Environment whether he will offer a concessionary rate for people aged over 65 who are required to complete a Compulsory Basic Training course for motorcycling.

(AQW 12049/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Driver & Vehicle Agency maintains the register of approved motorcycle instructors (AMIs) under the Road Traffic (Northern Ireland) Order 2007 and the Motor Vehicles (Driving Instruction) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2010.

From 21 February 2011 new legislation introduced a requirement for all new moped and motorcycle riders to complete compulsory basic training (CBT) before being permitted to ride unaccompanied on public roads. The training is provided by AMIs.

Course fees for CBT are not currently regulated: they are "market led". There is no current provision within the existing legislation for them to be determined by the Department, this is the reality of the law.

The scheme, which was developed in conjunction with the motorcycle industry, road safety organisations and the PSNI, is designed with flexibility in mind not only to take account of a trainee's experience and knowledge but also to accommodate an individual's ability to learn. Courses may also be delivered and undertaken either in one go or in bite-sized pieces, which means that trainees may learn at their own pace and thereby spread the overall costs.

I am content with the existing arrangements, and have no plans to change them at present.

That said, I recognise the point in the question. I shall write to the AMIs to make the argument for a concessionary rate and update members thereafter.

HMS Caroline

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of the Environment whether he would consider listing HMS Caroline as part of the history of Belfast as a naval city, given that this is one of the very few remaining crafts of this type.

(AQW 12067/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am advised by officials that the special protection afforded by Listing (i.e. to declare it a 'building of special architectural or historic interest') under the provisions of the Planning (NI) Order 1991 cannot be extended to a vessel such as the HMS Caroline. I am further advised, however, that the vessel could, potentially, be afforded statutory protection as a Scheduled Historic Monument, under the provisions of the Historic Monuments and Archaeological Objects (NI) Order 1995. There is a process to be observed in bring forward a proposal for such protection, including consultation with the Historic Monuments Council, a Statutory Advisory Council constituted under the provisions of the Historic Monuments and Archaeological Objects (NI) Order 1995.

The HMS Caroline is certainly an important, historic vessel. As you are probably aware, it was one of the oldest commissioned vessels in the Royal Navy, and it is the only known First World War light cruiser that is still afloat. Indeed, it is thought to be, perhaps, the last vessel from any nation in the world that saw active service during the great First World War sea battle known as the Battle of Jutland. HMS Caroline was finally decommissioned in March 2011, after some 97 years of service.

You may also be aware that its future has recently been the subject of three questions in the Houses of Parliament, Westminster (questions 106156, 106157 and 106227 refer). I should make you aware that, should the vessel be selected for scheduling as a historic monument, this does not provide a guarantee of funding from this Department. Although there is provision under the HMAOO for the Department to make a contribution towards the costs of preservation, maintenance and management of monuments, I am sure that you will appreciate, that there are many competing demands upon the resources currently available to my Department.

I have been advised by my Executive colleague Arlene Foster, Minister for Enterprise, Trade and Investment of the following:

"I have been working for some time now to find the best solution for HMS Caroline and have met with various stakeholders who are also keen to have HMS Caroline retained in Belfast.

An economic appraisal which considered the options around retaining the ship has been finalised and discussions with the Royal Navy are ongoing."

I have also been advised by my Executive colleague Carál Ní Chuilín, Minister for Culture, Arts and Leisure, of the following:

"The issue of whether HMS Caroline should be listed is entirely a matter for DOE. To date DCAL has consistently taken a position on HMS Caroline that:

- This project is outside of the Department's statutory remit.
- Capital and/ or revenue funding is not available from DCAL existing budgets to provide any financial support to the project.
- To ensure good continued communications and relations DCAL is actively participating in a number of stakeholder meetings, led by SIB and DETI. These seek to explore opportunities for developing Belfast's maritime assets in the context of the Belfast Titanic and Maritime Asset Strategy developed by DSD, Belfast City Council and NITB and in line with the Department's Museums Policy."

Belfast certainly has a lengthy, internationally-recognised, history as a maritime city and the city's naval past is part of that story. With the ongoing delivery of the Titanic Signature Project, Belfast's maritime history could, potentially, continue to draw significantly more visitors to the city in the years to come. It would certainly be good to see the HMS Caroline as part of Belfast's heritage offering, with the overall contribution that that can bring to our economy etc and I will continue to explore how my Department can best contribute to that in a positive way. In this particular instance officials from my Department will contact their counterparts in DETI to establish with them whether or not statutory protection as a Scheduled Historic Monument would help them to secure a better future for the vessel.

Marine Bill: Clause 14(3)(b)

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the information that must be included in a published notice of a proposal to make an order designating a marine conservation zone under clause 14(3)(b) of the Marine Bill.

(AQW 12143/11-15)

Mr Attwood: An order made under clause 11 of the Marine Bill will define the overall area and boundaries of an MCZ, its protected features and its conservation objectives. The conservation objectives will describe the purpose and aim of the designation, specific information on the feature(s) designated and the level of protection.

As part of the consultation process, clause 14(3) (b) requires that the proposed designation order includes this information and therefore allows relevant stakeholders the opportunity to participate in the process.

Sickness Absence

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the percentage of sickness absence in his Department in each of the last three years; and the agreed target rate of sickness as set out in any memoranda of understanding between his Department and the trade unions.

(AQW 12225/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The percentage of sickness absence within the Department of the Environment (DOE) in each of the last three years is set out in the table below.

Ministerial targets were set in 2010 for an overall reduction in sickness absence within the Northern Ireland Civil Service to 8.5 days lost per staff year by the end of the 2014/2015 financial year. This target appears in the Executive's Draft Programme for Government 2011-2015. Individual Departmental targets were also set for the same period and the DOE targets are also set out below. The Department of Finance and Personnel (Corporate HR) advised the Trade Unions of the new targets. This is not reflected in any memorandum of understanding with the Trade Unions.

DOE Absence information April 2008 – March 2011

| Year | Days lost per staff year/Whole time equivalent | Rate(% of available days lost) |
| 2008/09     | 9.6  | 4.3  |
| 2009/10     | 9.9  | 4.4  |
| 2010/11     | 9.2  | 4.2  |

The sick absence statistics for 2011-12 are not yet published.

DOE Sickness Absence Targets

|           | 2010/11 | 2011/12 | 2012/13 | 2013/14 | 2014/15 |
| Days lost | 9.5            | 9.0            | 8.5            | 8.0            | 7.5            |

MOT Test: Pre-1960 Vehicles

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment whether he has any plans to introduce legislation, similar to that which was introduced at Westminster, regarding the exemption from the MOT for historic and vintage cars which were manufactured before 1960. (AQW 12348/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has consulted on possible exemption of certain categories of historic vehicles from MOT testing and the Environment Committee at its meeting on 22 March 2012 considered the synopsis of responses to the Department's consultation. The responses indicated that there is broad support for exemption of pre-1960 vehicles from periodic testing.

The Committee was content with the Department's proposed way forward, which is to develop policy on the basis of the consultation responses that would make use of the exemption in Roadworthiness Directive 2009/40/EC concerning the periodic testing of pre-1960 vehicles. The Department is progressing its detailed consideration of the appropriate way forward, to ensure that the requirements of the Directive are met in the detail of the policy.

Listed Buildings: Enforcement Cases

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of the Environment how many enforcement cases have been opened in relation to listed buildings in the last twelve months, broken down by planning office. (AQW 12398/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The number of enforcement cases opened in relation to listed buildings in the last twelve months, broken down by planning office is set out in the table below

| Planning Office      | Listed Building Cases receivedApr 11 – Mar 12 |
|-----------------------------|---|
| Belfast Area Office         | 1   |
| Northern Area Office        | 11  |
| South Antrim Area Office    | 0   |
| Southern Area Office        | 10  |
| Downpatrick Office          | 9   |
| Strategic Planning Division | 0   |
| Western Area Office         | 3   |

Planning: Priority 1 Enforcement Cases

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of the Environment how many category one enforcement cases have been opened in the last twelve months. (AQW 12399/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department will investigate all alleged breaches of planning control. However, when determining what (if any) action is to be taken, priority will be given to those breaches where, in the Department's opinion, the greatest harm is likely to be caused.

The priority given is determined by the guiding principle that any action in response to a breach of planning control should be proportionate to the harm it causes.

Priority 1 cases relate to works resulting in public danger or development which may result in permanent damage to the environment. For example demolition of or works to a listed building, trees protected by a TPO, demolition of a building in a conservation area, and commencement of building operations without planning permission.

In the last twelve months, 78 priority 1 cases have been opened.

Local Area Planning Offices: Staff Numbers

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of the Environment how many staff are employed in each planning office; and how many are involved in enforcement.

(AQW 12400/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The number of staff employed in each local area planning office (including development management, development plan, administrative and enforcement); and the number of P&T staff involved in enforcement are set out in the table below.

| Local Planning Office | Total staff employed in each local area planning office | Number of staff involved in Enforcement |
|-----------------------|---|---|
| South Antrim Area     | 53  | 5                                       |
| Belfast Area          | 63  | 6                                       |
| Southern Area         | 77  | 6                                       |
| Downpatrick Office    | 62  | 11                                      |
| Northern Area         | 64  | 7                                       |
| Western Area          | 57  | 4                                       |
| Total          | 367  | 39                               |

In addition to the 46 staff dealing solely with enforcement cases, there are an additional 10 officers at PPTO (Principal) grade involved in enforcement along with their other development management responsibilities across the area office network. There is a further dedicated enforcement team of 7 staff in Strategic Planning Division based at Headquarters.

I have made it clear that I take the enforcement of planning powers seriously. Despite pressures associated with redeployment within the Department dedicated enforcement teams have been retained within each area office reflecting the high priority I attach to this area of work.

Planning: Enforcement Cases

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of the Environment how many enforcement cases have been opened in the last twelve months, broken down by planning office.

(AQW 12402/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department will investigate all alleged breaches of planning control and has a general discretion to take enforcement action when it regards it as expedient to do so, having regard to the provisions of the development plan and any other material considerations.

The number of enforcement cases opened in the last twelve months broken down by planning office is set out in the table below.

| Planning Office             | Number of Cases opened |
|-----------------------------|------------------------|
| Belfast Area Office         | 473                    |
| Northern Area Office        | 398                    |
| South Antrim Area Office    | 290                    |
| Southern Area Office        | 377                    |
| Downpatrick Office          | 520                    |
| Strategic Planning Division | 136                    |
| Western Area Office         | 371                    |
| Total                | 2565            |

Arm's-length Bodies: Board Members' Remuneration

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the current total annual cost of remuneration for board members at his Department's arm's-length bodies and quangos.

(AQW 12409/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has five arm's length bodies (ALBs) as follows:

- NI Local Government Officers' Superannuation Committee (NILGOSC);
- Local Government Staff Commission for NI (LGSC);
- Council for Nature Conservation and Countryside (CNCC);
- Historic Monuments Council (HMC); and
- Historic Buildings Council (HBC).

Board members of NILGOSC, LGSC and CNCC are remunerated while those of HMC and HBC receive expenses only.

The table below details the annual cost of remuneration for board members of the Department's ALBs for 2011/12.

| Arm's Length Body | £             |
|-------------------|---------------|
| NILGOSC           | 33,277        |
| LGSC              | 19,276        |
| CNCC              | 16,417        |
| Total Cost | 68,970 |

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment what plans he has to reduce (i) the number of QUANGOs; and (ii) the operational cost of QUANGOs.

(AQW 12541/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am proceeding with a Review of the Local Government Staff Commission which has now been in existence for nearly 40 years. The review will be launched before the end of June 2012 and the consultation will remain open for 12 weeks.

There have been no new arms length bodies (QUANGOs) attached to my Department created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

Planning Applications: Wind Turbines

Mr McQuillan asked the Minister of the Environment what is the closest distance a wind turbine can be sited to a parachute club.

(AQW 12562/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The main planning policy for the assessment of a planning application for wind energy is contained within Planning Policy Statement 18 'Renewable Energy'. Although this policy document does not refer specifically to the proximity of a proposed turbine to a parachute club, the 'Best Practice Guidance' does make reference to safety; for an individual wind turbine the fall over distance (i.e. the height of the turbine to the tip of the blade) plus 10% is often used as a safe separation distance between the turbine and occupied property.

In addition, as part of its consideration of a planning application the Department checks the planning history of the site and undertakes a site inspection. Planning officers generally have a knowledge of the local area for which they are responsible and the proximity of a parachute club would become evident and would be a material consideration in the decision making process.

In addition, in order to further inform the decision making process, the Department consults with local airports within 30km of the application site, National Air Traffic Services, Belfast International Airport, OFCOM and the Civil Aviation Authority, as required.

I acknowledge the hazard that a wind turbine and other structures such as hangers and masts can present to parachutists and trust that the implementation of this safety zone from occupied property and consultation with aviation bodies alleviates your concerns in terms of the Departments consideration to safety.

Vehicle Registration Mark: Transfer

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister of the Environment how many applications to transfer a vehicle registration mark have been processed by the Driver and Vehicle Agency, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12566/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The numbers of applications processed for the transfer a registration mark in each of the last five financial years are as follows:

| Financial Year | Applications Processed |
|----------------|------------------------|
| 2007/08        | 33,091                 |
| 2008/09        | 28,123                 |
| 2009/10        | 26,861                 |
| 2010/11        | 28,286                 |
| 2011/12        | 27,165                 |

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment how many QUANGOS, that are attached to his Department, have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

(AQW 12655/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am proceeding with a Review of the Local Government Staff Commission which has now been in existence for nearly 40 years. The review will be launched before the end of June 2012 and the consultation will remain open for 12 weeks.

There have been no new arms length bodies (QUANGOs) attached to my Department created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

Planning: Non-farming Rural Dwellers

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister of the Environment what consideration his Department is giving to a change in policy which would allow non-farming rural dwellers to receive planning approval to remain in rural areas.

(AQW 12730/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Whilst PPS 21 does not include a bespoke policy for non-farming rural dwellers, almost all of its policies are relevant to them. The policy offers considerable opportunities for non-farming rural people wishing to live in the countryside, not just farmers. It does so by providing for replacement dwellings; the conversion and re-use of non-residential buildings as dwellings; opportunities for new dwellings within an existing cluster or ribbon of buildings; social and affordable housing schemes development within Designated Rural Communities; and a dwelling to meet compelling personal or domestic circumstances.

However in recognition of the continued interest in this issue as part of my review I met with 3 members of the Independent Working Group set up by the previous Executive to examine the issue of non-farming rural dwellers. I was interested to hear their expert views first hand and have taken these into account in the review.

The review of the operation of PPS21 is now concluded. I am currently finalising the review report and intend to make a Statement to the Assembly in this regard as soon as practicable.

Planning Policy Statement 21: Update

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister of the Environment for an update on the review of PPS 21, including when it will be completed.

(AQW 12731/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The review of the operation of PPS21 is now concluding. I am currently finalising the review report.

Recycling

Mr Spratt asked the Minister of the Environment whether he has any plans to introduce financial incentives to encourage people to return bottles and cans for recycling.

(AQW 12739/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has already given consideration to introducing a refundable deposit scheme or levy in Northern Ireland in conjunction with England, Scotland and Wales. The Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) in England reviewed proposals put forward by the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE) in relation to the introduction of a beverage container deposit system.

Defra considered representations for and against the proposals and carried out an analysis of the economic model compiled on behalf of CPRE.

Taking into account all the information presented, Defra concluded that it would not be viable to take the option of deposits forward at this time. The Department has considered Defra's findings and conclusions and has decided not to put forward proposals at present to introduce a beverage container deposit scheme.

However, bottles and cans are a significant component in the household and municipal waste streams and many of the measures and initiatives that I am bringing forward impact positively on their recycling.

I have included in the Programme for Government a household waste recycling target of 45% by 2014/15. This challenging target accelerates the current annual increase in the rate of recycling. I have also recently announced my plans to bring forward primary legislation proposals to set a statutory target for 60% of local authority collected municipal waste to be recycled by 2020.

At a practical level, the Department will be continuing to provide support to improve recycling rates. Existing measures such as the Rethink Waste Campaign, Rethink Waste Funds and funding of the Waste Resources Action Programme (WRAP) Northern Ireland Delivery Programme will continue during the period up to 2014/15. The current call for applications for the Rethink Waste Funds can be found at www.rethinkwasteni.org.

Planning: Alternative Energy

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of the Environment what action he has taken to speed up the planning process for alternative energy, especially planning applications for single and multiple wind turbines; and what indications he has of the situation improving.

(AQW 12752/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department welcomes the contribution that renewable energy proposals make to the economy and to the reduction of carbon emissions. It also acknowledges the importance of processing these types of applications in a timely manner.

Since becoming Minister I commenced a radical reform of planning in order to reduce delays in processing applications and require active case management and other interventions to improve processing times. Indeed, I have included more challenging targets for processing applications over the next three years. I have also established a Sub Group of the Planning Forum to focus on measures to improve planning performance for renewables and to consider issues such as licensing requirements, resources and structures.

To date this work has resulted in the majority of renewable applications being redirected from Strategic Planning Division to the Area Office network which has increased capacity to speed up the decision making process. Prior to the redistribution of this work training was rolled out across the Area Office network to ensure consistency in decision making.

However, applications for wind turbines differ in complexity and in quality of submission and are attracting increasing levels of local objection. Consultation with a number of statutory and non-statutory bodies is required to inform the decision-making process and all of these issues may prolong the processing of an application.

To improve the consultation process and ensure substantive responses are received in a timely basis I have instructed my staff to monitor the performance of the statutory bodies for which agreed Service Level Agreements or Memorandums of Understanding are in place. I have also asked Senior officials to meet with all other interested parties to ensure the consultation process is operating effectively and planning staff have been reminded that they should only consult in the correct circumstances to avoid unnecessary consultations.

I would urge applicants to engage with planners and local communities at an early stage in the planning process, and to submit high quality applications accompanied by all of the information and surveys necessary to allow it to be determined as quickly as possible.

I appreciate that the industry needs to see improvement and the Department will continue to monitor performance throughout the year under the new targets set out in the Programme for Government.

Bat Surveys: Wind Turbines

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of the Environment how many bat surveys on wind turbines have been requested by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency in the past three years, what is the estimated cost of this work and how many sites were found to have bats.

(AQW 12753/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Bats are afforded strict protection under the Conservation (Natural Habitats, etc) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1995 (as amended). Information regarding the potential impacts of development on a protected species is a material consideration in the planning process and the planning authority must ensure that it has sufficient information prior to the determination of an application. This means that when the Department is exercising its planning functions it must have regard to the requirements of the Habitats Directive as far as those requirements may be affected by the exercise of the planning functions.

The Department (along with other relevant authorities across the UK) considers it is essential that the presence of protected species, and the extent that they may be affected by proposed development, is established before the planning permission is granted. This is based on the interpretation of legislation and the analysis of relevant case law. NIEA is mindful of the delay and cost that may be involved, and developers are not required to undertake surveys for bats unless there is a reasonable likelihood of bats being present and affected by the development.

If a survey concludes that no bats are present or very low numbers are recorded, NIEA will recommend approval for the proposal but may include as a condition the delivery of a monitoring programme to ensure the proposal does not impact the favourable conservation status of bats.

NIEA does not know for certain how many applicants carry out bat surveys. Officials have, however, reviewed ten randomly selected cases throughout Northern Ireland where a bat survey has been carried out. This has demonstrated that bats were present at all ten sites. NIEA used the survey information to recommend conditions on approvals, where necessary, and did not recommend refusal on any of these cases.

NIEA is unable to estimate the cost of bat surveys due to the variety of quotations available to applicants through many qualified bat surveyors currently offering their services as ecological consultants in Northern Ireland. Each quotation will vary according to the size of the site and complexity of survey methodology required and also the consultant's current fees. This is a private matter between the consultant and the applicant.

Bat Surveys: Wind Turbines

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of the Environment to outline any evidence available to suggest that bats use hedges to navigate, which gives grounds to the Northern Ireland Environment Agency requiring bat surveys for all wind turbine installations. (AQW 12756/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Firstly, I would like to clarify that the Northern Ireland Environment Agency does not request bat surveys for all wind turbine applications.

Bats are afforded strict protection under the Conservation (Natural Habitats, etc) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1995 (as amended). Information regarding the potential impacts of development on a protected species is a material consideration in the planning process and the planning authority must ensure that it has sufficient information prior to the determination of an application. This means that when the Department is exercising its planning functions it must have regard to the requirements of the Habitats Directive as far as those requirements may be affected by the exercise of the planning functions.

There is ample evidence available to support the use of hedgerows by bats for commuting purposes. This evidence is based upon readings taken from the ultrasonic sounds produced by bats when they are in flight. Using appropriate equipment and computer software it is possible to differentiate between those sounds made during feeding and those which are made when navigating. Many studies have taken place to determine associations between the movement of bats and the presence of landscape features such as hedgerows which have concluded there are strong relationships between the two. This has informed the production of the many guidelines, management practices and plans laid out to protect bats on a regional, national and European level.

MOT Test Centres: Sunday Opening

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment if there are any plans to open MOT centres on Sundays. (AQW 12778/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I can confirm that I have authorised the Driver & Vehicle Agency to avail of the option of opening vehicle testing centres on Sundays.

The demand for vehicle tests has increased almost tenfold since the mid 1980s, and is projected to grow by a further 5% in 2012-13 and on average by 3.5%-4% a year over the next five years. The Agency's 15 test centres are currently open and fully staffed for 12.5 hours a day from Monday to Saturday, and their capacity to cope with demand increasing on this scale is therefore diminishing.

It is envisaged that Sunday opening will be necessary only at peak periods, normally between January and March. Current projections indicate that initially only the Belfast test centre will require Sunday opening during the peak period early next year.

Sunday working will be on a voluntary basis for staff, and customers will still be able to choose, subject to availability, to have their vehicles tested at any of the Agency's test centres from Monday to Saturday between 8.00 am and 8.30 pm.

Vehicle Licensing: Payment by Direct Debit

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment what plans his Department has to allow people to pay vehicle tax by direct debit. (AQW 12798/11-15)

Mr Attwood: As announced in the recent 2012 Budget, the UK Government, which has responsibility for the collection of vehicle excise duty, aims to develop a direct debit system to allow motorists to spread their payments. At present, no timetable has been announced for the development of a direct debit scheme.

Vehicle Licensing: Payment Online

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment what plans his Department has to allow people to pay vehicle tax online.
(AQW 12799/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency in Swansea, which has responsibility for the collection of vehicle excise duty across the UK, on behalf of the Department for Transport, are currently examining how they can deliver a fully integrated IT system that would bring vehicle licensing services in Northern Ireland into line with those in Britain and improve services to customers by facilitating online applications and more services from Post Offices.

A separate study is also examining options for the future delivery of vehicle licensing services following systems integration.

I recently wrote to Justine Greening, Secretary of State for Transport, expressing my support for the delivery of these services to customers in NI but emphasising my opposition to any reduction in jobs in NI as a consequence, and I have been assured that no decisions will be made without further consultation with me.

Committee on Climate Change

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment whether there are any plans to invite the Independent Committee on Climate Change to conduct a climate audit of Northern Ireland.
(AQW 12817/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Whilst I have not yet requested that the independent Committee on Climate Change carries out an audit of climate change activity in Northern Ireland, I do intend to build in such a role for the Committee in my plans for a Climate Change Bill.

The Committee on Climate Change already provides assistance to Northern Ireland on how to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and be prepared for the impacts of climate change. I recently sought and was provided with advice by the Committee on the appropriateness of Northern Ireland climate change legislation<sup>1</sup>. The Committee is currently dealing with a request by DARD to provide a robust methodology to measure greenhouse gas emissions per unit of commodity output at the farm-gate. It also engages with DOE officials routinely on UK wide matters including progress being made against UK greenhouse gas reduction targets by Northern Ireland Departments.

Listed Buildings: New and Delisted

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment, for each of the last 10 years, to detail (i) how many buildings have been (a) newly categorised as listed buildings; and (b) de-listed; and (ii) the number of listed buildings in the North Down area.
(AQW 12832/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The following table provides the information requested on new listings and delistings in Northern Ireland for each of the last 10 years.

| Financial year | No of New Listings | No of Delistings |
|----------------|--------------------|------------------|
| 2002/2003      | 44                 | 89               |
| 2003/2004      | 47                 | 58               |
| 2004/2005      | 62                 | 37               |
| 2005/2006      | 71                 | 102              |
| 2006/2007      | 71                 | 6                |
| 2007/2008      | 51                 | 7                |
| 2008/2009      | 72                 | 11               |
| 2009/2010      | 79                 | 3                |
| 2010/2011      | 62                 | 31               |
| 2011/2012      | 42                 | 14               |

In regard to part (ii), I refer you to the answer provided to AQW 9161 11-15 and can advise that since then a further four buildings have been delisted and three buildings added to the list. The three new listed buildings were formerly included as a listed group under a single record.

You should note that North Down Council Area is currently being reviewed under the Northern Ireland Environment Agency's Second Survey of Buildings of Architectural or Historic Interest. This means that the total figure may change again, soon, following the evaluation and processing of these records.

Northern Ireland Independent Retail Trade Association: 'Town Centre First'

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the Northern Ireland Independent Retail Trade Association's report 'Town Centre First' which recommended that that his Department should introduce a five-year moratorium on any further out-of-town superstore developments.

(AQW 12834/11-15)

Mr Attwood: It is my ambition to bring forward a new policy for town centres and retailing. I consider that a moratorium on out of town retail development in advance of this would not be appropriate. Rather, it is important that I follow due process, including stakeholder engagement and public consultation in developing the best policy response to the complex town centres and retail development issues facing the north at this time. Planning applications should continue to be assessed on their merits in light of the circumstances pertaining to the case, the existing planning policy framework including the local development plan and all other material considerations.

Clearly, the NIIRTA recommendations need to be taken seriously. I have looked at those which fall to my Department and written to the FM/dFM to request that the proposals are discussed at an executive meeting. I believe there are short term and long term reasons to respond to NIIRTA positively.

Out-of-town Retail Centres

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment whether he will give urgent consideration to the introduction of a cap on the size of Class 1 out-of-town retail stores, based on the scheme already in place in the Republic of Ireland.

(AQW 12839/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In bringing forward a new planning policy for town centres and retailing I will keep an open mind and assess all policy options. As part of this process I will consider the current evidential context, which includes an examination of existing practice in other jurisdictions.

Planning: Third-party Right of Appeal

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment what consideration he has given to introducing a third party right of appeal, in relation to major retail planning applications, to avoid lengthy and expensive judicial reviews.

(AQW 12840/11-15)

Mr Attwood: A Third Party Right of Appeal may have some impact on the volume of judicial reviews. However, the processes are different. Under Judicial Review a judge reviews the lawfulness of a decision or action made by a public body. The way in which a decision is made is challenged in a Judicial Review, whereas the planning merits of a decision to grant an application would be addressed in Third Party Right of Appeal. In that way, there will be people who will avail of the option of judicial reviews.

It is not my intention to introduce a Third Party Right of Appeal at this time. I believe it has great appeal but has to be assessed in the context of the fundamental change to planning that I am developing and as an option within a changed planning system. I will keep the issue under ongoing review in light of the impact of the range of reforms I will be introducing to the planning system.

River Faughan: Illegal Land Filling

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment whether the illegal land filling associated with the concrete production yard at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, which slipped into the River Faughan, a Special Area of Conservation, in November 2011, is a breach of the Habitats Directive, given that the Northern Ireland Environment Agency has acknowledged that a pollution incident has occurred and that there is a high probability of pollution in the future.

(AQW 12845/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The settlement lagoons at the W.J. Chambers site were in place prior to designation of the River Faughan and Tributaries Special Area of Conservation and its prior designation as an Area of Special Scientific Interest. As the lagoons were in operation before designation of the River and as no permission was granted by any 'competent authority' under the Conservation (Natural Habitats etc) Regulations 1995, a breach of the Habitats Directive has not occurred in relation to the referred works.

The Department has, however, investigated a number of alleged pollution incidents at this site and is working to resolve the matter in order to fully protect this important river.

MOT Test: Pre-1960 Vehicles

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to the decision of the Department of Transport to remove the need for pre-1960 vehicles to undergo an annual MOT test from 18 November 2012, what steps are being taken to bring Northern Ireland into line with the rest of the United Kingdom by providing a similar exemption for classic and historic vehicles.

(AQW 12849/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has consulted on possible exemption of certain categories of historic vehicles from MOT testing and the Environment Committee at its meeting on 22 March 2012 considered the synopsis of responses to the Department's consultation. The responses indicated that there is broad support for exemption of pre-1960 vehicles from periodic testing.

The Committee was content with the Department's proposed way forward, which is to develop policy on the basis of the consultation responses that would make use of the exemption in Roadworthiness Directive 2009/40/EC concerning the periodic testing of pre-1960 vehicles. The Department is progressing its detailed consideration of the appropriate way forward to ensure that the requirements of the Directive are met in the detail of the policy.

River Faughan: Illegal Land Filling

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to the Environmental Liability Directive, whether his Department is liable for the environmental damage caused to the River Faughan, a Special Area of Conservation, as a result of illegal land filling, and for any future damage, given that it has not taken enforcement action against the unauthorised development at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry.

(AQW 12855/11-15)

Mr Attwood: My Department has a range of enforcement options open to it in dealing with situations like this. In this particular case I am aware that the problem is the risk posed by settlement lagoons associated with a concrete plant which have the potential to overflow or leak into the River Faughan with attendant negative consequences for the environment.

My officials are considering the appropriate route to resolving this situation and if enforcement action is appropriate it will be carried out. In accordance with the 'polluter pays' principle the Department would regard liability in relation to environmental offending of any kind to rest with the operator of the site whose activities cause damage.

River Faughan: Illegal Land Filling

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to the recorded pollution incident at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, what action his Department is taking to ensure that it is complying fully with the Habitats Directive, given that illegal landfill slipped into the River Faughan, a Special Area of Conservation, in November 2011, and that the Northern Ireland Environment Agency acknowledges that there is a high probability of further land slippage.

(AQW 12856/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Following a report of a pollution incident on the River Faughan, enforcement officers from NIEA investigated the River adjacent to 91 Glenshane Road. There was no visible pollution problem in the River at the time and therefore no enforcement action could be taken, however an advisory letter to W.J. Chambers was issued directing them to take action to ensure there are no further slippages from their site to the River Faughan and Tributaries SAC.

W.J. Chambers have recently submitted a planning application for relocation of the lagoons to a site further from the River. This application is currently under consideration by the Department and will be subject to a Habitats Regulations Assessment.

I have instructed officials to provide an enforcement/monitoring update to me on this case at the beginning of every month.

National Parks: Consultation

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number of responses to the consultation on the creation of National Parks, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 12870/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The following table details the responses received on taking forward National Park enabling legislation, broken down by parliamentary constituency:

| Constituency     | Number of responses |
|------------------|---------------------|
| North Down       | 2                   |
| Strangford       | 1                   |
| Lagan Valley     | 3                   |
| North Antrim     | 2                   |
| South Antrim     | 3                   |
| East Antrim      | 2                   |
| Upper Bann       | 0                   |
| East Londonderry | 2                   |
| Belfast North    | 6                   |
| Belfast East     | 5                   |
| Belfast West     | 0                   |

| Constituency             | Number of responses |
|--------------------------|---------------------|
| Belfast South            | 9                   |
| Foyle                    | 0                   |
| South Down               | 181                 |
| Fermanagh & South Tyrone | 3                   |
| Mid Ulster               | 0                   |
| West Tyrone              | 1                   |
| Newry & Armagh           | 0                   |
| Total             | 220          |

There is insufficient information to identify the constituency of 12 respondents, and a further six responses came from outside Northern Ireland.

Of the 181 responses from the South Down constituency, 164 were identical letters from private individuals objecting to the establishment of a national park.

MOT Test: Pre-1960 Vehicles

Mr Swann asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the potential exemption of pre-1960 classic and historic vehicles from MOT testing.

(AQW 12917/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has consulted on possible exemption of certain categories of historic vehicles from MOT testing and the Environment Committee at its meeting on 22 March 2012 considered the synopsis of responses to the Department's consultation. The responses indicated that there is broad support for exemption of pre-1960 vehicles from periodic testing.

The Committee was content with the Department's proposed way forward, which is to develop policy on the basis of the consultation responses that would make use of the exemption in Roadworthiness Directive 2009/40/EC concerning the periodic testing of pre-1960 vehicles. The Department is progressing its detailed consideration of the appropriate way forward to ensure that the requirements of the Directive are met in the detail of the policy.

Japanese Knotweed

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment to outline the protocols for dealing with Japanese knotweed on (i) public; and (ii) private property.

(AQW 12934/11-15)

Mr Attwood: It is widely recognised that invasive alien species, such as Japanese knotweed (Fallopia japonica), are the second biggest threat to biodiversity loss worldwide.

The Wildlife Order (NI) 1985 (as amended) Article 15 makes it an offence for any person to plant or otherwise cause Japanese knotweed to grow in the wild. This legislation does not, however, give the Department the power to enforce a landowner to undertake control. Where the growth occurs on either public or private land it is the decision and responsibility of the landowner or manager to undertake control.

The protocols for controlling Japanese knotweed can be variable depending on the site's intended end use, the size and location of the growth and the herbicide selected for use.

For example, where a site has a pressing development requirement, typically more expensive short term solutions, such as deep excavation and deep burial, would be used. For other sites, which do not have such an urgent development requirement, control is typically achieved through the repeated use of a systemic herbicide over a number of years. The location of the growth, such as growth near water or other mature vegetation, will determine which herbicide can be used and the optimum time of application.

To assist both public and private landowners to undertake control officials in the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) have developed a range of best practice management guidance documents which outline the range of control options available for Japanese knotweed. These documents are available online on the Invasive Species Ireland website and the DOE website.

In addition officials in NIEA have provided training on identification and management of Japanese knotweed to District Council staff across Northern Ireland.

National Trust: Funding

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the level of funding his Department, and its arm's-length bodies, have allocated to the National Trust, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12946/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The table below details the funding provided by the Department to the National Trust for the years 2007-08 to 2011-12. No funding was provided by the Department's arm's-length bodies.

£000s

|  | 2007/08    | 2008/09    | 2009/10    | 2010/11    | 2011/12    |
|--|------------|------------|------------|------------|------------|
| Natural Heritage Grant                         | 516        | 676        | 234        | 69         | 107        |
| Listed Building Grant                          | 290        | 91         | 128        | 10         | 6          |
| Funding for Management of NIEA Nature Reserves | 16         | 16         | 16         | 16         | 16         |
| Management Agreements                          | 62         | 114        | 76         | 10         | 43         |
| Challenge Fund Grant                           | 0          | 0          | 0          | 0          | 34         |
| Total                                   | 884 | 897 | 454 | 105 | 206 |

You will note that funding has decreased dramatically since 2007-08 and 2008-09. This is primarily due to the fact that the Natural Heritage Grant expenditure for 2008-09 contains a one off grant payment of £450k for land acquisition at Runkerry, Giant's Causeway and the 2007-08 expenditure contains a one off grant payment of £250k for land acquisition at Divis. In addition the Listed Building Grant expenditure for 2007-08 contains expenditure of £138k associated with Florencecourt. Also, offers relating to some larger projects covering 3 years ceased at the beginning of 2009-10.

Department of Finance and Personnel

Civil Servants: Relocation Expenses

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail (i) what relocation expenses are available to civil servants who have to relocate or are placed on secondment, within Northern Ireland or elsewhere; (ii) how much can be claimed in expenses; (iii) what the expenses cover; (iv) how many civil servants have claimed expenses when (a) relocating; or (b) on secondment, in each of the last five years; (v) the total cost of relocation expenses in each of the last five years; and (vi) to provide a breakdown of the total expenses, including travel, accommodation and moving costs.

(AQW 10289/11-15)

Mr Wilson (The Minister of Finance and Personnel): Details of the allowances available to civil servants who are relocated or on secondment including how much can be claimed and what the allowances cover can be found in Section 9 of the NICS HR Handbook, which can be accessed on the website of the Department of Finance and Personnel as follows: <http://www.dfpni.gov.uk/publications-foi/publications-browse/publication-scheme-our-policies-and-procedures/recruiting-and-employing-staff/publication-scheme-hr-policies.htm>. The specific policies are:

9.02 Official Travel

9.03 Concessionary Travel

9.04 General Guidance on Overseas Postings

9.05 Introduction to Overseas Pay and Allowances

9.06 Administrative Arrangements for Overseas Post

9.07 Other Allowances and Grants for Overseas Posts

9.08 Medical Arrangements at Overseas Post

9.09 Overseas Subsistence Allowances

9.10 Overseas Posting and Travel

9.11 Cost of Living Addition for Overseas Postings

9.12 Financial Liabilities of Staff who Leave Post Early

9.13 Subsistence Allowances

9.14 General Removal Expenses

9.15 Refunds of, and Assistance with, Expenditure on Removal

9.16 Assistance with the Cost of Setting up New Home

9.17 Travelling, Subsistence and Lodging Allowance for Removals

The number and cost of civil servants claiming expenses is outlined in the tables below. Information on the types of expenses requested is held across a number of different accounting systems and has proved difficult for some Departments to extract. The data provided is the most reliable information that can be extracted however a number of Departments were unable to supply the specific figures requested.

The number of civil servants who have claimed relocation expenses is as follows:

| 2007/08 | 2008/09 | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
| 524     | 1094    | 1384    | 1199    | 1103    |

There are an additional 223 staff from DOE who have claimed relocation expenses from the period of 2008-2012. This was unable to be broken down further.

The number of civil servants who have claimed expenses on secondment is as follows:

| 2007/08 | 2008/09 | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
| 10      | 14      | 18      | 25      | 19      |

There are an additional 31 staff from DOE who have claimed expenses on secondment from the period of 2008-2012. This was unable to be broken down further.

The total cost of relocation and secondment expenses is as follows:

| 2007/08     | 2008/09      | 2009/10       | 2010/11       | 2011/12       |
|-------------|--------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|
| £646,262.82 | £704,923.10* | £1,631,415.93 | £1,238,552.66 | £1,044,888.65 |

* This includes 7,500 Euro at a conversion rate in May 2008 of 0.81

The breakdown of expenses claimed by category is as follows:

| Expense       | 2007/08     | 2008/09     | 2009/10       | 2010/11       | 2011/12     |
|---------------|-------------|-------------|---------------|---------------|-------------|
| Travel        | £561,610.89 | £624,566.93 | £1,570,280.95 | £1,187,655.35 | £955,061.50 |
| Accommodation | £35,197.88  | £32,496.27  | £23,998.53    | £4,524.41     | £20,801.47  |
| Moving Costs  | £32,517.80  | £7,417.99   | £1,987.45     | £9,521.00     | £17,429.68  |

The breakdown of the total expenses for a number of Departments could not be broken down into categories. For this reason, the overall totals will differ.

Civil Service: Advertisements

Mr McClarty asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel whether he will consider extending the advertising of civil service jobs, including jobs in Central Procurement Directorate, and notices of departmental consultation to weekly newspapers that are distributed outside Greater Belfast.

(AQW 12269/11-15)

Mr Wilson: In December 2011 the Northern Ireland Executive decided to introduce tight controls on Departments' advertising expenditure, open classified advertising up to competition and change the legislation to allow greater use of online and other media for classified advertising. Departments are responsible for deciding their requirements for classified advertising.

The NICS uses a range of media to market recruitment opportunities to ensure effective communication and value for money. This may include advertising job opportunities in weekly local newspapers where it is appropriate.

The Central Procurement Directorate (CPD) electronic tendering system, 'eSourcingNI' advertises current tender opportunities and facilitates the issue and receipt of tender documentation and all communications associated with the tender process through its website. CPD places a monthly advertisement in the Belfast Telegraph, Irish News and Newsletter to advise suppliers that all tendering opportunities for works, supplies and services can be viewed on the CPD website at www.dfpni.gov.uk/cpd. For highly specialised procurements CPD may occasionally advertise opportunities through other specific trade or professional publications, as appropriate. There are no plans to extend its tender advertising strategy to include weekly local newspapers.

There is no statutory requirement for Departments to advertise departmental consultations. In placing advertisements Departments consider effective communication and value for money and this may include advertising consultations in weekly newspapers, if that is appropriate.

Rates: Fermanagh

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how his Department plans to offset the likely increase in rates in Fermanagh as a result of the Review of Public Administration.

(AQW 12800/11-15)

Mr Wilson: This issue has already been brought to my attention and I am all too aware of the concerns of ratepayers in Fermanagh, indeed I have written to the Environment Minister on the matter.

The Department of the Environment has the lead policy responsibility for the Review of Public Administration and that Department is already setting up the structures to address the consequences of this major change.

My Department (DFP) has responsibility for the rating system.

There are two points I would like to make about rates and the concerns around convergence. First of all, whilst, on the face of it, the impact of joining up some councils might lead to rate increases, these would not be of the scale of 20% that has been suggested for Fermanagh in the media.

This is because over half of a rate bill comprises the regional rate and this is set by the Executive for the whole of NI. The rest is District rate and this is where the disparity lies. As a result, rate bills would not go up by anything like 20% in Fermanagh.

Secondly, and most importantly, the Executive and local government will be examining transitional measures to help mitigate the impact of increases.

The figures that have been quoted in relation to Fermanagh are based on combining the different rates and then dividing by the number of old councils in the new areas.

The new councils will have a different cost base (presumably a more efficient one) which will also be a factor in setting new rates, rather than simply adding and dividing

These issues and others are presently being considered by the Finance Working Group, set up to consider these issues.

Rates: Fermanagh

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how his Department intends to ensure that an increase in rates in Fermanagh will not increase levels of poverty in the county.

(AQW 12801/11-15)

Mr Wilson: This issue has already been brought to my attention and I am all too aware of the concerns of ratepayers in Fermanagh, indeed I have written to the Environment Minister on the matter.

The Department of the Environment has the lead policy responsibility for the Review of Public Administration and that Department is already setting up the structures to address the consequences of this major change.

Education: Cross-border

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, pursuant to AQW 11281/11-15, why in relation to cross-border provision of education, no funding is provided or sought from the respective Education Departments; and what is the resulting cost of providing education to over 400 Republic of Ireland pupils.

(AQW 12848/11-15)

Mr Wilson: This is a matter for the Minister for Education.

Lone Pensioner Allowance

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail (i) how many pensioners, in the North Down, area have benefited from the Lone Pensioner Allowance, in each of the last three years; and (ii) the total value of the savings made by pensioners. (AQW 12873/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Land & Property Services records information by local government district and not parliamentary constituency. The number of pensioners in the North Down and Ards Borough Council Areas, (i) who have benefited from the Lone Pensioner Allowance, in each of the last three years; and (ii) the total value of the savings made by pensioners are given in the tables overleaf.

These figures do not include awards of the allowance made by the Northern Ireland Housing Executive.

North Down Borough Council Area

| Year    | Number who Benefited from LPA Award | Amount   |
|---------|-------------------------------------|----------|
| 2009/10 | 1,726                               | £341,095 |
| 2010/11 | 1,802                               | £357,624 |
| 2011/12 | 1,880                               | £387,798 |

Ards Borough Council Area

| Year    | Number who Benefited from LPA Award | Amount   |
|---------|-------------------------------------|----------|
| 2009/10 | 1,072                               | £192,666 |
| 2010/11 | 1,137                               | £204,041 |
| 2011/12 | 1,213                               | £222,595 |

For future reference, LPS publishes up-to-date statistics on a variety of benefits, including Lone Pensioner Allowance awards, on its Agency website – Reference ‘Latest News’ section at www.dfpni.gov.uk/lps

Sustainable Energy Programme

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, in relation to the Northern Ireland Sustainable Energy Programme, whether there is a conflict of interest in an individual being appointed to the Utility Regulator Board as well as holding a Director position at Carillion Energy Services. (AQW 12920/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Given its role as the economic regulator for energy and water, it is essential that individuals appointed to the board of the Utility Regulator have appropriate skills, experience, consumer perspective and knowledge of the industries which the organisation regulates. It is not therefore unusual that the board contains individuals that work, or have worked, in the energy and/or water industries.

The Utility Regulator has processes in place to identify and manage any potential conflicts of interest. In relation to the Utility Regulator Board member in question, he registered an interest in the Northern Ireland Sustainable Energy Programme (NISEP) following his appointment to the Board. His interest was also declared at all meetings where there was any NISEP related discussion that could have led to any decision or change to the programme, and he absented himself from any such discussions. In these circumstances, no conflict of interest could have arisen.

Bank Lending

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what action his Department intends to take with Treasury following the announcement that the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the Governor of the Bank of England will take action on liquidity and funding for new bank lending, which will include measures to ensure increased lending to business by banks. (AQW 12970/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Chancellor and the Governor of the Bank of England announced that they were working together on a “funding for lending” scheme that would provide funding to banks, at rates below current market rates, linked to the performance of banks in sustaining or expanding their lending. They said they hoped it could be in place “within a few weeks” but I have yet to see further details. As Finance Minister I clearly welcome any initiatives by the Government that will help stimulate bank lending and improve access to finance. However, I have been concerned for some time now that our unique banking structure (where three out of our four main banks are foreign owned) has limited our ability to benefit from previous national initiatives.

Northern Ireland should therefore have the same opportunities as other regions around the UK and I will be asking Mark Hoban, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, to ensure that this is the case when I meet him at the beginning of July.

Comprehensive Spending Review

Mr Lunn asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what further proposals, for raising finance or creating additional efficiencies, he intends to bring in advance of the Assembly before the next Comprehensive Spending Review.

(AQW 12989/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Executive's 2010 Budget covered a 4 year period and included a wide range of revenue raising and efficiency measures. The Executive's main priority in this respect now is to ensure that these measures are delivered within this Budget period. The Ministerial Budget Review Group also continues to monitor delivery of these measures and consider on an ongoing basis any further initiatives that may be introduced.

Any changes to the existing revenue raising and efficiency plans are reflected in my monitoring round Statements and announced in the Assembly. For example, as part of my 2012-13 June Monitoring Statement to the Assembly, I recently announced a £30 million "Invest to Save" Scheme which will reduce costs in future years.

Comprehensive Spending Review

Mr Lunn asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for his assessment of the potential outcome from the next UK-wide Comprehensive Spending Review, given the ongoing stagnation of the UK economy overall.

(AQW 12990/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The UK Government has not revised its economic forecasts since the Chancellor's Budget in March 2012, when the latest Office of Budget Responsibility forecasts were published.

At that time the forecast was that Total Managed Expenditure (TME) would fall in real terms across the forecast period (2011-12 to 2016-17). From 2014-15 onwards, the forecasts indicate that capital spending will be held constant in real terms. As a result, the real terms reduction in current spending is expected to be higher than experienced over the Spending Review 2010 period. Resource AME is projected to grow in real terms over the next Spending Review period. As a result, under current forecasts, Resource DEL is projected to bear the full impact of the real terms reduction in TME.

However, these forecasts are based on the overall UK position. The settlement for Northern Ireland will be dependent upon the Barnett consequentials arising from changes in the budgets of Whitehall departments. Therefore, any decisions to protect particular spending areas in England will have an impact on the overall outcome for Northern Ireland.

Aggregates Levy

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what steps he is taking to prevent the avoidance of the Aggregates Levy through declarations that quarry products produced in Northern Ireland originated in the Republic of Ireland.

(AQW 12997/11-15)

Mr Wilson: As I am sure you are aware, taxation is a Reserved Matter for Treasury to determine and one over which the Executive has no control. This would include all undertakings to address tax avoidance/evasion. However, my officials and I have discussed the issue in your question with Treasury Officials on a number of occasions to ensure all measures are taken to prevent inaccurate declarations.

HMRC have indicated that their major tax Compliance and Enforcement Programme, made up of over 40 individual projects, delivered £4.32 billion of additional tax yield between 2006 and 2011. It is estimated this programme will generate an additional £8.87 billion of yield between 2011-12 and 2014-15.

Rates: Vacant Properties

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for an estimate of the level of rates revenue that will be raised by the rating of vacant (i) domestic properties; and (ii) non-domestic properties.

(AQW 13006/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The level of gross rates revenue estimated to be raised during the 2012-13 financial year by the rating of vacant domestic and non-domestic properties, based on 30th April 2012 assessments is £29 million and £68.3 million respectively. Following the implementation of Rating of Empty Homes last year, vacant domestic properties now attract 100% rating liability, with the exception of a number of prescribed exclusions. Non-domestic vacant properties attract 50% rating liability, with the exception of an initial 3 month free period, and application based exclusions.

Disabled People: Working Age

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the number of working-age individuals, registered as disabled, who are in (i) full-time education; and (ii) employment.

(AQW 13034/11-15)

Mr Wilson: It is not possible to detail the number of working-age individuals who are registered as disabled in the categories requested. However, the Labour Force Survey (LFS) provides information on those individuals who identify themselves as having a current long-term disability.

For the period January – March 2012, there were 5,000 working-age individuals who had a current long-term disability and who were in full-time education, and 79,000 working-age individuals who had a current long-term disability who were in employment, as estimated by the Labour Force Survey.

Please note as the LFS is a sample survey there is an associated degree of sampling error around the estimates provided. They are as follows:

- full-time education (+/- 3,000) and
- in employment (+/- 11,000).
- Working-age is defined as all those aged 16 - 64

Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease

Mr Spratt asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the number of deaths caused by Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease in each of the last three years, broken down by Health and Social Care Trust area.

(AQW 13083/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The attached table gives the number of deaths registered in Northern Ireland between 2009 and 2011P, where 'Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease'<sup>1</sup> was mentioned on the death certificate.

1 International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision code A.81.0

P 2011 data is provisional until publication of the Annual Report of the Registrar General

Table: Number of registered deaths due to 'Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease', 2009-2011P

BME Network

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, in relation to the Black and Minority Ethnic Network 'BME Link' set up by the Department of Justice, what consideration he has given to introducing a similar network within his Department.

(AQW 13095/11-15)

Mr Wilson: There are no current plans to introduce a BME network within my Department.

There is already a network of Equality contacts throughout the Department who promulgate the Equality Agenda and who are available to discuss issues of concern with any member of staff.

Peace III

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail (i) the proportion of cross-community engagement that is required by Peace III projects funded through the Special EU Programmes Body, under measures 1 and 2; (ii) if it is determined on a case by case basis, what is the average cross-community engagement required to be undertaken by the projects; and (iii) whether there is a provision for exceptional circumstances where cross-community engagement is not required.

(AQW 13101/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Projects funded under the PEACE III Programme are generally expected to be cross community in nature and to promote reconciliation. While projects are generally required to demonstrate that they are cross community, there is no requirement that they try to quantify their level of cross community engagement.

Single identity projects are eligible where there is a rationale (typically that the project is a step towards cross community engagement). All projects, including single identity projects, are required to demonstrate how they will address sectarian and / or racist behaviour to enable communities to work more effectively together and achieve outcomes in terms of good relations and understanding.

Civil Service: E02

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what percentage of staff at Executive Officer II grade in the Civil Service receive a lower salary than staff at Administrative Officer grade.

(AQW 13126/11-15)

Mr Wilson: 46% of staff in the Executive Officer II grade are paid less than the highest paid staff in the Administrative Officer grade.

Civil Service: Pay

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel whether any Civil Service staff are paid less than the staff they manage.

(AQW 13127/11-15)

Mr Wilson: There are Civil Service staff who are paid less than the staff they manage due to overlap between some pay scales. I am however currently considering proposals which will look to address this issue.

Civil Service: Salary Uplift

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel when Civil Servants who earn less than £21,000 per annum will receive their annual salary uplift of £250.

(AQW 13138/11-15)

Mr Wilson: There is no automatic entitlement for Civil Servants who earn less than £21,000 per annum to receive an annual salary uplift of £250 which formed part of the 2010/11 pay awards. I am currently considering proposals related to pay as part of the pay and grading review.

Civil Service: E02

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel (i) what percentage of Civil Service staff at Executive Officer II grade are paid less per annum than the highest paid staff at Administrative Officer grade; and (ii) to detail the reasons why.

(AQW 13157/11-15)

Mr Wilson: 46% of staff in the Executive Officer II grade are paid less than the highest paid staff in the Administrative Officer grade. This is caused by overlapping pay scales at those grades.

Green New Deal: Funding

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, given that funding for the Energy Efficiency and Low Carbon Homes Schemes was originally reallocated to the Green New Deal, to detail (i) to where the funding has been reallocated; and (ii) whether he intends to reopen the schemes.

(AQW 13161/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The funding realised will provide funding towards the Green New Deal programme.

As determined by the business case, the option selected for the Green New Deal programme is the Northern Ireland Housing Executive Boiler Replacement Scheme, which is scheduled to run for the next three years.

The fine detail of the funding transfer is still being looked at by my Department.

I have no intention to reopen either the Energy Efficiency or the Low Carbon Homes Schemes.

Paediatric Physiotherapists

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12202/11-15, to detail the number of (i) Band 6; and (ii) Band 7 paediatric physiotherapists, in each Health and Social Care Trust area.

(AQW 12889/11-15)

Mr Poots (The Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety): Information on the number of Band 6 and Band 7 Paediatric Physiotherapists employed within Northern Ireland Health and Social Care is provided by Trust in the table below.

Band 6 and Band 7 Paediatric Physiotherapists employed within Northern Ireland Health and Social Care by Trust as at June 2012

| HSC Trust | Band 6 Paediatric Physiotherapists |       | Band 7 Paediatric Physiotherapists |       |
|-----------|------------------------------------|-------|------------------------------------|-------|
|           | Headcount                          | WTE   | Headcount                          | WTE   |

Notes:

- 1 WTE = Whole-time equivalent.
- 2 In the Belfast Trust, one (0.50 WTE) Band 6 post has been included although the postholder is currently on secondment as the hours are covered by other staff.
- 3 In the Northern Trust, one (0.42 WTE) Band 7 post is vacant.
- 4 A full job evaluation of a number of Paediatric Physiotherapy posts within the Western Trust is ongoing.
- 5 The above staffing information has not been validated by the DHSSPS.

Postural Orthostatic Tachycardia Syndrome

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the treatment available for patients with postural orthostatic tachycardia syndrome.

(AQW 12944/11-15)

Mr Poots: Postural orthostatic tachycardia syndrome (POTS) is an abnormal increase in heart rate on becoming upright. There are many causes, and in some cases no cause is found.

The main aim of treatment is to maintain blood supply to the heart and brain.

Treatment can include stopping medication and avoiding heat and alcohol that may be aggravating the condition. Self help treatments include improving fitness to help pump blood round the body, avoiding prolonged standing and monitoring fluid and salt intake.

Medication may also be used to alter blood volume, blood vessel dilatation and heart rate, although few scientific studies have been performed to evaluate which treatment is best for which patient.

No single treatment has been found to be effective for all sufferers. It is for clinicians working with the patient to determine the most appropriate treatment.

Muscular Dystrophy: Care Adviser

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for an update on the recruitment of a Northern Ireland Care Adviser for Muscular Dystrophy by the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust.

(AQW 12947/11-15)

Mr Poots: This post, which was funded by the Muscular Dystrophy Campaign until the end of June 2010, was transferred into the staffing complement of the Belfast HSC Trust in February 2011. Unfortunately, the post holder left the position at short notice in November 2011 after an acute serious illness.

Following discussion with the clinicians involved with this service, the Belfast Trust decided that this post should be a Neuromuscular Nurse Specialist Post. This new post, which will cover both adults and children, will have a greater clinical focus with a nurse led service that has the potential to review patients in their own home as well as in a hospital environment.

The new post was advertised on 26 June 2012 and the Trust anticipates that, depending on applications, the post will be filled by the beginning of October 2012.

Termination of Pregnancy: Guidance

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 5978/11-15, for an update on when the Guidance on the Termination of Pregnancy will be published.

(AQW 12968/11-15)

Mr Poots: The revised guidance is currently under consideration. I am unable to provide a date for publication at this time.

Nursing/Residential Homes: Financial Support for Residents

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the total financial support given to residents of nursing and residential homes, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12979/11-15)

Mr Poots: The total cost to my Department of providing statutory and independent sector nursing home and residential accommodation for adults, children and the elderly (net of client contributions) is summarised in the following table. It covers the Family and Child Care, Elderly Care, Mental Health, Learning Disability, Physical and Sensory Disability and Primary Health and Adult Community programmes of care.

| 2010/11£m | 2009/10£m | 2008/09£m |

3fivetwo Healthcare

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of (i) the amount of money that is paid to external contractors by his Department and its arm's-length bodies; and (ii) the value for money of 3fivetwo Healthcare.
(AQW 13009/11-15)

Mr Poots: Supplementing healthcare capacity through the use of the external contractors from the independent sector is typically used on a time-limited basis to assist in delivering improvements in waiting times for access to elective care services. Contracts for the procurement of services from the independent sector are secured through a competitive tendering process aimed at ensuring best value for money.

The Health and Social Care Board negotiates and manages contracts with the Independent Sector, including 3fivetwo Healthcare, on behalf of the HSC Trusts. These contracts, which provide for pre-contract quality assurance checks and post-contract performance review, require external providers to deliver minimum quality outcomes.

3fivetwo Healthcare

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether the amount of money being paid to 3fivetwo Healthcare will increase or decrease in each of the next three years.
(AQW 13010/11-15)

Mr Poots: The HSC seeks additional capacity from independent sector providers on a time-limited basis to assist in delivering improvements in waiting times for access to elective care services. Contracts for the procurement of services from the independent sector are secured through a competitive tendering process aimed at ensuring best value for money.

It is not possible to predict how much additional service capacity will be required from the independent sector in each of the next three years or the outcome of any competitive tendering exercises/contract awards.

In this context, it is not possible to state whether the amount of money paid to 3fivetwo Healthcare will increase or decrease in each of the next three years.

Health Service Constitution

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether he has any plans to introduce a Health Service constitution, as exists in Great Britain.
(AQW 13037/11-15)

Mr Poots: As a Devolved Administration we have no plans to introduce a Health Service Constitution in Northern Ireland.

Cancer Drugs: Parity of Access

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what steps are being taken to provide parity of access to cancer drugs for patients similar to arrangements in the rest of the United Kingdom.
(AQW 13038/11-15)

Mr Poots: In Northern Ireland approximately £100m is spent per annum on specialist medicines in hospitals of which the health services spends approximately £23.2 million recurrently on cancer medicines. The Health and Social Care Board has invested an additional £2m in 2012/13 to expand the range of cancer drugs available here.

I am aware that a Cancer Drugs Fund was established in England in 2011. However, I understand that this does not mean that all cancer drugs are uniformly available for patients. Access is determined by local Strategic Health Authorities who set local criteria.

Where there is evidence of effectiveness, access to cancer drugs and other specialist medicines is important for the population of Northern Ireland. I am determined to explore every available avenue open to me to deliver increased access to specialist medicines and other interventions, including those for cancer.

Neonatal Units: Microbiological Standards

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 8805/11-15, given that the independent review has been published, to detail the microbiological standards for (i) water; and (ii) fixtures and fittings in each hospital's neonatal unit (a) prior to the pseudomonas outbreak; and (b) subsequent to the pseudomonas outbreak.

(AQW 13039/11-15)

Mr Poots: The acceptable levels of microbiological contamination for water in each hospital neonatal unit prior to and subsequent to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak are contained in the Water Supply (Water Quality) Regulations (Northern Ireland) for water intended for domestic purposes such as drinking, washing or cooking and the Health and Safety Executive Approved Code of Practice L8 together with Health Technical Memorandum 04-01 in respect to legionella.

Prior to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, there were no established national acceptable levels of Pseudomonas aeruginosa in water sources in neonatal units. Subsequent to the outbreak, local interim standards were developed together with experts in this field and these have now been developed into national standards. These standards are contained in DHSSPS circular HSS (MD) 16/2012 issued on 30th April 2012.

For environmental surfaces such as fixtures and fittings in neonatal units, prior to and subsequent to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, qualitative sampling of surfaces would indicate either the presence or absence of a pathogen rather than an acceptable level of microbiological contamination.

Neonatal Units: Microbiological Testing

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 8803/11-15, given that the independent review has been published, to detail the bacteria which the environmental microbiological testing regime routinely tested for in each hospital's neonatal unit (i) prior to the pseudomonas outbreak; and (ii) subsequent to the pseudomonas outbreak.

(AQW 13041/11-15)

Mr Poots: Prior to and subsequent to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, each HSC Trust tests water sources in neonatal units for legionella in accordance with the Health and Safety Executive Approved Code of Practice L8 and Health Technical Memorandum 04-01.

Subsequent to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, HSC Trust test water sources in neonatal units for Pseudomonas aeruginosa in accordance with the guidance contained in DHSSPS circular HSS (MD) 16/2012 issued on 30th April 2012.

Prior to and subsequent to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, environmental microbiological testing in neonatal units if undertaken would involve qualitative sampling of surfaces to indicate either the presence or absence of particular pathogens in order to identify an environmental source of infection/contamination or should there be an increase in incidents of infection. Further guidance to HSC Trusts in undertaking appropriate risk assessment to identify actions to mitigate risks and ensure appropriate sampling, monitoring and clinical surveillance arrangements are being implemented and adhered to in augmented care units including neonatal units caring for babies at levels 1, 2 and 3 is contained in DHSSPS circular HSS (MD) 16/2012 issued on 30th April 2012.

Neonatal Units: Microbiological Results

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 8807/11-15, given that the independent review has been published, to detail how many microbiological results for (i) water testing; and (ii) environmental swabs in each hospital's neonatal unit were (a) a matter of concern; or (b) failed against prescribed standards, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13051/11-15)

|---------------|------------------------------------|-------------------------|---------------------------------------|------------|
| South Eastern | 0                                  | 8                       | 0                                     | 0          |
| Southern      | 0                                  | 7                       | 0                                     | 0          |
| Belfast       | 0                                  | 6                       | 0                                     | 0          |
| Western       | 0                                  | 5                       | 1                                     | 0          |
| Northern      | 0                                  | 4                       | 0                                     | 0          |

Notes:

- 1 Water testing for legionella in neonatal units in each of the last three years gave no matter for concern or failed acceptable microbiological standards in accordance with the Health and Safety Executive Approved Code of Practice L8 and Health Technical Memorandum 04-01.
- 2 Prior to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, there were no established national acceptable levels of Pseudomonas aeruginosa in water sources in neonatal units that would have provided a guide to an appropriate level of concern.
- 3 Subsequent to the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak, DHSSPS guidance HSS(MD)4/2012 issued on 28th January 2012 established levels of Pseudomonas aeruginosa in pre and post flush water samples which would indicate that remedial action was required and the data provided relates to the number of taps tested in the Trust neonatal units in which the water sample test results proved positive. Although 30 taps were initially identified with high counts and are indicated as “failed” in the table for the purposes of this answer, HSC Trusts replaced 137 taps in total in the 7 neonatal units as a further precautionary measure. Once replaced, each tap was tested on a daily basis until 7 consecutive tests proved negative, moving to weekly testing for 4 weeks and then monthly testing (further guidance on this subsequent testing was provided in HSS (MD) 6/2012 issued on 9th February). This testing protocol has since been superseded by HSS(MD)16/2012. Given the scale of tap replacement, the testing regime has been extensive with pre and post flush samples required for both hot and cold tap supplies. HSC Trusts are currently
- 4 The data for the Western Trust indicates the single positive environmental sample taken from the tap at the neonatal unit following the Pseudomonas aeruginosa outbreak. Testing environmental surfaces in neonatal units involves qualitative sampling of surfaces to indicate either the presence or absence of a pathogen rather than an acceptable level of microbiological contamination therefore detection of a pathogen may “give concern” rather be designated as “fail”, depending on the pathogen under consideration. The other four HSC Trusts have indicated that when environmental samples have been taken for Pseudomonas aeruginosa following the outbreak, they have returned negative results.

Pseudomonas: Water Filters

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 11371/11-15, given that the independent review has been published, to detail (i) what consideration the Health and Social Care Trusts gave to the fitting of water filters to protect against waterborne micro-organisms (a) prior to; and (b) after the pseudomonas outbreak in December 2011; and (ii) if this action was not pursued, to detail the reasons why.

(AQW 13052/11-15)

Mr Poots: DHSSPS guidance in relation to Pseudomonas was provided to HSC Trusts in September 2010 (HSS(MD)34/2010) and December 2011 (HSS(MD)31/2011) which alerted Trusts to the importance of where contamination of taps exists in augmented care units, further precautions to protect the patient may be necessary, such as the installation of point of use filters.

During the incidents of Pseudomonas infection in neonatal units, further guidance was issued in January 2012 (HSS(MD) 4/2012) which included water testing protocols and recommended actions to take depending on results. Recommended actions include the use of point of use filters should testing suggest a systematic problem with water distribution systems and it was not possible to stop use of the outlet however point of use filters were not seen as a permanent solution.

Current guidance issued on 30th April 2012 (HSS (MD) 16/2012) includes the use of point of use filters however their use should primarily be regarded as a temporary measure until a permanent safe engineering solution is developed, although it does acknowledge in some circumstances that the long term use of such filters may be required in some cases.

HSC Trusts have indicated that assessment of their precautions following the issue of HSS(MD)34/2010 and HSS(MD)31/2011 did not identify that the installation of point of use filters was necessary.

Subsequent to the outbreaks, the Belfast, Northern and Western Trusts procured filters in case of need but did not fit any and the South Eastern Trust fitted a number of filters for a short period as an interim measure prior to remedial work.

The Southern Trust however fitted filters across an extensive range of taps in their neonatal units prior to any testing and tap replacement as an additional safeguard to actions outlined in the interim regional guidance issued on 28th January 2012. The Trust continues to use a number of filters due to ongoing investigations of water distribution systems in other augmented care areas.

Prisons: Administration of Medication

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in light of the death in custody of a prisoner from a mixture of prescribed drugs and illegal substances, which it is believed he obtained by trading his prescription drugs, whether he will instruct prison pharmacists and medical staff to revert from the current practice of allowing most prisoners to self medicate and instead have medication dispensed per dose, and introduce checks to ensure that the medication has been taken.

(AQW 13059/11-15)

Mr Poots: The South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust is responsible for the delivery of prison healthcare services. The Trust has no plans to alter the current approach of carrying out comprehensive risk assessments to determine whether prisoners are suitable to be in possession of medication. This is in line with national guidelines on pharmacy services for prisoners.

The SE HSC Trust is continuously reviewing its policies, procedures and guidelines in order to reflect patient need and to promote the delivery of evidence based care. Its “In-Possession Medication Policy” was reviewed in September 2011 and this revised policy was referenced in the Prison Ombudsman's report. The SE HSC Trust is also developing a "Medicines Management Strategy for Prison Healthcare" to ensure safe, effective and efficient use of medicines and to formulate and review policy on the prescribing, supply, storage and administration of medicines with prison healthcare.

There is no evidence base or current guidelines to recommend the practice of administering all medications on a 'supervised swallow' basis. This would be contrary to all recommendations made by a number of bodies in relation to medicines management within the prison environment including the Department of Health, Her Majesty's Prison Service, Royal College of General Practitioners, Offender Health and the Secure Environment Pharmacists Group.

Antrim Area Hospital: Bank and Agency Staff

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12658/11-15, to provide the information, that is readily available, on the number of hours worked by bank and agency staff at the Antrim Area Hospital in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13060/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Health & Social Care Trust advised that it was not possible to provide information on the number of hours that bank and agency staff have worked at the Antrim Area Hospital in the last three years as this information is not readily available. It would require an extensive manual exercise to produce the information required which would incur disproportionate costs.

Defibrillators: North Down Sports Clubs

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many defibrillators are available to support clubs in the North Down area.

(AQW 13075/11-15)

Mr Poots: Any organisation or individual may purchase a defibrillator. There is no requirement to register the purchase, possession or location of a defibrillator. It is therefore not known how many defibrillators are available to support clubs in the North Down area.

A pilot programme to train people to use defibrillators, set up by my Department, has had the additional benefit of raising awareness, in some sporting organisations and District Councils, of the location and accessibility of defibrillators purchased by their organisation and also the need for maintenance of the defibrillator and maintaining the training of staff in their use.

Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease

Mr Spratt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many deaths caused by Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease to date were as a result of (i) the consumption of infected beef products; and (ii) transfusions of infected blood.

(AQW 13086/11-15)

Mr Poots: There have been 176 deaths in the United Kingdom from variant Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease (vCJD) since 1995. Three of these deaths were in Northern Ireland.

None of the three deaths in Northern Ireland was associated with blood transfusions. While there is good, although indirect, evidence that variant CJD originated from transmission of infection from Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy in cattle to humans via infectivity in food, the source of infection in three cases in Northern Ireland is not known.

Travellers: Suicide

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what action his Department is taking to reduce suicide amongst the traveller community, given that suicide rates are six times higher amongst travellers than the rest of the population, and eleven percent of traveller deaths are due to suicide.

(AQW 13092/11-15)

Mr Poots: The All Ireland Traveller Health Study (AITHS 2010) states that males had a suicide rate which is 6.6 times that of men in the general population when measured over a twelve month period (2008). My Department estimates that this equated to 4 deaths in that year amongst the Traveller population in Northern Ireland.

In response to the study, and other evidence relating to the health needs of Travellers, the Public Health Agency facilitated the establishment of a regional Traveller Health and Wellbeing Forum in October 2010. Initiatives targeted at the Traveller community include; health improvement programmes; emotional health and wellbeing training; and parent and child support programmes. A wider review of service uptake by Travellers is due to commence in September 2012.

These initiatives are partly funded under the Protect Life strategy which contains actions to ensure support services are available for marginalised and disadvantaged groups such as Travellers.

Winter Fuel Payments: Cancer Patients

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether winter fuel payments will be made available next year to patients with cancer.

(AQW 13107/11-15)

Mr Poots: During winter 2011/12, DHSSPS was designated by OFMDFM under the NI Executive's Social Protection Fund legislation to make a one-off fuel payment to cancer patients who met separate eligibility criteria. The Social Protection Fund is the responsibility of OFMDFM.

Winter Fuel Payments: Cancer Patients

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) to detail the criteria used to determine which patients with cancer are entitled to winter fuel payments; and (ii) whether they will consider widening the criteria in the future.

(AQW 13108/11-15)

Mr Poots: During winter 2011/12, DHSSPS was designated by OFMDFM under the NI Executive's Social Protection Fund legislation to make a one-off fuel payment to cancer patients who met separate eligibility criteria. The criteria for cancer patients were those who have received surgery, radiotherapy, chemotherapy, or palliative care within six months prior to and including the qualifying period, and included those patients where a decision is made during the qualifying week to provide surgery, radiotherapy, chemotherapy, or palliative care. The qualifying week was 12th to 18th December 2011. The scheme was a one-off payment for winter 2011/12 under the Social Protection Fund which is the responsibility of OFMDFM.

Prostate Cancer: Abiraterone

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail (i) his Department's position on the use of Abiraterone for the treatment of prostate cancer as a way of prolonging life, relieving pain and other symptoms; and (ii) whether he intends to follow the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence recommendation, in England and Wales, that the drug should be made available via the Health Service.

(AQW 13109/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department has formal links with the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) and the NICE guidance on Abiraterone for the treatment of prostate cancer like all the Institute's Technology Appraisals will be reviewed locally for its applicability to Northern Ireland (NI). The local review does not challenge the robustness of the NICE guidance but rather its applicability in the legal and policy context of NI.

The guidance was published on Wednesday 27 June 2012 and my Department is currently completing its local review as described in circular HSC (SQSD) 04/11. Once a commissioning plan has been agreed with the HSC Board, it will represent my Department's formal policy position on implementation.

Nurses: Temporary Contracts

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many nurses have been employed on temporary contracts in each Health and Social Care Trust area, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13116/11-15)

Mr Poots: The information below was provided by HSC Trusts and relates to qualified nursing staff band 5 and above who are on temporary contracts, over the last three years:

| HSC Trust     | April 09-March 10 | April 10- March 11 | April 11-March 12 |
|---------------|-------------------|--------------------|-------------------|
| Northern      | 64                | 72                 | 94                |
| Belfast       | 64                | 72                 | 65                |
| South Eastern | 41                | 47                 | 40                |
| Southern      | 231               | 154                | 92                |

Sexual Health Improvement Network

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12486/11-15, (i) when the Sexual Health Improvement Network last met; and (ii) the date of the next meeting.

(AQW 13162/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Sexual Health Improvement Network last met on 17th April 2012. The next meeting is scheduled to take place on 25th September 2012.

Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to AQW 12842/11-15, to provide a breakdown by hospital for patients referred for Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy Treatment, for each year since 2009.

(AQW 13163/11-15)

Mr Poots: I have been advised by the Health and Social Care Board that all patients referred to Great Britain for stereotactic body radiotherapy were referred by the Belfast HSC Trust.

Information on the hospitals in Great Britain where patients have been referred for stereotactic body radiotherapy, in each of the calendar years since 2009, is detailed in the table below:

| Year    | Hospital of Treatment |       |        |  |                     |                                | Total Referred |
|---------|-----------------------|-------|--------|--|---------------------|--------------------------------|----------------|
|         | Sheffield Teaching    | Leeds | Queens | National Centre for Stereotactic Radio-surgery | Great Ormond Street | Birmingham Children's Hospital |                |
| 2009/10 | 10                    | 1     | 0      | 3  | 7                   | 0                              | 21             |

Construction Contracts

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of (i) his Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13166/11-15)

Mr Poots: A pre-qualification process is used in connection with all new construction contracts within the health estate in order to allow the client to select a limited number of firms (usually six firms) which are best suited to deliver the particular project in an efficient and effective manner.

This pre-qualification process has been developed by DFP's Central Procurement Directorate (CPD) as part of Northern Ireland Public Procurement Policy (NIPPP).

When setting the criteria used for selection, there is a requirement on the part of Contracting Authorities (such as DHSSPS arm's length bodies) to comply with the Public Contracts Regulations (2006) as amended, NIPPP and best practice guidance.

The pre-qualification process assesses the firms' suitability to deliver the particular project using the following criteria: -

- General information as to the organisational structure and proposed administrative arrangements of consortia;
- Information as to economic and financial standing and compliance with EU/UK procurement legislation;
- Health and safety;
- Technical ability;

With respect to the information requested as to economic and financial standing, firms who wish to apply must meet the Constructionline work categories and financial notation required for a particular project. These criteria will be set to reflect the scope and nature of the works. (Constructionline is the UK's register of pre-qualified local and national construction and construction-related suppliers and its use in pre-qualification processes for public sector contracts in Northern Ireland is embedded in NIPPP).

With respect to the information requested as to technical ability, firms who wish to apply must either: -

- obtain registration on the DHSSPS Register of Contractors with facility and work categories that match the firms' experience for contracts of value below the EU threshold (£4,348,350.00) or;

- score sufficiently in project-specific selection criteria by demonstrating their suitability to deliver the particular project/previous experience/methodology for contracts of value above the EU threshold.

Accordingly, pre-qualification processes are open to any local small to medium sized enterprises (SMEs) which meet the project-specific requirements of each particular project.

In addition, CPD have published guidance assist SMEs in their knowledge and understanding of public sector procurement. ### Ulster Hospital: Cardiac Catheterisation Service

Mr Dunne asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what progress has been made by his Department in relation to the provision of a cardiac cath laboratory at the Ulster Hospital, Dundonald.

(AQW 13176/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Health and Social Care Board in conjunction with Trusts, is currently reviewing regional requirements for cardiac catheterisation services across Northern Ireland.

The South Eastern Trust has submitted a Strategic Outline Business Case to the HSC Board for an interim cardiac catheterisation service based at the Ulster Hospital. However this will not be progressed until the outcome of the HSC Board's review is known.

Detoxification: Available Beds

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many beds in the Health Service are available for drug and alcohol detoxification services, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 13182/11-15)

Mr Poots: The number of beds in the Health Service available for drug and alcohol detoxification services broken down by hospital at 1st June 2012, are given in the table below. The information requested is not available by constituency.

| Hospital   | Total number of available beds for drug and alcohol detoxification services at 1st June 2012 |
|------------|--|
| Downshire  | 14   |
| Holywell   | 10   |
| St Luke's* | 10   |

* Beds in St.Luke's are open Monday – Friday only.

Patients with complex medical needs who require access to a range of hospital services or those requiring care and treatment for only acute detoxification will be admitted to acute inpatient medical beds.

Patients requiring care and treatment for mental health issues and substance misuse may be admitted to Mental Health Facilities.

Prescription Drugs: Enforcement

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) what action he is taking to ensure that prescription drugs are not prescribed to known or convicted drug dealers; and (ii) what information sharing provisions exist between the Health Service and the PSNI to stop prescription drugs being sold on our streets.

(AQW 13184/11-15)

Mr Poots: The decision as to whether or not a patient should be prescribed medication is a purely clinical one made by the prescriber who has assessed their medical needs.

The Medicines Regulatory Group have agreed information sharing protocols with regulatory and enforcement agencies locally, nationally and internationally for the receipt and sharing of information regarding regulatory and enforcement matters as they relate to medicines.

Prescription Drugs: Online Purchase

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what action his Department is taking to stem the flow of prescription drugs being bought online and sold on the streets.

(AQW 13185/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department, through its Medicines Regulatory Group (MRG), has a statutory responsibility to ensure compliance with national and international legislative requirements regarding sales of medicines. It works very closely with other regulatory agencies including the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency, the United Kingdom Border Agency and the Police Service of Northern Ireland to tackle the increase in the use of the internet to source unlicensed and illegal medicines from abroad.

We continue to undertake local, national and international collaborative enforcement and regulation work, an example of which was the seizure of 30,000 prescription only sleeping tablets at Belfast International Airport recently.

We also act to raise public awareness of the dangers of purchasing medicines from unregulated sources and recommending that patients obtain medicines from a legitimate source and will be conducting a further awareness campaign later this year.

Notably, we participate annually in Operation Pangea which specifically targets the on-line sales of illegal medicines destined for Northern Ireland and in 2011 this resulted in more than 12,000 illegal websites being closed down in the UK and over one million doses of unlicensed medicinal products being destroyed.

Shantallow Health Centre, Derry: Podiatry

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety why podiatry treatment is no longer being offered at the Shantallow Health Centre, Derry.

(AQW 13192/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Western Trust currently offers the following podiatry treatment clinics in Shantallow Health Centre:

- Every Monday, Thursday and Friday
- Every second Wednesday in the afternoon
- Week beginning 25th June, the Trust will offer an additional Tuesday morning session in Shantallow Health Centre

Foyle Pride Festival 2012: DHSSPS Funding

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail (i) the level of funding his Department has allocated to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry; and (ii) if his Department has not allocated funds to the event, how much it is willing to provide towards the running costs of £15,000.

(AQW 13203/11-15)

Mr Poots: No funding has been allocated by my Department to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 and no funding will be provided by my Department towards the running costs of £15,000.

Doctors: Industrial Action

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether doctors who took industrial action on 21 June 2012 will receive pay for the period on strike.

(AQW 13206/11-15)

Mr Poots: The form of industrial action the British Medical Association (the Trade Union and Professional Association for doctors throughout the UK) agreed fell short of strike action and involved doctors reporting for duty but providing emergency and urgent care only to maintain patient safety with routine clinical care being postponed. This encompassed a greater range than purely emergency work and included any treatment that could not be safely postponed to another day. Emergency Departments and most inpatient work were delivered as normal and all urgent and red flag appointments to outpatient clinics were also unaffected.

Locally, the British Medical Association refused to discuss a regional arrangement regarding pay for those doctors employed by Health and Social Care organisations. It was made clear that doctors who took part in the industrial action should have no expectation of being paid. Health and Social Care organisations are currently collating information and making the necessary arrangements to ensure only appropriate amounts are paid.

South Tyrone Hospital: Minor Injuries Unit

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the rationale behind transferring staff from an increasingly busy Minor Injuries Unit at South Tyrone Hospital when a period of review is currently underway.

(AQW 13235/11-15)

Mr Poots: I gave an undertaking on 15 May 2012 that I would ask the Southern Health and Social Care Trust to defer implementing any change to the opening hours of the Minor Injuries Unit (MIU) at South Tyrone Hospital until the Population Plans have been completed. I am advised by the Trust that there has been no staff transfers out of the Minor Injuries Unit since that date. The Trust has also advised that there will be no change to the opening hours of the MIU until after the Local Commissioning Group completes its Population Plan.

Western Health and Social Care Trust: Ambulance Service Staff

Mr McElduff asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of ambulance and emergency day crew staff in the Western Health and Social Care Trust area.

(AQW 13262/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Ireland Ambulance Service (NIAS) has advised that the number of A&E ambulance staff in its Western Division, which is broadly coterminous with the Western Health and Social Care Trust area, is as follows.

Western Division A&E Day Shift Staff Numbers

| Station              | Mon       | Tue       | Wed       | Thur      | Fri       | Sat       | Sun       | Weekly Total |

Omagh: New Enhanced Hospital

Mr McElduff asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail (i) the commencement date for the construction of the new enhanced local hospital in Omagh; and (ii) the profile of services which will be delivered at the hospital. (AQW 13264/11-15)

Mr Poots: Phase one of the business case for the new enhanced local hospital in Omagh has been approved and is expected to cost an estimated £80 million. Enabling works have already commenced at the site and construction of the main works for the new hospital is expected to begin in Summer 2013.

As advised in my response to your previous oral question (AQO 1466/11-1515), the facility will provide for the following services:

intermediate care ward and palliative care; urgent care and treatment centre; cardiac assessment; day surgery unit; imaging and diagnostics; outpatient services; clinical investigations; children's centre; women's health unit; renal services; allied health professionals (in a range of disciplines); GP practice accommodation; GP out of hours; a health and care centre and a range of support services such as medical records, pharmacy and pathology.

Drumnakilly Road, Carrickmore: Ambulance Service Emergency Responses

Mr McElduff asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of road traffic accidents that the Ambulance Service has been called to at a location known locally as 'The Gap' on the Drumnakilly Road, Carrickmore, Co Tyrone, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13265/11-15)

Mr Poots: The number of emergency responses made by the Northern Ireland Ambulance Service to road traffic collisions on the Drumnakilly Road, Carrickmore, in each of the last 3 years, is detailed in the table below:

| Year    | No. of Emergency Responses |
|---------|----------------------------|
| 2009/10 | 5                          |
| 2010/11 | 4                          |
| 2011/12 | 2                          |

Haemophilia: Donated Blood

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for the Health Service's assessment of whether it is possible to contract haemophilia as a result of receiving donated blood.

(AQW 13268/11-15)

Mr Poots: Haemophilia is a group of hereditary genetic disorders. It cannot be acquired. There exists a condition called 'acquired haemophilia', affecting one person per million, which has some similarities with congenital haemophilia but is a separate condition. It is not associated with donated blood.

Haemophilia: Donated Blood

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether any individual has ever contracted haemophilia as a result of receiving donated blood.

(AQW 13269/11-15)

Mr Poots: Haemophilia is a group of hereditary genetic disorders. It cannot be acquired. There exists a condition called 'acquired haemophilia', affecting one person per million, which has some similarities with congenital haemophilia but is a separate condition. It is not associated with donated blood.

Haemophilia: Donated Blood

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the number of people who have contracted haemophilia as a result of receiving donated blood in each of the last ten years.

(AQW 13271/11-15)

Mr Poots: Haemophilia is a group of hereditary genetic disorders. It cannot be acquired. There exists a condition called 'acquired haemophilia', affecting one person per million, which has some similarities with congenital haemophilia but is a separate condition. It is not associated with donated blood.

Department of Justice

Police: Part-time Reserve Gratuity Scheme

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of Justice (i) whether all claims made to the Police Part-Time Reserve Gratuity Scheme have been paid; (ii) whether all funding has been awarded or whether there is an outstanding balance; (iii) what discussions he has had with the RUC GC Association Part Time Officers Welfare Group in relation to any outstanding balance; and (iv) whether all the relevant P60s have been issued.

(AQW 11854/11-15)

Mr Ford (The Minister of Justice): All applications to the Gratuity Scheme received before the deadline have been processed, including the consideration of any appeals, and payments made.

Of the £20m budget set aside for the scheme over £19.6m was drawn down by the Scheme administrators for payment and the cost of administration.

Options in respect of the outstanding balance are under consideration within the Department. No discussion has yet taken place with external stakeholders. Any final view will be taken once the Department has confidence that all costs associated with the Scheme have been paid.

HMRC has advised that as applicants to the PTR Gratuity Scheme were not employees of the Scheme at the end of the Financial Year it would not be necessary to issue P60s.

Prison Service: Disciplinary Proceedings

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many disciplinary proceedings have been conducted by the Northern Ireland Prison Service, in each year since 1995, in the absence of the formerly missing Code of Conduct and Discipline, or the signed version by, or on behalf of, the Secretary of State.

(AQW 12780/11-15)

Mr Ford: It is not possible to provide details of the number of disciplinary proceedings conducted since 1995. This information could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

However, no disciplinary proceedings have ever been conducted in the absence of the current Code of Conduct and Discipline.

Furthermore, I would refer the member to my replies to AQW's 11188/11-15 and 12644/11-15 when I provided a copy of the current Code of Conduct and Discipline (COCD) and the redacted formal authorisation minute from the Secretary of State's Office.

Prison Governors Association

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) to detail the role of the Prison Governors Association (PGA) in cases where members of staff are recommended for dismissal in accordance with the Code of Conduct and Discipline; (ii) the number of cases, in the last five years, in which the PGA has had an input; and (iii) to provide a copy of the relevant legislation.

(AQW 12782/11-15)

Mr Ford: The PGA have no formal role in the decision making process when a member of staff is recommended for dismissal. However they may represent individual PGA members for whom a recommendation for dismissal has been made. During the last five years there have been no dismissal cases that have required input from the PGA.

There is no relevant legislation as the Code of Conduct and Discipline (COCOD) governs disciplinary processes for operational staff in NIPS. I would also refer the member to the reply I provided to AQW 12648/11-15.

Prison Service: Staff Recruitment and Dismissal

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice who is responsible for hiring and dismissing Northern Ireland Prison Service staff; and whether any new statutes or measures, in relation to this, have been introduced since May 2010.

(AQW 12821/11-15)

Mr Ford: There is delegated authority from the Department of Justice to the Northern Ireland Prison Service to recruit all permanent and period-appointed staff below Senior Civil Service level through existing Northern Ireland Civil Service arrangement. In addition the delegated authority relates to discipline and inefficiency, including dismissal procedures.

Prisons: Republican Separated Prisoners

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the 29 republican separated prisoners who are on protest, or their representatives, have given a commitment that they will end their protest when the new searching mechanisms, over which they are in dispute, are implemented.

(AQW 12860/11-15)

Mr Ford: Republican separated prisoners who are currently participating in protest action in Roe House have not given any commitment that they will end their protest if the new searching mechanisms are implemented.

Prison Service: Staff under Investigation

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice to detail the (i) number of Northern Ireland Prison Service (NIPS) staff, in each prison, young offenders or youth justice facility, who are currently being investigated by NIPS or an outside agency; (ii) rank of each person under investigation; and (iii) number of staff under investigation who have been suspended whilst being investigated.

(AQW 12863/11-15)

Mr Ford: Three members of staff are currently being investigated under disciplinary procedures and are suspended from duty.

Whilst other investigations may be initiated by outside agencies, NIPS does not hold centralised records relating to these investigations unless the appropriate agency recommends disciplinary action.

Prisoner Assessment Unit

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12157/11-15, why the report into the closure of the Prisoner Assessment Unit was shown to the Criminal Justice Inspection prior to its official publication; and what other individuals or bodies were afforded this opportunity.

(AQW 12878/11-15)

Mr Ford: As stated in my answer to AQW/12157/11-15, a copy of the report of the investigation into the Prisoner Assessment Unit was shared with Criminal Justice Inspection Northern Ireland (CJINI) for information purposes in relation to the ongoing CJINI thematic inspection into the management of life sentence prisoners. The report has not been shown to any other individuals or bodies outside of senior managers within the Northern Ireland Prison Service.

Desertcreat Training College

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Justice what plans there are to provide advice and information, for local contractors and suppliers, on the opportunities for contracts and sub-contracts for the construction of the Desertcreat Training College.

(AQW 12896/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Desertcreat Programme Team will provide advice and information on the opportunities for contracts for the construction of the Desertcreat Training College by publishing all procurement opportunities via the website www.desertcreatcollege.org and its facebook page <http://www.facebook.com/desertcreatcollege> as well as the normal statutory channels, such as the ISNI portal on www.isni.gov.uk/contracts.

Any enquiring contractor or supplier can obtain up to date information on any aspect of the new college's development, by contacting the Programme Team on info@desertcreatcollege.org or through the website www.desertcreatcollege.org.

Legal Aid: Caroline Barnes

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice to detail the cost of the case involving Caroline Barnes and her pit bull-terrier type dog, Lennox, broken down by (i) the Public Prosecution Service; (ii) the PSNI; (iii) expert witnesses; (iv) Legal Aid and expenses. (AQW 12905/11-15)

Mr Ford: To date, a total of £4,572.47 for criminal legal aid (including VAT and disbursements) has been paid to solicitors and one counsel who represented the defendant in the Magistrates' Court and on appeal against conviction to the County Court. The disbursements paid (£2054.61) were in relation to fees for a veterinary expert.

Miss Barnes also had the benefit of civil legal aid to make an application to the Court of Appeal although the Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission has not received a claim for payment in relation to this application.

As this prosecution was taken forward by Belfast City Council there are no Public Prosecution Service or PSNI costs in relation to this case.

Legal Aid: Karen Walsh

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice what steps have been taken to recoup from convicted murderer Karen Walsh a percentage of the Legal Aid that was paid. (AQW 12913/11-15)

Mr Ford: I will be making new Rules, the Criminal Legal Aid (Recovery of Defence Costs Orders) Rules (Northern Ireland) 2012, to enable the Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission to recover some or all of the costs of legal aid from convicted defendants in the Crown Court, where it appears that defendants have the means to pay for these costs. The Rules will be laid before the Summer recess and will come into force after the start of the new legal term in September.

This legislation will not apply retrospectively and cannot be used in the case of Karen Walsh.

Suspended Sentence: Thomas Ward

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 11674/11-15, whether the relevant suspended sentence was activated following the conviction in 2011. (AQW 12955/11-15)

Mr Ford: Thomas Ward was convicted of common assault in February 2011 for an offence which took place in November 2009. The suspended sentence imposed for breaching his Sexual Offences Prevention Order in May 2010 was therefore not activated as the offence pre-dated the imposition of the suspended sentence in November 2010.

Magistrates' Court: Attendance of Defendants

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) who requested that the defendants in cases (a) 12/039039; (b) 11/130871, 11/130870, 11/131371 and 12/019153; (c) 12/024907; and (d) 12/040581 be presented at Dungannon Magistrates' Court on 13 June 2012; (ii) the reasons for the requests; and (iii) what was the cost of transporting each defendant to court. (AQW 12956/11-15)

Mr Ford: The decision to have a defendant produced in court or to appear via video link is a matter for the individual District Judge (Magistrates' Court).

The defendants in cases (a) and (b) had been remanded on bail to attend Dungannon Magistrates' Court on 13 June 2012. However both defendants subsequently had their bail revoked and were remanded in custody.

The defendant in case (c) was produced on the direction of the District Judge (Magistrates' Court).

The defendant in case (d) had been remanded on bail to attend court on 13 June but was subsequently imprisoned on a separate charge.

Defendants in custody are normally brought to court where bail issues or arrangements need to be considered by the court.

The Northern Ireland Prison Service incurred costs of £156.64 transporting all these defendants to and from court.

Policing and Community Safety Partnerships: Membership

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice which Police Community Safety Partnerships have had to re-advertise for members because of a lack of suitable applicants. (AQW 12977/11-15)

Mr Ford: The process of appointing independent members to Policing and Community Safety Partnerships (PCSPs) and District Policing and Community Safety Partnerships (DPCSPs) is a restricted function of the Northern Ireland Policing Board.

However, the Board has confirmed that in the case of four Council areas – Castlereagh, Coleraine, Dungannon and South Tyrone, and North Down it was unable to complete the appointment process. In the case of Castlereagh Council area this was due to a lack of suitable applicants. In the case of the other Council areas the Policing Board came to the decision that it was not possible to ensure appointments were compatible with the Policing Board's statutory duty to ensure the PCSP is representative of the community in the Council area.

The Policing Board has now re-advertised for PCSP members in the four Council areas and hopes to make the final appointments in the coming weeks.

Child Sex Offender Disclosure Scheme

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12208/11-15, when he will put this matter out for consultation. (AQW 13091/11-15)

Mr Ford: I intend to consult as soon as possible after the summer recess.

HMP Magilligan: 2008 Inspection

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice whether the 2008 inspection of HMP Magilligan by the Inspector of Prisons resulted in the prison scoring higher than some private prisons with Grade 3 Ratings. (AQW 13273/11-15)

Mr Ford: When carrying out the inspection in 2008, HM Inspector of Prisons assessed the prison against four benchmark tests of a healthy prison. These are Safety, Respect, Purposeful Activity and Resettlement.

I can confirm that Magilligan Prison attained a three (out of four) in all four areas. A three rating is defined as: The outcomes for prisoners are reasonably good against this test.

To attempt to compare two prisons on the basis of having attained a 'three' rating would not necessarily be meaningful. There are a significant number of contributing factors within each test which would make it difficult to compare Magilligan Prison's performance against a privately run prison.

Tobacco: Counterfeit

Mr Ross asked the Minister of Justice what steps his Department is taking, in conjunction with the PSNI and HMRC, to tackle the issue of counterfeit tobacco. (AQO 2233/11-15)

Mr Ford: Tackling the issue of counterfeit tobacco is primarily a matter for HMRC and UK Border Force. In 2011/12 reporting year 23 million counterfeit and smuggled cigarettes were seized in Northern Ireland. HMRC officers seized 2 million counterfeit and smuggled cigarettes and 350 kg of hand rolling tobacco with a value of £828,000, and UK Border Agency officers seized 21 million cigarettes and 500 kg of hand rolling tobacco.

Intellectual Property Crime, including the sale of counterfeit tobacco has been identified by the Organised Crime Taskforce (OCTF) as a key threat. The Organised Crime Task Force has a dedicated Intellectual Property Crime Subgroup which acts as a forum for law enforcement agencies and a number of business partners to develop strategies to deal with a range of issues associated with intellectual property crime including the sale of counterfeit tobacco.

The OCTF is also tackling the demand side in terms of the support given by the public, knowingly or otherwise, that allows tobacco fraudsters to operate. The OCTF is embarking on a new communications initiative entitled "Changing the Mindset" which will seek to engage better with the public to inform individuals about the impact of all types of organised crime, including counterfeiting and seek their support to reduce the demand for the products and services provided by organised crime.

Police Service: Managed Services

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Justice why he has not met NIPSA, the trade union representing police support staff, to discuss his Department's role in the development of a business case for PSNI managed services. (AQO 2234/11-15)

Mr Ford: The awarding and management of contracts by the Police Service is an operational matter for the Chief Constable, for which he is accountable to the Policing Board. The Department has had no role in respect of developing the business case for PSNI managed services.

My officials approved the PSNI business case in February 2012, as it met the value for money criteria and other requirements, not least because a new contract was needed to replace existing outsourced arrangements.

On 20 April 2012 a NIPSA trade union representative for PSNI civilian staff requested a meeting with me to discuss PSNI Managed Services. I set out the position in respect of the Department's role.

As there was nothing further to add, I declined the trade union request for a meeting.

Police Service: Managed Services

Ms Gildernew asked the Minister of Justice when his Department first began discussions with the PSNI on the development of a business case for the tendering of a new PSNI contract for managed services.

(AQO 2235/11-15)

Mr Ford: The awarding and management of contracts by the Police Service is an operational matter for the Chief Constable, for which he is accountable to the Policing Board. The Department has had no role in the development of the PSNI business case for contracting out of managed services.

PSNI submitted a business case for the supply of support services to my Department for approval in December 2011.

My officials reviewed the business case and granted initial approval for PSNI to advertise in OJEU on 2 February, whilst finalising conditions of approval.

Business case approval was granted on 24 February 2012, subject to certain conditions, linking this project to the PSNI's efficiency saving programme.

The Department approved the business case as it met the value for money criteria and other requirements, not least because a new contract was needed to replace existing outsourced arrangements.

Criminal Justice: Witness Care Unit

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Justice what consideration his Department has given to the future of the Witness Care Unit, particularly with regard to outreach and accessibility for victims living in rural or more remote areas.

(AQO 2236/11-15)

Mr Ford: I am pleased to confirm that plans are in place to introduce a Witness Care Unit in Northern Ireland, and that this work is being taken forward by the Public Prosecution Service and the Police Service of Northern Ireland.

The purpose of the Unit will be to manage the care of victims and witnesses from the date the defendant is charged or reported to PPS, and it will encompass both the Crown and Magistrates' Courts.

It is anticipated that the service will include:

- a single point of contact for victims and witnesses, communicating by their preferred means where possible;
- a full needs assessment for all victims and witnesses in cases where defendants have pleaded not guilty - for example, to identify specific support requirements;
- dedicated witness care officers to guide and support individuals through the criminal justice process and to co-ordinate support and services;
- continuous review of victim and witness needs throughout the case; and
- greater communication and contact with witnesses about their cases throughout the prosecution process.

The Witness Care Unit will include both PPS and police staff and it will improve access to information for all victims and witnesses, including those living in rural or more remote areas.

Coroners Service: Weekends and Bank Holidays

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Justice whether he will review the current access arrangements to the Coroner's Office, at weekends and bank holidays, to ensure that bodies of deceased persons are released to families as soon as possible.

(AQO 2237/11-15)

Mr Ford: I am satisfied that the current access arrangements for the Coroners Service at weekends and bank holidays provide an appropriate level of service to the public and I have no plans to review them.

The Coroners Service is open from 9.30am to 12.30pm on Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays (save for Christmas Day). At all other times a telephone answering service is provided. A duty Coroner can also be contacted by telephone outside normal office hours.

The Coroner's decision to release bodies to families requires communication with a number of agencies and individuals – not all of whom are available at weekends or bank holidays.

In particular, general practitioners and paediatric pathology services are not available on Friday evenings, weekends and public holidays. In a small number of cases this may cause delay but these cases are given priority once services are available. The working patterns associated with general practitioners and paediatric pathology services are not something I am responsible for and are instead matters for the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety and the Minister of Health.

Criminal Assets

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Justice for an update on his Department's scheme for distributing assets recovered from criminals. (AQO 2238/11-15)

Mr Ford: My Department had access to the Assets Recovery Incentivisation Scheme (ARIS) monies for the first time last year. Previously all the recovered funds were collected centrally by Treasury. Last year was run as a pilot exercise and provided us with an opportunity to gain a great deal of insight into the potential benefits as well as the challenges in accessing this funding.

I have just approved proposals to launch a call in the coming weeks, seeking bids from projects wishing to access funding from this fund. Bids will be considered against a list of identified Departmental priorities. The aim is to include a mix of internally identified projects along with a list of those from external community group bids.

It is worth noting that the receipts surrendered are highly unpredictable from month to month. In the first 2 months the amount available to my Department is approximately £35K and there are residual commitments from last year where projects were awarded money over a 2 year period.

I am delighted to have seen the success at first hand of some of the community projects such as cage soccer and the e-Hoops programmes have provided a diversion for young people at risk.

I am aware of some restrictions which exist and my officials are currently engaged in considering these to see how the scheme could be further enhanced for the future. I am also considering speaking with the Home Office in due course regarding the possible devolution of recovered civil assets.

Department for Regional Development

Roads Service: Minor Road Surface Repairs

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, pursuant to AQW 12103/11-15, why the Northern Division of Roads Service is the only division which is spending less on minor road surface repairs than it was spending under Direct Rule; and what steps are proposed to redress the imbalance. (AQW 12838/11-15)

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): My Department's Roads Service has advised that, in distributing the resources available for minor road surface repairs, allocations are made to the four Roads Service Divisions on the basis of need, as the demand for this work is dependent on the number of defects that appear in each area.

As this approach ensures an equitable distribution of funds across the whole of Northern Ireland, there are no plans at present to revise the method by which this maintenance funding is distributed.

West Belfast: DRD Work 2012-13

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister for Regional Development to list the works his Department is due to carry out in West Belfast in 2012/13. (AQW 12884/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that scheme preparation is carried out on a council area basis not by parliamentary constituency. Roads Service attends each local council twice yearly to present programmes of work and provide progress updates on those programmes.

I am further advised that the Belfast City Council Report containing the 2012/13 programmes of works, which was published following the council meeting of 28 May 2012, can be accessed at the following web address:

I understand that work is ongoing on the preparation of the Lisburn City Council Spring Report in advance of the council meeting on 2 July 2012, and it will be published shortly after the meeting.

Northern Ireland Water advises that, during 2012/13, it proposes to carry out the following work in West Belfast:

| Location                                       | Project  |
|--|--|
| Glenmachan Street Wastewater Pumping Station.  | Strategic Investigations & Interim Improvements. |
| Ladybrook Estate.                              | Foul and Storm Sewer Structural Investigation.   |
| St. James Road, Falls Road, Ardmonagh Gardens. | Sewer Improvements.                              |
| Andersonstown Road / Stockmans Way.            | M1 Crossing Water Main Replacement.              |
| Devonshire Street.                             | Storm Sewer Extension.                           |

| Location                                 | Project                   |
|--|---------------------------|
| Beechmount Avenue, Gortfin Street.       | Foul Sewer Upgrade.       |
| Distillery Street Storm Pumping Station. | Preparation for Disposal. |

In addition, Translink has also advised that it has planned two specific pieces of work at the Falls Depot during 2012/13, namely:

- Bus Underseal Facility; and
- Water Main Renewal.

North Down: Traffic-calming Measures

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development how much has been spent on traffic calming measures in the North Down area, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 12904/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Details of expenditure by my Department's Roads Service on traffic calming measures in the North Down constituency area, in each of the last three financial years, are provided in the table below:

| Year    | Spend on traffic calming in the North Down Constituency area |
|---------|--|
| 2009/10 | £4,000   |
| 2010/11 | £106,000   |
| 2011/12 | £122,000   |

Car Parking: Overpayments

Mr Anderson asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the legal rights of a motorist who overpays for car parking, for a desired period time at a pay and display machine, to claim back the amount of overpayment.

(AQW 12932/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that a motorist, who does not use the full amount of time for which they have paid to park at a pay and display machine, has no right to claim back part of the payment.

Officials further advise that all pay and display tariffs are scheduled in the on-street and off-street parking orders and the tariff appropriate to any particular area, is clearly listed on every pay and display machine in that area. These tariffs list the amounts payable for a specific maximum time period; e.g., up to 15 mins, up to 30 mins, up to 1 hour and so on. Therefore, the motorist should only pay for the maximum time that they intend to park.

I can advise the Member that one development that will greatly benefit drivers is the introduction of electronic parking payment across the whole of Northern Ireland. This service will mean that drivers do not need to have the correct change. They can start and stop their parking using a mobile phone and only pay for the time used. This will mean that parking penalties will not be issued for overstaying the Pay and Display time, as long as time restrictions are adhered to. This facility currently exists in Belfast and Londonderry as well as Lisburn, Newry and Omagh, and I hope to extend this scheme to other towns across Northern Ireland over the coming months.

Translink: 60+ SmartPass

Mr McNarry asked the Minister for Regional Development how much his Department paid Translink for the 2.5 million passenger trips on buses and the 0.5 million on trains undertaken by holders of a 60+ SmartPass.

(AQW 12933/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The relevant figures for 2011/12 are £4.093m for bus and £2.654m for rail.

Upper Lisburn Road, Belfast: Traffic Volume

Mr Spratt asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the daily traffic volume on the Upper Lisburn Road, Belfast, over the last twelve months.

(AQW 12975/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that it collects data from approx 300 automatic traffic census sites located throughout Northern Ireland's road network. The most recent Annual Average Daily Traffic (AADT) flow information for the Upper Lisburn Road is set out in the table below:

| Location                                  | AADT 7 Day (year) |
|---|-------------------|
| Lisburn Road at Kings Hall (two way flow) | 20,647 (2011)     |

Sicily Park, Belfast: Flooding

Mr Spratt asked the Minister for Regional Development to outline the measures his Department intends to take to resolve the flooding problems at Sicily Park and in the wider Finaghy area of Belfast.

(AQW 12976/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service is responsible for the maintenance of the storm water gullies within the public road network and aims to clean all gullies in urban areas twice a year. This policy ensures that a reasonable level of maintenance is carried out to the drainage system, whilst taking account of the Department's finite funding and staff resource levels.

The most recent scheduled cleaning of the gullies in Sicily Park was carried out in December 2011. The next scheduled cleaning operation is due to be completed by mid-July 2012.

In response to the heavy rainfall on 8 June 2012, Roads Service staff attended and carried out gully emptying operations in Sicily Park. A subsequent inspection of the gullies was carried out on 11 June 2012 and all were found to be operating normally.

Following further heavy rainfall on 11 June 2012, Roads Service staff returned to the vicinity to deliver sandbags in Sicily Park and the wider Finaghy area.

I have also been advised by Northern Ireland Water that Sicily Park and the wider Finaghy area are included as part of a proposed sewer upgrade project which will cover a large drainage catchment area extending from Broadway to Finaghy and Balmoral as well as a small area on the North side of the M1. The project, known as the Glenmachan Sewer Project, aims to upgrade the network to improve the drainage in the area and to reduce the risk of out of sewer flooding and pollution to existing waterways. This is a substantial project with significant costs. As the project is currently at Feasibility Study stage and is not scheduled to commence before 2015, NIW is investigating the possibility of undertaking work in advance of the main project relating to specific recommendations from the Study for the Sicily Park and wider Finaghy area. This project, estimated to cost around £3 million, could commence in 2014 subject to statutory approvals and the availability of funding.

Decisions on what investments will be made in 2013/14 and 2014/15 will be taken as part of the Utility Regulator's Price Control 2013 process. Decisions on what investments will be made from 2015/16 to 2020/21 will be taken as part of the Utility Regulator's Price Control 2015 process. The total level of investment in water and sewerage services is, of course, currently set by the Executive through the Budget.

Car Parking: Pay and Display

Mr Anderson asked the Minister for Regional Development, pursuant to AQW 12403/11-15, whether he can confirm that Pay and Display car park ticket machines that dispense change are available in other parts of the UK; and if so, why this information was not included in his answer.

(AQW 12985/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service is not aware of the use of Pay and Display machines that offer change in other regions of the UK. In the event that such machines were available, it is likely their cost would be much greater than those currently used by Roads Service, and the potential benefits of purchasing such machines would need to be carefully assessed, especially at a time when the Department is striving to identify further efficiencies in the provision of its parking enforcement and car park management services.

I can advise the Member that one development that will greatly benefit drivers is the introduction of electronic parking payment across the whole of Northern Ireland. This service will mean that drivers do not need to have the correct change. They can start and stop their parking using a mobile phone and only pay for the time used. This will mean that parking penalties will not be issued for overstaying the Pay and Display time, as long as time restrictions are adhered to. This facility currently exists in Belfast and Londonderry as well as Lisburn, Newry and Omagh, and I hope to extend this scheme to other towns across Northern Ireland over the coming months.

A2: Carney Hill Junction, Holywood

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development what works, aimed at increasing road safety, are planned for the junction of Carney Hill and the A2 road in Holywood.

(AQW 13000/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: As the Member may be aware, the Belfast Metropolitan Transport Plan (BMTP) proposed a route management study to identify individual schemes to improve road safety along all key routes into Belfast and increase the capacity of existing junctions, where localised widening would be feasible.

My Department's Roads Service has advised that it has completed a route management study for A2 Belfast to Bangor Road which looked in detail at all of the junctions along the A2, taking account of the collision history, traffic volumes and speed.

Officials further advise that the study identified a proposal for the provision of a right turn pocket from the Belfast direction. However, this is considered to be a lower priority for Roads Service compared to other potential junction improvements on this route.

I would advise the Member that due to funding constraints, Roads Service currently has no plans to make improvements to this junction in the foreseeable future.

NI Water: Finance

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the current NI Water sewage and water schemes which have had work stopped or remain incomplete due to the lack of continuing finance.

(AQW 13014/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that no water or sewerage schemes have had work stopped or remain incomplete due to lack of continuing finance and all schemes currently at construction stage will be completed within planned funding levels.

As a result of revised Public Expenditure (PE) funding a number of schemes that were planned for delivery during the three year Price Control period ending March 2013 have been deferred to the following Price Control period which covers the two years ending March 2015. However, NIW has not altered the funding level allocated to water infrastructure as a result of the revised PE funding.

A7, A2/A24 and A25: Traffic Volume

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the daily traffic volume on the (i) A7 Downpatrick to Belfast road; (ii) A2/A24 Newcastle to Belfast road; and (iii) A25 Downpatrick to Newry road, over the last twelve months.

(AQW 13017/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that traffic volumes are recorded at a number of permanent sites located throughout the Northern Ireland road network.

The most recent Annual Average Daily Traffic (AADT) traffic flow information, recorded on the A7, A24 and A25 roads is provided in the table below:

| Route                    | Location                                    | AADT   |
|--------------------------|---|--------|
| A7 Downpatrick – Belfast | Belfast Road at Quoile                      | 11,214 |
| A24 Newcastle - Belfast  | Belfast Road, Ballynahinch                  | 8,698  |
| A25 Downpatrick - Newry  | Castlewellan Road, at Aughlisnafin junction | 6,319  |

Roads: South Down

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development whether his Department has carried out an assessment of the roads infrastructure in South Down or whether it has any plans to carry out such an assessment.

(AQW 13018/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's current plans for further improving the inter-urban and local road networks, based on the funding envisaged under the Investment Strategy for Northern Ireland (ISNI) 2008-2018, are described in the Investment Delivery Plan for Roads (IDP for Roads), which was published in 2008.

This plan reflects the Regional Strategic Transport Network Transport Plan (RSTNTP), the Belfast Metropolitan Transport Plan (BMP) and the Sub Regional Transport Plan (S RTP) which are informed by both the Regional Transportation Strategy (RTS) 2002-2012 and the Regional Development Strategy (RDS) – 2025.

My Department's Roads Service has advised that several of the Strategic Road Improvements listed in the IDP for Roads extend into the South Down constituency area. These include:

- the northern section of A1 Beech Hill to Cloghogue dual carriageway scheme on the outskirts of Newry, completed in 2010;
- the proposal for further junction improvements on the A1 dual carriageway, including the provision of a continuous central safety barrier between Hillsborough and Loughbrickland (in particular, the proposal for a flyover type junction at Waringsford Road on the outskirts of Banbridge); and
- the southern section of the proposed A24 Ballynahinch Bypass.

Officials further advise that they are continuing to investigate the feasibility of a Southern Relief Road for Newry, which would link from the A1 dual carriageway onto the A2 Warrenpoint dual carriageway.

The IDP for Roads also indicated significant resources for the completion of Non Strategic Major Improvements, incorporating the schemes identified in the S RTP, and for Local Transport and Safety Measures (LTSM). Officials continue to progress programmes of LTSM schemes in each District Council area, including Newry and Mourne, Down, and Banbridge, in addition to undertaking a range of assessments and inspections, to prioritise the structural and maintenance work Roads Service carries out on the road network.

However, the Member will understand that future expenditure on road improvement and maintenance will be subject to the funding provided following the outcome of the current review of the ISNI and future budget settlements. The ISNI document is produced by the Strategic Investment Board (SIB) and, while a draft ISNI document was published in November 2011, the final ISNI 2011-2021 has yet to be approved by the Executive.

I should add that when my Department was provided with an indicative allocation for the period 2015-2021, as set out in the draft ISNI, I highlighted a number of concerns, such as the level of funding proposed for roads. Once projected allocations are finalised, I will review the roads programme against the level of funding that is approved.

Ballynahinch Bypass

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development what steps his Department is taking to progress the Ballynahinch Bypass project so that it is deemed 'shovel ready'.

(AQW 13019/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that following completion of the necessary range of assessments required for a project of this nature and scale, it confirmed a Preferred Line for the A24 Ballynahinch Bypass proposal in January 2012. Roads Service is currently continuing with the range of more detailed environmental, engineering and economic assessments that are now required to progress this scheme through the statutory procedures. These procedures require the publication of an Environmental Statement, along with a Notice of Intention to Make a Direction Order and a Notice of Intention to Make a Vesting Order. Depending on the response to the publication of these documents, it may then be necessary to hold a Public Inquiry to determine if the scheme should proceed as planned.

Ballyhornan, County Down: NIEA Enforcement Notice

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development, pursuant to AQW 11760/11-15, what steps his Department is currently taking to comply with the forthcoming Water Order Enforcement Notice.

(AQW 13020/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that the Northern Ireland Environment Agency issued an Enforcement Notice on 21 May 2012 requiring it to provide a discharge consisting only of fine screened wastewater at Ballyhornan by 31 March 2013. In order to achieve this, NIW is in the process of purchasing a plot of land to house new screening facilities and is continuing to negotiate on the access permissions to the site across a private road. NIW is confident that, provided the road negotiations are successful, the target date of 31 March 2013 will be met.

NIW will continue to manage the existing system pending completion of the upgrade.

Translink: Company Cars

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development how many company cars are available for use by Translink staff.

(AQW 13040/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Translink's have advised that there are a total of 52 company cars available to their staff. These are made up as follows:

- 36 leased company cars (for use by each of the 36 essential car users within Translink Operational Management Group);
- 7 company 'pool' cars owned by Translink which are primarily used by operational staff to move between various depots/locations; and
- 9 cars used primarily by the Northern Ireland Transport Holding Company Property Management Section and some of the Senior Executive Team.

Maze/RUAS Site: Roads Infrastructure

Mr Craig asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he has any plans to introduce new road infrastructure for the relocation of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society to the Maze site.

(AQW 13044/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that it has no plans to introduce new road infrastructure for the relocation of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society (RUAS) to the Maze site. I understand that this proposal is linked to the development of the Maze site and may be delivered and funded by the new Development Corporation being established by the Office of the First Minister and Deputy First Minister (OFMDFM).

The RUAS has arranged a workshop for 5 July 2012, which Roads Service and DOE Planning officials are to attend to discuss the details of the Society's proposed move from King's Hall. Any measures to upgrade the existing road network will be dependent on the information provided by the RUAS. Roads Service is not aware when a planning application will be submitted.

Cycling: Advanced Stop Lines

Mr Craig asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail (i) the cost associated with the introduction of green box markings for cyclists at road junctions; and (ii) from where the funding originated.

(AQW 13045/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has confirmed that it recently provided some 380 Advanced Stop Lines within the greater Belfast area, at a cost of approximately £232,000, as part of an established programme of measures aimed at promoting and encouraging cycling.

The work was funded from the budget for its Local Transport and Safety Projects programme which seeks to improve road safety and help 'local' transport. This programme includes network development, traffic management, traffic calming, bus priority measures, provision of park and share facilities, travel information schemes and schemes to encourage people to walk and cycle more frequently.

Street Lighting: Alleyways

Mr Clarke asked the Minister for Regional Development to outline his Department's policy on street lighting in alleyways that have been considered for alley-gating.

(AQW 13046/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service does not generally provide street lighting on footpaths or back entries which only give rear access to properties, or are alternative routes to already lighted roads or footpaths. Exceptions to this general rule include, locations where a footpath or back entry serves as a through link to another street, or services a significant local amenity, such as, a community hall or school.

Translink: Wi-Fi Connectivity on Buses

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development what percentage of Translink bus services offer WiFi connectivity for passengers.

(AQW 13049/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Currently WiFi is only available on Translink's Cross Channel services. However from October 2012 WiFi will be operational on all Goldline Services within Northern Ireland and also Cross Border services. This will represent approximately 21% of Ulsterbus scheduled services.

Translink: Publicly Funded Trips

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail (i) the cost of publicly funded trips by Translink staff, in each of the last five years; (ii) the destinations; and (iii) the purpose of the trips.

(AQW 13058/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: As a Public Corporation established under statute the Northern Ireland Transport Holding Company receives substantial public funding, as evidenced by the annual accounts, but is also charged to act commercially and to generate revenue. Trips for commercial purposes are therefore an integral component of the organisation's business requirements. For that reason it is difficult to definitively assess the cost of trips by Translink staff from exclusively public sources.

Translink has confirmed that it has in place a Travel Policy which covers work related trips such as the routine business requirements to meet with suppliers as those necessitated by the purchase of new trains and buses etc; the need to attend trade/industry bodies with whom Translink are members/associated i.e. Association of Train Operating Companies (ATOC), Confederation of Passenger Transport (CPT), the International Association of Public Transport (UITP), the Rail Safety and Standards Board (RSSB).

In addition, many of their Managers are required to attend or make presentations at conferences and events as part of their wider stakeholder engagement and or continuous professional development.

The meetings and destinations vary given the broad spectrum of business from trips to the Republic of Ireland in connection with Cross Border services which Translink operate in conjunction with other Partners to meetings with suppliers in Europe in connection with new the New Trains Two contract. The table below sets out the number of trips undertaken at a senior management level for the last five years. This information has been collated from the diaries of senior management.

Actual number of trips by Translink senior management

| Year    | Number of trips | Number of days |
|---------|-----------------|----------------|
| 2007/08 | 479             | 678            |
| 2008/09 | 358             | 569            |
| 2009/10 | 432             | 693            |

| Year    | Number of trips | Number of days |
|---------|-----------------|----------------|
| 2010/11 | 443             | 965            |
| 2011/12 | 469             | 1278           |

The incremental yearly increase is attributable to the New Trains Two Contract.

Translink has advised it is not in a position to provide costs for these trips without incurring disproportionate cost.

Belfast International/George Best Belfast City Airports: Flight Schedules

Mr Campbell asked the Minister for Regional Development whether any assessment has been made of the changes to flight schedules at both Belfast International Airport and George Best Belfast City Airport, and the relevance of the roads infrastructure leading to and from each airport, in any of these decisions.

(AQW 13076/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that an assessment of the changes to flight schedules at both Belfast International Airport and George Best Belfast City Airport has not been made, as it has not been advised of any request to have the overall approved capacity of both airports increased.

Jubilee Garden Party: DRD Ticket Allocation

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) his Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13090/11-15)

Mr Kennedy:

- (i) I was allocated four tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012.
- (ii) My Department was allocated 150 tickets by the Northern Ireland Office for use by staff and their families.
- (iii) No tickets were allocated to the Department's arm's length bodies.

Rural Borewells Scheme

Mr Ó hÓisín asked the Minister for Regional Development what consideration was given to people on means-tested benefits, when deciding upon the criteria used to assess applicants for the Rural Borewells Scheme.

(AQW 13150/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The principle aim of the Rural Borewells Scheme is to provide a wholesome water supply for existing properties that, on a longstanding basis, have never been served by a public water main.

The scheme is an extension of the DRD's policy of providing a Reasonable Cost Allowance (RCA) of up to £10,000 per property towards the costs of obtaining a water main. Householders only become eligible for consideration for a borewell grant if the requisition route has proved uneconomical. Following extensive consultation with the public and elected representatives, the scheme criteria was developed with a view to maintaining parity with RCA policy.

All aspects of the scheme including eligibility criteria will be reviewed at the end of the first year.

Islandmagee: NI Water Sewerage Assets

Mr Beggs asked the Minister for Regional Development to list all sewerage assets owned by NI Water in the Islandmagee electoral ward, including details on the extent of the main sewerage system.

(AQW 13205/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water that the sewerage assets in the Islandmagee electoral ward are as detailed below. These sewerage assets serve communities at Ferris Bay, Ballylumford Cottages, Millbay, Mullaghboy, and Ballystrudder.

20 kilometres of public sewers

Ferris Bay Septic Tank,

Ballylumford Cottages Septic Tank,

Ballystrudder Wastewater Treatment Works,

Mullaghboy Wastewater Treatment Works including pumped flows from the Millbay Wastewater Pumping Station.

A2: Greenisland

Mr Beggs asked the Minister for Regional Development for an update on the A2 road widening scheme at Greenisland.
(AQO 2247/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: As the Member will be aware, following a series of meetings with Executive colleagues and a review of spending priorities across my Department for the budget period, I issued a statement on 14 February 2012, announcing that funding had been secured for delivery of this scheme within the 2011-15 budget period.

Following my announcement, my Department's Roads Service commenced the procurement process for the scheme which included a pre-qualification competition to select suitable tenderers followed by the tendering procedure for the Design and Build contract. This process is ongoing.

Subject to successful completion of the procurement process, it is anticipated that the construction stage will commence in early 2013 and will take approximately 2 years to complete.

NI Water: Legal Fees

Mr Dallat asked the Minister for Regional Development for a breakdown of the legal fees incurred by Northern Ireland Water over the last five years.
(AQW 13309/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that a breakdown of its legal fees for the last five years is as shown out in the table below. The figures are exclusive of VAT. The breakdown includes legal fees incurred by NIW in dealing with a range of issues and acting under Limited Company status, such as regulation and compliance, procurement, capital investment and litigation. It also details legal fees for public liability claims which include third party fees for which NIW has accepted liability.

|  | 2007/08£000s | 2008/09£000s | 2009/10£000s | 2010/11£000s | 2011/12£000s |
|--|------------------|------------------|------------------|------------------|------------------|
| Legal Fees incurred by NIW             | 600              | 718              | 1,295            | 1,778            | 561              |

Killyhevlin Water Treatment Works

Mr Boylan asked the Minister for Regional Development what infractions have been incurred at Killyhevlin Water Treatment Works due to the water quality levels not reaching European standards.
(AQO 2243/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: No EU infractions have occurred to date due to water quality levels at Killyhevlin or any of NI Water's water treatment works. There have, however, been occasions over the last two years where routine monitoring of Killyhevlin has detected that full compliance with the drinking water quality standards has not been met. An increased number of customer complaints regarding the taste and odour of water supplied by Killyhevlin occurred on two occasions. This was partly due to natural seasonal changes in the quality of untreated water taken from Upper Lough Erne. In addition, low levels of pesticide above the regulatory standard were also detected. On all these occasions, there was no significant health risk. As part of the routine regulatory process, the Drinking Water Inspectorate was notified and appropriate corrective action was taken.

Part of the regulatory process involved a Consideration of Provisional Enforcement Order being issued to NI Water on 28 October 2011. This required NI Water to put in place a number of corrective actions including the enhancement of the treatment processes to address these issues. Compliance with the actions to be taken is monitored by the Drinking Water Inspectorate. NI Water is cooperating fully in addressing this issue and all actions are on target to be delivered.

NI Water achieved its highest compliance figure for water quality at customers' taps in 2010. This is on a par with the rest of the UK. NI Water continues to make use of the investment provided by the Executive to maintain overall compliance and address localised issues.

A5: Public Inquiry

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Regional Development when he will publish the findings of the Public Inquiry into the A5.
(AQO 2246/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service received the Inspector's Report on the A5 Western Transport Corridor Public Inquiry on 24 February 2012 and officials are currently reviewing the issues arising out of this Report.

It is anticipated that the Departmental Statement, which is the Department's response to the Inspector's Report, will be published in July. The Inspector's Report will also be made available to the public at that time.

M1: Maze Site

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development what budgetary commitment exists to construct access from the M1 motorway to the Maze site.

(AQO 2248/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise the Member that my Department currently has no budgetary commitment to construct an access road from the M1 motorway to the Maze site. I understand that this proposal is linked to the development of the Maze site and may be delivered and funded by the new Development Corporation being established by the Office of the First Minister and Deputy First Minister (OFMDFM).

Officials in my Department's Roads Service have been involved in early advisory meetings with OFMDFM and DFP officials. At this stage, Roads Service has not received any firm proposals in relation to any infrastructure for the Maze site.

Roads Service, as a consultee to DOE Planning, is required to consider the design of any infrastructure that is to be formally adopted by it.

Translink: Contractual Arrangements

Mr McNarry asked the Minister for Regional Development what contractual arrangements exist between his Department and Translink in exchange for the support that Translink receives from public funding.

(AQO 2249/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Current oversight of Translink by the Department is through the Management Statement and Financial Memorandum, which includes a Corporate Planning Process. Translink receive a range of grants and subsidies for delivering public transport services including:

- Public Service Obligation (or subsidy) for NI Railways;
- Concessionary Fares Schemes (reimbursed); and
- Fuel Duty Rebate (or subsidy).

In return the Department requires Translink (or any other operator in receipt of the particular scheme) to meet the terms and conditions of the scheme and to prove that the service has been delivered in line with the specified requirements. Primarily this involves independent audit assurance but the specific controls will vary depending on the individual grant or subsidy.

All other grants to Translink including capital funding are also subject to independent audit assurance.

I would also advise that the Transport Act (Northern Ireland) 2011, which has not yet been fully commenced, requires that the Department secures the provision of most public passenger transport services from the Northern Ireland Transport Holding Company (Translink). In order to comply with this legislation and EU Regulation 1370/2007, the Department is currently preparing for the development of a contract for the delivery of public transport services for both bus and rail, which will be directly awarded to Translink by April 2014. These new arrangements include the development of a permit system, which will sit alongside the contracting arrangements and will allow private operators to run public passenger transport services which are complimentary to the contracted network.

Trans-European Transport Network

Mr P Maskey asked the Minister for Regional Development for his assessment of suitable projects under the Ten-T European funding round, particularly in relation to road, rail and ferry infrastructure.

(AQO 2250/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The TEN-T Executive Agency announced an Annual Call for funding applications in January 2011 and my Department submitted applications for funding for the following projects:

- (i) Coleraine to Londonderry Track Relay - funding support of approximately £4 million; and
- (ii) Study on developing the design of the York Street Inter-change - funding support of approximately £1 million.

In addition, I can advise that my Department has also submitted a joint bid for funding within the current Annual Call with the Republic of Ireland's Electricity Supply Board. The bid is for funding for the installation of rapid charge points for electric vehicles, and a supporting IT system, on the TEN-T road network in Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland.

During the current EU Programme Period (2007-13) my Department has secured funding from the Easyway TEN-T funded European project for the installation of traffic control and traffic information measures. Going forward, my Department will continue to take every opportunity to secure funding from the Easyway project and to identify opportunities within future TEN-T funding calls.

Water Supply: Fluoridation

Mrs Overend asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he has been consulted by the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety in relation to the fluoridation of water.

(AQO 2251/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The decision to require NI Water to add fluoride to the drinking water supply is a decision for the Minister of Health. As I understand it, before the Health Minister could ask NI Water to introduce fluoridation, it would be necessary for him to bring forward regulations to the Assembly and consult with NI Water and the Utility Regulator. I have not been consulted by the Minister of Health in regard to this matter.

Cyclists: Road Safety

Mr Lunn asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he has any plans to work with the Department of the Environment to improve road safety for cyclists.

(AQO 2252/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise the member that we already work closely with the Department of the Environment in seeking to ensure that safety on our roads is a priority for cyclists. This includes road safety education and engineering, traffic calming and enhancement of the pedestrian and cycling network.

The member will be aware that I have actively participated in a range of cycle events hosted by my Department during Bike Week 2012 which runs between 16 and 24 June. These events were supported by all parties at the Assembly and included the Assembly Cycle race as well as Bike To Work Day.

Bonds: Unfinished Housing Schemes and Roads

Ms Gildernew asked the Minister for Regional Development for an update on the review of bonds on unfinished housing schemes and roads.

(AQO 2253/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I would advise the Member that my Department is not undertaking a review of the bonds on unfinished housing schemes and roads.

However, the Member may be referring to the Committee for Regional Development Inquiry into unadopted roads in Northern Ireland, to which my Department has provided a considerable amount of written and verbal evidence.

Department for Social Development

Welfare Reform Bill

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development for his assessment of the measures in the proposed Welfare Reform Bill which are (i) part of the Coalition Government's drive to control public finance; and (ii) policy based and intended to reduce benefit dependency and worklessness.

(AQW 12245/11-15)

Mr McCausland (The Minister for Social Development):

- (i) The proposed Welfare Reform Bill contains measures which will reform the system to make it fair, affordable and sustainable for the taxpayer, targeting support at those who need it most, promoting work as the clearest way out of poverty. I am convinced that this is as crucial in Northern Ireland as any other region within the United Kingdom.

The Chancellor's March 2012 budget confirmed that the Coalition Government is committed to restoring the United Kingdom's public finances and are managing these on a total basis including spending on social security benefits and spending on other public services such as health and education.

Social security benefit spending for Northern Ireland is funded directly from Her Majesty's Treasury in line with actual demand outside of the funding controlled and managed by the Northern Ireland Executive, as long as Northern Ireland maintains parity with Great Britain. However, social security is still a devolved matter, and therefore it is incumbent on me to ensure that the reform proposals are appropriate for the people of Northern Ireland.

Early work to understand the impact of welfare reform on benefit related spending on Northern Ireland indicates that it will continue to increase above 2010-11 levels, with welfare reform measures reducing and controlling the level of the increase. Universal credit is expected to increase benefit related spending as it seeks to ensure that for customers capable of work, work is more financially advantageous than benefits

- (ii) There can be little doubt that much of the current system is geared towards maintaining people on benefits rather than helping them into work, consequently, the creation of universal credit will simplify the system of benefit payments and tax credits into a single payment for those who are out of work or on low pay. A key aim of the reform is to bridge the gap that has opened up between unemployment and work by improving support and incentives so that anyone on benefits who starts work will be better off as a result, with financial support focused on making work pay. It is anticipated that the combined effect of the proposed measures in the Welfare Reform Bill will help to reduce benefit dependency and worklessness. I am on record as stating that while I have concerns about the need to protect and support the vulnerable in our society, I am equally convinced of the need to tackle inter-generational benefit dependency and worklessness.

Internships

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development how many internships are available in his Department; and if none, what plans he has to introduce an internship scheme.

(AQW 12553/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My department participates in the internship scheme run by the School of Politics, International Studies and Philosophy at Queens University Belfast. Northern Ireland Civil Service participation in this scheme is coordinated centrally by the Department of Finance and Personnel. Business areas in my department are currently considering opportunities which might be appropriate for this scheme in the 2012/13 academic year and so the number of internships available through this scheme in the coming year is not yet available. In the 2011/12 academic year my Department was not allocated an intern through the scheme, though in each of the previous two years DSD supported a posting.

My department also supports a range of other work experience placements and schemes.

Welfare Reform Bill

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development whether the Welfare Reform Bill will be introduced to the Assembly in June 2012

(AQW 12668/11-15)

Mr McCausland: At this stage no date has been arranged for introduction of the Welfare Reform Bill to the Assembly as I am awaiting the Executive's consideration of the final policy proposals of the Bill and for its agreement to the introduction of the Bill to the Assembly.

Social Security Agency Offices: Strabane

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Social Development to outline the purpose of the recently completed refurbishment of the Social Security Agency offices in Strabane, given that it has been earmarked as a front-office only service from September 2012, and to detail the total costs involved in the refurbishment.

(AQW 12713/11-15)

Mr McCausland: A survey completed of the Social Security Agency offices in Strabane by the Department of Finance and Personnel in 2010/ 11 identified a number of health and safety, Disability Discrimination Act and maintenance requirements that required urgent attention.

The total costs involved to address these issues were £220,000

Social Security Agency Office: Foyle

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Social Development to provide an estimate of the cost of bringing the Social Security Agency Office in Foyle up to a 'fit for purpose' standard, to accommodate the planned centralisation of Customer First functions within the Western District.

(AQW 12714/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Department of Finance and Personnel routinely survey the Northern Ireland Civil Service office estate to ensure that the buildings are maintained to a 'fit for purpose' standard.

The Social Security Agency Office in Foyle is deemed 'fit for purpose' to accommodate the planned centralisation of Customer First and consequently there are no anticipated additional costs.

Housing Executive: Homelessness Duty

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister for Social Development what steps the Northern Ireland Housing Executive has taken to identify and secure long-term accommodation in the private rented sector for full duty applicants, under homelessness legislation.

(AQW 12755/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Housing Executive has advised me that it discharges its homelessness duty through offers of accommodation in the social rented sector and, in conjunction with my Department, they are currently developing a specification for the introduction of a rent deposit guarantee scheme for Northern Ireland, which will aim to provide a viable alternative to the social rented sector for both homeless and waiting list applicants.

I am disappointed with the Housing Executive's lack of action in relation to ensuring that private rented sector accommodation is utilised to lessen the dependency on the social rented sector and ultimately ensure alternative ranges of accommodation are available to benefit those most in need.

Warm Homes Scheme

Mr Campbell asked the Minister for Social Development what measures he will put in place to help promote the Warm Homes Scheme during this financial year.

(AQW 12827/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The two Warm Homes Managers are contractually responsible for the marketing of the Warm Homes Scheme. They work together to:

- prepare annual marketing plans for the approval of the Contract Administrator(Housing Executive);
- target eligible households in the private sector and in rural areas; and
- market the scheme to local politicians, community groups, employers, local councils, citizens' advice bureaux and any other groups who might be able to introduce eligible applicants.

The Scheme Managers also market the scheme in many local facilities such as Doctors' surgeries and church halls. The success of the Warm Homes Scheme Managers' marketing activities can be gauged from the fact that they achieve their annual intervention targets and they also achieve the annual target to find 40% of their interventions in rural areas.

Jobs and Benefits Offices: Staff Relocation

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development what plans his Department has to relocate staff from any Jobs and Benefits offices.

(AQW 12831/11-15)

Mr McCausland: On the 1 June, the Social Security Agency announced the continued roll-out of the Customer First initiative across the rest of the Social Security Working Age Network.

Customer First has previously been rolled-out in what was formerly North District and Belfast West and Lisburn and has proven to deliver significant service improvements. The continued roll-out of Customer First will ensure that all customers of the Agency can benefit from these service improvements.

Customer First will see the establishment of further Benefit Processing Centres at Royston House and the Jobs and Benefits Offices in Falls Road, Foyle, Knockbreda, Holywood Road, Armagh, Enniskillen, Lurgan and Newry. The detailed planning to support this has commenced, with the first offices due to go-live in Mid September 2012.

Whilst officials are continuing to finalise the staffing numbers for each of the Benefit Processing Centres and support functions, the recently announced plans propose organisational arrangements that provide a viable and sustainable service delivery for customers. To ensure the continuation of services whilst implementing Customer First, staff will be relocated with their discipline to the relevant Benefit Processing Centre.

There will be no loss of jobs for staff as a result of Customer First. No offices will be closing and customers who prefer to see staff face-to-face will continue to do so. As I have said on previous occasions I am committed to maintaining a robust front-line service for our benefit customers.

Officials will continue to work with staff and Trade Union side to consider measures which may militate against any adverse impact such as reasonable daily travelling distances. Agency officials will continue to work with local representatives to ensure they are kept informed as Customer First is rolled out.

Employment and Support Allowance: Appeals

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Social Development (i) how much Employment and Support Allowance appeals have costs since the introduction of the new welfare reforms, broken down by (a) panel members fees and expenses; and (b) all other associated costs; and (ii) for an estimate of the total cost once the current list of appeals have been heard.

(AQW 12908/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Appeals Services does not distinguish administration costs between individual benefits, so it is not possible to provide the average cost of Employment Support Allowance (ESA) appeal hearings.

However, the annual expenditure of TAS, including expenses, room hire, payment of panel members and other associated costs for each financial year up to and including 2011/12, is provided.

An ESA tribunal panel consists of a legally qualified chairperson and a registered medical practitioner who may be a general practitioner. The attached table sets out:

- fees for each member per session (a session contains 3 appeal hearings);
- the number of hearings listed; and
- the proportion of ESA hearings listed for each year from April 2009 to 31 March 2012.

The table also provides the projected hearings, proportion of ESA appeal hearings and planned expenditure for 12/13.

| Financial Year | Number of appeal hearings listed | Number of ESA appeal hearings listed | Legally Qualified Member Session Fee | Medically Qualified Member Session Fee | Enhanced Medically Qualified Member Session Fee | Total Spend for The Appeal Service |
|----------------|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|--|---|------------------------------------|
| 2009/10        | 18,181                           | 2,256                                | £206.00                              | £151.00                                | N/A   | £5.2m                              |
| 2010/11        | 20,787                           | 7,859                                | £212.00                              | £155.00                                | £185.50   | £5.1m                              |

Notes

No ESA appeals were determined until the 2009/10 financial year therefore there is no data relating to 2008/09.

The fee for a medical member increases when the member has attended over 40 sessions in the year.

- 1 Provisional at 18 June 2012
- 2 Estimated number of hearings to be listed in 2012/13 (projections based on actuals for April and May 2012)
- 3 Estimated number of ESA hearings to be listed in 2012/13 (projections based on actuals for April and May 2012)
- 3 Represents initial budget allocation from DSD for 2012/13 that is subject to in-year re-profiling.

Social Security Agency Office: Coleraine

Mr McClarty asked the Minister for Social Development what plans he has to make the Coleraine Social Security Office a Universal Credit Centre.

(AQW 12914/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The introduction of Universal Credit will replace existing in and out of work benefits including social security benefits, housing benefits and tax credits from October 2013 onwards.

The Social Security Agency recently announced that the Castle Court complex in Belfast has been selected as the launch site for Universal Credit in Northern Ireland. At this stage there remains a significant amount of work to be done to better understand the organisational and staffing impacts associated with the introduction of Universal Credit in Northern Ireland. My officials are working closely with their counterparts in the Department for Work and Pensions in Great Britain, as well as the other impacted organisations in Northern Ireland to prepare for the implementation of and subsequent migration of existing social security benefits and tax credits claims to Universal Credit.

Until this work has been completed no decisions can be taken as to the location of further Universal Credit service centres.

Children: Absolute Poverty

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister for Social Development to outline his Department's strategy to reduce further the proportion of children who are in absolute poverty.

(AQW 12939/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The latest figures show a slight decrease in absolute child poverty figures however there is still much work to be done if we are to meet our targets within the Child Poverty Act and help those in the most need. My Department will therefore continue to focus its resources on those who are most socially disadvantaged through delivering initiatives which target both the causes and consequences of poverty. This includes the delivery of the Neighbourhood Renewal Strategy, urban regeneration in towns and cities across Northern Ireland, decent and affordable housing, action to address fuel poverty, improved child maintenance arrangements and the delivery of the comprehensive social security provisions together with major welfare reform agenda.

However, in recognition of our changed and difficult times and to ensure that all my policies are complementary and results orientated, I have also established four policy principles to underpin my Department's anti poverty agenda. These principles require that our social policies must complement the Executive's economic policies, they must recognise the responsibilities of government, communities, families and individuals, they must tackle intergenerational problems and they must make the best possible use of increasingly limited resources and be focused on outcomes that are shared across Government. These principles also form the basis of the work that my Department is taking forward with the Office of the First and deputy First Minister and other executive departments to put in place an cross cutting policy approach supported by effective interventions to deliver a sustained reduction in poverty across all ages and produce improvements in the life chances of children and young people.

I consider that this collaborative and outcomes focused approach provides my Department and the wider Executive with the most realistic prospect of further reducing absolute child poverty rates over the coming years.

Social Housing: Strathfoyle, Derry

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) the number of applicants on the housing waiting list in the Strathfoyle area of Derry; (ii) the number of these applicants who are deemed to be homeless or in housing stress; and (iii) whether the Housing Executive has considered any proposals to build new social houses in the Strathfoyle area.

(AQW 12960/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Housing Executive has advised that in relation to (i) there are 67 applicants on the waiting list for the Strathfoyle Common Landlord Area of Londonderry; (ii) of which there are 29 registered as homeless, Full Duty Applicant Status and 37 in Housing Stress. In relation to (iii) the Housing Executive has advised that the most recent housing need assessment projected a need for five units over the five year period to 2016. At present there are no schemes listed on the Social Housing Development Programme for this area. Strathfoyle is listed on the Housing Executive's unmet need prospectus with an unmet need of five units. This prospectus is published to assist Housing Associations concentrate their search for sites in areas where housing need remains unmet.

Social Housing: Strathfoyle, Derry

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development how many properties were allocated for social housing in the Strathfoyle area of Derry in (i) 2009; (ii) 2010; (iii) 2011; and (iv) 2012 to date.

(AQW 12961/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The table below details the number of social housing allocations in the Strathfoyle area of Londonderry from April 2008 to June 2012.

|                         | Total |
|-------------------------|-------|
| April 2008 – March 2009 | 29    |
| April 2009 – March 2010 | 27    |
| April 2010 – March 2011 | 43    |
| April 2011 – March 2012 | 15    |
| April 2012 – June 2012  | 10    |

Social Housing: Strathfoyle, Derry

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of new social houses built in the Strathfoyle area of Derry in (i) 2009; (ii) 2010; (iii) 2011; and (iv) 2012 to date.

(AQW 12962/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information can not be provided in the format requested as the Social Housing Development Programme (SHDP) is managed on a financial year basis and schemes delivered are recorded by Council Area, Parliamentary Constituency, Housing Executive Area and Housing Executive District Office. Strathfoyle falls within the Housing Executive's Waterside District Office area. The table below details the new social housing starts for the financial years 2009/10, 2010/11, and 2011/12 for the Waterside District Office area. As yet no new social housing units have gone on site in the Waterside District Office area in 2012/13.

Social Housing: Strathfoyle, Derry

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development what plans there are for new build social housing in the Strathfoyle area of Derry. (AQW 12963/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Housing Executive has advised me that the current Social Housing Development Programme has been approved for 2012/13 to 2014/15. Strathfoyle falls within the Housing Executive's Waterside District Office area. The table below details the planned new social housing for the financial years 2012/13, 2013/14, and 2014/15 for the Waterside District Office area.

| Year         | Housing Association | Scheme/Location          | Units     |
|--------------|---------------------|--------------------------|-----------|
| 2012/13      | Apex Housing        | Ashleywood House Phase 2 | 3         |
|              | Apex Housing        | Ashleywood House Phase 3 | 3         |

Town Centre Regeneration: Action Plans

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development to outline the timescale for the implementation of the action plans on town centre regeneration, which will include input from Mary Portas. (AQW 12973/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The action plans, including input from Mary Portas, are being implemented in England under an initiative launched by the Department for Communities and Local Government. The taskforce which I established to review my Department's provision for town centres in Northern Ireland will report to me shortly and I intend to make a statement on the outcome of the review once I have considered the report.

Expenditure: Departmental Increase

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development to provide a breakdown of the expenditure of the additional resource excess of £10.2 million that was awarded to his Department. (AQW 13016/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Executive gave its approval to an increase in expenditure of up to £11.15 million for the Housing Programme in the 2010/11 year following the February Monitoring Round.

The breakdown of the additional £11.15 million was:

£5 million for Northern Ireland Housing Executive maintenance grant

£3 million for Co-ownership (NICH)

£3.15 million for Social Housing Development Programme (New Build)

However underspends on other programmes at year end reduced the resource excess to £10.2 million.

South Belfast: Houses in Multiple Occupation

Mr A Maskey asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the progress of Houses in Multiple Occupation registration in the South Belfast area.

(AQW 13030/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The table below details the progress to date on HMO registrations in the South Belfast area.

HMO activity in the South Belfast Constituency from 1 April 2004 to date

| Number of confirmed HMOs | Total registrations          | Registration renewals | Management inspections | Initial full inspections | Notices issued |
|--------------------------|------------------------------|-----------------------|------------------------|--------------------------|----------------|
| 3356                     | 2247 (67% of confirmed HMOs) | 198                   | 2519                   | 3915                     | 4212           |

Unemployment: Young People

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of young people, aged 16-25, who are currently unemployed (i) in total; and (ii) in the Foyle area.

(AQW 13031/11-15)

Mr McCausland: At April 2012 (latest available figures), there were 20,046<sup>2</sup> people aged 16 to 25 claiming Jobseekers Allowance<sup>3</sup>. Of these 20,046, there were 1,849 in the Foyle assembly area.

Foyle: Homelessness

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of people in the Foyle area who are (i) in housing stress; and (ii) registered as homeless.

(AQW 13033/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information is not available in the format requested as the Housing Executive collates social housing waiting list information by district office area. Therefore, the table below gives details of the number of people in housing stress and those registered as homeless for their Waterside, Waterloo and Collon Terrace district offices which cover the areas contained within the Derry City Council boundary.

| District Office | Housing Stress | Registered as Homeless(Full Duty Applicant Status) |
|-----------------|----------------|--|
| Waterside       | 503            | 322  |
| Waterloo        | 742            | 398  |
| Collon Terrace  | 778            | 482  |

Housing Executive: Double Glazing

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) when the review of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's double-glazing scheme will be completed; and (ii) when work will recommence.

(AQW 13130/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I have been informed by the Housing Executive that the review has been completed. However, I want to consider this and have asked Professional staff in the Department to look at these revised specifications to ensure that value for money is achieved without compromising tenant safety. Work did not stop on all double glazing schemes. As part of the review I agreed what category groups and schemes could proceed and a number of double glazing schemes are in progress.

  - 3 Unemployed has been interpreted as a person actively engaged in seeking work, therefore the figures supplied relate to 16 to 25 year olds who are claiming Jobseeker's Allowance. (Persons who are not currently working because they are unfit for work due to incapacity or unavailable because of caring responsibilities are not generally referred to as unemployed as they are not part of the labour market.)

Construction Contracts

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister for Social Development for his assessment of (i) his Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13165/11-15)

Mr McCausland: All of my Department's construction contracts are awarded through the Department of Finance and Personnel's Central Procurement Directorate. We rely on their advice to ensure that appropriate criteria and financial thresholds are adopted and that small and medium sized businesses are not disadvantaged.

Foyle Pride Festival 2012: DSD Funding

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) the level of funding his Department has allocated to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry; and (ii) if his Department has not allocated funds to the event, how much it is willing to provide towards the running costs of £15,000.

(AQW 13200/11-15)

Mr McCausland:

- (i) The Department, through its North West Development Office, has not allocated any Neighbourhood Renewal funding to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Londonderry. The Department has not received a request to fund this event.
- (ii) Where priority needs are identified by Neighbourhood Renewal Partnerships in local action plans the Department will consider, where resources allow, funding for interventions through the Neighbourhood Renewal Investment fund to address the underlying causes of deprivation.

Social Housing: Glen Court/Cedar Court, Derry

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the proposed housing schemes for Glen Court and Cedar Court, in the Foyle constituency.

(AQO 2259/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The proposed scheme at Glen Court and Cedar Court is included in the Social Housing Development Programme for an onsite start in 2013/14. The Housing Executive is currently working towards the appointment of a housing association to progress the development of this site.

There is funding available to deliver this scheme, however, in common with all schemes in the programme, deliverability is dependent upon a number of factors including land acquisition and achieving scheme approval from the Housing Executive.

I understand that there is already outline planning permission for 59 units on this site; but, this figure may change when a detailed planning application is worked up. However, I understand it would be necessary to re locate a community centre in order to fully build out this scheme, so clearly both the community and the City Council of Londonderry, who own most of the land, will have to be actively involved in the planning and feasibility of this scheme before any work can be started on site.

Housing Executive: Community Cohesion Unit

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the work of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's Community Cohesion Unit.

(AQO 2260/11-15)

Mr McCausland: There is no doubt that community division exerts a high price which, in terms of housing, can prevent the best use being made of existing housing and land.

There is good work being taken forward at community level by the Housing Executive's Community Cohesion Unit and through the Department's regeneration and Neighbourhood Renewal initiatives. However, I believe that increased value could be added by adopting a more joined-up approach to ensure that the benefits derived from such community interventions are maximised.

As part of the fundamental review of the Housing Executive, I have asked officials to review the remit of the Community Cohesion Unit to ensure that it concentrates its efforts within its landlord areas and to ensure there is no duplication of effort with the work of my Department's Voluntary & Community and Neighbourhood Renewal initiatives which are more appropriately delivered at a strategic level within central government.

The promotion of equality and good relations is a consideration in the development of all my Department's policies and spending decisions and, going forward, I wish to ensure that community development initiatives are delivered in a more joined-up way by those with the statutory responsibility to do so.

Town Centre Regeneration: Local Authorities

Mr I McCrea asked the Minister for Social Development what resources and support his Department offers to Councils to enable them to progress development opportunity sites in town centres, as outlined in town centre master plans.

(AQO 2261/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My Department aims to work in full partnership with District Councils to deliver the recommendations in town centre masterplans. As part of our contribution to progressing development opportunity sites, my Department can provide practical support from the Town Centre Regeneration teams based in Ballymena, Omagh, Portadown and Newry and financial support to commission consultants to assist with the preparation of development briefs and selection of preferred developers for development opportunity sites. My Department can also engage the Central Procurement Directorate, Land and Property Services and Departmental Solicitor's Office to provide professional advice on technical aspects of development proposals.

Licensing: Pavement Cafes

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the proposed licensing scheme for the regulation of pavement cafés.

(AQO 2262/11-15)

Mr McCausland: A Bill to licence pavement cafes is currently in the process of being drafted. Subject to Executive agreement, I plan to introduce the Bill into the Assembly during autumn 2012.

The proposed Bill will enable district councils to licence suitable premises - such as cafes, restaurants, bars etc - to place tables, chairs and other apparatus in a public place. Powers will be included for councils to impose conditions, vary, suspend or revoke a licence and charge a reasonable fee. To ensure compliance with the new law, Councils will be given powers of enforcement and may remove pavement café facilities in certain circumstances.

Housing Executive: Double Glazing

Mr Byrne asked the Minister for Social Development to outline the basis on which he decided that windows being installed, as part of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's double-glazing scheme, did not represent value for money.

(AQO 2263/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Since coming into office, I quickly recognised the need for Housing Executive maintenance work to be carried out. I was astounded to learn that some 48,000 of the Housing Executive's dwellings required double glazing and even more concerned about the apparent lack of haste in dealing with this, as the Housing Executive planned to have this work completed by 2021.

That's why I ensured that in the Programme for Government the Northern Ireland Executive gave a commitment that the thermal efficiency of all Housing Executive properties would be improved by 2014/15 through the provision of double glazing.

I was also shocked when the Housing Executive originally advised that the costs of the double glazing programme for 48,000 homes would be around £120m. Though it is now estimated that 30,000 homes requires this work at an estimated cost of £69m, this is still a significant amount of tax payers' money. I therefore needed to ensure that this programme delivers best value for money and the work is in line with industry standards. I believed that there were further significant savings to be made around the Housing Executive's specification and bespoke procurement process.

I therefore asked my officials to research the specifications used as I have been concerned for some time that the Housing Executive's specification for the supply and fitting of double glazing did not offer best value for money. I was particularly concerned about the requirement to remove and replaster around frames, which destroys the decoration in a tenants home necessitating the payment of redecoration grants and causing inconvenience to tenants and also the specification for hinges and handles, as these are much higher than industry standards for domestic properties. As I was advised that there is potential for significant savings to be made I therefore wrote to the Housing Executive's Chief Executive asking him to rigorously and urgently review this specification. I said at the time the review would not have an impact on the target date of 2015, and although there may be slight delays while it was carried out, all homes would remain in the programme and no tenant who was promised double glazing will lose out. The review has now been completed and a number of revisions considered and approved by the Housing Executive Board including the removal of a payment for redecoration grants in the majority of cases.

Queen's Quay, Belfast: Regeneration

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the regeneration plan for Queen's Quay, Belfast.

(AQO 2264/11-15)

Mr McCausland: the proposals in the Queen's Quay draft masterplan will enhance cross-river links from the north side of the city centre through to Titanic Quarter creating an attractive route for those living, working and visiting the area. My department is considering the representations from the public consultation on the draft masterplan and carrying out an equality impact assessment. We intend to publish the final masterplan by September 2012.

Housing Associations

Mr McMullan asked the Minister for Social Development what further consideration he has given to the future role of housing associations.

(AQO 2265/11-15)

Mr McCausland: As landlords of around 30,000 homes and developers of all new social homes, housing associations make a significant contribution here in Northern Ireland. Following decisions on the fundamental review of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive, I will consider if the present Housing Association structures are fit for purpose. It is likely that I will make an announcement in the Autumn. The current regulation and inspection regime will continue to provide assurance to me and the Department until the review is complete. My Department's Inspection Team has highlighted a number of underperforming Housing Associations and these are being managed through a range of measures. These range from the development of comprehensive action plans to address the shortcomings, to Associations being required to enter into full merger/group structures.

Ballymena: Town Centre Regeneration

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the implementation of the revitalisation programme for Ballymena town centre, including the involvement of his departmental officials.

(AQO 2266/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The current position is that my Department has made good progress with the revitalisation programme for Ballymena town centre. The Church Street area in the town centre has been identified for assistance from the programme. An action plan has been agreed with the local traders to help improve the external appearance of properties to the front and gable ends of buildings, dressing of derelict sites and to assist in marketing and promoting the area.

The programme is worth £150,000 is being administered through Ballymena Town Centre Development Ltd which is a public-private partnership involving Ballymena Borough Council and representatives from local independent traders, national retailers and other private sector businesses. My Department is represented on the Board of the company and attends project management meetings to help deliver the revitalisation programme in the town.

Work on property improvements is due to commence in early summer and the programme is expected to be completed by March 2013.

Housing: Single People under 35

Mr Campbell asked the Minister for Social Development, following the changes to Housing Benefit, how the Northern Ireland Housing Executive and the housing associations are addressing the accommodation needs of single people who are under 35 years of age.

(AQO 2267/11-15)

Mr McCausland: In the private rented sector it is expected that changes will result in a rental shortfall for around 5,000 people aged under 35. Many of these people have already availed of Discretionary Housing Payments to help in the short term. However, the budget for this is limited. Up until now the needs of singles have not been adequately addressed by the Housing Executive. The last Social Housing Development Programme was inadequate in this respect and I rejected it. The social housing waiting list could well face additional challenges from the effects of welfare reform.

I have therefore made it clear to the Housing Executive that future programmes coming forward for my approval must take account of and be more responsive to the needs of this specific group.

St Patrick's Barracks, Ballymena: Sale of Assets

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the sale of assets at the St Patrick's Barracks site, Ballymena, to his Department.

(AQO 2268/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Legal processes for the conveyance of the former military housing at St Patrick's Barracks in Ballymena from OFMDFM to my Department are underway. This will be completed as soon as possible taking account of the normal conveyance period. In the meantime Fold Housing Association is being facilitated with access to the site for planning purposes.

The remainder of the site is owned by OFMDFM. My Department has been engaged since the site was declared surplus in 2008 with other public sector stakeholders who are interested in acquiring portions of the sites for new facilities. There has been no decision by OFMDFM on the next steps in releasing this part of the site.

Northern Ireland Assembly Commission

Childcare Voucher Scheme

Mr Beggs asked the Assembly Commission when the payroll system, through which Members are obliged to pay their staff, will be able to facilitate those Members who wish to enable their staff to avail of the tax efficient Childcare Voucher Scheme.

(AQW 12670/11-15)

Mr Weir (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): Unfortunately, the current payroll system used to process salary payments for Members and their staff does not support the operation of a fully integrated Childcare Voucher Scheme. An exercise to procure a new payroll system, which will facilitate the administration of such a scheme, is at an advanced stage and it is anticipated that this system will be fully tested and operational before the end of this financial year.

Written Answers to Questions

Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister

Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister how many QUANGOS, that are attached to their Department, have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Northern Ireland Assembly since 2007.

(AQW 12602/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness (The First Minister and deputy First Minister): Two public bodies sponsored by our Department have been created as a result of legislation passed by the Assembly since 2007, they are:

- a) the Commission for Victims and Survivors; and
- b) the Commissioner for Older People.

Since 2007, our Department has withdrawn funding from one public body – the Economic Research Institute for NI. The funding our Department provides for the NI Memorial Fund will be withdrawn once the functions it undertakes are transferred to the Victims and Survivors Service. Neither of these public bodies was created by legislation.

Equality Commission

Mr D McIlveen asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what outreach work the Equality Commission undertakes with migrant workers and ethnic minorities who may not be aware of their services.

(AQW 12621/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Equality Commission is an executive non-departmental public body sponsored by the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister. As this question relates directly to the work of the Equality Commission, Evelyn Collins, Chief Executive of the Commission, will write to you about this matter.

Forum for Victims and Survivors

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for their assessment of Evelyn Glenholmes as a member of the Forum for Victims and Survivors.

(AQW 12636/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We welcome the establishment of a new Victims and Survivors Forum which met for the first time on 21 June 2012 in Belfast. The establishment of the Forum is a statutory responsibility of the Commission for Victims and Survivors and neither Ministers nor officials were involved in the selection process.

Children and Young People's Unit: Staff

Mr Agnew asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail (i) how many staff are in the Children and Young People's Unit; and (ii) the team's remit.

(AQW 13029/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: There are currently five staff in the Children and Young People's Unit in OFMDFM. The Unit is responsible for taking forward implementation of the Ten Year Children and Young People's Strategy in the context of Delivering Social Change and for monitoring of compliance with the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. In addition, it drives forward work on OFMDFM responsibilities in the Play and Leisure Implementation Plan.

Minority Ethnic Development Fund

Mr Weir asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail the development and project grants allocated to each group to date, under the Minority Ethnic Development Fund, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 13079/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The information is not available in the format requested. However, the table below details information requested for the year 2011-12 which is the most recent figures available.

Although the majority of the groups are located in Belfast, the groups often operate across the region to support the largest number of minority ethnic people.

| Group  | Area Based        | Project (£) | Development (£) |
|--|-------------------|-------------|-----------------|
| Barnardo's Tuar Ceatha   | Belfast           | 15,000      | 45,000          |
| South Belfast Partnership  | Belfast           | n/a         | 45,000          |
| Embrace  | Belfast           | n/a         | 45,000          |
| Omagh Ethnic Communities Support Group                                   | Tyrone            | n/a         | 45,000          |

A six-month extension to funding for groups already receiving development funding for 2011/12 under the Minority Ethnic Development Fund was announced in April this year.

Officials are currently working on a revised Minority Ethnic Development Fund that will be open to new applications from the Sector in the early autumn.

Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan: Public Inquiry

Mr Weir asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what is the total cost to date of the Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan Public Inquiry.

(AQW 13277/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Planning Appeals Commission is an independent tribunal Non-Departmental Public Body. Given its independent tribunal status, its Chief Commissioner has been asked to provide a response directly to you, and we understand that she has written to you in the following terms:

"The Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan was published by the Department of the Environment in November 2004 and is the most comprehensive Plan ever produced by the Department extending to six local government districts. It generated almost 4,300 objections which were categorised by the Department into more than 7,200 elements. The Commission conducted a Public Inquiry to consider the objections to the Plan between April 2007 and the beginning of May 2008. This Inquiry was the most lengthy and complex in the history of the Commission. In addition, the Commission considered many written objections which were not heard at the Inquiry.

The Inquiry report has been provided to the Department in stages. The report on strategic Retail matters was provided in January 2009 and the remainder of the Strategic Plan Framework in March 2011. The reports into site specific issues in Belfast, Lisburn and Castlereagh Districts were provided in July 2011, Lagan Valley Regional Park and North Down District in September 2011 and Newtownabbey and Carrickfergus Districts January 2012.

The total cost of the Commission's report is estimated to be approximately £750,000.

I would be happy to provide any further information you require arising out of this response or to meet you to discuss the matter if you would find that more suitable".

Maze/Long Kesh: Royal Ulster Agricultural Society

Mr Givan asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, in light of the decision by the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society to relocate to the Maze/Long Kesh site, what actions are required to facilitate this move and to develop the whole site.
(AQO 2288/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We welcome the decision of the members of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society to relocate to Maze/Long Kesh.

The Maze/Long Kesh Development Corporation will be established shortly. However, work is progressing in the interim. The Maze/Long Kesh Programme Delivery Unit is preparing a spatial framework that sets out how the overall site will be developed.

The spatial framework will detail plans for the initial provision of utilities and the related infrastructure that will help facilitate the Royal Ulster Agriculture Society in their relocation to the site and support their plans to develop a Centre of Rural Excellence at Maze/Long Kesh.

The spatial framework identifies initial developments including the construction of the Peace Building and Conflict Resolution Centre at the site by 2015.

On 15 March we accepted £18.1m EU funding to help with this project which will include plans to ensure we maintain the listed buildings located alongside the new facility.

We are hopeful of securing Heritage Lottery Funding and are through to the second stage of the HLF assessment process. If obtained, this funding will assist in the development of the Peace Building and Conflict Resolution Centre.

Proposals are also being developed for the World War II aircraft hangars with the Ulster Aviation Society, and plans are to be developed for a community zone near the Halftown Road.

European Year for Active Ageing and Solidarity between Generations

Mr A Maskey asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for an update on the work being taken forward regarding intergenerational initiatives in this the European year of active ageing and solidarity between generations.
(AQO 2289/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: In this European Year of Active Ageing and Solidarity between Generations we are continuing to drive forward a range of key measures, including a small grants scheme, proposals for legislation to help tackle age discrimination, and a revised Older People's Strategy. These will improve older people's quality of life and help tackle the inequalities they face.

We have committed at least £100,000 to a small grant scheme for projects to promote active ageing and solidarity between generations. The closing date has now passed and applications are being considered by the selection panel. In total, 76 individual applications have been received requesting almost £900,000 in grant funding, which highlights the demand to promote intergenerational and active ageing work in the local communities.

Our AGE Goods Facilities and Services legislation and revised Older People's Strategy will be progressed within our Delivering Social Change framework.

In the autumn we will consult on our revised Older People Strategy. This will be followed by a consultation on proposals for legislation to outlaw unfair discrimination on the grounds of age in the provision of goods, facilities and services.

We will continue to take account of the views of the Commissioner for Older People and the Older People's Advisory Panel as we finalise our proposals.

We are also taking their advice in ensuring that our consultations are appropriately timed, targeted and designed to facilitate the participation of older people, especially those hard to reach groups.

Third sector organisations, the Equality Commission, the Commissioner for Older People and the Older People's Advisory Panel have been involved in developing a programme of events which showcase the principles of the year.

The calendar of these events that include an event to mark Older People's Day in October is on the OMIFDEM website. It is regularly updated with information from stakeholder organisations. We are pleased that Junior Ministers have been able to attend and speak at some of these events.

Department of Agriculture and Rural Development

Fishing Fleet

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the capacity of the fishing fleet, in each year since 1995.
(AQW 12872/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill (The Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development): Fleet Capacity is expressed in terms of the Gross Tonnage (GT) and Engine Power, measured in Kilowatts (Kw) of vessels.

The table below sets out GT and Kw for the fishing fleet from 1995 to 2010 which are the latest figures available.

Fish Buyers and Sellers Legislation: Catches Under

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the total recorded catches, under the Fish Buyers and Sellers legislation, in each month of (i) 2008; (ii) 2009; (iii) 2010; (iv) 2011; and (v) 2012 to date.
(AQW 12923/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The Registration of Fish Buyers and Sellers and Designation of Fish Auction Sites Regulations (NI) 2005, require that buyers or sellers of first sale fish are registered. The Regulations were primarily introduced to improve compliance and enforcement with regard to the reporting of fish landings. The attached tables detail monthly landings by all vessels into local ports for the period requested.

Re-tagging Animals

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development when plastic tags were first used, in place of steel tags, for re-tagging animals that had lost their original tag.

(AQW 12936/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Plastic Tags were first used, in place of steel tags for re-tagging animals that had lost their original tag from 1st January 1998.

Re-tagging Animals

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, in relation to the use of plastic tags for the re-tagging of animals, to detail the largest percentage of re-tags her Department has received from an individual farmer, and in what year this occurred.

(AQW 12937/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: My Department uses the term “re-tag” to refer to the application of two new tags to an animal that has lost both of its original tags and therefore the animal is re-identified with a different number.

The largest percentage of re-tags was in 2010, when 522 animals were retagged and one particular farmer had 8.62% (45 animals) of the total number of animals retagged that year.

My Department uses the term “replacement tag” to refer to the situation where an animal has lost one tag and that tag is replaced with a single matching tag with the same identification number as that of the lost tag.

Re-tagging Animals

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development when plastic tags were first used on bovine animals in place of steel tags.

(AQW 12938/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Plastic tags were introduced on 1st January 1998.

Single Farm Payments

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to outline the process used by her Department when dealing with an error in a Single Farm Payment application when (i) the error has been made by an applicant; and (ii) the error has been made by a departmental official.

(AQW 13069/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: As a general principle, if the Department finds there has been an error in a Single Farm Payment application, in line with EU Regulations, the application is adjusted to the correct position and recovery action and/or penalties applied, as appropriate. However, penalties are not applied if the applicant can demonstrate that the application was factually correct at the time it was submitted or can show that he/she was otherwise ‘not at fault’.

- (i) Errors made by applicants can be treated in a number of ways. In some instances, the Department can apply the ‘obvious error’ provisions as detailed in EU guidance. In the case of ‘obvious error’ an application is adjusted by the Department to the correct position. Such errors have to be detected by staff from the information given in the applications, for example, mistakes deleted in calculations or figures reversed in farm survey numbers. No penalties are applied in cases of obvious errors.

The EU regulations also allow an applicant to notify DARD of an error at any time. The Department can correct the error and not apply penalties provided that it has not already told the applicant about the error or has not given notification of an inspection. If an applicant wants to amend an application they can only do so up to the final deadline for applications and, in some cases, penalties may apply.

- (ii) If it is established that an error has been made by a Departmental official, the application is adjusted to the correct position. However, in these circumstances, as the applicant is not ‘at fault’, penalties are not applied.

Single Farm Payments

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development for a breakdown of the costs incurred by her Department caused by (i) fraud; and (ii) error in Single Farm Payments, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13070/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: While DARD does not hold information on the actual costs incurred in dealing with fraud and error in Single Farm Payment cases, it estimates that the cost of:

- 1 investigations of suspected SFP Fraud cases in 2009, 2010 and 2011 were £4,600, £5,300 and £4,100 respectively; and
- 2 the work associated with errors on Single Farm Payments arising through administrative checks, on farm inspections or farmer notified changes has cost my Department £169,921, £167,662 and £185,258 in the last three years.

North Down: Designated Reservoirs

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the areas of water designated as reservoirs by her Department in the North Down area.

(AQW 13072/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The Reservoirs Bill will define the structures or areas that are to be regarded as controlled reservoirs and the recent consultation stated that "a controlled reservoir would be any structure or area which is capable of holding 10,000 cubic metres or more of water above the natural level of the surrounding land. This includes any structure designed for collecting or storing water as well as a lake or other area capable of storing water which was created or enlarged by artificial means. The term controlled reservoir will also refer to structures or areas that individually do not meet the volume threshold but where water does or can flow between them and there could be an uncontrolled release in excess of 10,000 cubic metres of water."

The reservoirs authority will not designate structures or areas as controlled reservoirs. The legislation will place a requirement on the reservoir manager to register the reservoir if it meets the criteria. The Department is however engaging with known reservoir managers/owners to involve them in the development of the reservoir safety policy proposals.

My Department has identified the following structures or areas within the North Down area which we consider may meet the criteria for a controlled reservoir:-

- Clandeboy Reservoir, Bangor
- Clandeboy Lake, Bangor
- Ballysallagh Upper Reservoir, Bangor
- Ballysallagh Lower Reservoir, Bangor
- Creightons Green, Holywood
- Church Road Upper, Holywood
- Church Road Lower, Holywood
- Conlig Upper, Bangor
- Conlig Lower, Bangor
- Portavoe, Groomsport
- The Warren Pond, Ballyleidy

Reservoirs: Proposed Legislation

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the timescale for the proposed legislation on reservoirs.

(AQW 13073/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Indicative timetable for the Reservoirs Bill

|                          |  |

Jubilee Garden Party: Tickets

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) her Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13119/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: No tickets were allocated to me or to my Department's non -Departmental Public Bodies for the Jubilee Garden Party. An allocation of 150 tickets was made available to my Permanent Secretary for allocation in the Department.

Lay Vaccinators

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether she has any plans to bring forward legislation, similar to the Tuberculosis (Wales) Order 2010, which would allow the introduction of Lay Vaccinators.

(AQW 13139/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Under powers in the Veterinary Surgeons Act 1966 as amended, the Veterinary Surgery (Vaccination of Badgers Against Tuberculosis) Order 2010 was made to enable the vaccination of badgers to be carried out by non-veterinarians in England, Scotland and Wales. The 2010 Order does not currently apply here.

Should a policy of badger vaccination deploying trained lay vaccinators be advocated then an appropriate legislative enabling amendment would be brought forward to the Veterinary Surgeons Act.

My Department hosted an International Vaccination Experts' Scientific Symposium on badger vaccination during 14-16 May 2012 and the outcomes of the Symposium are still being written up.

Construction: Public Contract Tenders

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development for her assessment of (i) her Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13152/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: All my departments construction contracts are currently awarded through DFP's Central Procurement Directorate. I will be keeping our procurement policy constantly under review to ensure that small and medium businesses are not disadvantaged.

Dairy Industry

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, pursuant to AQO 2112/11-15, (i) given the price fluctuation of dried powdered milk in recent years owing to growth in demand, and that the majority of the demand is being offset by New Zealand dairy farmers, whether there are any plans to revise and develop a regional marketing strategy to enhance Northern Ireland's competitive capacity; and (ii) in light of the proposed plans to allocate greater funding to research initiatives, what consideration has been given to refocusing research on areas of natural advantage, such as Northern Ireland's capacity to grow grass which can lend itself to cheaper dairy production, as opposed to focusing research efforts and resources in other restricted areas, such as indoor containment systems.

(AQW 13177/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Price fluctuation for milk powders is a reality of trading in commodity products on global markets. So, while our dairy industry continues to trade heavily in the processing of milk powders it will continue to face such price volatility. However, I am pleased to note that with normal peak production season now past, the situation on dairy markets appears to have stabilised with some improvement in prices.

Whilst I agree that a strategy is needed to enhance the sector's competitive capacity, I also believe this is true for the whole agri-food sector. Furthermore in view of our dependence on external markets I consider that it needs in fact to be developed on a global scale, developing the home market as well as new markets, further afield.

That is why an industry-led Agri-Food Strategy Board has been established. I am pleased that the Board has recently commenced its work to develop a strategy with ambitious growth targets up to 2020. It will be important for the dairy sector to engage positively with the Board.

As regards research activities by my Department I wish to advise that the DARD Evidence and Innovation Strategy published in 2009, provides a high-level framework for DARD's evidence gathering and innovation support activities. The aim is to align research activities with the Department's Strategic Goals. In so doing I can assure you that I value highly the fact that industry views are taken into consideration in assessing priorities. In this respect the Evidence and Innovation Stakeholder Forum fulfils a very important role.

Research within my Department is already focused on fully utilising the available resources on projects aimed at producing a sustainable, competitive and innovative agri-food sector. With this in mind areas for research are reviewed annually and projects prioritised within budgetary constraints. As part of this process, there are normally a number of research projects which focus on areas of natural advantage, such as the north's capacity to grow grass.

The DARD funded Grassland Research Programme at AFBI is internationally recognised and grassland research is an important research priority for my Department. As a result, having worked in conjunction with industry through AgriSearch, DARD's current Research Work Programme at AFBI includes four grass-based research projects and I hope that the findings will be useful to dairy producers in their forward planning.

Bees and Bee Products

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, in light of the report by the Agricultural Development Advisory Services for the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs that cited existing research which concludes that the importation of bees and bee products generates the greatest risk to the health of bees, whether her Department plans to carry out any research in this area.

(AQW 13301/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: There is no doubt that the importation of bees and bee products represents a serious risk to bee health. Whilst no specific research has been commissioned by DARD, beekeepers can, and will, have benefited from the outcome of research undertaken elsewhere. Through the implementation of the 'Strategy for the Sustainability of the Honey Bee' the Bee Science Sub-group has the opportunity to bring forward proposals under DARD's Evidence and Innovation call for bee research specific to the needs of beekeepers here, and I would encourage them in that consideration.

Honey Bee: Strategy for the Sustainability of

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, pursuant to AQW 12396/11-15, whether the action plan and timelines submitted by the Competency Development Sub-group have been agreed by the Implementation Group.

(AQW 13302/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The Competency Development Sub-group's Action Plan and timelines for its agreed priorities were considered and agreed by the Implementation Group at its recent meeting on 26 June 2012. The Sub-group has now been asked to prepare a work programme for actions that are being taken forward at this point.

Honey Bee: Strategy for the Sustainability of

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, pursuant to AQW 12396/11-15, when the Communications and Relationships Sub-group, the Risks from Pests, Diseases and Undesirable Species Sub-group and the Bee Science Sub-group will submit their action plans and timelines to the Implementation Group for consideration.

(AQW 13303/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: It is the responsibility of each sector led Sub-group to develop action plans and timelines. Although each of these Sub-groups has met on several occasions, they have yet to finalise their action plans and timelines. The Sub-groups have been reminded to submit their action plans at the earliest opportunity.

Central Investigation Service

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, pursuant to AQW 12664/11-15, to clarify whether the figures given in respect of each year contain any element of carry-over of cases from one year to the next; and, if so, whether figures can be provided which exclude any such duplication.

(AQW 13345/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: I can confirm that the figures given in response to AQW 12664/11-15 do not contain any element of carry-over of cases from one year to the next. The figures given relate to new cases referred to the CIS for investigation during a financial year.

Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure

Photographic Exhibition of the 9/11 Terrorist Attacks in New York: Opening

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, following her opening of a photographic exhibition of the 9/11 terrorist attacks in New York, what plans she has to encourage and promote such exhibitions to depict the aftermath of IRA terrorist attacks.

(AQW 11373/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín (The Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure): I will, as with this exhibition, consider any invitations to open or launch an event. I have no plans to encourage and promote photographic exhibitions as described by the Member.

Culture Company 2013 Limited

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to outline the role of the Culture Company 2013 Limited after 31 December 2013.

(AQW 13055/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The Culture Company is expected to wind up in June 2014.

A core complement of staff will remain after December 2013 to ensure an appropriate handover period for legacy actions and to undertake post project evaluation as well as the finalisation of funding claims, the annual reporting for 2013/14 and the administration around the dissolution of the company.

Culture Company 2013 Limited

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the projected budget of the Culture Company 2013 Limited in each of the next three financial years.

(AQW 13056/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The Culture Company aim to attract sponsorship, receipts and allocations from funders totalling £23.3m to deliver the Cultural Programme of events. DCAL have committed to provide £12.6m in 2012/ 13 and 2013/ 14. Derry City Council funding for the City of Culture Project will be up to £4.1m, including the Clipper Festival which it is directly managing, and the Council has approved a contingency for unforeseen costs subject to approval in advance to utilise this contingency. Derry City Council has funded all running costs to date and has committed to funding the full running costs of the Company.

The Company's projected budget for the next three years is as follows:

|              | Operational      | Programming       | Marketing        |
|--------------|------------------|-------------------|------------------|
| 2012/13      | 980,000          | 7,605,000         | 1,400,000        |
| 2013/14      | 971,000          | 10,845,000        | 1,400,000        |
| 2014/15      | 257,000          | -                 | -                |
| Total | 2,208,000 | 18,450,000 | 2,800,000 |

Culture Company 2013 Limited

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the projected staff complement within the Culture Company 2013 Limited for each of the next three years.

(AQW 13057/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The current core staff complement of the Culture Company is 18 people including the CEO and administrative, operational, finance, marketing and communication and programming staff. There are also 2 people on secondment into the organisation. There are no plans for the core complement to change during the next 3 years, however, Derry City Council will consider resource needs as the project progresses.

Derry City Council, as owner of the Culture Company and licensee of Derry~Londonderry City of Culture 2013 are responsible for funding the core staff complement of the Culture Company. Derry City Council have deployed a member of the Council's internal audit team to work with the Company on a part time basis. Any requirements for additional core staff will be met by Derry City Council.

In addition to the Culture Company's core complement, a number of personnel will be contracted to undertake events management, project management, production and technical roles in the run up to and during 2013. Costs associated with these roles will be met within the Cultural Programme budget to which DCAL has committed £12.6m in 2012/ 13 and 2013/ 14.

Northern Ireland Events Company

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what lessons have been learned from the demise of the Northern Ireland Events Company.

(AQW 13131/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Following the demise of the Northern Ireland Events Company in 2007 independent professional financial advisers KPMG were engaged to carry out a comprehensive and authoritative review of the financial affairs of the company, to advise on meeting the existing liabilities of the NIEC and the most appropriate method of winding-up the Company in an orderly manner; and to carry out a comprehensive review of all the circumstances surrounding the deficit accumulated by the NIEC. Furthermore, the Department commissioned the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy, a professional accountancy body which specialises in the public sector to conduct an external review of the monitoring arrangements between the Department and the other arm's length bodies for which the Department is responsible. As a result of this review, a number of recommendations were made relating to identifiable areas of improvement required to address areas of weakness in DCAL's sponsorship of its Arms Length Bodies. The Department has taken extensive actions in recent years to strengthen its systems of internal control by identifying and incorporating lessons learned. Annex A provides a table of the recommendations and actions taken by the Department.

Annex A

| Recommendations                       | Improvements/Actions   |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| Review Sponsor Organisation Structure | Establishment of Governance Support Unit (GSU) within DCAL who provide a central pool of expertise on the issues of finance, governance and accountability to ALBs and sponsor branches; centralisation of ALB drawdown process; development of sponsorship manual and training for sponsor staff; regular accountability meetings held with attendance at the appropriate senior level by the Department and ALB. |

|---|---|
| Ensuring sound Corporate Governance in sponsored ALBs | Board skills considered in the public appointments process and skills audit completed; attendance at ALB Board and ALB Audit Committee by appropriate Department senior sponsor level; risk assessments completed on ALBs to inform the sponsorship arrangements; completion of quarterly assurance statements by ALBs. |
| Financial Planning                                    | Review and update of the Corporate plan and business planning procedures  |
| Financial Control and monitoring                      | Accountability meetings held and attended at appropriate senior level within ALB and Department; centralisation of ALB drawdowns managed by GSU; monthly monitoring of ALB expenditure by sponsor branch and finance and reported to Departmental Board   |
| Audit and Accounts                                    | Tracking system of ALB Internal and External Audit recommendations  |

Northern Ireland Events Company

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure whether her Department has changed its procedures in relation to its arm's-length bodies, as a result of the lessons learned from the demise of the Northern Ireland Events Company.

(AQW 13132/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Following the demise of the Northern Ireland Events Company in 2007 independent professional financial advisers KPMG were engaged to carry out a comprehensive and authoritative review of the financial affairs of the company, to advise on meeting the existing liabilities of the NIEC and the most appropriate method of winding-up the Company in an orderly manner; and to carry out a comprehensive review of all the circumstances surrounding the deficit accumulated by the NIEC. Furthermore, the Department commissioned the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy, a professional accountancy body which specialises in the public sector to conduct an external review of the monitoring arrangements between the Department and the other arm's length bodies for which the Department is responsible. As a result of this review, a number of recommendations were made relating to identifiable areas of improvement required to address areas of weakness in DCAL's sponsorship of its Arms Length Bodies (ALB). The Department has taken extensive actions in recent years to strengthen its systems of internal control by identifying and incorporating lessons learned from its experiences with the Northern Ireland Events Company. A Governance Support Unit (GSU) was established to increase the level of consistency with which the Department carries out its sponsorship activities in areas which are generic in nature and which requires a level of expertise in the fields of finance, governance and accountability. GSU provide advice and guidance to Sponsor branches who retain primary responsibilities for ALB oversight and are responsible for the ALB drawdown payments process which was centralised following the review. The Dept has also formalised regular accountability meetings with ALBs, attends audit committees and board meetings, and has introduced quarterly assurance statements. The Sponsorship responsibilities have been documented in a Sponsorship Manual which ensures rules and responsibilities are clearly documented and understood. The Dept also introduced a Risk Assessment of its ALBs, which informs the sponsorship arrangements.

Northern Ireland Events Company: Investigation into

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure for a breakdown of the costs of reviewing, reporting on and investigating the Northern Ireland Events Company.

(AQW 13133/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The costs to my Department of reviewing, reporting on and investigating the Northern Ireland Events Company to date are as follows:

- £123,000.00 -Audit of the financial affairs of the Company and comprehensive review of all the circumstances surrounding the deficit accumulated by it.
- £37,029.20 - Interim support to the management of the NIEC and review of existing contracts and commitments.
- £6,055.00 – Review of financial transactions.

The ongoing Company Inspection is a matter for DETI. DETI have advised that it is not possible to provide a breakdown of the costs incurred by it for the Company Inspection to date as they fall under the Commercial in Confidence category and are therefore exempt under Section 43 of the Freedom of Information Act.

Arts Organisations and Practitioners: Cross-departmental Access for

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to what extent she encourages cross-departmental access for arts organisations and practitioners, given the proven impact that the arts can have on areas such as literacy, mental health and skills development.

(AQW 13214/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The arts and cultural sector can indeed stimulate new ways of tackling social and economic problems and find innovative solutions to challenges in the economy, education, health, social inclusion and the environment. My Department contributes to cross-cutting government priorities such as sustainability, suicide prevention, commemorations and tourism and advocates creative thinking and engagement by government and other stakeholders with the strengths, insights and social impact of the arts.

In particular, I am keen to see my Department's Arm Lengths Bodies make social interventions which:

- Promote equality;
- Tackle deprivation;
- Build communities;
- Provide youth services;
- Promote positive physical and mental health, in particular by delivering suicide prevention initiatives.

I recently met with the DARD Minister to discuss how the Departments can work together to promote suicide awareness and I am encouraging all parts of my Department including the Arms Length Bodies to become involved.

Another of my priorities is to promote the health benefits of the arts. For example the Arts Council funded ArtsCare Clown Doctors brighten up children's stays in hospital and Kids in Control is an arts programme for those with mental health care needs, including young people, referred by social services.

Library Bonuses

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure when the approved library bonuses will be paid to staff.
(AQW 13356/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Libraries NI has informed me that there are no approved bonuses for library staff. Staff within Libraries NI are paid in accordance with agreements reached nationally through negotiation at the National Joint Council (NJC) for Local Government Services. NJC has not agreed any pay rises in the 2010/11 and 2011/12 financial years due to the two year pay freeze which the Executive introduced to maintain parity with the Westminster Government.

You will be aware that, as part of the pay settlement, staff who earn less than £21,000 per annum are entitled to a one-off payment of £250 (pro-rata and non-consolidated).

Libraries NI has submitted its 2011/12 pay remit to the Department which includes this payment. Discussions between DCAL and Libraries NI are ongoing and are expected to conclude shortly.

Craigavon House: Preservation of

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how much funding his Department has provided for the preservation of Craigavon House since 1998.
(AQW 13402/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Responsibility for the preservation of Craigavon House rests with the Somme Association, who owns the property. My Department has not provided any funding.

Downpatrick: Quoile Pondage

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to outline any measures her Department is taking to (i) assess how seals are accessing the Quoile Pondage, in Downpatrick above the tidal barrage, and (ii) modify the tidal barrage in light of the falling numbers of pike and rudd upriver.
(AQW 13447/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín:

- (i) Seals are protected species under the Wildlife Order and the Quoile area is a designated Nature Reserve managed by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA). The NIEA are currently undertaking an investigation to assess how seals are accessing the Quoile Pondage.
- (ii) DCAL officials have requested the Rivers Agency, as owner of the Quoile Barrier, to undertake a survey of the barrage and if necessary carry out remedial work.

2012 Olympics: Legacy Projects

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure whether her Department will support any Olympic Games legacy projects in South Antrim.
(AQO 2314/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My Department is actively supporting Olympic legacy projects in South Antrim, and across the North, in a number of ways.

This includes provision of its Inspire programme which is an initiative that formally recognises exceptional non-commercial projects which have been genuinely inspired by the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games. A number of these legacy projects are working right across the North, including in South Antrim. DCAL funds two such projects; Disability Sport NI's 5 Star Disability Sports Challenge and Sport NI's Active8 initiative.

The visit of the Olympic Flame to the constituency on 7 June brought the whole community together in celebration and will inspire local people to get involved in Community events in the future. The area should also enjoy benefits from the 8 pre-games training camps, secured by my Department, to be based at the Antrim Forum.

In addition, my Department supports the 'Get Set' programme which is the official 2012 Games educational programme. Twenty Five schools from South Antrim are participating in the programme which supports local children in the enhancement of their learning and development.

All of these projects, events and initiatives are creating a local legacy through increasing participation in sporting and cultural activities; improving access in sports and the arts for people with disabilities; encouraging healthy lifestyles; facilitating skills development; promoting volunteering and creating good relations and community cohesion.

3G Pitches

Mr Easton asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what funding opportunities are available for working class communities to develop 3G pitches in their local areas.

(AQO 2318/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: District Councils are responsible for the provision of local leisure and recreational facilities, including pitches, within their own area. Belfast City Council, for example, has developed a playing pitches strategy which will help the Council to make informed planning decisions and to decide how it will target financial support and investment in facilities. Local communities seeking funding to develop a 3G pitch may therefore wish to contact their local Council to discuss funding opportunities, or visit the grant-tracker website.

In addition Sport NI which is responsible for the distribution of funding for sport in the north of Ireland, has awarded £16,795,911 towards the development of thirty seven 3G pitches in the last five financial years. Nine of these pitches are based within the top 25% of the most deprived wards in the north, using details from the NI Multiple Deprivation Measure 2010. Sport NI currently has no capital funding programmes currently open to which new applications to upgrade sports pitches can be made. It is, however, currently working through a call off list of applications to its Sport Matters: Community Capital Programme, a number of which are for the development of 3G pitches. Further awards will be made from this programme once indicative budgets for future years have been confirmed.

DCAL Waters: Eutrophication

Mr Lynch asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure for an update on the closure of departmental waters due to eutrophication or other problems such as weed growth.

(AQO 2322/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: In recent weeks two DCAL Public Angling Estate waters, Loughbrickland Lake in County Down and Moor Lough in County Tyrone, have been closed to anglers as a result of toxic blue green algal blooms. No waters have been closed this year as a result of excessive weed growth.

Algae are naturally occurring and under certain conditions particular species may produce toxins. Eutrophic lakes are especially vulnerable to algal growth as they contain very high levels of nutrients. This in combination with the other factors, such as very warm, still weather, causes a huge surge in algae growth known as a "bloom".

The presence of toxic blue green algae was detected by analysis of routine water samples by the NI Environment Agency. NIEA then alerted local Environmental Health Officers to the situation.

In light of any potential risk to public health, the Department closed the waters to anglers and as the toxins may accumulate in fish, and advised that fish from the affected waters should not be consumed until further notice.

The Department sought further guidance on how long the toxins may remain in fish and this indicates that the toxins dissipate within a short period of the decline of the algal bloom.

As weather conditions have since changed, the algal blooms have declined and the two waters concerned have been re-opened to anglers.

My officials are continuing to work with colleagues in NIEA and Environmental Health to formalise protocols for this type of incident.

DCAL: Sports Policy

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to outline her policy commitments to sports other than soccer, rugby and gaelic football.

(AQO 2323/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My policy commitments to all sports are set out in my Department's 10-year strategy for sport and physical recreation, Sport Matters. Through Sport Matters, DCAL is seeking to improve participation, performance and places for sport as a whole in the north of Ireland in order to realise the strategy's 10 year vision of '...a culture of lifelong enjoyment and success in sport...'. Under Sport Matters, Government is committed to promote sport in general, not just soccer, rugby and Gaelic football, and to support the governing bodies of all recognised sports. This is what I am seeking to do as part of the implementation of Sport Matters.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, in relation to ministerial appointments, what the respective success rates have been for Protestant and Catholic applicants since May 2011.

(AQO 2324/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The table below sets out information on the appointments, including reappointments for a second term, I have made since May 2011.

|                 | Community BackgroundCatholic | Community BackgroundProtestant | Community BackgroundNeither/Not Known |
|-----------------|----------------------------------|------------------------------------|---|
| Applicants      | 71                               | 70                                 | 18  |
| 1st Appointment | 14                               | 6                                  | 8   |
| Reappointment   | 9                                | 12                                 | 2   |

Sport NI: Review

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure for her assessment of the findings of stage one of her Department's review of Sport NI.

(AQO 2325/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The review of Sport NI has identified opportunities for further improvement to the governance and accountability arrangements.

I welcome the commitment by Sport NI and my Department to continuous improvement of our processes and work in on-going between DCAL & Sport NI.

Upper Bann: Sport

Mr Moutray asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what was the total spend from her Department and its arms-length bodies in the last financial year on soccer, rugby, cricket and gaelic sports within the Upper Bann constituency.

(AQO 2326/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Sport NI is responsible for the distribution of funding for sport in the north. In 2011/12, Sport NI provided a total of £6,982 exchequer funding through its Awards for Sport Programme to Annagh United FC. This was the only award to soccer, rugby, cricket and Gaelic sports clubs within the Upper Bann constituency in the last financial year.

Sport NI is however currently considering 11 applications from clubs in the Upper Bann constituency to its Community Capital Programme which will be considered as and when funding becomes available.

Furthermore, Sport NI awarded Craigavon Borough Council £1,308,182 of Lottery funding through the Active Communities Programme over the period 2009 – 2014 to encourage greater participation in sport in the Upper Bann area including soccer, rugby, cricket and gaelic sports.

Department of Education

Education Facilities: Republic of Ireland Residents

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Education how his statement during Question Time on 11 June 2012 that all costs are covered in respect of cross-border provision of education can be reconciled with his response to AQW 11281/11-15, which states that, no funding is provided or sought from the respective Education Departments.

(AQW 12847/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd (The Minister of Education): There is an understanding with the Department in the South where we meet the costs of educating children from the South attending schools in the North, and they meet the costs of educating children from the North attending schools in the South.

Redburn Primary School, Holywood

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education what plans his Department has for the site of Redburn Primary School, Holywood.

(AQW 12926/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: At the time that the original multi-schools project for Holywood was announced in 2006 it was envisaged that Priory Integrated College would relocate to a new build on the Redburn site. However, the enrolment figure for Priory College is currently below the sustainable schools thresholds both in terms of 11-16 and post 16. Given the need to consider the size of the school within the wider area context this project cannot proceed at this time.

In the interim, the South Eastern Education and Library Board has applied to the Department for additional funding for the demolition of Redburn School.

Bunscoil Bheann Mhadagain, North Belfast: Land for Newbuild

Mr Rogers asked the Minister of Education what progress has been made in acquiring land for the new build for Bunscoil Bheann Mhadagain, North Belfast.

(AQW 12928/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In May 2011 a Development Proposal for the establishment of a 26 place statutory nursery unit for Bunscoil Bheann Mhadagain, opening in September 2012, was approved. As a result, the Department has been working with the school and the Belfast City Council on securing and developing a site at the former Cliftonville Cricket Grounds, which is owned by the Belfast City Council. As part of this work, land alongside the nursery unit has been identified for a future new build for Bunscoil Bheann Mhadagain.

In my statement to the Assembly on 25 June which outlined my plans for capital investment in the schools' estate I was pleased to announce that the process for building a new school Bunscoil Bheann Mhadagain will be advanced. Funding of £2.5m is available to this project.

Area-based Planning Process

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12546/11-15, when the Education and Library Boards will commence and complete the work.

(AQW 12964/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Boards Area Plans went out to public consultation on 5 July 2012. I would encourage local communities to respond to that consultation. Where respondents feel that Boards either have or have not proposed cross border solutions then respondents should set that out in their response.

At the end of the public consultation process I will have to ratify the final plans from the Boards. At that stage I will determine compliance with the Terms of Reference.

Area-based Planning Process

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12546/11-15, whether the Education and Library Boards have worked within the terms of reference; and what steps he intends to take to ensure that they comply fully with them.

(AQW 12965/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Boards Area Plans went out to public consultation on 5 July 2012. I would encourage local communities to respond to that consultation. Where respondents feel that Boards either have or have not proposed cross border solutions then respondents should set that out in their response.

At the end of the public consultation process I will have to ratify the final plans from the Boards. At that stage I will determine compliance with the Terms of Reference.

Investment Delivery Plan

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12032/11-15, why Devenish College, Enniskillen, was not mentioned in his response.

(AQW 12992/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Devenish College was not mentioned in my previous response because the school was not assessed as fully compliant in the Review of Major Capital Projects completed in June 2010.

The scheme for Devenish College is now subsumed within the Western Education and Library Board's area planning proposals for the reorganisation of post-primary provision in Fermanagh and no longer a stand alone project.

Area-based Planning

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Education what discussions he has had with staff at primary and post-primary schools in Banbridge in relation to area-based planning.

(AQW 13036/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: To date I have not officially met any staff or representatives from primary or post-primary schools in Banbridge to discuss area-based planning.

The Southern Education and Library Board, in conjunction with the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools and other sectors, has responsibility for developing the area plan for the Banbridge District Council area.

It is anticipated that area plans will be published for public consultation in early July 2012. This will afford all schools and the general public the opportunity to see the plans and provide their views on them to the relevant Education and Library Board.

Teachers: Suspended or Dismissed

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Education how many teachers were (i) suspended; and (ii) dismissed in each of the last five years. (AQW 13120/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The table below shows the number of teachers suspended in each of the last 5 years. Unfortunately information regarding the number of teachers dismissed cannot be provided as the small number involved could risk possible identification.

| Financial Year               | 2007/08 | 2008/09 | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
|------------------------------|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| Number of Teachers suspended | 17      | 29      | 42      | 47      | 38      |

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Education to detail the number and percentage of people (i) considered for inclusion; and (ii) successful, in all ministerial appointments since 2007, broken down by perceived community background. (AQW 13175/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Since May 2007, excluding Board of Governor appointments, 149 people have been considered for ministerial appointments and 109 appointments have been made.

The number and percentage of applications considered is detailed in the following table:

| Protestant | Roman Catholic | Other | Not Known |
|------------|----------------|-------|-----------|
| 75         | 69             | 2     | 3         |
| 50.3%      | 46.3%          | 1.3%  | 2%        |

(figures do not total to 100 due to rounding)

The number and percentage of applicants successful is detailed in the following table:

| Protestant | Roman Catholic | Other | Not Known |
|------------|----------------|-------|-----------|
| 53         | 53             | 2     | 1         |
| 48.6%      | 48.6%          | 1.8%  | 1%        |

These figures do not include the 135 Board of Governor appointments which included 65 successful Protestant applicants and 53 successful Catholic applicants. There were 8 successful applicants where the community background was 'other community background' and 9 where the community background was 'not known'.

The Department does not hold community background of new applicants for Board of Governor posts. This information is requested on behalf of the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister, for monitoring purposes, only after the successful applicants have been selected.

Area-based Plans for Primary and Post-primary Schools: Consultation

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education how the process of consultation on the area-based plans for primary and post-primary schools will be conducted; and how the process will abide by good practice guidelines on consultation, in particular in relation to Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998. (AQW 13178/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The public consultation on the area based plans will be taken forward by the five Education and Library Boards. Area plans for the post-primary sector will be published by each Board on 5 July 2012 with the consultation period lasting until 26 October 2012 – a period of 16 weeks.

This consultation will be taken forward in two phases. Phase one will allow interested parties the opportunity to read and reflect on the proposals. Phase two will be the availability of an online response facility which will run from the end of August 2012 until the closing date on 26 October 2012.

This proposed consultation process will comply with the Equality Commission good practice guidelines for public authorities in that the Boards will be consulting with those directly affected. The consultation process will also exceed the recommended minimum consultation period of 12 weeks.

The Area Planning process does not require a separate Section 75 screening as it is the delivery of Departmental policies that have already been subject to separate individual screening exercises.

The Area Planning Co-Ordination Group met on 8 June and again on 25 June 2012 and discussed the consultation process in the course of these meetings. This group is chaired by a senior Departmental official and includes the Chief Executives of each of the Boards and CCMS together with senior officers responsible for planning.

In addition, the Area Planning Working Group (a sub-group of the Area Planning Co-ordination Group), which is made up of officials from the Department, each of Education and Library Boards and CCMS, who are directly involved in the area planning process, met on 13 June 2012 to discuss the issue of the proposed public consultation. A member from the Boards' Communications Team and the DE Communications Team were also in attendance at this meeting.

Area Plans for the primary sector have only recently been submitted to my Department for initial consideration. Consequently, the process and the timeframe for the public consultation of the primary area plans have not yet been agreed. It is anticipated, however, that the process will be similar to that outlined for the post primary sector.

Area-based Plans: Public Consultations

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) who will be responsible for conducting the public consultations on the area-based plans; and (ii) when the consultations will commence and be completed.

(AQW 13179/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The public consultation on the area based plans will be taken forward by the five Education and Library Boards. Area plans for the post-primary sector will be published by each Board on 5 July 2012 with the consultation period lasting until 26 October 2012 – a period of 16 weeks.

This consultation will be taken forward in two phases. Phase one will allow interested parties the opportunity to read and reflect on the proposals. Area Plans for the primary sector have only recently been submitted to my Department for initial consideration. Consequently, the process and the timeframe for the public consultation of the primary area plans have not yet been agreed. It is anticipated, however, that the process will be similar to that outlined for the post primary sector.

Area-based Plans: Public Consultations

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) the number of meetings held by his Department with the Education and Library Boards, the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools, and other relevant stakeholders in relation to the forthcoming public consultation on the area-based plans; (ii) when the meetings were held; and (iii) who attended the meetings.

(AQW 13180/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The public consultation on the area based plans will be taken forward by the five Education and Library Boards. Area plans for the post-primary sector will be published by each Board on 5 July 2012 with the consultation period lasting until 26 October 2012 – a period of 16 weeks.

Scottish Government: Website

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of the Scottish Government's (i) Career Management Skills Framework; and (ii) My World of Work website.

(AQW 13191/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I am pleased to note the clear correlation between the Scottish Government's Careers strategy and the joint DE DEL "Preparing for Success" careers strategy. I also note the broad consensus between the Scottish Government's Career Management Skills Framework and my Department's "Guide to Developing Effective Career Decision Makers" which is aimed at improving the quality of career learning opportunities in order to better prepare learners for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adult and working life.

Both approaches recognise the importance of developing effective career decision makers leading to increased and appropriate participation in education, training and employment.

I understand the Scottish Government has identified the need for a wider blend of services offered including on-line telephone, face to face and partnership working and this has resulted in interactive web based services such as "My World of Work" which is designed to exploit the use of new technologies.

Unfilled Nursery Places 2012/13

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education to detail the number of unfilled nursery places for the 2012/13 academic year, following the initial allocation of nursery placements, broken down by constituency.

(AQW 13195/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The information requested is contained in the table below. It provides the number of unfilled places across all pre-school sectors as at the close of the formal pre-school admissions process on 1 June 2012. Please note that these figures are not final and may be subject to change.

| Constituency               | Number of unfilled pre-school places at 1 June 2012 |
|----------------------------|---|
| Belfast East               | 9   |
| Belfast North              | 33  |
| Belfast South              | 48  |
| Belfast West               | 20  |
| East Antrim                | 52  |
| East Derry                 | 44  |
| Fermanagh and South Tyrone | 29  |
| Foyle                      | 4   |
| Lagan Valley               | 43  |
| Mid Ulster                 | 31  |
| Newry and Armagh           | 58  |
| North Antrim               | 58  |
| North Down                 | 8   |
| South Antrim               | 17  |
| South Down                 | 43  |
| Strangford                 | 24  |

| Constituency | Number of unfilled pre-school places at 1 June 2012 |
|--------------|---|
| Upper Bann   | 20  |
| West Tyrone  | 23  |
| Total | 564  |

Education and Library Boards: Refused Requests for Land for Capital Projects

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail the requests made by Education and Library Boards to procure land for capital builds which were refused in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13222/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I have been advised by the Belfast, Western, Southern and South Eastern Education and Library Boards that each of them has not had any purchase of sites for capital builds refused in the last three years.

The North Eastern Education and Library Board had one request to purchase additional land at Camphill Primary School turned down by my Department as the existing site was already above the recommended area.

Cross-border Models of Education: Potential

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Education, excluding the survey which is being undertaken by both Education Departments on the island of Ireland, what work the Western Education and Library Board and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools have carried out to explore the potential for cross-border models of education when considering the future of St Mary's High School, Brollagh, as part of the area planning process.

(AQW 13237/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The WELB and CCMS have advised that they are considering all models of provision within the WELB Strategic Area Plan. The WELB Working Group is currently discussing border provision but has yet to investigate the advantages and desire for such a model.

CCMS have advised that in respect of the future provision in St Mary's Brollagh, CCMS is proposing to consider the potential of a cross-border solution to meet the needs of the pupils residing in the area of the school

Employment Rights of Staff: School Mergers

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Education what steps his Department is taking to ensure that when two schools merge the employment rights of the staff in the smaller school are protected and that they are treated fairly.

(AQW 13240/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: A proposal to amalgamate two or more schools originates with the relevant managing authorities and requires the publication of a supporting Development Proposal. This is a statutory process which facilitates extensive consultation both with those directly affected by the proposal and with the wider community.

The Collective Agreement was agreed by both the teacher unions and employers at the Teacher Negotiating Committee. A Collective Agreement is drawn up by the Boards of Governors of the schools to be amalgamated. The Collective Agreement seeks to ensure fair and equal treatment of all teachers transferring in the event of an amalgamation. It provides for all permanent teachers in the merging schools to be offered employment in the new school, provided they sign a declaration accepting the conditions of the Agreement.

A teacher may either accept the terms of the Agreement and take up a post at the new school or opt for voluntary redundancy, with compensation terms at the discretion of the employing authority (up to 90 weeks' salary for redundancies at 31 August 2012). There is no compulsory redundancy for those permanent teachers who transfer to the new school in the two years immediately following the date of the amalgamation.

Teachers who held posts of responsibility in the merging schools must apply for posts of responsibility in the new school which are at least equivalent to the level of the responsibility they held. If they suffer a reduction in salary as a result of the amalgamation, they are eligible to apply to the Department for a re-organisation allowance.

St Aidan's High School, Derrylin

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Education, excluding the survey which is being undertaken by both Education Departments on the island of Ireland, what work the Western Education and Library Board and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools have carried out to explore the potential for cross-border models of education when considering the future of St Aidan's High School, Derrylin, as part of the area planning process.

(AQW 13243/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The WELB and CCMS have advised that they are considering all models of provision within the WELB Strategic Area Plan. The WELB Working Group is currently discussing border provision but has yet to investigate the advantages and desire for such a model.

Statement of Special Educational Needs

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Education how many Boards of Governors have refused a child's admission after the school has been named on the child's Statement of Special Educational Needs in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13244/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Education and Library Boards have advised that no pupil has failed to gain admission to a school after that school has been named in the child's statement of special educational needs in the academic years 2008/09, 2009/10 and 2010/11.

Statement of Special Educational Needs: Delay in Placing Children

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Education what action his Department can take to compel a school, which may be perceived as causing an undue delay in placing children with a Statement of Special Educational Needs, to proceed with the placement process.

(AQW 13245/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department of Education (DE) can inform the school in question that, under Article 16 (5) (b) of the Education (NI) Order 1996, where a school is named in a statement of special educational needs for a child or young person then the Board of Governors of the school must admit that child or young person.

Should the Board of Governors continue to refuse to admit the child or young person then DE can consider issuing a direction under Article 101(4) of the Education and Libraries (NI) Order 1986.

Statements of Special Educational Needs: Children with

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Education what measures his Department has in place to ensure that schools and Boards of Governors are aware of their statutory duties in relation to children with Statements of Special Educational Needs.

(AQW 13246/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: My Department has an online Board of Governor guide outlining their role and responsibilities in relation to pupils with special educational needs (SEN).

Education & Library Boards also offer training on an annual basis for principals and school governors regarding their statutory duties in relation to children with SEN including those with a statement of SEN.

The quality of the provision for pupils with SEN is evaluated and reported on by the Education and Training Inspectorate (ETI) on all school inspections, informed by the observation of the out-working of the requirements of statements in lessons.

ETI has produced the Together Towards Improvement (SEN) document which supports schools in the process of self evaluation.

Selection Criterion: Distance from School

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education to detail the number of schools which, when using the distance from the school as a criterion for selection when the school is oversubscribed, use (i) distance door to door; (ii) distance from gate to gate; (iii) straight line distance; (iv) google maps; (v) GPS; or (vi) other measurements.

(AQW 13247/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department does not hold this information as the drawing up and operation of a school's admissions criteria are entirely the responsibility of individual schools and their Boards of Governors.

Pupil's Relative Distance from a School: Comparison System

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education which system for comparing a pupil's relative distance from a school his Department considers (i) the most accurate; and (ii) the most appropriate.

(AQW 13248/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The drawing up and operation of a school's admissions criteria are entirely the responsibility of individual schools and their Boards of Governors. Accordingly, the Department does not provide advice to schools in relation to how distance should be measured when used as an admission criterion.

Newly Qualified Teachers: Cost-effective Employment Scheme

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to outline the timescale for the introduction of a cost effective employment scheme for newly qualified teachers.

(AQW 13295/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: My Department is finalising a draft strategy for Teacher Education which will include a proposal for the development of a cost effective employment scheme for newly qualified teachers (NQTs).

The draft strategy will also include an Implementation Plan/Timeframe for the various actions within the strategy. When the draft is finalised, the Minister for Employment and Learning and I will consider its content prior to submitting it to the Education and the Employment and Learning Committees for comment.

Whilst it is not yet possible to provide you with a timescale for the introduction of a cost effective employment scheme for NQTs, I can assure you that once the strategy is published, my Department will commence work on the key priorities within it in accordance with the agreed Implementation Plan.

I am of course mindful of the plight of NQTs in terms of employment opportunities, and I would therefore envisage that the development of such a scheme would be given a high priority in terms of the timescale for its development and implementation.

Maintenance of School Buildings: Funding

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail the criteria used to allocate the recently announced £27 million funding for the maintenance of school buildings.

(AQW 13297/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The methodology used to apportion the £27million funding for the maintenance of school buildings was based on a weighted combination of the most recent data available for the following criteria:

- Floor areas (m2) for each Education and Library Board at December 2011.
- Maintenance backlog for each Education and Library Board at April 2012.

The weighting applied to each criterion was 50%.

Special Educational Needs and Inclusion: Review

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) what advice he has received from the Northern Ireland Commissioner for Children and Young People in relation to the Review of Special Educational Needs and Inclusion; and (ii) what account he has taken of the advice in the drafting of any policy memorandum.

(AQW 13299/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I have received valuable advice and comment from the Commissioner for Children and Young People (NICCY) in relation to the Review. NICCY responded to the original consultation and have written to me about the policy proposals on two occasions since the publication of the Summary report in January 2012. The content of the advice can be accessed on their website.

I and my officials have met with the Commissioner and her representatives during the development of the special educational needs & inclusion policy proposals. I have given careful consideration to the advice received from NICCY and from other statutory and non statutory stakeholders and have made revisions to the policy proposals taking this advice into account. These changes will be reflected in the policy memorandum.

Teachers: Redundancy Packages

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to detail his Department's policy on offering redundancy packages to teachers who (i) have 40 years' service; or (ii) are over 60 years of age.

(AQW 13300/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: It is the responsibility of the Board of Governors, as the employer, to determine which teaching posts to declare redundant, following the application of open and transparent redundancy criteria, based on the particular needs of the school concerned.

Regarding the compensation to be paid, it is the Employing Authorities' current policy to apply a multiplier of 3 to the statutory redundancy payment, which falls under the exception for provision of enhanced redundancy payments to employees provided by the Employment Equality (Age) Regulations (NI) 2006. This Policy is applied to all teachers irrespective of whether or not they (i) have 40 years' service; or (ii) are over 60 years of age.

Early Years (0-6) Strategy

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education to outline the timescale for the publication of an Early Years (0-6) Strategy.

(AQW 13316/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I have asked officials to engage with a range of key stakeholders including the Early Years Stakeholder Advisory Group and relevant departments over the coming months, after which I will aim to finalise my proposals by November 2012.

Common Funding Scheme: Review

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12791/11-15, when commissioning the independent review of the Common Funding Scheme, whether he abandoned the project management methodologies outlined in his letter to the Committee for Education of 22 December 2011.

(AQW 13317/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Review is being carried out by the independent panel. The panel will determine the most appropriate project management methodology to take forward the Review, in line with the Terms of Reference.

Castle Tower School, Ballymena: Newbuild

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education, in light of his statement to the Assembly on 25 June 2012 in relation to capital spend, how the allocation of £21.8 million for a new build for Castle Tower School, Ballymena, will be of benefit to Braidside Integrated Primary and Nursery School, Ballymena.

(AQW 13318/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: My statement to the Assembly on capital investment on 25 June made it clear that the proposals announced in no way imply that other school projects will not be considered at a later stage. However I need assurance that that any project approved for capital investment, including Braidside Integrated Primary and Nursery School, is consistent with the overall provision in an area.

The department's strategy for capital investment remains area planning. Initial area plans for the primary sector were due with the Department at the end of June, and following scrutiny these will be subject to public consultation. I recognise that this will take time and investment in the school estate needs to be maintained.

My announcement on 25 June indicated that a process has been established to identify a number of projects for which funding would be provided to planning, and it is my intention to make a further announcement around these in the Autumn. Braidside will be included in the examination of potential projects to be brought forward. New options for the school build, including opportunities arising from the development of a new school for Castle Tower Special School, will be a matter for the economic appraisal.

Preschool Places: Applicants

Mr Beggs asked the Minister of Education to detail, by the council area in which they live (i) the number of applicants for pre-school places in the 2012/13 academic year who were (a) successful; and (b) unsuccessful in obtaining their first choice location; and (ii) of those who were unsuccessful, how many accepted an alternative pre-school place.

(AQW 13332/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Education and Library Boards do not capture applications to pre-school settings broken down into council areas and this information could only be obtained at a disproportionate cost.

Overall, 22,799 applications for places for children in their final pre-school year were received by the closing date and considered during stage 1 of the 2012/13 admissions process. Of these, 84.4% were placed in their first preference setting and 93.65% were offered a place by a setting listed as a preference.

Of the 1,429 unplaced applicants at the end of the first stage of the admissions process, 689 stated further pre-school preferences at stage 2. Of these, all but 24 had received a place when the formal process concluded on 1 June. Fewer than 20 of these children are yet to secure a place.

At stage 2 of the admissions process a further 335 late applications were considered. Of these, 304 had obtained a place by the end of the formal process.

I expect more children to obtain a suitable pre-school place over the coming weeks.

Enrolment Figures

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Education to detail the enrolment figures for each primary school in the North Eastern Education and Library Board area in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13337/11-15)

Schools: Administration of Medication

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Education what legal protections are in place for teachers who administer medication in schools. (AQW 13338/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The legal protections are outlined in paragraph 1.2.3 of the joint Department of Health and Social Services and Public Safety/Department of Education policy document "Supporting Pupils with Medication Needs" which states:-

If a member of staff administers medication to a pupil, or undertakes a medical procedure to support a pupil and, as a result, expenses, liability, loss, claim or proceedings arise, the employer will indemnify the member of staff provided all of the following conditions apply:

- a) The member of staff is a direct employee;
- b) The medication/procedure is administered by the member of staff in the course of, or ancillary to, their employment;
- c) The member of staff follows:
  - the procedures set out in this guidance;
  - the school's policy;
  - the procedures outlined in the individual pupil's Medication Plan, or written permission from parents and directions received through training in the appropriate procedures.
- d) Except as set out in the Note below, the expenses, liability, loss, claim or proceedings are not directly or indirectly caused by and do not arise from fraud, dishonesty or a criminal offence committed by the member of staff.

Note: Condition d. does not apply in the case of a criminal offence under Health and Safety legislation.

A copy of the document has been placed in the Assembly Library or can be downloaded from my department's website.

Schools: Administration of Medication

Ms P Bradley asked the Minister of Education what consideration his Department has given to the introduction of a statutory duty on schools to administer essential medication to pupils.

(AQW 13339/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The joint Department of Health and Social Services and Public Safety/Department of Education policy document "Supporting Pupils with Medication Needs" provides a robust framework for enabling all children with medication needs to access the necessary support. This policy is based around the voluntary principle that does not compel teachers to undertake a medical procedure and encourages schools and education and library boards to work closely with both health professionals and parents in a flexible way to support pupils with medication needs. I have, therefore, no current plans to introduce a statutory duty in this area.

A copy of the policy document has been placed in the Assembly Library or can be downloaded from my department's website.

Schools: Administration of Medication

Ms P Bradley asked the Minister of Education what provision is in place for administering essential medication to children in full-time primary and secondary education.

(AQW 13340/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department's policy on the administration of medication in schools is contained within the document "Supporting pupils with medication needs". A copy has been placed in the Assembly Library or can be downloaded from my department's website.

Schools: Newbuilds

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Education for an update on the new builds for (i) Holy Trinity College, Cookstown; (ii) Rainey Endowed School, Magherafelt; and (iii) Edendork Primary School, Dungannon.

(AQW 13347/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Planning on new builds for Holy Trinity College, Cookstown and Rainey Endowed School, Magherafelt has not yet commenced. The project for Edendork Primary School is currently at RIBA Stage C (outline sketch plans).

In my statement to the Assembly on 25 June I announced a number of new build school projects which have been approved for investment. While Trinity College, Cookstown, Rainey Endowed School, Magherafelt and Edendork Primary School, Dungannon were not included in my announcement and will be disappointed, this in no way implies that they will not be considered for funding at a later stage within the area planning context.

Edendork Primary School, Dungannon: Land Acquisition for Newbuild

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Education what steps have been taken in relation to the land acquisition for the new build for Edendork Primary School, Dungannon.

(AQW 13348/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The proposed new build school for Edendork Primary School involves the purchase of five plots of land currently in the ownership of three different landowners. The Economic Appraisal for this project which dates back to 2005 will have to be updated to confirm that the five plots of land are still required for the new school building. Progression on site purchase will be subject to the approval of an updated Economic Appraisal.

In my announcement to the Assembly on 25 June regarding my capital investment strategy I stated that it is my intention to announce in the Autumn a number of projects to be advanced through the planning and approval processes. I can confirm that a process has been established to identify a number of projects for which funding will be provided for planning.

While Edendork Primary School was not part of my announcement to the Assembly on the 25 June it in no way implies that it will not be considered for funding at a later date.

Capital Builds: Land

Mr Storey asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12034/11-15, to detail the costs associated with each procurement.

(AQW 13351/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The costs associated with each approval to the procurement of lands for capital projects are detailed in the table below.

| Financial Year | School Name                                    | Cost        |
|----------------|--|-------------|
| 2009-10        | Carrick Primary School, Warrenpoint            | £96,000     |

| 2011-12        | St Columba's Primary School, Straw             | £424,000    |

Irish-medium Schools

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) the number of pupils currently attending each Irish-medium school; and (ii) the annual level of funding allocated to each school.

(AQW 13360/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Information on pupil enrolments and delegated budgets made available to Irish-medium schools under the Common Funding Formula arrangements in the current financial year, are shown on the table below.

Belmont House Special School, Derry: Capital Funding

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Education, in light of his statement to the Assembly on capital projects, whether the capital funding for Belmont House Special School, Derry, incorporates the Woodlands Language Unit.

(AQW 13374/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Western Education and Library Board (WELB) has advised me that the capital planning process for Belmont House Special School is based on the current enrolment figures for Belmont House Special School and does not include Woodlands Language Unit.

I am advised that the proposed relocation of the speech and language classes will be managed through a pre-consultation process that has already been commenced by the Western Education and Library Board with the relevant stakeholders.

Foyle Constituency: Funding Allocated to Schools

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Education, in light of his statement to the Assembly on capital projects, to detail the funding allocated to schools in the Foyle constituency, including all aspects of proposed spending.

(AQW 13375/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In my capital announcement to the Assembly on the 25 June I have approved funding for four schools in the Foyle Constituency. The schools involved are:

| Foyle College | Ebrington Primary School | Eglinton Primary School | Belmont Special School |
|---------------|--------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------|
| £19.6m        | £4.5m                    | £2.5m                   | £7.4m                  |

At this current stage of the planning process it is not possible to give definitive details on proposed spending.

Teachers from Northern Ireland Teaching in the Republic of Ireland

Mrs Hale asked the Minister of Education whether the objective of facilitating the mobility of teachers from Northern Ireland to teach in the Republic of Ireland will be inhibited if teachers do not hold an Irish language qualification.

(AQW 13376/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The possession of the Irish language requirement (SCG - An Scrúdú le hAghaidh Cáilíochta sa Ghaeilge) or Adaptation Period (OCG – Oiriúnú le hAghaidh Cáilíochta sa Ghaeilge) is advantageous to some teachers from the north of Ireland seeking to teach in the south of Ireland.

In order to teach in the south of Ireland, primary teachers who have completed a programme of teacher education here (with the exception of the Post Graduate Certificate in Education through the medium of Irish or the four year Bachelor of Education Irish academic course at St. Mary's University College Belfast), must complete an Aptitude Test (SCG) or Adaptation Period (OCG), which confirms that the applicant is competent to teach the Irish language and to teach the range of primary school curricular subjects through the medium of Irish.

Conditional Teaching Council registration is granted and a maximum period of three years from date of registration is set for the completion of the Aptitude Test or the Adaptation Period. On attainment of the SCG or OCG, such teachers are then recognised as fully qualified in the south.

In the case of post-primary schools, the Irish language requirement only applies to teachers employed in Gaeltacht schools, in Irish-medium schools, and to teachers who teach any subject through the medium of Irish.

The North South Ministerial Council Teachers' Qualifications Working Group has been working to ensure that barriers to teacher mobility are removed where possible. This includes the possibility of the Irish language qualification requirement An Scrúdú le hAghaidh Cáilíochta sa Ghaeilge (SCG) being delivered by one or more of the Higher Education Institutions in the north.

To this end, the University of Ulster (UU) has developed proposals to deliver the qualification within the framework of its Diploma in Irish Language, with assessments being administered by Marino College of Education in Dublin and the required Gaeltacht experience element being provided in the south. Discussions between the UU and Marino College of Education in Dublin, regarding the delivery of the Irish language requirement through the UU's Diploma in Irish, are at an advanced stage.

St Mary's University College (SMUC), Belfast has also expressed an interest in delivering the Irish Language requirement and my Department is currently liaising with St Mary's and Marino College to agree a mutually suitable date to explore the matter further.

Press Leaks

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of the impact of information leaks to the press on the future of the schools involved, and the security of jobs for current and prospective teachers at the schools.

(AQW 13392/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: As I have previously said, I do not think that the leaking of documents to the press is helpful to the area planning process.

However, the draft area plans prepared by the five Education and Library Boards have now been published for public consultation on the Boards' websites. I would encourage parents, school staff, representative bodies and the wider public to read them, consider them fully and make their views known to the Boards. The consultation period has been extended to take account of the summer holidays, and will run until 26 October 2012.

STEM Subjects: Promotion

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education how his Department intends to promote Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics subjects to ensure that (i) sufficient teaching staff and facilities are available to educate students; and (ii) that there is a steady flow of prospective graduates for the UK research industry.

(AQW 13393/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The promotion of STEM subjects is important to our future economic growth and as Education Minister I am committed to playing my part.

The revised curriculum, which is now in place across all year groups in all grant-aided schools, provides much greater freedom for teachers to explore STEM-related learning with pupils. The full implementation of the Entitlement Framework by September 2015 will guarantee all young people at Key Stage 4 and at Sixth Form regardless of the school which a young person attends or where he/she lives, equality of access to a broad, balanced and more economically relevant pupil-centric curriculum. This increased choice is being supported with improved careers education, information, advice and guidance, with a particular focus on STEM-related career opportunities.

Since the publication of the STEM strategy, my Department has been undertaking a wide range of interventions to encourage an increase in the uptake of STEM subjects. For example; a programme of professional development for teachers has been commissioned, as well as improving the range and quality of STEM resources that are available to teachers and pupils; we are supporting the Institute of Physics in Ireland's establishment of a physics-teacher network here; a web-based resource 'STEMWorks' has been developed to enhance classroom practice and encourage pupils to study STEM related subjects; extensive use is being made of the STEM truck, a state-of-the-art £1.2 million mobile teaching laboratory and workshop; we continue to fund a range of STEM related events to ensure that STEM subjects are seen as exciting, stimulating and fulfilling by our young people e.g. the BT Young Scientist Competition, the Stock Market Challenge, Maths Week and the Irish Science Olympiads.

My Department, when confirming approved annual intakes to initial teacher education (ITE) courses, also actively encourages the two Universities and the two University Colleges here to continue efforts to increase the number of student admissions to the STEM-related subject areas.

Through the delivery of the STEM Strategy my Department contributes to the steady flow of prospective graduates in order to strengthen the economy, including the UK research industry, and will continue to seek and deliver interventions, within available resources, with the aim of increasing uptake in STEM subjects.

Post-primary Schools: Teaching Vacancies

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education to detail the number of teaching vacancies in post-primary schools in each of the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics subjects, broken down by (i) school; and (ii) Education and Library Board area. (AQW 13395/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The information requested is contained in the tables below.

Source: Annual Teacher Vacancy Survey

Notes:

- 1 All figures refer to vacancies in schools on 7th November 2011.
- 2 Figures include full-time permanent/temporary and part-time permanent/temporary vacancies.
- 3 Number of vacancies is for classroom teachers only.
- 4 Mathematics includes Statistics but excludes special needs provision in Mathematics.
- 5 Science includes Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Integrated or combined science and other science.
- 6 Design and Technology includes woodwork, metalwork, technical drawing and other technical subjects such as building, engineering and motor mechanics.
- 7 Engineering is included within Design and Technology. A breakdown for Engineering and Technology is therefore not feasible.
- 8 The STEM subject classifications are based on those in Annex 2 of the 2009 Report of the STEM review for the Department of Education and the Department for Employment and Learning.

Maghera High School: Former Site

Mr I McCrea asked the Minister of Education to detail the proposals he has received from the North Eastern Education and Library Board in relation to the former Maghera High School site.

(AQW 13406/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department has not received any proposals from the North Eastern Education and Library Board in relation to the site of the former Maghera High School.

The Board has received expressions of interest in the site from Magherafelt Council, the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools, Comhairle na Gaelscolaíochta and Largantogher Enterprise Group. Magherafelt Council subsequently withdrew its interest in the site, however, I understand that their interest may be renewed and that the Board is awaiting correspondence to this effect.

All options for potential future education use of the site are being explored by the North Eastern Education and Library Board.

The former school building has suffered extensive vandalism and theft, which has created Health and Safety concerns due to the presence of asbestos containing materials in the buildings. The Department has recently endorsed a proposal from the North Eastern Education and Library Board to demolish the school following decontamination.

Holy Family Primary School, Magherafelt

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Education why Holy Family Primary School, Magherafelt was not included in his recent new build announcement.

(AQW 13434/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I recognise a new school build at Holy Family Primary School, Magherafelt, remains a priority for investment. While I would like to be in the position to fund everything that needs doing now, I must work within the budget available.

The process for selecting projects for investment was internal to the Department. The key criteria in determining eligibility for capital investment were major projects, confirmed as viable and core to emerging area plans, which could ensure effective use of capital funds over the remainder of the budget period.

Projects were selected on the basis that they support unmet need; effect rationalisation of the schools estate; address serious accommodation inadequacies, substandard conditions or overcrowding; or address undue reliance on temporary accommodation.

The relative condition and suitability of the current accommodation was used to differentiate between projects. Also, in recognition of the need to utilise capital funds in the period 2013-2015, projects were assessed based on their stage of development and the potential to have the project on site by the final quarter of 2012-13 or the first quarter of 2013-14.

The protocol for selection is available on the Department's website at: http://www.deni.gov.uk/major\_works\_protocol.pdf.

My statement to the Assembly on capital investment on 25 June made it clear that the proposals announced in no way imply that other school projects will not be considered at a later stage.

My announcement also indicated that a process has been established to identify a number of projects for which funding would be provided to advance them in planning, and it is my intention to make a further announcement around these in the Autumn.

Holy Family Primary School will be included in the examination of potential projects to be brought forward.

Holy Family Primary School, Magherafelt

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Education (i) how the application for a new build for Holy Family Primary School, Magherafelt, was scored and placed on the Department's priority list; (ii) what representations were made for and against the new build; and (iii) what consideration was given to the representations from the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools on making the need for a new build a priority.

(AQW 13435/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I recognise a new school build at Holy Family Primary School, Magherafelt, remains a priority for investment. While I would like to be in the position to fund everything that needs doing now, I must work within the budget available.

The protocol for selection is available on the Department's website at: http://www.deni.gov.uk/major\_works\_protocol.pdf.

Capital Investment: Eighteen Projects

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education to outline the interim process his Department used to identify the 18 projects for capital investment, announced on 25 June 2012, and in particular the criteria that were used to determine eligibility.

(AQW 13448/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The key criteria in determining eligibility for capital investment were major projects, confirmed as viable and core to emerging area plans, which could ensure effective use of capital funds over the remainder of the budget period.

The major works were selected on the basis that they support unmet need; effect rationalisation of the schools estate; address serious accommodation inadequacies, substandard conditions or overcrowding; or address undue reliance on temporary accommodation.

The relative condition and suitability of the current accommodation was used to differentiate between projects. Also, in recognition of the need to utilise capital funds in the period 2013-2015, projects were assessed based on their stage of development and the potential to have the project on site by the final quarter of 2012-13 or the first quarter of 2013-14.

The protocol for selection is available on the Department's website at: http://www.deni.gov.uk/major\_works\_protocol.pdf.

In relation to the Special Schools announced, initial area plans for Special Schools, submitted by the Boards at the end of January, set out the accommodation priorities in this sector.

The Special Schools announced had particular priorities in meeting their area's need to accommodate pupils; tackling serious accommodation inadequacies; and addressing policy priorities for Education.

Teachers: Religious Background

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education what percentage of teachers in (i) controlled; (ii) maintained; (iii) integrated; and (iv) Irish-medium primary schools come from a (a) Catholic; (b) Protestant; or (c) other religious background.

(AQW 13460/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department does not hold this information.

Primary Schools: Governor Vacancies

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education to detail the current number of Governor vacancies in each post-primary school.
(AQW 13464/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: My Department does not hold the information requested. Much of it will have to be requested from schools via the Education & Library Boards and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools. This will be done but I recognise that schools may not be in a position to respond during the holiday period so it may take some months before the full information is available. I will arrange for the information to be placed in the Assembly Library as soon as it is available.

North Down: Capital Spend on Youth Services

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education what is his Department's proposed capital spend on youth services in the North Down area in the next two financial years.

(AQW 13465/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The proposed capital spend on youth services in the North Down area in the 2012/13 financial year is £26,000. At this stage it is not possible to say what the proposed spend will be on youth services capital in the North Down area in the 2013/14 financial year.

North Down: Capital Spend on Youth Services

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education to detail his Department's capital spend on youth services in the North Down area in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13466/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The following table shows capital spend on youth services in the North Down area in each of the last five years relating to the controlled sector:

|   | 2007/08(£000s) | 2008/09(£000s) | 2009/10(£000s) | 2010/11(£000s) | 2011/12(£000s) |
|---|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|--------------------|
| Controlled Sector Youth Capital Expenditure | 0                  | 121                | 30                 | 27                 | 0                  |

The Department has also allocated capital funding to some voluntary youth sector organisations in the North Down area during this period. However, this information is not held in the format required by this request and could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

Area-based Planning

Mr Rogers asked the Minister of Education whether he will consider extending the consultation period, in relation to Area Based Planning, beyond the end of October 2012 to facilitate meaningful consultation with parents and schools.

(AQW 13498/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Education and Library Boards published the draft Post-primary Area Plans on their websites on 5 July. The consultation period will run for 16 full weeks from 5 July to 26 October. The consultation period has been set to take account of the school holidays.

I am confident that this timetable allows ample time for interested and affected parties to consider and respond to the plans. It is important to note that this is a public consultation which will attract comments, not just from schools but from a wider range of stakeholders. I do not believe that the timetable set needs to be extended.

School Estate: Use after Closure

Mr Rogers asked the Minister of Education what plans are in place for the utilisation of School Estates after a school has closed.
(AQW 13503/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Education and Library Boards have a responsibility, under Managing Public Money, to dispose of their surplus property. In doing this they adhere to the guidance on the disposal of public sector property issued by DFP's Land and Property Services. If surplus property is not required within the public sector it must be put on the open market.

Schools in other sectors are owned by Trustees. If such schools are declared as surplus, responsibility for their disposal or alternative use is the responsibility of those Trustees.

Investment Delivery Plan

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) why all the existing integrated schools in the Investment Delivery Plan did not meet the interim process criteria; and (ii) the specific criteria that each school did not meet.

(AQW 13526/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The key criteria in determining eligibility for capital investment as announced in my statement to the Assembly on 25 June were major projects, confirmed as viable and core to emerging area plans, which could ensure effective use of capital funds over the remainder of the budget period.

The protocol for selection is available on the Department's website at: http://www.deni.gov.uk/major\_works\_protocol.pdf.

The integrated schools within the Investment Development Plan are Omagh Integrated Primary School, Parkhall College and Priory College.

Omagh Integrated Primary School was considered for funding but because of issues concerning acquisition of land for the new school as well as the lead times around procurement processes, budget allocations for a new build could not be spent within the budget period.

Parkhall College is the subject of a recently announced consultation issued by NEELB on a plan for post-16 provision for the Antrim / Ballymena area, which considers expansion at the school. Clarity is needed by the Department on the scale and type of provision needed before investment can be made at Parkhall College.

Enrolment at Priory College is currently below the sustainable schools thresholds and the initial area plan from the SEELB indicates that consideration be given to increasing overall enrolment at the school and developing a shared sixth form centre. The school is being considered within a multi-schools capital build project which includes Redburn PS and Holywood PS.

Homophobic Bullying

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister of Education for his Department's assessment of the recent comments made by The UN Secretary General, Ban Ki-moon, that homophobic bullying is a moral outrage, a grave violation of human rights and a public health crisis.

(AQW 13544/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department's position on homophobic bullying is a matter of public record.

Bullying, in whatever form and for whatever reason, is unacceptable behaviour and this position is consistent with the views expressed by Ban Ki moon in December 2011.

Addressing the issue is a shared challenge which is why my Department funds and is a member of the local AntiBullying Forum. The Forum is developing a suite of guidance for schools, in consultation with children and young people, around the prevention of, and response to, various types of prejudice based bullying, including homophobic bullying.

Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Young People in Schools

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister of Education what action his Department is taking to ensure that there is no violation of the human rights of lesbian, gay and bisexual young people in schools.

(AQW 13545/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: All young people have a right to be educated in a safe environment and to be treated with respect and dignity, irrespective of their sexual orientation.

School Boards of Governors as well as principals and teachers have responsibilities to promote human rights, equality, good relations and diversity in schools and the wider community. These responsibilities are driven by the Department's education policies, education and employment legislation and anti-discrimination, human rights and equality legislation.

The teaching of Relationships and Sexuality Education (RSE) is an important element within the Personal Development and Mutual Understanding (in primary schools) and the Learning for Life and Work (in post-primary) areas of learning in the revised curriculum. Through RSE, the curriculum contains sufficient scope to deal with sexual orientation. Teachers have been trained in all requirements of the curriculum and guidance from the Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment makes schools aware of the wide range of RSE resources available. RSE is also inspected by the Education and Training Inspectorate.

The Department's Circular 2001/15 advises schools that they should have a policy setting out how they will address RSE within each pupil's curriculum. The policy should be the subject of consultation with parents, and should be endorsed by the school's Board of Governors. In developing or reviewing their RSE policies, schools have been advised by DE Circular 2010/01 to take account of guidance produced by the Equality Commission on Eliminating Sexual Orientation Discrimination.

I take my responsibilities with regard to equality and human rights very seriously and I will ensure that policy makers within the Department take account of the latest Equality Commission guidance on Section 75 responsibilities and the Human Rights Convention.

Schools: Qualifications

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of the proposal, by the Education Secretary in England, to scrap GCSE examinations and replace them with re-vamped O level type examinations.

(AQO 2304/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I am very concerned that, despite recent meetings with English officials, my Department was not informed of the direction of travel for GCSEs in England.

Decisions on any changes to GCSEs here are a devolved matter and I will ensure that all short term and long term impacts are considered as well as issues of equality.

Only recently I agreed a different policy from England in respect of GCSEs, to emphasise choice for schools, by retaining both linear and unitised assessment here. My Department will remain in regular contact with the Department for Education and will consider any impact on pupils here of potential changes to GCSEs offered in England, should they be adopted. I will also be seeking the views of my Ministerial counterpart in Wales whom I am meeting on Wednesday 4th July and my Scottish counterpart who I plan to meet in the near future.

Crumlin Integrated College

Mr Mitchel McLaughlin asked the Minister of Education for an update on the actions that the North Eastern Education and Library Board is taking to resolve the dispute between the parents and the principal of Crumlin Integrated College.

(AQO 2305/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Crumlin Integrated College was inspected in January 2010. In its' report the Education and Training Inspectorate identified unsatisfactory leadership and management. As a result, the Board of Governors, acting on advice from the North Eastern Education and Library Board, placed the Principal on precautionary suspension. This removed her from her normal duties, to enable her to undergo an intensive training programme, to address the performance issues highlighted in the inspection report.

Following the completion of the training programme, the Board of Governors agreed that the Principal should return to the school and resume her duties. This was to provide the Principal with the opportunity to demonstrate her effectiveness as a school leader. This is in line with the current "Procedures for dealing with Principals, teachers and Vice-Principals whose work is unsatisfactory".

The NEELB has advised me that they have engaged with parents on this matter as follows:

- Board Officers met with a group of parents on 14 June to address issues of concern;
- They have responded to parental concerns which came via the telephone; and
- They visited the school on 21 June to provide professional and pastoral support. During this visit the Principal was updated on issues which had developed during her suspension;

On the Principal's return, I understand that the Chair of the Board of Governors wrote to parents and also met with a representative group to discuss their issues and concerns.

The NEELB has advised me that the Principal will continue to receive training and support, as appropriate. Board officers will remain available, as required, to provide support to parents and the wider school community.

The NEELB has advised me that, to date, there have been no further requests from parents to meet. I also understand that there have been no further parental demonstrations following this initial period.

Maghera High School

Mr I McCrea asked the Minister of Education for an update on the future use of the former Maghera High School.

(AQO 2306/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Expressions of interest in the former Maghera High School site were received from Magherafelt Council, the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools, Comhairle na Gaelscolaíochta and Largantogher Enterprise Group. Magherafelt Council subsequently withdrew its interest in the site, however, I understand that recently their interest may be renewed and that the Board is awaiting correspondence to this effect.

All options for potential future education use of the site are being explored by the North Eastern Education and Library Board in conjunction with my Department.

Schools: Budgets

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister of Education whether he would consider improving the engagement that the Education and Library Boards must have with school principals before allocating budgets to them.

(AQO 2307/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: School Budgets are determined annually by the Department via the Common Funding Formula, a mechanism to distribute funding in a consistent and equitable way to schools using common measures of identified needs. The main information required to run the formula is gathered from the annual school census, which necessitates considerable engagement between the Boards and their schools to validate the data.

After the funding formula has been run the Department notifies Education and Library Boards of the budgets available for each school within their area before the start of the new financial year. Education and Library Boards then engage with their schools to advise them of their school allocation and any further centre funding to be allocated to their delegated budget.

Regular engagement between schools and Education and Library Boards occurs not only in determining budgets, but in the monthly monitoring of school budgets and the setting of realistic, achievable three year financial plans.

The LMS/management accounts sections are always available to meet mainstream/special schools and provide any information that will assist them in their budget management responsibilities.

I actively encourage Education and Library Boards to work closely with school authorities at all stages of the process to ensure fairness and accountability.

Schools: Hollywood

Mr Dunne asked the Minister of Education, in light of the decision to close Redburn Primary School, what progress has been made on funding the Hollywood Multi-Schools Project, involving Priory Integrated College, Holy Primary School and Hollywood Nursery School.

(AQO 2308/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In my statement to the Assembly on 25 June I announced a number of new build school projects which have been approved for investment.

While the Hollywood Schools will be disappointed that they were not included in my announcement, this in no way implies that they will not be considered for funding at a later stage within the area planning context.

Special Education: Speech-generating Devices

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Education how many Special Educational Needs Schools use speech-generating devices as a form of communication for children with autism.

(AQO 2309/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Education and Library Boards have informed me that 24 special schools use speech-generating devices to support children and young people with autism.

Primary Schools: Bangor

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education to outline his Department's strategy to address the over-subscription and under-provision of primary school places in eastern and central Bangor.

(AQO 2310/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: You will be aware that I commissioned the 5 Education and Library Boards, and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools working with NICIE and CnaG, to undertake strategic area planning based on each board area. This will align planned provision with the projected need for places in all sectors in all areas, including Bangor, through a network of educationally sustainable schools.

Integrated Schools: Area Planning

Mr Dickson asked the Minister of Education whether he can give an assurance that Integrated Schools will not be discriminated against in the Area Planning Process.

(AQO 2311/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I have commissioned the Education and Library Boards to draw up plans for education provision in their areas. When doing so, they will work with the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools. The Boards and CCMS have statutory responsibility for planning in their sectors.

The Terms of Reference for area planning also require the Boards to engage with the NICIE and CnaG when drawing up their plans. This will include the integrated sector.

The Boards will launch their plans on 5 July for public consultation. The consultation period will run until the end of October. In November the Boards will examine the responses and submit final drafts to my Department. I aim to be able to approve the plans by the end of December.

During the planning and consultation periods all sectors and interests will have a chance to give their views.

Academic Selection

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of the recent statement by the Catholic Bishops on academic selection.

(AQO 2312/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I welcome the recent statement by the Catholic Bishops on the future of academic selection.

Fear of change is understandable, and confidence building takes time, but we must never lose sight of the need to offer children the benefits of a non-selective education as quickly as possible.

School: Transporting Pupils

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education to detail the cost of transporting pupils to school by (i) bus; and (ii) taxi in each of the last five years, broken down by Education and Library Board.

(AQW 13594/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The costs for transporting pupils to school by bus and taxi for the last five years for which data are available are:

(i) BUS

| Year    | BELB       | NEELB       | SEELB       | SELB        | WELB        |

Schools Sustainability

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education to detail the six criteria against which schools will be judged on sustainability, including any minimum thresholds for each criterion which may apply.

(AQW 13597/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The six criteria and their associated quantitative and qualitative indicators are set out in detail in Annex A to the Sustainable Schools Policy. The criteria provide a framework for assessing the range of factors which may affect a school's sustainability.

The Policy document is accessible on the DE website at:

http://www.deni.gov.uk/a\_policy\_for\_sustainable\_schools-2.pdf

Department for Employment and Learning

Wolf Report

Mr Storey asked the Minister for Employment and Learning for his assessment of the Wolf Report and its implications for further and higher education in Northern Ireland.

(AQW 12950/11-15)

Dr Farry (The Minister for Employment and Learning): The Wolf Report, entitled “Review of Vocational Education”, is a review of vocational education in England for 14 to 19 year olds. It is important to recognise that, as such, the report does not apply to Northern Ireland.

The report's findings are condensed into 27 recommendations which highlight a number of themes, including: the use of vocational qualifications, particularly for school pupils; the concern that schools in England were using vocational qualifications in inappropriate ways to improve their performance in school league tables; the importance of competence in English and mathematics; the need to support low achievers more effectively; funding the learner, rather than qualifications; and the processes for developing vocational qualifications, including the use of national occupational standards.

While the report does not apply to Northern Ireland, and while many of the recommendations have no direct impact here, some of the recommendations could potentially have an indirect impact here, and a small number of recommendations have a direct impact across the UK, and hence in Northern Ireland.

The areas of the report that are UK-wide in nature, and which, consequently, have a direct impact in Northern Ireland, relate to recommendations 24 and 27. Recommendation 24 concerns the use of national occupational standards in education and training for young people, and how national employer bodies (but not only Sector Skills Councils) and local employers can contribute to qualification design. Recommendation 27 concerns how employers can be involved in qualification assessment and awarding processes. It is important to get the right balance between ensuring that qualifications meet the needs of employers in local areas while being sufficiently generic to be recognised by employers across the UK and further afield; and to agree the part that national occupational standards should play as the basis for vocational qualifications development. These issues are currently under active consideration across the UK, and through a UK-wide VQ Forum on which my Department is represented.

Areas of the report that have the potential to have an indirect impact here relate, primarily, to how the vocational qualification system operates as a market across the UK. As most of the vocational qualifications used in Northern Ireland are developed by the large awarding organisations that are based in England, for example City and Guilds and EdExcel, we need to ensure that the qualifications market is not “skewed” commercially towards new types of vocational qualifications that could be developed by awarding organisations to meet the outcomes of the Wolf Report in England, to the possible detriment of learners in Northern Ireland. It is also worth noting that the Wolf Report makes a number of recommendations regarding apprenticeships in England, for example in the area of contracting. Again, this is an area where Wolf has no direct impact on Northern Ireland, as we have our own contracting arrangements, and arrangements for developing apprenticeship frameworks.

The implications of the Wolf Report for further and higher education in Northern Ireland focus, primarily, on the nature of the vocational qualifications that are produced through the commercial market that I have described briefly above. My Department will continue to fund further education colleges to deliver the bulk of their provision from qualifications that are on the regulated qualifications frameworks, in particular the Qualifications and Credit Framework. We, therefore, have a strong interest in ensuring that such qualifications continue to meet the needs of employers. It is worth noting that our colleges work closely with relevant awarding organisations, and that they, too, can have an impact on the qualifications development process. The implications of the Wolf Report for universities are less direct, although they will, clearly, have an interest in the nature of qualifications that applicants to their courses have acquired.

Underspend in the 2011/12 Financial Year

Mr Easton asked the Minister for Employment and Learning to detail his Department's underspend in the 2011/12 financial year; and the areas in which the underspend occurred.
(AQW 13003/11-15)

Dr Farry: The final Departmental Expenditure Limit (DEL) budget – including Administration, Programme and Capital expenditure - was £921.2m. The Provisional Outturn (PO) was £919.8m giving an underspend of £1.4m, or 0.15%.

The Department's four Units of Service (UoS) within DEL comprise the following Divisions:

| UoS | Title                  | Divisions  |
|-----|------------------------|--|
| AO1 | Employment and Skills  | Employment Service (ES)                          |
|     |                        | Skills and Industry (SID)                        |
|     |                        | Further Education (FE)                           |
| AO2 | Higher Education       | Higher Education (HE)                            |
| AO3 | Student Support        | Higher Education (HE)                            |
| AO4 | Labour Market Services | Human Resources and Corporate Services (HRCSD)   |
|     |                        | Strategy, European and Employment Rights (SEERD) |
|     |                        | Finance  |

Administration expenditure was underspent by £397k (1.63%) on a budget of £24.3m.

Programme expenditure was underspent by £977k (0.11%) on a budget of £855.7m. The more significant areas creating this underspend are detailed as follows:

- In A01, Employment and Skills, underspends in SID and ES were offset by increased expenditure in FE; and
- In A02/A03, HE and Student Support, there was an HE underspend of £1.2m which was offset by an overspend in Student Support.

Capital expenditure was underspent by £46k (0.11%) on a budget of £41.2m. In A01, Employment and Skills, an underspend occurred in SID which was offset by increased expenditure in FE.

St Mary's University College, Belfast

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, pursuant to AQW 12468/11-15, (i) whether his predecessor agreed to omit St Mary's University College, Belfast from any proposed merger; (ii) if so, what guarantee was given to St Mary's; and (iii) to provide a copy of the documents relating to the omission and guarantee.

(AQW 13111/11-15)

Dr Farry: I am not in a position to comment on the deliberations of my predecessor as Minister. I repeat that St. Mary's University College did not ask to be part of the proposed merger and was, therefore, not included in the development of the merger proposal nor in the consultation document thereon.

Step Ahead Programme

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, pursuant to AQO 2141/11-15, why his Department did not bid for monies in relation to the Step Ahead Programme.

(AQW 13124/11-15)

Dr Farry: The Step Ahead initiative ceased in April and I currently have no plans to re-introduce this strand within the Steps to Work programme.

My primary focus at present is to ensure that sufficient resources are available to me in order to allow for the current level of Steps to Work provision to be maintained for an increasing number of participants.

Steps to Work itself is due to end in March 2013 and my Department is presently working on the development of a new programme of adult return to work assistance. This new employment programme will replace Steps to Work during 2013.

I also intend shortly to bring forward proposals on a youth employment initiative to assist young people aged between 18 and 24 to find work by equipping them with the skills required to compete for jobs and move into and progress through sustainable employment.

My Department is also currently assisting in the development of a strategy to address economic inactivity levels in Northern Ireland.

Mid Ulster: Higher Education

Mr Molloy asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what proportion of Regional College Higher Education provision is located within the Mid-Ulster constituency.

(AQO 2338/11-15)

Dr Farry: Higher Education in Further Education provision in the Mid-Ulster catchment area is delivered by South West College at its Cookstown and Dungannon campuses and by Northern Regional College at its Magherafelt campus.

In academic year 2010/11, there were 112 full-time and 146 part-time higher education enrolments across these three college campuses which represented 2.5% of the total higher education enrolments across the six regional colleges.

Since 2007 my Department has increased South West College's allocation of full-time higher education places from 186 to 420 places while Northern Regional College's allocation has been increased from 249 to 266. South West College and Northern Regional College were the only colleges to receive an increased allocation of full-time higher education places for the forthcoming academic year. In addition, my Department does not place a cap on part-time higher education places and therefore expansion of part-time provision within existing budgets offers colleges a way to increase higher education provision.

However, it is the responsibility of each individual college to manage its delivery of higher education in line with local priorities, as well as the priorities set by my Department. Decisions relating to the location of courses, and the allocation of student places across the college's campuses, are matters for the senior management of the individual regional college and not for my Department.

The recently published higher education strategy for Northern Ireland, 'Graduating to Success', details my Department's plans to work with the higher and further education sectors to develop a pilot scheme for the creation of university bases at the further education colleges. The pilot scheme will provide the opportunity for higher education students to undertake distance learning at the further education colleges, with access to the university materials and resources they need on a planned basis, thus improving rural access to higher education across Northern Ireland.

Construction Students: Employment

Mr Wells asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what proportion of students who have completed construction-related courses at Further Education Colleges have obtained employment in each of the last three years.

(AQO 2330/11-15)

Dr Farry: Currently, further education colleges do not hold information on the actual destination of students who have completed their courses in a consistent or comprehensive manner.

However, I agree that this would be valuable information, and I can confirm that I had already asked officials, as part of the Department's research agenda, to adopt a similar approach to the Higher Education Statistics Agency to develop a survey to collect comprehensive destination data for students in further education. The Department has had initial discussion with the sector on this issue.

The information that is available on the destinations of qualifiers from full-time professional and technical courses in 'Construction, Planning and the Built Environment' from the Northern Ireland Further Education Colleges shows that the majority progress into Higher Education, Further Education or training with 70% having chosen those routes in 2010/11.

Specifically in relation to employment, in 2010/11, 19% of full-time qualifiers from these courses who provided destination data were recorded as entering employment. The equivalent proportions in 2009/10 and 2008/09 were 25% and 31% respectively.

North Belfast: NEETs

Mr G Kelly asked the Minister for Employment and Learning for his assessment of the groups and agencies in North Belfast which are trying to improve education and employment prospects for young people who are categorised as NEETs.

(AQO 2327/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department has contracted with a number of organisations, including some in North Belfast, to cater for young unemployed people aged 16-18, through its Training for Success programme. These organisations currently meet the standards required to deliver high quality training, as assessed by the Education and Training Inspectorate.

In addition, for those young people aged 18-24 there are many opportunities funded through the Steps to Work programme in North Belfast and they too provide participants with access to quality accredited training and resources that will improve their skills and chances of a more sustainable future in employment. It focuses on training to match participants' skills with employers' requirements.

There are currently eight Community and Voluntary Sector providers involved in the delivery of the Department's Steps to Work programme in North Belfast.

Members will be aware that yesterday I made a further statement on "Pathways to Success", the Executive's strategy to address the issue of young people Not in Education, Employment or Training, which recognises the important role of voluntary and community sector organisations, and the sector will be represented on the NEET advisory group taking forward implementation of the strategy. The strategy proposes new programmes, including a community based access programme to engage and mentor young people and a Community Family Support Programme which will focus on the needs of the most disadvantaged families, to enable young people to re-engage with education, training or employment. The success of this strategy is dependent on all Departments playing their part.

Belfast Metropolitan College: Shankill Students

Mr Humphrey asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what action the Belfast Metropolitan College is taking to attract students from the Greater Shankill area.

(AQO 2333/11-15)

Dr Farry: Belfast Metropolitan College has informed me that it has used a variety of methods to attract students from the Greater Shankill area. These include:

- Distributing its prospectus in the local area;
- leaflet drops;
- advertising in community centres and local newspapers;
- participation in the Shankill community convention; and liaison with schools, community centres, and the local partnership board.

The College has advised that it will continue to work with local community centres, rebranding the Community Learning Centre and through the opening of the brand new E3 campus at Springvale

- Classes are also provided on the basis of requests from organisations e.g. through schools as part of family learning courses, and extended schools provision.
- In recent years BMC has had classes running in Edenmore Primary School, Blackmountain Primary School, Malvern St Primary School, and Glenwood Primary School amongst others.

- In addition there are 54 Essential Skills and Community Education classes planned for the Greater Shankill area in September 2012. Additional classes are expected when the Learner Access and Engagement programme is mainstreamed in September.
- The New Directions/ Threshold courses, addressing NEETS and long term unemployed, will also increase the college presence in the area.

My Department aims to widen participation in higher education through initiatives such as the Step-Up and Discovering Queens programmes which are delivered through schools in areas with traditionally low levels of participation in higher education.

The Step-Up programme is delivered in the Belfast Model School for Girls and the Belfast Boys' Model, and caters for many of the pupils from the Greater Shankill catchment area.

Dundalk Institute of Technology

Mr Brady asked the Minister for Employment and Learning whether the Careers Service is ensuring that students from Counties Armagh and Down are apprised of Higher and Further Education Course options at Dundalk Institute of Technology.
(AQO 2335/11-15)

Dr Farry: Advice and guidance about local, national and international courses is provided to all clients and is dependent on their individual requirements and career goals.

Where the Dundalk Institute of Technology can meet requirements, my careers staff will provide course information and discuss the application process with the student.

In addition to this, careers staff from the Newry area attend open days in Dundalk Institute of Technology, at least once a year to keep abreast of developments.

During the academic year staff from the Dundalk Institute attend careers events in schools in the Newry area. This provides my Department's careers advisers with the opportunity to liaise with the Institute on an ongoing basis.

Earlier this year staff from Dundalk Institute attended the UCAS higher education convention in Belfast. This provided them with the opportunity to meet approximately 8,500 students.

Republic of Ireland: Tuition Fees

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister for Employment and Learning whether he has considered exempting Northern Ireland students, who are planning to study STEM subjects in the Republic of Ireland, from paying fees under the new arrangements from September 2013.
(AQO 2336/11-15)

Dr Farry: I have no plans to exempt Northern Ireland students who study Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics - STEM - subjects from the loan arrangement that will be introduced in September 2013 to cover the student contribution charge to study in the Republic of Ireland or in Northern Ireland.

The revised student finance arrangements are being introduced to create a more level playing field for all of our students in terms of entitlement to student support, irrespective of which course they study or whether they study in Northern Ireland, Great Britain or the Republic of Ireland.

I remain committed to ensuring an increase in the number of students undertaking higher education courses in economically relevant subjects. Indeed, in December 2011, I announced an increase in student places in Northern Ireland, over the Comprehensive Spending Review period, targeted at economically relevant STEM subjects.

However, incentivising or targeting funding for individuals studying specific courses, in Northern Ireland or any other jurisdiction, would require an appropriate evidence base to justify the intervention, along with additional resources that are not currently available under my existing budget.

Careers Service

Mr Buchanan asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what work his Department is doing with the Department of Education to improve our Careers Service across all schools and colleges.
(AQO 2337/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department is responsible for the provision of impartial Careers information, advice and guidance. The Department of Education is responsible for the provision of Careers Education which enables young people to develop their knowledge, understanding, skills and experience, to manage their career development and make informed choices.

A joint Careers Strategy "Preparing for Success" has been in place between my Department and the Department of Education since January 2009. A Steering Group including officials from my department, the Department of Education, the Department of Enterprise Trade and Investment and the Education and Training Inspectorate, as well as representatives from business and education oversees and guides the implementation of the Strategy. The Steering Group also reviews the progress of the Implementation Plan.

Formal partnership agreements are in place between my Department's Careers Service and 99% of all post primary schools, to support the schools' careers education programmes. These agreements also extend to colleges of further education so that students can be referred to the Careers Service.

Work is ongoing between the two departments to ensure that all post primary schools are encouraged to provide pupils with access to impartial careers guidance from careers Advisers and to ensure effective and appropriate sharing of information.

Corporation Tax

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister for Employment and Learning for his assessment of the report 'Preparing for a Lower Corporation Tax Environment' commissioned by his Department.

(AQO 2339/11-15)

Dr Farry: The report shows that others have secured economic success in a low tax environment by having a clear understanding of the demand for skills, responding quickly to market changes and increasing the quantum, quality and relevance of skills available.

This report undoubtedly puts Northern Ireland in a stronger position to understand, plan for and take advantage of the full benefits of a lower Corporation Tax environment. The findings will help us build on our current skills development work and ensure we are continuing to support the region's future economic success.

The report sets out the importance of developing our skills base and the employability of our people. It highlights in particular the importance of strong skills in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics; management and leadership; and literacy, numeracy and employability skills.

These are areas that my Department is already focused on and they are central to the overarching 'Success through Skills – Transforming Futures' strategy.

However, while we are on the right path, the research shows that we will need to go even further to address the quantum of skills required under a lower Corporation Tax scenario. As a consequence, I have asked my officials to identify the further actions that would be required to prepare for a lower corporation tax environment.

Domestic Violence and Abuse

Ms Brown asked the Minister for Employment and Learning for his Department's assessment of the workplace policy on Domestic Violence and Abuse, including any steps taken to safeguard victims since its introduction.

(AQO 2340/11-15)

Dr Farry: The Department for Employment and Learning adheres to the NICS guidance on Domestic Violence and Abuse, which was issued in 2006 and is included in the NICS Human Resources Handbook. The policy applies to all staff and includes guidance for line managers in dealing with staff who may be victims of domestic violence as well as providing information on the help and support available to victims. In individual cases where additional Human Resources support is required, the Department takes appropriate action in line with the NICS guidance and within the parameters of its role as an employer. The Department of Finance and Personnel has an overarching responsibility for maintaining and, where appropriate, assessing the policy.

Tuition Fees: Republic of Ireland

Mr McElduff asked the Minister for Employment and Learning why his Department has revised the financial arrangements for students commencing Higher Education in the Republic of Ireland from September 2013.

(AQO 2341/11-15)

Dr Farry: The changes being introduced for Northern Ireland students entering higher education in the Republic of Ireland from 2013/14 mean they will be entitled to a loan to cover the student contribution charge as well as an enhanced maintenance support package. The maximum maintenance grant will increase by more than 70% from £2,000 to £3,475.

The thresholds for entitlement to maintenance grant will also increase. The lower threshold at which there is entitlement to full grant will increase from £11,805 to £19,203, while the upper threshold at which entitlement to partial grant ends will increase from £23,605 to £41,065. Consequently, in 2013/14, a new entrant from a household with an income of £20,000 would be entitled to a maintenance grant of £3,300 compared with £675 under the current system.

The changes will align the levels of support and the thresholds with those that apply for Northern Ireland students throughout the United Kingdom. They are consistent with recommendations in the independent student finance review by Joanne Stuart and the report on undergraduate mobility by the Irish Business and Employers Confederation and the Confederation of British Industry.

The student contribution charge in the Republic of Ireland has increased significantly in recent years. In 2006, when variable tuition fees of £3,000 were introduced here, the student contribution charge was €800 - around £650. In September 2012, this charge will have almost tripled to €2,250 and is expected to increase in each of the next three years.

It is inconsistent to continue to provide a non-repayable grant to cover this charge when our students at home and in Great Britain are expected to cover the cost of their tuition fees, with the majority applying for student loans for this purpose.

Overall, the new arrangements will provide a more level playing field in terms of the student finance package for local students regardless of where they choose to study in Northern Ireland, Great Britain or Republic of Ireland.

Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment

George Best Belfast City Airport

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what assistance is being given to the George Best Belfast City Airport in sourcing new airlines to replace the routes vacated by BMI Baby.

(AQW 12886/11-15)

Mrs Foster (The Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment): Tourism Ireland works with airports, airlines, ferry operators and other tourism interests to drive demand for services from key markets to Northern Ireland and to help maintain our vital network of routes. Tourism Ireland is currently working with George Best Belfast City Airport on the introduction of potential new routes, however discussions with the airport, and with airlines, are of a commercial and confidential nature.

Mainland UK: Visitors from

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the number of visitors from mainland UK on (i) day, weekend and short-stay trips; and (ii) holidays of more than a week, in each quarter of the last five years.

(AQW 12958/11-15)

Mrs Foster: There was no growth in the number of mainland UK visitors to Northern Ireland in 2011 compared with 2010 and prior to this there has been a general decline in visitors from this important market.

- I. The number of visitors from mainland United Kingdom (UK) on trips of 1-7 nights to Northern Ireland in each quarter of the last five years is presented in column (c) in Table 1. Figures presented relate to trips for any purpose (holiday, business, visiting friends/relatives and other). Data on day and weekend trips are not available.
- II. The number of visitors from mainland UK on trips of more than a week, visiting for any purpose, is presented for each quarter of the last five years in column (d) in Table 1. Data for the number of mainland UK visitors on holiday for more than a week, in each quarter of the last five years, cannot be disaggregated at this level.
- III. The mainland UK trips presented in Table 1 are based on mainland UK visitors who exited via a Northern Ireland air or sea port. Mainland UK visitors who exited via a port in the Republic of Ireland (ROI) but overnighted in Northern Ireland are not included.

Table 1: Mainland UK visitors to Northern Ireland who exited via a Northern Ireland air or sea port***

| (a)   | (b)     | (c)                     | (d)                           |
|-------|---------|-------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Year  | Quarter | 1-7 night trips (total) | 8 or more night trips (total) |

Geothermal Energy

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether her Department has any plans to give geothermal energy its own dedicated tariff, under the Renewable Heat Incentive, as the Department of Energy and Climate Change has done in Britain.

(AQW 12959/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Under the Great Britain Renewable Heat Incentive, introduced by the Department of Energy and Climate Change, there is currently no dedicated tariff for deep geothermal energy. Those wishing to install deep geothermal applications can however avail of the tariff available to large commercial ground source heat pumps.

DETI consulted on a proposed Northern Ireland Renewable Heat Incentive in July 2011. As part of these proposals a similar position was outlined whereby from the outset of the scheme there would not be a dedicated tariff for deep geothermal but support would be available through the large ground source heat pump tariff. At that time my Department carried out a call for evidence into deep geothermal to help inform a future specific tariff for the technology.

My Department is currently finalising proposals for the Northern Ireland Renewable Heat Incentive and I hope to reveal details of the scheme shortly.

Tourist Board: Surveys and Opinion Questionnaires

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many surveys and opinion questionnaires have been commissioned by the Tourist Board, in the last six years; and to detail the cost of each questionnaire.

(AQW 12966/11-15)

Mrs Foster: One of the Northern Ireland Tourist Board's (NITB's) key roles is to undertake research and evaluation to guide effective decision making and inform policy and strategy development. Research includes measuring tourism performance and monitoring visitor attitudes to better understand their needs. Evaluation includes the measurement of the Return on Investment for NITB's marketing in the Domestic and ROI markets.

The number of surveys commissioned by NITB in the last six years and the cost of each commissioned survey are detailed in Table 1 and Table 2 below

Table 1: The number of surveys commissioned by NITB 2005/06 to 2011/12

| Financial Year | Number of commissioned surveys |

Departmental Functions: Transfer to Local Government

Mr Lunn asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment which departmental functions she will seek to transfer to local government from 2015.

(AQW 12986/11-15)

Mrs Foster: I refer the Member to the reply given to AQW 12061 on 30 May 2012.

Quarries: Tons of Shale

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many tonnes of shale have been produced by quarries in each of the last five years.

(AQW 12999/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Quarries in Northern Ireland are obliged to provide information concerning their output to my Department under the Quarries (Northern Ireland) Order 1983.

Shale is grouped with clay for reporting purposes and no further disaggregation is available.

The most recent information available relates to 2010. The following tonnage has been reported, based on the returns made:

| Year | Annual Tonnage Reported for Clay and Shale Combined |
|------|---|
| 2006 | 1,164,445 tonnes                                    |
| 2007 | 1,399,616 tonnes                                    |
| 2008 | 869,225 tonnes                                      |
| 2009 | 1,004,517 tonnes                                    |
| 2010 | 726,727 tonnes                                      |

Quarries: Tons of Shale

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many tonnes of shale have been produced by quarries since the increase in the Aggregates Levy from 40 pence to £2.00 a tonne.

(AQW 13001/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The Aggregates Levy Scheme was withdrawn in December 2010 and since then, Northern Ireland quarries have been liable to pay £2.00 per tonne extracted.

Quarries in Northern Ireland are obliged to provide information concerning their output to my Department under the Quarries (Northern Ireland) Order 1983. However figures for shale are grouped with clay for reporting purposes and no further disaggregation is available.

The most recent information available relates to 2010 thus no information is available on the tonnage produced since the change in the Aggregates Levy occurred.

Greenhouse Gas Emission and EU Climate Protection Targets

Ms Ruane asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what action her Department has taken through the North-South Ministerial Council in relation to Greenhouse Gas emission and EU climate protection targets.

(AQW 13048/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Overall policy responsibility for matters relating to Greenhouse Gas emissions and climate protection targets rest with the Department of the Environment and, as such, my Department has not taken anything through the North-South Ministerial Council in this regard.

Arms Trade Treaty

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, in light of the unanimous support in the Assembly on 12 June 2012 for an Arms Trade Treaty, whether she can give an assurance that no financial or other support will be provided to companies that are engaged in the trade of arms to countries where there are concerns over their human rights records.

(AQW 13103/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My Department would not wish to see arms sold into countries where there are concerns over their human rights records.

As a result of UK foreign policy commitments and the implementation of European Union (EU) and United Nations (UN) sanctions and embargoes, companies in the UK are prevented from selling arms to a number of countries where, for example, the supply of equipment could be used for human rights abuses. Northern Ireland companies active in the defense sector are therefore subject to these restrictions.

Neither the Department nor its agencies can prevent companies active in the defense sector from seeking the financial or other support that is available to industry in general.

Shackleton Army Base, Ballykelly

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what discussions her Department has had with the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister on the future use of the former Shackleton army base at Ballykelly.

(AQW 13114/11-15)

Mrs Foster: There has been no change to the answer given to AQW 7450/11-15.

Financial Capability Strategy

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for an update on the development of a Financial Capability Strategy.

(AQW 13141/11-15)

Mrs Foster: DETI has commenced a process of engagement with a range of stakeholders to identify the scope and potential requirements for the new Financial Capability Strategy, in line with its commitment to develop a Strategy by 31st March 2013.

Construction: Public Contract Tenders

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for her assessment of (i) her Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13155/11-15)

Mrs Foster: All my Department's construction contracts are awarded through DFP's Central Procurement Directorate. We rely on their advice to ensure that appropriate criteria and financial thresholds are adopted and that small and medium sized businesses are not disadvantaged.

Proposed Bushmills Dunes Golf Resort

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to outline the targets for visitor numbers to the proposed Bushmills Dunes Golf Resort.

(AQW 13158/11-15)

Mrs Foster: As this is a private sector-led development visitor numbers are not available to my Department.

Giant's Causeway Designation as a World Heritage Site

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for her Department's assessment of the possible impact of losing the Giant's Causeway designation as a World Heritage Site on (i) tourist numbers; and (ii) tourism revenue.

(AQW 13211/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The Northern Ireland Tourist Board has not undertaken any research to assess the possible impact of losing the Giant's Causeway designation as a World Heritage Site.

Minimum Depth Between a Petroleum Extraction Target Zone and Aquifers: Professor Richard Davis's Recommendation

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment why Professor Richard Davis' recommendation on the minimum depth between a petroleum extraction target zone and aquifers will not be followed by the Geological Survey of Northern Ireland. (AQW 13212/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The Geological Survey of Northern Ireland has not made any decision as to whether to recommend that a minimum vertical separation between a shale gas extraction zone and aquifer bodies should be specified and, if it were to be, what that distance should be. The answer to AQW10864/11-15 gives further explanation. Any recommendation by GSNi will be made after consideration of relevant available evidence and after consultation with other regulatory bodies and external experts.

Belfast International Airport: Car Parks

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what are the health and safety implications for car parks at Belfast International Airport that are operating without planning permission. (AQW 13250/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Operators of car parks at Belfast International Airport are subject to the full requirements of health and safety at work legislation whether the car park has planning permission or not.

Presbyterian Mutual Society

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for an update on the current position of former savers with the Presbyterian Mutual Society and the repayment of any monies which are outstanding. (AQW 13270/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Following the package of financial assistance made available to the Presbyterian Mutual Society (PMS) in July 2011, the Joint Supervisors have issued total payments in excess of £232 million in accordance with the terms of the approved Scheme of Arrangement to PMS members.

The Joint Supervisors are required to repay the DETI secured loan of £175 million, over a period of up to 10 years, and then to make repayments of any excess cash in the following order:

- (i) the repayment to the relevant members holding PMS Loan Capital in respect of the Voluntary Deferred Loans;
- (ii) the repayment to the relevant members holding PMS Loan Capital in respect of the Mandatory Deferred Loans
- (iii) the repayment of any amounts due and unpaid to any member of the Society holding PMS Share Capital; and
- (iv) the repayment of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland (PCI) Loan and the DETI Unsecured Loan.
- (v) Any surplus to be paid to DETINI

Invest NI: Jobs Created by

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, pursuant to AQW 11022/11-15, which company was responsible for creating the only job by a first time international investor in Foyle in 2011/12; and why only one job was created in Foyle out of the total of 601 jobs created by first time international investors. (AQW 13357/11-15)

Mrs Foster: In addition to the one job the member refers to in his question, the original response to AQW 11022 also highlighted an additional 24 jobs promoted in the Foyle constituency by first time international investors offered support through the Jobs Fund. The company that promoted both these 24 jobs and the 1 job referred to in this question was One Stop Data Ltd. In addition to these 25 jobs, there were 324 jobs promoted by both local businesses and follow-on projects by externally-owned businesses in the constituency during the year. Furthermore, Invest NI promoted more inward investment jobs per head of population in Foyle than the Northern Ireland average.

Invest NI has limited scope for 'directing' investment to specific Parliamentary Constituency Areas. Although it may be able to influence the location decisions of some inward-investment projects, assistance patterns are demand-led by businesses wishing to improve their competitiveness and gain a larger share of international markets. In the case of established businesses, reinvestment patterns will usually be determined by the existing location of the business.

It should also be noted that areas such as Parliamentary Constituency Areas (PCAs) are not self-contained labour markets. A project assisted in a particular location has the potential to create benefits across a much wider area. Northern Ireland is a relatively small place and evidence indicates that many investments draw their workforce from areas beyond constituency area boundaries.

Gas Network

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what percentage of households in Greater Belfast and the 12 towns area are connected to the gas network.

(AQW 13372/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My Department does not hold the information requested, however Phoenix Natural Gas has advised the Department that by the end of 2011, some 51% of the properties the company had made gas available to within its Greater Belfast licensed area had connected to natural gas.

firmus energy has advised that of the properties which their gas networks pass in their 12 towns licensed area, some 28% are connected to natural gas.

Department of Finance and Personnel

Civil Service: Pay Anomalies

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel when pay anomalies in the Civil Service will be resolved; and whether any settlement payments will be backdated.

(AQW 13128/11-15)

Mr Wilson (The Minister of Finance and Personnel): I am currently considering proposals submitted by officials relating to the pay and grading review which seek to address a number of anomalies in the current pay system. They concern a very significant issue which requires due consideration and it is not therefore possible to give an indication of the potential outcome at this stage. As a result, it would not be appropriate to comment on any potential element of the proposals.

Construction: Public Contract Tenders

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for his assessment of (i) his Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13156/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The tendering of construction contracts by my department is undertaken by Central Procurement Directorate (CPD). The process typically involves the selection of suitable contractors to be invited to tender, followed by the assessment of the tenders received and the award of the contract to the successful tenderer.

The criteria used at the selection stage include having adequate financial standing, which is proportionate and relevant to the contract in question. CPD sets financial thresholds, which are based on the annual expenditure on the contract. CPD relies on Constructionline for the financial assessment of individual firms. (Constructionline is the UK's register of construction related contractors and consultants pre-qualified to work for public sector clients.) The selection process has also been developed with Small and Medium sized Enterprises (SMEs) in mind. Where a firm does not have the financial standing to tender for a contract in its own right, the process allows the contractor or consultant to apply as part of a consortium of two or more firms.

Once selected, firms can be invited to tender on the basis of lowest price or a combination of quality and price. Many SMEs feel that the latter puts them at a disadvantage compared to larger contractors. In response to this, CPD has recently developed simplified procedures for contracts which are valued under the relevant European threshold for works, services or supplies. These procedures promote the use of lowest acceptable price for straightforward construction related contracts and have been approved by the Procurement Board. They are set out in a new Procurement Guidance Note which was published on 21 May 2012.

Bangor Town Centre: Vacant Non-domestic Properties

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the number of vacant non-domestic properties in Bangor Town Centre in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13194/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Information on the number of vacant non-domestic properties in the Bangor Town Centre area in each of the last five years is not available as data is collated at District Council and Ward level only.

The following table indicates the number of vacant non-domestic properties in each ward within the North Down District Council Area as at 24th June 2012 (the latest date for which information is available), 31st March 2012, 31st March 2011 and 31st March 2010 (the earliest date for which comparable information is available).

Civil Service E02 Grade: Review

Mr P Maskey asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail (i) why 45.29 percent of Executive Officer II staff in the Civil Service are paid less than the highest paid Administrative Officer staff; and (ii) what action he intends to take to address this matter. (AQW 13208/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The situation of Executive Officer II staff earning less than the highest paid Administrative Officer is caused by overlapping payscales. This overlap was created as a result of the alignment of the Administrative Officer pay scale with the comparable Technical Grade scale, which was implemented as part of the equal pay settlement. The AA and AO pay scale maxima now exceed almost all comparable pay scales across various UK departments and devolved administrations surveyed. I am currently considering proposals which will address this position.

Zero Carbon Homes Scheme

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many applications and inquiries his Department has received about the zero carbon homes scheme since it closed, given that it is still advertised on the departmental website and was originally intended to expire in 2015.

(AQW 13266/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Since the closure of the Low/Zero Carbon Homes (L/ZCH) scheme at 31st March 2012, Land & Property Services have received no applications for the scheme. There have been two enquiries from an MP/MLA and an MLA regarding a mutual constituent.

Low Carbon Homes Scheme

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel whether there are any plans to compensate individuals who have built homes with the expectation of availing of the low carbon homes scheme, but are not yet registered, given that it is still advertised on the departmental website and was originally intended to expire in 2015.

(AQW 13267/11-15)

Mr Wilson: There is no basis to enable acceptance of application for Low/Zero Carbon Homes rate relief after the final closure date of 31st March 2012. The closure of the scheme, with all the relevant dates and procedures was widely publicised at the time. The existence of unedited historic literature on one webpage, contrary to all other available information, does not constitute the basis for compensation.

Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety

Domiciliary Care Packages

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether Health and Social Care Trusts will be putting their domiciliary care packages out to tender in 2013/14.

(AQW 12812/11-15)

Mr Poots (The Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety): The Western trust had completed a retendering of domiciliary care contracts recently, but following a legal challenge, has decided to recommence that process. The Southern, South Eastern and Belfast Trusts are in the process of preparing to tender /retender their services working collaboratively with the Procurement and Logistics Service of the BSO, and the Northern Trust is also collaborating in that process.

We are already aware of the need for reform and modernization in our health and social care services due to much the publicized demographic situation. Transforming Your Care has given renewed impetus to this reform and my Department, in partnership with the HSC, will continue to develop and expand a range of flexible, responsive and person centred domiciliary care services.

Domiciliary Care

Ms S Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what plans there are for domiciliary care in each Health and Social Care Trust area beyond 2012/13.

(AQW 12813/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Western trust had completed a retendering of domiciliary care contracts recently, but following a legal challenge, has decided to recommence that process. ## Health Service Drug and Alcohol Detoxification Services

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the (i) capital; and (ii) resource funding allocated to Health Service drug and alcohol detoxification services in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13181/11-15)

Mr Poots: It is not possible to disaggregate capital funding specifically allocated for detoxification services.

Financial returns provided by Trusts to the Health and Social Care Board indicate that expenditure on addiction detoxification services in each of the last five years was as follows:

|         | £m    |
|---------|-------|
| 2006/07 | £2.49 |
| 2007/08 | £2.83 |
| 2008/09 | £3.30 |
| 2009/10 | £3.38 |
| 2010/11 | £3.29 |

The allocation of funding to detox services over the three years to 2014/15 is not known at this time but will take account of the outcome of the population planning process within the context of Transforming Your Care."

Health Service Drug and Alcohol Detoxification Services

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the projected allocation of (i) capital; and (ii) resource funding for drug and alcohol detoxification services until the end of this Assembly mandate.

(AQW 13183/11-15)

Mr Poots: It is not possible to disaggregate capital funding specifically allocated for detoxification services.

Doctors: Industrial Action on 21 June

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in relation to the industrial action taken by doctors on 21 June 2012, to detail (i) how many individuals took part; and (ii) for his assessment of the effect on the public.

(AQW 13207/11-15)

Mr Poots: Health and Social Care (HSC) organisations are currently collating information on the numbers of doctors employed in the health service who took part in the industrial action.

For General Practitioners (GPs), the HSC Board, which manages the performers list of GPs entitled to provide services in N Ireland, received returns from all 353 GP practices of which 180(51%) advised they were supporting the industrial action while 173(49%) of practices were providing a normal service. For those patients whose GPs took industrial action and that required urgent appointments, they were seen on the day. Those patients that were considered non-urgent will receive rescheduled appointments.

In terms of the impact on services Trusts are also seeking to establish the full picture in terms of the cancellation of outpatient appointments, inpatient day cases, surgical procedures etc. but provisional estimates would indicate that the overall effect of the industrial action on the public was not the level of disruption expected and therefore the impact on the public was limited. All emergency and urgent work proceeded as normal. Trusts are working to establish the impact of postponed treatment but there was disruption to services through the cancellation of appointments and procedures that were considered non urgent. Trusts are now working to reschedule those patients who had treatment or care postponed through the BMA's industrial action.

Fire and Rescue Service: Wildfires

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) what engagement the Fire and Rescue Service has had, to date, with the stakeholder groups in relation to wildfires; and (ii) what steps he is taking to ensure that the Service commits to full co-operation with any future wildfires forum.

(AQW 13209/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Ireland Fire and Rescue Service (NIFRS) has engaged with a wide range of organisations on the issue of wildfire prevention in the countryside, including, among others, the Belfast Hills Partnership, the Safer Mournes Partnership, Mourne Heritage Trust, the Forestry Service, PSNI and local Councils. It has worked with key stakeholders to develop site specific risk assessments and prepare annotated wildfire maps for all areas of risk.

I can confirm that NIFRS welcomes the development of, and would fully participate in, a Wildfire Forum. It has already engaged at a strategic level with Government Departments and stakeholder groups about the possible establishment of such a forum.

Marian Price

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety given that Marian Price has been moved from Hydebank Wood Prison to hospital, whether an assessment has been made of any comparisons between her current medical condition and the medical condition she was suffering from prior to her release in 1980.

(AQW 13242/11-15)

Mr Poots: Ms Price was transferred from HMP Hydebank Wood to a hospital on 22 June. It is not the policy of the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust to disclose any information on a patient's past or present condition without the patient's consent.

Western Health and Social Care Trust: Ambulance and Emergency Day Crew Staff

Mr McElduff asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many of the ambulance and emergency day crew staff in the Western Health and Social Care Trust area received (i) two meal breaks; and (ii) one meal break in each shift, in the last six months, broken down by ambulance service station.

(AQW 13263/11-15)

Mr Poots: Information in the form requested is not readily available and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Agenda for Change: Classification

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) how many staff are still awaiting classification, under Agenda for Change, broken down by the year their employment commenced; and (ii) when all classifications will be completed.

(AQW 13310/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) There are 1,702 (of the 65,000 staff) that are subject to the Agenda for Change arrangement that have yet to receive an Agenda for Change grading. These staff are employed in one of the 257 job descriptions that require full job evaluation. Where Agenda for Change applies, all other staff have been job graded. Details of the year in which any member of HSC staff commenced employment is not held centrally by my Department and could only be obtained from individual HSC employers at a disproportionate cost.
- (ii) HSC employers are carrying out the Agenda for Change evaluation process in partnership with Trade Union representatives and are at varying stages in this process. There is no deadline for the completion of this job evaluation exercise.

Umbilical Cord Blood Donation

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail (i) how maternity units inform expectant mothers that blood from the umbilical cord may be donated; and (ii) what policies are in place to promote umbilical cord blood donation.

(AQW 13311/11-15)

Mr Poots: Cord Blood donation is licensed by the Human Tissue Authority. Umbilical cord blood donations for public cord banking are only collected at the Royal Jubilee Maternity Hospital or at the Mater Hospital.

The matter of public cord blood donation is discussed at the antenatal stage in the Belfast Trust. In the case of directed donations, the consultant of the relative who may benefit from being treated with the cord blood and the obstetric team will discuss the donation.

Alcohol Abuse: Beds in Accident and Emergency Departments

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his Department's assessment of the percentage of beds in Accident and Emergency Departments that are used by patients as a result of alcohol abuse.

(AQW 13334/11-15)

Mr Poots: The information requested is not available.

Southern Health and Social Care Trust Area: Occupational Therapists

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) how many occupational therapists are employed in the Southern Health and Social Care Trust area; and (ii) what is the average waiting time to be seen by an occupational therapist.

(AQW 13335/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) As at 31st March 2012, there were 1741 (152.78 Whole-time equivalent) occupational therapists employed within the Southern HSC Trust.

1 Source: Human Resource Management System

- (ii) Table 1 below details the number of people waiting from referral to treatment by an occupational therapist, by aggregate time band, in the Southern HSC Trust at 18th June 2012.

Table 1

|                          | Waiting time from referral to treatment for Occupational Therapy (by weeks waiting) <sup>2</sup> |         |         |          |     |       |
|--------------------------|--|---------|---------|----------|-----|-------|
|                          | 0 to 3   | >3 to 6 | >6 to 9 | >9 to 13 | >13 | Total |
| Number of people waiting | 371  | 259     | 175     | 138      | 157 | 1,100 |

- 2 Figures detailed in reply to this question were provided on request by the HSC Board and have not been validated by the DHSSPS.

The median waiting time from referral to treatment in the Southern HSC Trust was “>3 to 6” weeks.

Newry Occupational Health Department

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety when the Newry Occupational Health department, which has been temporarily relocated to hospitals in Armagh and Craigavon due to staff shortages, will be returned to Daisy Hill Hospital, Newry.

(AQW 13336/11-15)

Mr Poots: I am advised that the Southern Trust Occupational Health (OH) Service normally operates from three locations; Daisy Hill, St Luke's and Craigavon Area hospitals.

After working closely with staff and trade unions at Daisy Hill Hospital, it was agreed that the OH Department would temporarily relocate for a period of nine months beginning at the end of April 2012. This relocation was deemed necessary due to difficulty in recruiting specialist OH staff to provide full time maternity leave cover.

A limited OH service is still offered at Daisy Hill and arrangements are in place to provide urgent OH attention if required.

Foyle Search and Rescue: Funding

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail (i) the funding his Department currently provides to Foyle Search and Rescue; and (ii) what additional funding he can provide to cover the estimated running costs of £90,000 per annum.

(AQW 13350/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department does not provide funding for the Foyle Search and Rescue.

Antrim Area Hospital: Sexual Assault Referral Centre

Mrs Hale asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) for an update on the planned development of a sexual assault referral centre at the Antrim Area Hospital; and (ii) the timescale for its completion.

(AQW 13377/11-15)

Mr Poots: A key initiative in the effort to raise the standards of care for all victims of sexual violence in Northern Ireland is the establishment of a regional Sexual Assault Referral Centre (SARC) which is being built within the grounds of Antrim Area Hospital and will be managed by the Northern Health and Social Care Trust (NHSCT).

The building work is due to be completed by December 2012 and the SARC is expected to open in February 2013.

Department of Justice

Martin Corey: Temporary Release

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) whether he was approached by the Minister of Education, or any other MLA or Sinn Féin representative, requesting the release of Martin Corey for his brother's funeral; (ii) if so, on what dates; (iii) why he allowed the temporary release of Mr Corey; and (iv) what assurances were given that he would be accompanied throughout the service before being returned to HMP Maghaberry.

(AQW 12407/11-15)

Mr Ford (The Minister of Justice ): An MLA contacted me on Tuesday 22 May 2012 and the Minister of Education contacted me on Wednesday 23 May 2012 to state their support for Martin Corey's application for compassionate temporary release to attend his brother's funeral.

I took the decision to grant Mr. Corey compassionate temporary release after considering the particular individual circumstances of the case including the humanitarian aspects.

I sought and received assurances from the Minister of Education that he would collect Mr. Corey from HMP Maghaberry, accompany him to and throughout the funeral mass, and return him to the prison immediately after the conclusion of the service.

In addition, assurances were sought and received from Mr. Corey who agreed to remain in the company of the Minister of Education at all times, restrict contact to members of the immediate family circle and return to prison immediately after the conclusion of the funeral mass.

Death in Custody

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12016/11-15, in relation to the two members of Prison Service staff involved in the investigation or disciplinary process following the death in custody of John Deery, for his assessment of whether this was (i) appropriate; and (ii) met the criteria of best practice and Labour Relations Agency guidelines.

(AQW 12906/11-15)

Mr Ford: I am content that it was appropriate for both members of staff to have been involved in the investigation or disciplinary process following the death of Mr Deery. They were carrying out their duties in accordance with the current Code of Conduct and Discipline, the content of which was agreed with relevant staff associations.

Prostitution: Legislation

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he will amend legislation to upgrade the charge of knowingly engaging the services of a prostitute who has been coerced from a summary offence, to ensure more severe penalties on conviction and the removal of the current statutory time barring.

(AQW 12907/11-15)

Mr Ford: The current summary offence of paying for the services of a prostitute subjected to force is a strict liability offence, as it is in England and Wales. This means that the question of whether or not the individual knew that the prostitute was being subjected to force is irrelevant to that particular offence.

If a person knowingly paid for sex with a person who was not freely consenting, the charge would be for a non-consensual offence such as rape, which is indictable.

Central Investigation Service

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Justice whether the Criminal Justice Inspectorate regulates the Central Investigation Service, attached to the Department of Agricultural and Rural Development, and, if not, to outline the reasons why.

(AQW 12912/11-15)

Mr Ford: Criminal Justice Inspection Northern Ireland (CJINI) does not regulate the Central Investigation Service, attached to the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development. CJINI is not a regulatory body. The list of organisations which CJINI has a statutory mandate to inspect can be found at Section 46 of the Justice (Northern Ireland) Act 2002.

Owen Roe and James McDermott

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice why a supervising officer, rather than a designated risk manager, was assigned to Owen Roe and James McDermott, given that they were subject to Sexual Offences Prevention Orders and were both regarded as a potential risk.

(AQW 12984/11-15)

Mr Ford: In this case, the court made a supervision and treatment order which requires the person in respect of whom it is made to be under the supervision of a social worker or probation officer for a period specified in the order. A social worker employed by the Western Health and Social Care Trust was nominated by the court to fulfil that role.

A sexual offences prevention order does not require the appointment of a designated risk manager. The police were, however, responsible for the enforcement of the conditions in the order and worked alongside the nominated social worker to manage risk.

Zoe Crowe

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he will order an investigation into the Northern Ireland Prison Service's handling of the case of prison officer Zoe Crowe, including who was responsible for the action taken against her; and whether he has any plans to instigate disciplinary proceedings against those involved.

(AQW 13005/11-15)

Mr Ford: It would be inappropriate to comment on this individual case as it is the subject of a complaint to the Office of Industrial Tribunals and Fair Employment Tribunal (Northern Ireland).

Thomas Ward

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, in light of his statement that the relevant agencies involved with Thomas Ward have examined the matter and do not believe that there are sufficient issues in the Public Protection Arrangements process which need to be addressed through the serious case review procedure, (i) why this stance has now been changed and reviews undertaken; (ii) whether he ordered the reviews; and (iii) whether the reviews will constitute a serious case review.

(AQW 13008/11-15)

Mr Ford: Despite the fact that the case does not fall within the current guidelines for a serious case review as defined in the current PPANI guidance, the PPANI Strategic Management Board, representing the relevant agencies, decided to undertake a review of this case.

I have asked to see the conclusions of the review.

Security Industry Authority Licence

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice whether a Security Industry Authority (SIA) licence is required by a firm that has been hired to clamp vehicles on private property; and whether the SIA licence number should be displayed on the signage prohibiting parking on the private property.

(AQW 13011/11-15)

Mr Ford: There are two types of SIA licence currently used for vehicle immobilisation (wheel clamping) on private land in Northern Ireland.

- 1 A front line licence is required by individuals if they undertake wheel clamping.
- 2 A non-front line licence is required for those who manage, supervise and/or employ individuals who engage in this activity.

There is no requirement for an SIA licence number to be displayed on signage however, if an individual collects a release fee, they must provide a receipt which includes their unique licence number.

Prison Officers: Voluntary Early Retirement Scheme

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Justice why prison officers included in Tranche One of the Voluntary Early Retirement Scheme had their requests to continue their employment refused, whilst those in Tranches Two and Three were permitted to withdraw from the scheme and remain in the Northern Ireland Prison Service.

(AQW 13012/11-15)

Mr Ford: There were no requests to withdraw from the scheme from staff in tranche one. However, there was a small number of verbal requests to defer dates of leaving, but this was not possible as staff were released on a least cost basis.

When staff are selected and given a leaving date, the terms of the Voluntary Early Retirement Scheme become binding and cannot be revoked.

As the Northern Ireland Prison Service was unable to provide staff who received letters two and three with a leaving date, they were not legally bound to leave and were given the option to withdraw from the Scheme. A decision to withdraw from the Scheme is final and staff cannot reverse this decision or reapply to this Scheme at a later date.

Roe House: Prison Population

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12384/11-15, whether an extension of the built facilities is being considered as a means of addressing the growth of prisoner numbers.

(AQW 13013/11-15)

Mr Ford: As part of the ongoing NIPS Estate Strategy a new 120 bed residential unit and a 20 bed special protection unit are due to open in Maghaberry Prison at the end of August 2012. These new facilities will provide sufficient, modern accommodation for the general population and will be called Quoile and Shimna Houses.

The Estate Strategy also identifies plans to bring forward proposals for a further 240 bed residential block to be built at Maghaberry by 2012.

Brian Brendan Lynch: Londonderry Magistrates' Court

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, in relation to the case of Brian Brendan Lynch at Londonderry Magistrates' Court, (i) the dates on which the offences were allegedly committed; (ii) the date of the first appearance at the Magistrates' Court; (iii) how many times the case has been listed at court and for what reasons; and (iv) the total cost of this case to date, including the cost of legal aid.

(AQW 13022/11-15)

Mr Ford: Brian Brendan Lynch first appeared in court on 22 September 2011 charged with a range of offences which were allegedly committed on 13 August 2011. His case has been listed at court on 24 occasions, the reasons for listing are predominantly for case management and the variation of bail.

The estimated cost of the case to date is outlined in the table below:

| Cost Type  | Estimated Cost |
|--|----------------|
| Defence (Legal Aid Costs) <sup>2</sup>                       | N/A            |
| Police <sup>3</sup>  | £0             |
| Court Costs - Judiciary and Staff Costs, Jury and Facilities | £1,133         |
| Total   | £1,133  |

- 1 It is not possible to provide details of internal costs for individual PPS cases. There are no external costs as yet.
- 2 As the case is on-going no legal aid fees have as yet been paid.
- 3 No additional costs have been incurred by PSNI. All court appearances attended by PSNI have been part of the Investigating Officers regular duties.

Relocation of DARD Headquarters

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Justice what discussions he has had with the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development in relation to the relocation of DARD headquarters from Dundonald House, given that 174 of his departmental staff are based in the building.

(AQW 13043/11-15)

Mr Ford: My officials keep in contact with their DARD colleagues about their plans. At this time, there are no plans to relocate Prison Service staff from Dundonald House.

Compassionate Leave: Prisoner Request

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice to detail the occasions when he has intervened in, or over-ruled, a decision to refuse a prisoner's request for compassionate leave.

(AQW 13067/11-15)

Mr Ford: I have intervened in one case relating to a prisoner's request for compassionate leave and refer the member to the details set out in my answer to AQW 12473/11-15.

Northern Ireland Prison Service Code of Conduct and Discipline

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, in relation to the Northern Ireland Prison Service Code of Conduct and Discipline, on how many occasions has accepted practice, rather than procedural or standard practice been used (i) as a defence against disciplinary charges by staff who were under investigation; and (ii) by investigating governors in disciplinary procedures; and for his assessment of whether policies and procedures need to be amended.

(AQW 13068/11-15)

Mr Ford: Information in the form requested is not readily available and could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

I would however, refer the member to the replies I provided to AQWs 12222/11-15 and 12364/11-15 when the member was advised that the Northern Ireland Prison Service is currently developing a new Professional Code of Conduct to replace the current COCD; and that staff involved in the application of the current Code of Conduct and Discipline (COCD), do so in accordance with agreed guidelines.

Policing and Community Safety Partnerships: Recruiting Independent Members

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice how the cost of recruiting independent members to the Policing and Safety Partnerships compares to the cost of recruiting such members to the previous District Policing Partnerships.

(AQW 13071/11-15)

Mr Ford: The process of appointing independent members to Policing and Community Safety Partnerships (PCSPs) and District Policing and Community Safety Partnerships (DPCSPs) is a restricted function of the Northern Ireland Policing Board. However I understand that, based on figures relating to the initial recruitment round, costs have been significantly reduced.

The Policing Board has advised that the cost stands at approximately £226,000; this does not include the cost of the further recruitment process, which is not yet complete. The cost of the last recruitment round for District Policing Partnerships, which took place in 2007/08, was approximately £510,000.

Speed Detection Cameras: Location and Timing

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Justice whether he has held any discussions with the Chief Constable regarding the current criteria that is used, and any potential changes to the criteria, for the location and timing of speed detection cameras.

(AQW 13074/11-15)

Mr Ford: I have not had any discussions with the Chief Constable on this matter. Enforcement of speed limits is an operational matter for the Chief Constable while lead responsibility for road safety policy rests with the Minister for the Environment.

Maghaberry Prison and Magilligan Prison: Prisoners

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Justice for an estimate of the total cost to the public purse of damage caused by deliberate actions on the part of prisoners detained in (i) Maghaberry Prison; and (ii) Magilligan Prison, over the last ten years.

(AQW 13077/11-15)

Mr Ford: Information in the form requested is not readily available and could only be obtained/compiled at disproportionate cost.

Offenders Levy: Revenue Raised

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Justice how the revenue which is raised through the Offenders Levy will be allocated.

(AQW 13084/11-15)

Mr Ford: Revenue collected from the Offender Levy will be used solely to resource a dedicated Victims of Crime Fund. The Fund will pay for projects which support victims and witnesses in the justice process, as well as for local initiatives taken forward by groups working with victims in the community.

It is expected that up to £500,000 per annum will be generated from the Levy once it has been rolled out in full across all relevant sentences and penalties.

However, during this first phase of the Levy's introduction, it is expected that up to £250,000 will be accrued annually.

Offenders Levy: Revenue Raised

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Justice how much revenue he anticipates will be raised through the Offenders Levy.

(AQW 13085/11-15)

Mr Ford: Revenue collected from the Offender Levy will be used solely to resource a dedicated Victims of Crime Fund. The Fund will pay for projects which support victims and witnesses in the justice process, as well as for local initiatives taken forward by groups working with victims in the community.

It is expected that up to £500,000 per annum will be generated from the Levy once it has been rolled out in full across all relevant sentences and penalties.

However, during this first phase of the Levy's introduction, it is expected that up to £250,000 will be accrued annually.

Serious Case Reviews

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12823/11-15, on what dates did each agency commence its review into the handling of the case of Thomas Ward; and if, and when, these reviews will be published.

(AQW 13110/11-15)

Mr Ford: The reviews were commenced in June 2012.

The reviews will be presented to the September meeting of the PPANI Strategic Management Board (SMB) and decisions on publication will be taken then, with due regard to data protection and other sensitivities.

Prisons: Drugs Culture

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he plans to instigate additional measures to address the drugs culture within prisons, both in relation to illegal drugs and the misuse of prescription drugs.

(AQW 13112/11-15)

Mr Ford: I can confirm that Prison Service officials are in the process of initiating a review of the effectiveness of the range of measures currently in place to minimise the availability and use of illegal drugs in our prisons. In addition, the South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust and the Prison Service are committed to addressing recent concerns in relation to 'in possession' medication, in particular to consider 'supervised swallow' arrangements for certain categories of drugs.

Dessie Grew and Martin McCaughey

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice to detail the total cost of the historical inquest into the 1990 deaths of Dessie Grew and Martin McCaughey.

(AQW 13143/11-15)

Mr Ford: The total costs associated with the Coroner's investigation into the deaths of Desmond Grew and Martin McCaughey would require a manual trawl of records which would incur disproportionate cost.

However estimated costs from September 2009 are set out in the table below.

| Cost Type                            | Amount (£)     |
|--------------------------------------|----------------|
| Preliminary & Inquest Hearing Costs  | 455,994        |
| Other Costs                          | 193,514        |
| Total Current Estimated Costs | 649,508 |

The preliminary and inquest hearing costs include:

- estimated legal costs incurred by the Coroner;
- estimated payments for legal aid under the Statutory Exceptional Grant Power;
- judicial, staff, IT and accommodation costs;
- estimated witness expenses; and
- estimated jury costs.

The other costs relate to legal challenges and satellite litigation which span a considerable timeframe and to identify all costs would require an extensive manual exercise. The estimates provided include:

- legal costs incurred by the Coroner between March 2009 and April 2012 and paid to date;
- estimated costs awarded against the Coroner in respect of a recent Supreme Court action; and
- interim civil legal aid payments in respect of the legal challenges however no bills have yet been received and will be subject to assessment when submitted.

There are currently 34 inquests relating to 51 deaths classified as 'legacy' or historical inquests (a list is attached at Annex A).

There is no statutory right of appeal in Coroners' cases.

Article 2 of the European Convention on Human Rights imposes a procedural obligation to carry out an effective investigation into the circumstances of any death which involves state agents. In its submission to the Council of Ministers, the UK Government stated that in the absence of a criminal investigation or public inquiry, the Coroner's inquest will play a central role in ensuring there is an Article 2 compliant investigation in relation to the historical inquest cases.

It is not possible to estimate the total cost of each inquest as this will depend on the individual circumstances of each case and factors such as:

- the legacy caseload;
- the volume of documentary evidence and number of witnesses;
- the duration of preparatory work and inquest hearings; and
- the nature and complexity of any satellite litigation.

My Department is currently reviewing the resource requirement for historical inquests. The costs of historical inquests are currently being met from the NI Courts and Tribunals Service (NICTS) budget, part of my total Departmental budget.

Historical Inquests

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice to list the potential historical inquests that his Department, or the Coroner, have identified; and for an estimate of the total cost of hearing each inquest.

(AQW 13146/11-15)

Mr Ford: The total costs associated with the Coroner's investigation into the deaths of Desmond Grew and Martin McCaughey would require a manual trawl of records which would incur disproportionate cost.

However estimated costs from September 2009 are set out in the table below.

| Cost Type                     | Amount (£) |
|--------------------------------------|-------------------|
| Preliminary & Inquest Hearing Costs  | 455,994           |
| Other Costs                          | 193,514           |
| Total Current Estimated Costs | 649,508    |

The preliminary and inquest hearing costs include:

- estimated legal costs incurred by the Coroner;
- estimated payments for legal aid under the Statutory Exceptional Grant Power;
- judicial, staff, IT and accommodation costs;
- estimated witness expenses; and
- estimated jury costs.

The other costs relate to legal challenges and satellite litigation which span a considerable timeframe and to identify all costs would require an extensive manual exercise. The estimates provided include:

- legal costs incurred by the Coroner between March 2009 and April 2012 and paid to date;
- estimated costs awarded against the Coroner in respect of a recent Supreme Court action; and
- interim civil legal aid payments in respect of the legal challenges however no bills have yet been received and will be subject to assessment when submitted.

There are currently 34 inquests relating to 51 deaths classified as 'legacy' or historical inquests (a list is attached at Annex A).

There is no statutory right of appeal in Coroners' cases.

Article 2 of the European Convention on Human Rights imposes a procedural obligation to carry out an effective investigation into the circumstances of any death which involves state agents. In its submission to the Council of Ministers, the UK Government stated that in the absence of a criminal investigation or public inquiry, the Coroner's inquest will play a central role in ensuring there is an Article 2 compliant investigation in relation to the historical inquest cases.

It is not possible to estimate the total cost of each inquest as this will depend on the individual circumstances of each case and factors such as:

- the legacy caseload;
- the volume of documentary evidence and number of witnesses;
- the duration of preparatory work and inquest hearings; and
- the nature and complexity of any satellite litigation.

My Department is currently reviewing the resource requirement for historical inquests. The costs of historical inquests are currently being met from the NI Courts and Tribunals Service (NICTS) budget, part of my total Departmental budget.

Historical Inquests

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice how the cost of the historical inquests will be met, and from which budget this funding will be provided.

(AQW 13149/11-15)

Mr Ford: The total costs associated with the Coroner's investigation into the deaths of Desmond Grew and Martin McCaughey would require a manual trawl of records which would incur disproportionate cost.

However estimated costs from September 2009 are set out in the table below.

| Cost Type                     | Amount (£) |
|--------------------------------------|-------------------|
| Preliminary & Inquest Hearing Costs  | 455,994           |
| Other Costs                          | 193,514           |
| Total Current Estimated Costs | 649,508    |

The preliminary and inquest hearing costs include:

- estimated legal costs incurred by the Coroner;
- estimated payments for legal aid under the Statutory Exceptional Grant Power;
- judicial, staff, IT and accommodation costs;
- estimated witness expenses; and
- estimated jury costs.

The other costs relate to legal challenges and satellite litigation which span a considerable timeframe and to identify all costs would require an extensive manual exercise. The estimates provided include:

- legal costs incurred by the Coroner between March 2009 and April 2012 and paid to date;
- estimated costs awarded against the Coroner in respect of a recent Supreme Court action; and
- interim civil legal aid payments in respect of the legal challenges however no bills have yet been received and will be subject to assessment when submitted.

There are currently 34 inquests relating to 51 deaths classified as 'legacy' or historical inquests (a list is attached at Annex A).

There is no statutory right of appeal in Coroners' cases.

Article 2 of the European Convention on Human Rights imposes a procedural obligation to carry out an effective investigation into the circumstances of any death which involves state agents. In its submission to the Council of Ministers, the UK Government stated that in the absence of a criminal investigation or public inquiry, the Coroner's inquest will play a central role in ensuring there is an Article 2 compliant investigation in relation to the historical inquest cases.

It is not possible to estimate the total cost of each inquest as this will depend on the individual circumstances of each case and factors such as:

- the legacy caseload;
- the volume of documentary evidence and number of witnesses;
- the duration of preparatory work and inquest hearings; and
- the nature and complexity of any satellite litigation.

My Department is currently reviewing the resource requirement for historical inquests. The costs of historical inquests are currently being met from the NI Courts and Tribunals Service (NICTS) budget, part of my total Departmental budget.

Telecoms Network: Improper Use

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the improper use of a telecoms network to make nuisance, obscene or harassing phone calls or texts is a criminal offence; and what is the current penalty.

(AQW 13188/11-15)

Mr Ford: Under section 127 of the Communications Act 2003 it is an offence to send by means of a public electronic communications network a message or other matter that is grossly offensive or of an indecent, obscene or menacing character. The maximum penalty on summary conviction of this offence is six months' imprisonment and / or a Level 5 fine (currently £5,000).

Human Trafficking: Crimes

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice what action his Department intends to take to combat crimes connected with human trafficking.

(AQW 13197/11-15)

Mr Ford: Amendments to the legislation on human trafficking, in relation to both sexual and labour exploitation, are included in the Criminal Justice Bill which I introduced in the Assembly on 25 June. These will ensure that Northern Ireland complies with the criminal aspects of the EU Directive on trafficking in human beings.

The first amendment will create an offence where a person has been trafficked outside the United Kingdom for sexual exploitation. The second will allow for the prosecution of a person who has trafficked someone anywhere outside the United Kingdom for labour or other exploitation. These amendments mean that an offence is committed where a United Kingdom resident (who has not previously been trafficked into the United Kingdom) is trafficked within the United Kingdom e.g. from London to Belfast, and will provide for the prosecution of a United Kingdom national who has trafficked someone anywhere outside the United Kingdom e.g. if a United Kingdom national trafficked a person from Mexico to Brazil. These offences will complement the legislation already in place to deal with human trafficking, with associated penalties of up to 14 years imprisonment.

I can also confirm that I intend adding trafficking for non-sexual exploitation to the schedule of offences referable to the Court of Appeal on the grounds of unduly lenient sentence.

In addition, I am also considering suggestions for further legislative change arising from the recent consultation on the EU Directive and from Lord Morrow's Private Members Bill.

In relation to prostitution, which can be a consequence of human trafficking, there is a strict liability offence of using the services of paying for sex with someone who has been forced into prostitution, with a penalty of up to £1000 fine.

The Public Prosecution Service is currently consulting on a draft policy on prosecuting cases of human trafficking. The Policy explains the role of the PPS and the way in which it deals with cases involving human trafficking and the wide range of other crimes associated with it.

It provides guidance about how decisions relating to prosecutions are taken and also outlines the services available to victims and witnesses of trafficking. The consultation was launched on Friday 8 June 2012 and ends on 3 September 2012.

Emergency Services: Hoax Calls

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Justice, in light of the figures showing that 26,000 hoax calls cost the emergency services £3.16m a year for the past three years, how many people have been (i) prosecuted; and (ii) convicted of making hoax calls in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13215/11-15)

Mr Ford: I understand that the figures quoted included hoax and possible hoax calls. There is no specific offence of making hoax calls, however related offences may be prosecuted under a range of statutes including Article 3(2) of the Criminal Law (Amendment) (Northern Ireland) Order 1977, Article 20 of the Fire Services (Northern Ireland) Order 1984, Article 9(1) of the Criminal Attempts and Conspiracy (Northern Ireland) Order 1983 and Article 23(1) of the Fire and Rescue Services (Northern Ireland) Order 2006.

[It is important when a criminal offence may have been committed that any information is passed to police so the matter can be investigated.

The table below gives the number of prosecutions and convictions for hoax call related offences for the calendar year 2006 and the number of convictions for the calendar years 2007 to 2008 (the latest year for which figures are currently available). It is not possible to provide prosecution data for 2007 and 2008.

Number of people prosecuted and convicted for hoax call related offences 2006 to 2008

| Year | Prosecutions  | Convictions |
|------|---------------|-------------|
| 2006 | 7             | 5           |
| 2007 | Not available | 3           |
| 2008 | Not available | 5           |

Data are collated on the principal offence rule; only the most serious offence for which an offender is convicted is included.

Data for 2006 should not be directly compared with data from 2007 to 2008 as the data sets are sourced from different systems.

Separated Prisoners

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice why prisoners, who refuse to sign the required compact, are permitted to enter, and be housed in, separate conditions.

(AQW 13233/11-15)

Mr Ford: All those prisoners held in separated conditions are expected to conform to the compact whether they have signed it or not. The Governor has determined that all those prisoners who meet the criteria and apply for separated conditions will be housed as such. This is for reasons of safety, control and discipline.

HMP Magilligan: Education Services

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice whether the education services at HMP Magilligan were classed as outstanding by the Inspector of Prisons.

(AQW 13275/11-15)

Mr Ford: Criminal Justice Inspection Northern Ireland (CJINI) carried out an announced inspection of Magilligan prison in March 2010 and reported on the education services as follows:

Chapter 6, Activities, page 40, paragraph 6.3 stated that:

"The quality of education, skills and work was satisfactory. There were positive working relationships between staff and prisoners and staff provided good support and encouragement. The quality of teaching and learning was good or better in most classes and in a few cases was outstanding..."

Chapter 6, Activities, page 40, paragraph 6.8 stated:

"There were good or excellent standards of work in the production workshops for furniture making, and metal fabrication and the printing workshops. The teaching, training and learning in the furniture making and metal fabrication workshops was particularly good..."

The report also highlighted some areas for improvement in Learning and Skills and work activities which are contained in the Recommendations, Page 42, paragraphs 6.18 to 6.23.

This published report is available to view or download from the CJINI Website at www.cjini.org

Aarhus Convention Provisions

Mr Wells asked the Minister of Justice what steps he has taken to implement the provisions of the Aarhus Convention, which deals with access to justice.

(AQW 13282/11-15)

Mr Ford: In respect of those aspects of the Aarhus Convention for which my Department is responsible, a number of steps are being taken. Firstly, my Department consulted on outline proposals for court rules for costs in environmental judicial reviews under the Convention. The responses to this consultation exercise are presently being considered. Secondly, we are reviewing the allocation of costs in judicial reviews within the scope of the Convention. This will be done as part of the programme of work (set out in my Department's Action Plan) being taken forward in response to the Access to Justice Review Report.

Gerry McGeough: High Court Legal Action

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice for an estimate of the total legal aid costs of Gerry McGeough's High Court legal action to challenge the ruling of the Judicial Review of the refusal to grant him a Royal Prerogative of Mercy, including his solicitor fees, QC fees and subsistence and travel expenses.

(AQW 13285/11-15)

Mr Ford: Total interim legal aid costs of £2,410 plus VAT of £300 have been paid in respect of Gerry McGeough's High Court legal action to challenge the ruling of the Judicial Review of the refusal to grant him a Royal Prerogative of Mercy. Legal aid paid to date is as follows:

- solicitor profit costs of £1,500 plus VAT of £300; and
- court fees of £910.

No legal aid costs have yet been claimed in respect of counsel.

Drug Offences: Charges

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he has any plans to issue guidance on requests from Judges for anonymity for, or to have the press withhold the addresses of, people charged with drug offences, due the fear of attacks on those charged by Republican Action Against Drugs.

(AQW 13294/11-15)

Mr Ford: The decision to issue guidance to members of the Judiciary on any topic is a matter for the Lord Chief Justice and not something upon which I can comment.

Closure of the Prisoner Assessment Unit: Report

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 11378/11-15, why his instruction on this matter has not been acted upon by the Northern Ireland Prison Service; and whether he plans to order an investigation or disciplinary proceedings over the non-compliance.

(AQW 13452/11-15)

Mr Ford: NIPS Headquarters had to decant from Dundonald House on early morning Thursday, 28 June, following severe flooding. Staff working on the publication of the report were diverted to manage document recovery and retention following the decant. Additionally, NIPS website was also affected.

I am satisfied that staff dealt correctly with priorities following the flood and any suggestion of an investigation or disciplinary proceedings would be completely inappropriate.

Roe House: Prison Population

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 13013/11-15, whether Quoile House or Shimna House will be used, at any time, to house separated prisoners, should further pressure be put on population accommodation in separated facilities.

(AQW 13552/11-15)

Mr Ford: There are currently no plans to use Shimna House or Quoile House to accommodate separated prisoners.

Department for Regional Development

Departmental Signage and Street Lighting

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development what percentage of departmental signage and street lighting is powered by on-site green energy generators.

(AQW 13050/11-15)

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): My Department's Roads Service has advised that it does not hold or record the information you are seeking in the format requested. However, I can confirm that no street lighting is powered by on-site green energy generators.

Officials have further advised that in recent years, Roads Service has provided improved electronic signage in the vicinity of many schools, as well as vehicle-activated signs at key locations across the road network that are suitable for stand-alone green energy generators. I can advise the Member that 55% of such signs are presently powered by green energy.

Glenmachan Street, South Belfast: Volume of Traffic

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister for Regional Development for his assessment of the volume of traffic at Glenmachan Street, south Belfast.

(AQW 13063/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service collects data from approximately 300 automatic traffic counting sites located throughout the Northern Ireland road network. Unfortunately, none of these counters are located in Glenmachan Street, Belfast. However, details of the Annual Average Daily Traffic (AADT) traffic flow on Boucher Road, collected from a permanent counter, recorded from 1 January to 26 October 2011 are provided in the table below:

| Census point No. | Location  | AADT (7 Day) | AADT (5 Day) |
|------------------|---|--------------|--------------|
| 369              | Boucher Road, at Balmoral Avenue (All Directions) | 25,065       | 22,698       |
| 369              | Boucher Road, at Balmoral Avenue ( to Broadway)   | 12,224       | 11,066       |

Glenmachan Street to Tates Avenue and Boucher Road Mini-roundabout: Single-lane Traffic

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister for Regional Development, given the volume of traffic, for his assessment of the adequacy of the single lane from Glenmachan Street to the Tates Avenue and Boucher Road mini-roundabout.

(AQW 13064/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that Glenmachan Street is currently wide enough to accommodate three traffic lanes, the layout of which has been optimised to maximise traffic capacity. As the main constraints on traffic flow along Glenmachan Street occur at the junctions at either end, namely with Tate's Avenue/Boucher Road and at Broadway/ Donegall Road, this optimisation has been achieved by designating two of the three available lanes for traffic approaching these junctions. This means that a single lane of traffic in each direction develops into two lanes prior to both junctions. Officials in Roads Service consider this to be the most efficient arrangement available within a very confined site.

Roads Service currently has no plans to further increase the traffic capacity of Glenmachan Street. However, Roads Service will continue to monitor traffic flows across Belfast and adjust traffic signal timings, as appropriate.

Glenmachan Street to the Westlink in South Belfast: Traffic Flow

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister for Regional Development what priorities he attaches to supporting the traffic flow from Glenmachan Street to the Westlink in south Belfast.

(AQW 13065/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service advises that the intersection of Broadway / Westlink / M1 / Glenmachan Street / Donegall Road junction is extremely complex in its operation.

The intersection comprises 5 junctions that are controlled by traffic signals. The traffic signals operate under an advanced adaptive form of control called SCOOT (Split, Cycle, Offset Optimisation Technique). This allows the green time at the Glenmachan Street Junction, and the relative green start times between all the junctions, to be automatically determined and amended in real-time to suit the prevailing traffic conditions and also to fulfil the objective of minimising queues on each approach.

The green times on all of the approaches to the intersection are constrained by the overall capacity of the central gyratory.

Traffic Control Operators in the Roads Service Traffic Information and Control Centre (TICC) also monitor the area using real-time CCTV and have the facility to override the SCOOT system, in response to significantly abnormal traffic flows, and ensure the continued efficiency of the junction without comprising road safety.

Glenmachan Street Junction Broadway Roundabout

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he has any plans to improve the Glenmachan Street junction at the Broadway Roundabout, given the traffic congestion at the junction.

(AQW 13066/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I would refer the Member to my answer to his Assembly Question AQW 13064/11-15.

Residents Parking Schemes

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister for Regional Development for an update on residents parking schemes; and what criteria are used when considering new applications for these schemes.

(AQW 13082/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that the proposed Residents' Parking Schemes will be the first for Northern Ireland, and as such, it is important that all the issues relating to the operation and enforcement of such schemes are fully addressed and accurately included in the legislation before moving to implementation.

While the underlying aim for each scheme is the same, with parking being controlled for the benefit of residents, there will be slight differences in the operation of each scheme to reflect local needs and consequently each scheme will need to be legislated for differently.

Schemes are intended to resolve parking difficulties in residential areas where parking generated by nearby businesses, sports facilities, hospitals, schools, universities, theatres, shopping areas, etc. penetrates the residential streets and prevents residents from parking in reasonably close proximity to their homes. Parking surveys are used to gauge the extent of the parking difficulties and the extent to which this is caused by non-resident vehicles. Residents also have to be in favour of a scheme and, based on a minimum return rate of one-third of all households to a scheme questionnaire, two-thirds of households must be in favour.

Finally, schemes will only be taken forward to implementation stage when sufficient funding is available.

Since residents' parking was first proposed by Roads Service, there have been a number of technological advancements, for example, the potential for the automation of permits and their enforcement, which will have an impact on how the schemes will operate and Roads Service is currently assessing the legislative requirements for these aspects.

Roads Service will continue to progress the Residents' Parking Schemes and the associated legislation required as quickly as possible, and envisages that schemes will be delivered mid-late 2013.

Roads Service: Requests for Repair Works

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister for Regional Development how many requests for repair works Roads Service carried out in (i) North Belfast; (ii) South Belfast; (iii) West Belfast; and (iv) East Belfast, in each of the past three years.

(AQW 13136/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that it does not record the number of requests for repair works by constituency area. However, I can confirm that the number of defects identified for repair in the Belfast North, Belfast South and Lisburn Section Office areas, which encompass the Belfast area, are as follows:

Number of Defects Repaired by Section Office 2009-2012

| Section Office | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
|----------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Belfast North  | 22,105  | 25,820  | 24,767  |
| Belfast South  | 16,977  | 12,310  | 13,471  |
| Lisburn        | 16,676  | 16,286  | 15,605  |

Roads Service: Requests for Repair Works

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister for Regional Development how many requests for repair works Roads Service received for (i) North Belfast; (ii) South Belfast; (iii) West Belfast; and (iv) East Belfast, in each of the past three years.

(AQW 13137/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised me that it does not record the number of requests for repairs received separately. However, I can confirm that the number of defects identified for repair in the Belfast North, Belfast South and Lisburn Section Office areas, which encompass the Belfast area, are as follows:

Number of Defects Repaired by Section Office 2009-2012

| Section Office | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
|----------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Belfast North  | 22,105  | 25,820  | 24,767  |

| Section Office | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
|----------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Belfast South  | 16,977  | 12,310  | 13,471  |
| Lisburn        | 16,676  | 16,286  | 15,605  |

Officials have indicated that the vast majority of defects are identified through the routine inspection process.

Construction: Public Contract Tenders

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister for Regional Development for his assessment of (i) his Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,
(AQW 13167/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that it is satisfied that the criteria, including financial, used for assessment purposes, at both the prequalification and tender stages of procurement competitions for construction contracts, are justified and appropriate and do not prohibit small and medium size enterprises from making applications.

Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development: Fair Employment Tribunal

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, in light of the findings by the Fair Employment Tribunal in Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development, what steps have been taken to review appointments to ensure that there was no material bias against the appointment of applicants from a Protestant background.
(AQW 13170/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have noted with concern the Tribunal's decision which relates to an appointment process before I assumed responsibility as Minister.

I want to take some time to examine the implications of the decision with my officials and legal advisers. Any issues for follow up action will be considered after that as appropriate.

Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development: Fair Employment Tribunal

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development for an estimate of the cost of defending the Fair Employment Tribunal proceedings in Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development; and what steps will be taken to recover the costs from the then Minister.
(AQW 13171/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The Department is continuing to consult with its legal advisors following the Tribunal's decision. As the process has not been concluded it is too early for me to comment further or to provide estimates in relation to the costs associated with this case.

Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development: Fair Employment Tribunal

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, in light of the findings by the Fair Employment Tribunal in Lennon-v-the Department of Regional Development, what steps have been taken to ensure that there is no longer a material bias against the appointment of applicants from a Protestant background.
(AQW 13217/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have noted with concern the Tribunal's decision which relates to an appointment process before I assumed responsibility as Minister

I want to take some time to examine the implications of the decision with my officials and legal advisers.

As Minister for the Department for Regional Development, I am very conscious of the responsibilities under the Ministerial Code that "in carrying out public business, including making public appointments, holders of public office should make choices on merit".

Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development: Fair Employment Tribunal

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development what steps are being taken in light of the findings, by the Fair Employment Tribunal in Lennon-v-the Department of Regional Development, of religious discrimination and material bias against the appointment of applicants from a Protestant background.
(AQW 13218/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have noted with concern the Tribunal's decision which relates to an appointment process before I assumed responsibility as Minister.

I want to take some time to examine the implications of the decision with my officials and legal advisers. Any issues for follow up action will be considered after that as appropriate.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development in respect of ministerial appointments made (i) by the Minister since coming into office; and (ii) between May 2007 and May 2011, what is the respective success rate of Protestant and Catholic applicants. (AQW 13219/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Since coming into office I have made 17 ministerial appointments from a total candidate pool of 198. Six of these appointees were Protestant, six were Catholic and the community background of five of the appointees was either not known or neither Protestant or Catholic.

Between May 2007 and May 2011 17 ministerial appointments were made from a total candidate pool of 194. Seven of these appointees were Protestant and ten were Catholic; none of the appointees declared a community background of neither or not known.

The figures are based on first appointments of non-executive board members and board Chairs made during the periods specified. They do not include councillor appointments.

20 mph Zones

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the number of 20mph zones that have been enforced in the each of the last five years; and the average cost of each. (AQW 13221/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I understand that your Question relates to the number of 20 mph zones implemented in the last five years, rather than enforced. In this regard, I can advise that from 2007/08, my Department's Roads Service has implemented the following number of 20 mph zones:

| Year    | No. of Zones Implemented |
|---------|--------------------------|
| 2007/08 | 2                        |
| 2008/09 | 6                        |
| 2009/10 | 3                        |
| 2010/11 | 14                       |
| 2011/12 | 0                        |

The average cost of the implementation of each zone was approximately £1,200.

In addition, my Department has also implemented three pilot part time speed limits at school schemes.

Traffic Calming Measures: Spent on

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the total amount spent on traffic calming measures in (i) North Belfast; (ii) South Belfast; (iii) West Belfast; and (iv) East Belfast, in each of the last three years. (AQW 13249/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service maintains details of traffic calming measures by council area rather than on a parliamentary constituency basis.

The approximate expenditure on traffic calming measures in the Belfast, Lisburn, Castlereagh and Newtownabbey Council areas, in the 2009/10, 2010/11 and 2011/12 financial years is provided in the table below:

| Year    | Traffic Calming Expenditure By Council Area |          |             |              |
|---------|---|----------|-------------|--------------|
|         | Belfast                                     | Lisburn  | Castlereagh | Newtownabbey |
| 2009/10 | £177,000                                    | £118,000 | £102,000    | £41,000      |
| 2010/11 | £81,000                                     | £61,000  | £45,000     | £36,000      |
| 2011/12 | £214,000                                    | £15,000  | £23,000     | £45,000      |

SmartPasses

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Regional Development whether Smartpasses can be used by passengers travelling on the Aircoach service from Belfast to Dublin Airport. (AQW 13257/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Aircoach do not participate in the Northern Ireland Concessionary Fares Scheme (the scheme) and therefore SmartPasses cannot be used to obtain concessionary travel on the Belfast to Dublin Airport route.

Aircoach can make an application to join the scheme at any time.

Chair of NI Water: Fair Employment Tribunal

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Regional Development, in relation to the Fair Employment Tribunal findings on the appointment of the Chair of NI Water, (i) what review of the appointments process will take place to ensure that such discrimination does not occur in future appointments; and (ii) what discussions his Department has had with the Commissioner for Public Appointments in regard to the Tribunal findings.

(AQW 13258/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have noted with concern the Tribunal's decision which relates to an appointment process before I assumed responsibility as Minister.

I want to take some time to examine the implications of the decision with my officials and legal advisers. Any issues for follow up action will be considered after that as appropriate.

Translink: 60+ SmartPass

Mr McNarry asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the cost to Translink of the use of 60 plus SmartPasses on journeys from Belfast Central depot to (i) Ballymena; and (ii) Portrush, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13296/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: There is no cost to Translink. The overriding, legislative principle is that operators should be reimbursed for delivering the public policy by providing concessionary travel, so that they are 'no better and no worse off' than they would have been if the policy did not exist. To try to calculate what the Department reimburses in respect of those two specific routes would only be possible at disproportionate cost.

The Northern Ireland Concessionary Fares scheme represents a subsidy to the passenger, not the Passenger Transport Undertaking.

Pensioners: Concessionary Bus and Rail Passes

Mr Dallat asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the average time taken by Translink to process Concessionary Bus and Rail Passes for pensioners; and what steps will be taken to reduce the time taken.

(AQW 13306/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Translink have informed me that in the past year they have fully processed 97.18% of applications within 5 days of receipt of the application at the Card Bureau service. Remaining applications for SmartPasses may take up to 4 weeks to process due to information contained on the applications forms needing to be verified with the applicant. There are regular meetings between Translink and the card producers where processing times are monitored.

Belfast to Dublin Rail Service

Mr Dallat asked the Minister for Regional Development what discussions have taken place between Translink and Irish Rail to address the issue of some passengers having to stand, whilst travelling on the Belfast to Dublin rail service.

(AQW 13307/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Translink advise that, in conjunction with Iarnród Éireann, they continuously monitor passenger loadings on all Belfast-Dublin services to maintain quality of service. Standing on an Enterprise Service tends to occur when major events are happening in Dublin such as concerts or sports fixtures. On such occasions Translink liaises with Iarnród Éireann to plan for additional special charter trains and/or assist trains. This generally works effectively, ensuring that increased demand is catered for. Nevertheless, there will invariably be occasions when passenger demand does not exactly match capacity offered resulting in some passengers having to stand.

Water Bills

Mr Dallat asked the Minister for Regional Development how many water bills generated by Northern Ireland Water over the last year are for water supplied (i) between five and nine years ago: (ii) between ten and fourteen years ago: (iii) between fifteen and nineteen years ago: (iv) twenty or more years ago.

(AQW 13312/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water that the issue of bills (either in terms of refund or recalculated charges) is limited by 'The Limitations (Northern Ireland) Order 1989' to a maximum of 6 years. On this basis, 126 water bills were issued to customers in the past year for water supplied between five and six years ago.

Castlerock: Passing Loop

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister for Regional Development whether the passing loop at Castlerock will be retained as an integral part of the railway relaying project.

(AQW 13324/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Translink advise that the passing loop at Castlerock will remain after the current works in Phase 1 are completed. It is planned to remove it as part of Phase 2 works in 2014/15 as it will no longer be required.

North Down: 2012 Roadside Grass Cutting

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development when the 2012 roadside grass cutting in North Down is due for completion. (AQW 13326/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that grass cutting in the North Down area is programmed for completion by the end of September 2012.

North Down: 2012 Roadside Grass Cutting

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development what arrangements are place for roadside grass cutting in North Down in 2012. (AQW 13327/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that, in line with its environmental maintenance policy, grass cutting in North Down area is carried out, 5 times per season in urban areas and 2 times per season in rural areas.

The 2012 grass cutting operations are being carried out by Roads Service Direct.

West Tyrone: Road Improvement Schemes

Mr McElduff asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the road improvement schemes which are planned for the West Tyrone constituency over the next two years.

(AQW 13328/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service does not hold details of planned road improvement schemes on a constituency basis. However, schemes within Roads Service's Local Transport and Safety Measures Draft Programmes for the Omagh and Strabane council areas, which were presented to the councils in November 2011, cover the constituency area.

The reports can be viewed online via the following links: <http://applications.drdni.gov.uk/publications/document.asp?docid=23465> and <http://applications.drdni.gov.uk/publications/document.asp?docid=23468>

In addition, the Western Divisional Roads Manager's Annual Reports presented to both councils in June 2012, lists the programmes of work for the current 2012/2013 financial year.

The reports can be viewed online via the following links:

Ballymena, Ballymoney and Ballycastle: Parking Tickets

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister for Regional Development how many parking tickets were issued in (i) Ballymena; (ii) Ballymoney; and (iii) Ballycastle, in the last two financial years; and how the revenue raised was reinvested.

(AQW 13330/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Details of the number of Penalty Charge Notices issued on behalf of my Department's Roads Service in Ballymena, Ballymoney and Ballycastle in the 2010/11 and 2011/12 financial years are set out in the table below:

| Year    | Ballymena | Ballymoney | Ballycastle |
|---------|-----------|------------|-------------|
| 2010/11 | 4,555     | 1,166      | 306         |
| 2011/12 | 6,557     | 1,341      | 230         |

The revenue raised from car park enforcement and car park management is used to supplement the overall financing of Roads Service by Central Government.

Lagan Valley Rural Transport

Mr Givan asked the Minister for Regional Development why Lagan Valley Rural Transport has not yet received its funding allocation for 2012/2013 while it still provides a service to the community.

(AQW 13437/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: All of the Rural Transport Fund operational areas were advised on 10 May 2012 of the level of funding they would receive for 2012/13 to enable each of the Rural Community Transport organisations to plan for the year ahead based on the level of funding available.

Lagan Valley Rural Transport is working in partnership with South Antrim Community Transport to provide services in their joint operational area. As part of this 'partnership arrangement' the two organisations must decide which one is going to be the 'nominated partnership' that will receive the funding for the entire operational area and they must draw up and agree a document setting out how the funding will be allocated between them.

Agreement between the two organisations was only reached on 2 July 2012 and my Department immediately issued the formal Letter Of Offer and the process for issuing grant is progressing.

Department for Social Development

Housing Executive's Specification for the Supply and Fitting of Double Glazing: Review

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on his Department's Review of the Housing Executive's specification for the supply and fitting of double-glazing.

(AQW 13015/11-15)

Mr McCausland (The Minister for Social Development): I have been informed by the Housing Executive that the review has been completed. However, I have asked Professional staff in the Department to look at these revised specifications to ensure that value for money is achieved without compromising tenant safety. When this is completed I will return to the Housing Executive with any queries.

People in Housing Stress and Registered as Homeless

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of people who are (i) in housing stress; and (ii) registered as homeless.

(AQW 13032/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The number of applicants in housing stress and the number registered as homeless at 1 June 2012 were as follows:-

|  |        |
|--|--------|
| Applicants in housing stress                 | 20,839 |
| Registered as Homeless (Full Duty Applicant) | 10,656 |

Disabled Facilities Grants: Funding

Mr McMullan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the level of funding allocated to Disabled Facilities Grants, broken down by the electoral wards in (i) East Antrim; and (ii) North Antrim, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13061/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information is not available in the format requested as the Housing Executive does not maintain grants records by Parliamentary Constituency. However, the table below provides details of the level of Disabled Facilities Grants expenditure in the Council areas which are part of the North Antrim and East Antrim constituencies in each of the last three years. The expenditure pattern reflects applications and Occupational Therapist's approvals.

| Council             | 2009-10£ | 2010-11£ | 2011-12£ | Totals£ |

Black and Minority Ethnic Network ‘BME Link’

Ms Lo asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to the Black and Minority Ethnic Network ‘BME Link’ set up by the Department of Justice, what consideration he has given to introducing a similar network within his Department.

(AQW 13096/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My Department has a range of support services that are available to all staff. There are no plans to set up a similar network to the BME Link.

Employment and Support Allowance Claims

Mr Dallat asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to Employment and Support Allowance claims, to detail the number of (i) appeals; and (ii) appeals upheld, in each Social Security Agency district, in the last 12 months.

(AQW 13113/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Any appeal lodged with the Social Security Agency is subject to reconsideration and may therefore not progress to The Appeals Service (TAS). Appeals may not be dealt with in the same year that they are received.

The Chairman of the Tribunal records whether the decision made on appeal was either more or less advantageous than a previous decision. A more advantageous decision may increase the allowance or direct that a new award be made. A less advantageous decision may reduce the allowance or make no change to the original determination.

The number of Employment Support Allowance (ESA) appeals received by TAS and the outcome of ESA appeals heard in the last twelve months is set out in the table below. The information cannot be provided in the format as sought. TAS arranges ESA appeals to be heard at locations throughout Northern Ireland. Statistical data is therefore provided based on where each case was heard.

Employment & Support Allowance Appeals (June’11 to May’12)

Disability Living Allowance Claims

Mr Dallat asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to Disability Living Allowance claims, to detail the number of (i) appeals; and (ii) appeals upheld, in each Social Security Agency district, in the last 12 months.

(AQW 13115/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Any appeal lodged with the Social Security Agency is subject to reconsideration and may therefore not progress to The Appeals Service (TAS). Appeals may not be dealt with in the same year that they are received.

The Chairman of the Tribunal records whether the decision made on appeal was either more or less advantageous than a previous decision. A more advantageous decision may increase the allowance or direct that a new award be made. A less advantageous decision may reduce the allowance or make no change to the original determination.

The number of Disability Living Allowance (DLA) appeals received by TAS and the outcome of DLA appeals heard in the last twelve months is set out in the table below. The information cannot be provided in the format as sought. TAS arranges DLA appeals to be heard at locations throughout Northern Ireland. Statistical data is therefore provided based on where each case was heard.

Northern Ireland Housing Executive's Cohesion Unit

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the work of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's Cohesion unit.

(AQW 13129/11-15)

Mr McCausland: There is no doubt that community division exerts a high price which, in terms of housing, can prevent the best use being made of existing housing and land. There is undoubtedly good work being taken forward at community level by the Housing Executive's Community Cohesion Unit and through my Department's Regeneration and Neighbourhood Renewal initiatives. However, I believe that increased value could be added by adopting a more joined-up approach to ensure that the benefits derived from such community interventions are maximised.

As part of the fundamental review of the Housing Executive, I will be looking to ensure that the Community Cohesion Unit concentrates its efforts within its landlord areas to ensure there is no duplication of effort with the work of my Department's Voluntary & Community and Neighbourhood Renewal initiatives which are more appropriately and more effectively delivered at a strategic level within central government.

Northern Ireland Housing Executive's Double-glazing Scheme

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's double-glazing scheme, to detail the number of restoration grants (i) applied for; and (ii) paid.

(AQW 13134/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I assume the Member is referring to redecoration grants. The Housing Executive's policy regarding the payment of redecoration allowances does not require tenants to make an application for payment. These payments are, where appropriate, automatically processed by the Housing Executive. An onsite inspection by a clerk of works determines the number of rooms that have been disrupted as a result of the works carried out. The number of redecoration allowances that have been paid since 12 March 2012 to date is 673. These payments have been processed where schemes have commenced on site from January to March 2012.

Employment and Support Allowance: Work Capability Assessments

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to the Work Capability Assessments for Employment and Support Allowance (i) what processes are in place to obtain additional medical evidence from a claimant's GP or other medical professional, when the existence of such evidence is identified by a claimant; (ii) whether the onus to obtain the information lies with ATOS Healthcare or the Social Security decision maker; (iii) what guidance is given on when further evidence should be sought; and (iv) what assessment has been made on the numbers appeal cases involving this situation.

(AQW 13259/11-15)

Mr McCausland:

- (i) Employment and Support Allowance customers are given a number of opportunities to supply medical evidence in support of their claim. At the initial claim stage customers are advised of the importance of supplying all relevant medical evidence in support of their claim. In completing a limited capability for work questionnaire, customers are again advised to submit all relevant medical evidence when returning the questionnaire. Customers can also supply medical evidence when attending a medical examination. As a result of Professor Harrington's ongoing review of the Work Capability Assessment process, Social Security Agency Decision Makers now contact customers before making a disallowance decision if the existing medical evidence does not support an award of Employment and Support Allowance, in order to give the customer the opportunity to supply additional medical evidence. The decision maker will take this new evidence into account before making a final decision. In addition, upon receipt of an appeal, the Social Security Agency will contact the customer to ask if they can supply any additional medical evidence to allow the disallowance to be reconsidered. The appeal will lapse if, as a result of the reconsideration, the decision can be revised to the customer's advantage.
- (ii) The responsibility remains with the customer to provide Employment and Support Allowance with all relevant medical evidence in support of their claim to the benefit. However, in some cases where there is conflicting medical information, the decision maker is at liberty to seek further clarification from Atos Healthcare who in turn may approach the customer's GP

- (iii) The requirement to seek GP and/or further medical evidence is dependant on the circumstances of each individual case. The Atos healthcare professional will seek further medical evidence where it is likely that the evidence may allow them to advise either that significant disability is likely or that Support Group criteria are likely to apply. It is also usual for the Atos healthcare professional to request further medical evidence in cases where the available evidence suggests the customer is particularly vulnerable (for example, where there is noted to be an appointee, or where there is a diagnosis of a severe and enduring mental health condition).
- (iv) According to the President of the Appeals Service most recent report into the standard of Decision Making in the Social Security Agency, 88% of Employment and Support Allowance appeals found in the customers favour are the result of evidence being made available to the Appeals Tribunal that was not previously available to the Social Security Agency Decision Maker.

Housing Associations: Granting Powers of Entry

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister for Social Development whether any consideration has been given to granting powers of entry to housing associations.

(AQW 13260/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I assume that the Member is referring to Housing Association housing stock.

Article 41 of the Housing (NI) Order 1983 enables housing associations to enter houses let under secure tenancies which appear to have been abandoned and Article 19A of the Housing (NI) Order 2003 gives housing associations similar powers in respect of houses let under introductory tenancies. There are no plans at present to review the current powers of entry.

House in Multiple Occupation: Registration

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister for Social Development whether he will consider the inclusion of student accommodation within the requirements for registration as a House in Multiple Occupation.

(AQW 13261/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The statutory definition of Houses in Multiple Occupation (HMO) is set out in Article 75 of the Housing (NI) Order 1992. This definition applies to all houses, which are occupied by more than 2 unrelated people, including those occupied by students. I will be commencing consultation proposals regarding the regulation of HMOs this month.

Boiler Replacement Scheme

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of successful applications to date for the Boiler Replacement Scheme in the North Down constituency,

(AQW 13278/11-15)

Mr McCausland: A total of 45 boilers were replaced under the pilot Boiler Replacement Scheme in North Down.

Housing Benefit to People Aged Under 25

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Social Development whether he can offer any assurance that proposals to stop paying housing benefit to people aged under 25 will not be introduced in Northern Ireland.

(AQW 13305/11-15)

Mr McCausland: In a speech by the Prime Minister on welfare reform on 25 June 2012, a number of potential ideas were floated for discussion. At present these are not firm government proposals and would be unlikely to be considered in advance of the next UK general election.

Boiler Replacement Scheme: Phoenix Gas

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) how much his Department has agreed to pay Phoenix Gas to administer the Boiler Replacement Scheme; and (ii) for his Department's assessment of the total revenue value of the contract for Phoenix Gas.

(AQW 13308/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My department has not agreed to pay Phoenix Gas to administer the Boiler Replacement Scheme. The Boiler Replacement Scheme which I announced on the 25th May 2012 will be administered by the Northern Ireland Housing Executive

Housing Benefit

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development how many people in the Foyle constituency, under the age of 25, are in receipt of Housing Benefit.

(AQW 13359/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information is not available in the format requested as the Housing Executive does not collate Housing Benefit data by Parliamentary constituency. However, there are currently 1,538 Housing Benefit claimants under the age of 25 within the Housing Executive's Waterside, Waterloo Place and Collon Terrace District Office areas.

Ballymagroarty, Derry: Former Dunluce Family Centre Site

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the action his Department intends to take in relation to the former Dunluce Family Centre site in Ballymagroarty, Derry.

(AQW 13380/11-15)

Mr McCausland: An Appraisal which considers a number of potential uses for this site is currently being considered by the Housing Executive and the Department.

I shall be pleased to update the member when this exercise has been completed.

Northern Ireland Assembly Commission

Items of Art and Artefacts in Storage

Mr Allister asked the Assembly Commission whether it is possible for an MLA to view the items of art and artefacts which belong to the Assembly and which are currently in storage.

(AQW 12974/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): I can confirm that the Assembly Commission would be content for an MLA to view the art and artefacts that are currently in storage. It should be noted that the works of art have been carefully wrapped to ensure that they are not damaged while in secure storage therefore making them difficult to view. Only in specific circumstances would the artwork be available for viewing due to these circumstances. Images of the paintings can, however be provided for MLAs to view all of the artwork.

I hope that the above information provides the detail that you sought, however should you require any supplementary information I would be very happy to assist with your enquiry.

Youth Assembly

Mr A Maginness asked the Assembly Commission for an update on the Northern Ireland Youth Assembly.

(AQO 2344/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): One of the key commitments of the Assembly's Engagement Strategy is to establish a youth forum to consider, debate and make recommendations on issues of particular importance to young people. A number of organisations have lobbied for the development of a youth assembly for the North.

Initial proposals for the development of a youth assembly were presented to stakeholders in October 2009. Informal discussions were also held with a range of stakeholders including officials from OFMDFM, Department of Education, the Northern Ireland Commissioner for Children and Young People (NICCY), the Youth Forum and Public Achievement. A youth-led approach to the development of proposals for a youth assembly was strongly advocated and this approach was endorsed by the Assembly Commission. As a result a Youth Panel was recruited to develop the proposals for a youth assembly.

The Youth Panel, comprising 30 young people aged 16-18, worked to develop the proposals between March 2010 and February 2011. It undertook a range of research and evidence gathering activities, with additional research also provided by the Assembly's Research and Library Service.

The Youth Panel developed draft proposals which were presented to the OFMDFM Junior Ministers and the Minister for Education in March 2011. The Ministers supported the establishment of a youth assembly. The proposals were then presented to the Assembly Commission which approved, in principle, the establishment of a youth assembly. A public consultation on the proposals took place from May - September 2011. The consultation responses overwhelmingly supported the Youth Panel's proposal to establish a youth assembly.

The results from the Youth Panel's proposals, the public consultation responses and organisational factors such as value for money and staffing capacity are now being considered and a set of options and proposals for the establishment of a pilot youth assembly are nearing completion and will be presented to the Commission for consideration by the end of the year.

Ormiston House, Belfast

Mr Lyttle asked the Assembly Commission for an update on the sale of Ormiston House.
(AQO 2353/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): Ormiston House has been for sale on the open market since January 2011 and there has been considerable interest in the property for a range of development opportunities. Although some offers were made, to date the Commission has been unable to agree a sale.

The Commission has now been successful in obtaining planning approval for a limited amount of residential development on the site and plans now to re-launch the sale on that basis.

Stormont Estate

Mr McNarry asked the Assembly Commission whether there has been any discussion about transferring responsibility for, and control of, the Stormont Estate to the Assembly.
(AQO 2355/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): The Assembly Commission has not been involved in any discussions in relation to transferring responsibility for, and control of, the Stormont Estate to the Assembly.

Ormiston House, Belfast

Mr Hussey asked the Assembly Commission for an update on the sale of Ormiston House, Belfast.
(AQO 2356/11-15)

Mr P Ramsey (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): Ormiston House has been for sale on the open market since January 2011 and there has been considerable interest in the property for a range of development opportunities. Although some offers were made, to date the Commission has been unable to agree a sale.

The Commission has now been successful in obtaining planning approval for a limited amount of residential development on the site and plans now to re-launch the sale on that basis.

Written Answers to Questions

Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister

Smithwick Tribunal

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, in light of recent evidence to the Smithwick Tribunal, whether consideration will be given to introducing measures to require Ministers to explain truthfully their past terrorist involvement. (AQW 10937/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness (The First Minister and deputy First Minister): This is not a matter within the legislative competence of the Assembly.

Community Relations Council

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister why a convicted IRA terrorist was permitted to adjudicate on a funding application to the Community Relations Council from a group representing victims of the IRA; and whether they will take steps to prevent this from happening in the future. (AQW 11451/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Community Relations Council's Strategic Support Fund allocates funding to groups providing services to victims and survivors. Applications to this fund for 2012-13 were adjudicated on by a committee of the Council on 26-27 March 2012. Some £6.2m of funding was allocated to 54 victims groups. The committee's decisions followed formal process and guidelines and OFMDFM officials were present at the meeting.

The Community Relations Council currently has seventeen members who were all appointed following public advertisement and using published criteria. The process was overseen by the Public Appointments Board. Each member is invited to sit on two of the Council's committees which oversee the various funding and other programmes of the Council.

Affordable Childcare

Mr Copeland asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether there is sufficient affordable childcare available to allow parents to receive maximum benefits arising from the changes to the funding arrangements for contributing to the costs of childcare following the introduction of Universal Credit. (AQW 12215/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Programme for Government contains a commitment to publish and implement a Childcare Strategy with key actions to promote the availability of good quality, integrated, accessible and affordable childcare. The Strategy will be an essential part of our work to tackle disadvantage and improve wellbeing, and it will also be relevant in the context of the proposed new demands of Universal Credit.

OFMDFM is commissioning research to support the development and implementation of the Childcare Strategy. This research will help to provide a more accurate assessment of the supply and the likely demand for childcare places now and in the future.

We intend to publish a consultation document in the near future which will enable all those with an interest to help shape the direction of the Strategy.

Galbally Pearses GAA Club

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for their assessment of the impact on community relations of the decision of Galbally Pearses GAA club to award medals featuring an IRA terrorist to children. (AQW 12635/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: There is no appropriate process to robustly measure impacts on community relations within the relevant timeframe.

European Commissioner for Research, Innovation and Science

Mr Dallat asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for an update on their recent meeting with Máire Geoghegan-Quinn, European Commissioner for Research, Innovation and Science.

(AQO 2170/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We met with the EU Commissioner for Research, Innovation and Science, Máire Geoghegan-Quinn, on 7 June.

We last met with the Commissioner in Brussels in December 2010, when we joined with President Barroso in renewing our commitment to the work of the Barroso Task Force. We were pleased to show how we have delivered on that commitment, enhancing our European engagement including the appointment of four additional desk officers based in the Brussels Office.

One of these posts is dedicated to Innovation and Technology – with a particular focus on participation in EU Research and Innovation programmes. This is essential for promoting economic growth and crucial to the Programme for Government, our Economic Strategy and – most recently – our 2012-13 European Priorities.

We pointed to the successes which these efforts have already delivered. The last official figures for 2011 showed that we had secured a cumulative total of over €36 million from the current Seventh Framework Programme, FP7 – but during our discussions with the Commissioner she advised that this figure was now nearer a cumulative total of €43 million – which is excellent news.

We emphasised to the Commissioner the need for FP7's successor, Horizon 2020, to be more accessible to our Small Medium Enterprises with simplified applications, swifter approvals and less bureaucratic audit requirements. These concerns are understood within the Commission; however, the European Parliament is currently debating how far audit rules can be relaxed to facilitate simplification. The Commissioner suggested our MEPs could help to influence those discussions.

The Commissioner welcomed our progress – suggesting that more might still be achieved through greater collaboration between:

- Companies and our Further Education colleges – to ensure young people leaving education have the right skills for employment;
- industry and universities – to ensure graduates are equipped to drive growth in the private sector; and
- our universities – to ensure that their research builds on existing expertise, targets those areas of the economy likely to deliver the greatest growth and delivers real competitive advantage.

To this end, the Commissioner welcomed DETI and DEL proposals to provide additional funding support to our universities to support increased engagement in FP7 and Horizon 2020 – specifically to encourage increased local company/university collaboration.

She also welcomed the proposed appointment by DETI of a Horizon 2020 Manager for the region.

Flags Protocol Working Group

Mr Lyttle asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for an update on the work of the Flags Protocol Working Group.

(AQO 2175/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: In December 2011, the Flags Protocol Working Group was reconvened at our request. The Working Group has now met on three occasions with a view to bringing forward their views on a revised protocol.

A draft discussion paper has been produced by the Flags Protocol Working Group and this has now been shared with the Cross-Party Working Group on CSI to inform its continued discussions on flags and emblems.

Child Poverty Strategy Annual Report

Mr Nesbitt asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for their assessment of performance against the targets detailed in the Child Poverty Strategy Annual Report.

(AQO 2176/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: In its Child Poverty Annual Report, the Executive demonstrated improvements in education, health and other outcomes. These reflect our efforts both to reduce the numbers of children living in poverty now and to address the factors which give rise to inter-generational poverty.

Further statistical releases since the publication of the report demonstrate reductions in poverty levels here, including significant reductions in the percentage of children in relative poverty.

Public Appointments

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, in light of the findings by the Fair Employment Tribunal in Lennon-v-the Department for Regional Development, whether the practice of Ministers being able to make appointments from an unranked list of candidates be reviewed.

(AQW 13231/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The implications of the recent Fair Employment Tribunal decision in Lennon v the Department for Regional Development on public appointment procedures are being fully considered.

Public Appointments

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, in light of the findings by the Fair Employment Tribunal in Lennon-v-the Department of Regional Development whether the Code of Practice for Ministerial Public Appointments and the Procedures for Handling Public Appointments will be reviewed.

(AQW 13234/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Commissioner for Public Appointments is an independent office holder who has a statutory duty under the Commissioner for Public Appointments (NI) Order 1995 to prescribe and publish a Code of Practice on the interpretation and application by departments of the principle of selection on merit for public appointments. Any review of the Code of Practice is a matter for the Commissioner.

The implications of the recent Fair Employment Tribunal decision in Lennon v the Department for Regional Development on public appointment procedures will be fully considered.

Department for Employment and Learning: Dissolution

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what is the timeframe for the dissolution of the Department for Employment and Learning; and when the legislation will be introduced.

(AQW 13423/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: These matters remain under consideration. The Assembly will be advised through the relevant Committees of our decision in due course.

Public Appointments

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what steps are proposed for imposing sanctions in the event of adverse findings by the Commissioner for Public Appointments, as recommended by the Public Accounts Committee.

(AQW 13424/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The functions and powers of the Commissioner for Public Appointments are set out in the Commissioner for Public Appointments (NI) Order 1995. We have no plans to change the current functions and powers of the Commissioner.

Ministerial Code: Alleged Breaches

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what mechanisms exist to deal with alleged breaches of the Ministerial Code, including how they are investigated and by whom.

(AQW 13425/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Ministerial Code does not specify any procedure to be followed in relation to the investigation or determination of breaches of the Ministerial Code, nor does it assign any role to us in the matter. Section 28A of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 requires Ministers to act in accordance with the provisions of the Ministerial Code and any alleged breach of the Code could be decided as a matter of law.

In addition, the Northern Ireland Act makes provision for failure by a Minister to observe the terms of the Pledge of Office to be the subject of a motion for a resolution of the Assembly. Such a motion can be moved jointly by us, or by an MLA with the support of 29 other Members.

Ministerial Code: Alleged Breaches

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether they have any plans to review the mechanisms that exist to deal with alleged breaches of the Ministerial Code.

(AQW 13426/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We have no plans for such a review. Apart from the courts, the ultimate authority for breaches of the Ministerial Code resides with Members and the Assembly.

Towards Understanding and Healing

Mr Eastwood asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister why the funding for Towards Understanding and Healing from SEUPB under 'Theme 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past' has not been released, given that the funding has been approved by the Steering Committee and the Pre Contract Check has been completed.

(AQW 13445/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The project application in respect of 'Towards Understanding and Healing' was submitted under Peace III Theme 1.2 Dealing with the past. SEUPB has delegated the administration of this theme to the Consortium comprising the Community Relations Council (CRC) and POBAL.

The Consortium carried out a Pre Contract Check on the project on 14 May 2012. As a result of this check, further clarification was sought regarding the requisite legal status for the group. This was raised with the Managing Authority (SEUPB) and final clarification regarding the requisite legal status for the group was received by the Consortium on 27 June 2012. All other queries were addressed as part of the Pre Contact Check.

CRC is now in the process of drafting the Letter of Offer for Towards Understanding & Healing. Once the Letter of Offer has been approved and signed off by CRC, it will be forwarded to the Department of Environment Communities and Local Government (Accountable Department) for approval. As soon as this approval is given, the Letter of Offer will issue to the Project Promoter.

Sexual Orientation Strategy

Mr McCarthy asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for an update on the Sexual Orientation Strategy.
(AQO 2290/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We aim to publish the Sexual Orientation Strategy by December 2012.

Community Relations Council: Funding

Mr Lynch asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether they can confirm that the Community Relations Council has had its budget approved and that groups awaiting funding from the Council should soon be in receipt of their funds.

(AQO 2291/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The draft budget and operational plan for the Community Relations Council for 2012-13 has been approved.

A letter of offer will issue from the department shortly, which will allow funding to be released to those groups and organisations which have applied for support through the Community Relations Council.

Victims and Survivors Service

Mr Mitchel McLaughlin asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for an update of the work of the Victims and Survivors Service.

(AQO 2292/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Victims and Survivors Service went live on 2 April 2012 and was officially launched on 2 May by Junior Minister Bell and the former Junior Minister Anderson. This fulfilled a commitment made by both of us that the service would be established by April 2012.

The Service will deliver the new assessment and commission-based delivery model, bringing together some £11 million of funding into a single, unified service. The objective is to transform current services from being grants-led to needs-led.

The Service has had over 248 requests for information. To date, over 85 assessments have been carried out and the Service maintains advanced bookings of on average 20 appointments; the majority of people are seen within seven days. This is very encouraging news and is an early but hopeful sign that the Service is attracting those victims and survivors who, for whatever reason, may not have availed of Victims services in the past.

A proposed assessment model has been completed and staff from the Service have been meeting with various victims' groups and agencies to ensure the work they will carry out is what is needed.

Arrangements are almost complete for the relevant staff from both the Community Relations Council and the Memorial Fund to join the Service.

Arrangements for the recruitment of the Victims and Survivors Service Board and Chair, as well as the post of Chief Executive, are well advanced.

We are committed to continuing to work hard to ensure that the Victims Service provides the best service possible and that victims and survivors receive from it the support they expect and deserve.

Sexual Orientation Strategy

Mr McKay asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether they can confirm that the Sexual Orientation Strategy will be published before the end of 2012.

(AQO 2294/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We aim to publish the Sexual Orientation Strategy by December 2012.

Strategy for A Shared Future

Mr McClarty asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister how they intend to continue updating the strategy for A Shared Future, following the withdrawal of the Alliance Party from the cross-party Cohesion, Sharing and Integration working group.

(AQO 2295/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The withdrawal of the Alliance Party from the cross-party working group on CSI has not affected our determination, or that of the other political parties, who continue to work together to make progress on a new community relations strategy.

The CSI working group continues to meet on a weekly or bi-weekly basis, and each member of that group, led by the two Junior Ministers, is working hard to achieve political consensus on the range of issues required to underpin a finalised strategy.

Summer Intervention Programmes

Mr Boylan asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what funding their Department has committed to Summer Intervention Programmes for this year.

(AQO 2296/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: Our Department has committed £500,000 to the Summer Intervention Programmes for 2012.

This money is broken down into two tranches; £100,000 is transferred to Belfast City Council to administer, and £400,000 is transferred to the Department of Education (DE). The money transferred to DE is then administered by the Education and Library Boards.

Additional money is also spent on summer intervention work by the District Councils, through the District Councils Good Relations Programme.

Compositely, these resources have been utilised to support activities with our young people at those times of the year when tensions can be at their highest.

Northern Ireland Memorial Fund

Mrs Dobson asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister if they are aware of the security and privacy concerns amongst relatives of ex-servicemen and women in relation to (i) the new means tested assessment criteria when applying to the Northern Ireland Memorial Fund; and (ii) their reluctance to provide personal and financial details previously not required to access funding, (AQW 13712/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: Any information given to the Northern Ireland Memorial Fund is held securely and treated with the utmost care and discretion. The requirement for means testing and provision of personal and financial details has been in place in the Memorial Fund since November 2010.

The Memorial Fund has had no contact from ex-servicemen or women raising concerns in relation to this issue.

Department of Agriculture and Rural Development

Rural Borewells Scheme

Mr Ó hOisín asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what consideration was given to people on means-tested benefits, when deciding upon the criteria used to assess applicants for the Rural Borewells Scheme.

(AQW 13151/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill (The Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development): The Rural Borewells Scheme is an innovative scheme to help those living in isolated rural areas that do not have access to mains water and where accessing the public water mains is not technically or financially possible. Developed in collaboration with DRD the scheme will offer up to £10k towards access to a wholesome water supply through the installation of a Borewell or treatments works for domestic dwellings built prior to 2000.

This is a pilot scheme which will be reviewed at the end of Year 1 so that we can learn from any issues identified and evidence gathered. I will keep means testing under consideration.

Forest Service: Funding

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the funding provided to the Forest Service in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13287/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The final Departmental Expenditure Limit (DEL) budget allocation provided by the Department to Forest Service and the Agency's reported outturn for each of the financial years 2007/08 to 2001/12 is provided at Appendix 1.

Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) accounting standards applied for the 2007/08 and 2008/09 financial years and therefore these figures are not comparable with 2009 onwards. The accounts from 2009/10 onwards have been accounted for under International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) with the budgets allocated on that basis.

The net resource operating expenditure shows the cost of forestry operations excluding the grant payments, non-cash costs and capital. This cost was £1.1m in the 2011/12 year and represents the subsidy that is required to support the non-commercial recreation visitors to our forests, with entrance charges only levied for the nine Forest Parks (£1m).

The total budget allocation shows the final total departmental expenditure limit budget allocated to the Agency for each of the 5 years.

Note 1: UK GAAP accounting standards applied for the 2007/08 and 2008/09 years therefore these figures are not comparable with 2009 onwards. The accounts from 2009/10 onwards have been accounted for under IFRS with the budgets allocated on that basis.

Note 2: The 2009/10 Non-Cash Expenditure figure has been adjusted to remove the cost of capital £7,830k to improve comparability with 2010/11 and 2011/12.

Note 3: The 2010/11 Resource Expenditure figure includes £395k in respect of the equal pay settlement.

Bees Imported into Northern Ireland

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development how many bees have been (i) directly; or (ii) indirectly imported in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13304/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill:

- (i) In 2011 three consignments with 30 Queen Honey Bees and their attendants were notified to DARD prior to direct importation into the north of Ireland.
In 2010 eighteen consignments with 37 Queen Honey Bees and their attendants were notified to DARD prior to direct importation into the north of Ireland.
In 2009 thirteen consignments with 45 Queen Honey Bees and their attendants were notified to DARD prior to direct importation into the north of Ireland.
- (ii) Over each of the last three years no consignments of Queen Honey Bees and attendants were notified to DARD as being indirectly imported into the north of Ireland.

Fraud Convictions

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development how many convictions for fraud offences have resulted from investigations carried out by the Central Investigation Service since its inception.

(AQW 13343/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: In response to your question, the number of convictions for fraud offences from investigations carried out by the Central Investigation Service since its inception in 2002 is 7.

In addition, the CIS had 86 cases of successful regulatory/legislative convictions. 58 of these cases relate to false claims for subsidy and compensation. 28 cases relate to non compliance with legislation/regulation.

National Arboretum at Castlewellan Forest Park

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development how much funding has been allocated to the feasibility study, economic appraisal and capital works required to upgrade the National Arboretum at Castlewellan Forest Park.

(AQW 13346/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: There is currently no specific budget set aside for this purpose.

Forest Service has recently signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with Down District Council which creates a framework to increase opportunities for the recreational use and tourism potential of forests within the Down District Council area. The arboretum will be one of the areas considered jointly by both partners with the aim of securing a long term viable end use and to deliver the Executive commitment to set a good example in the care of its historic estate.

Forest Service is currently in the process of obtaining estimates for essential repairs to the glasshouses and built structures within the arboretum.

College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail, for each of the last five years (i) the courses which have been delivered by the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise; (ii) the duration of each course; (iii) the award level of each course; (iv) the uptake of each course; and (v) the pass rate of each course.

(AQW 13411/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The annex table contains the information requested. Please note the following:

- Course names are the names currently being used;
- The award level is based on the Qualifications and Credit Framework descriptor;
- The uptake level is the number of people enrolling on year 1 of a course;
- The achievement rate is percentage of students in the final year of their course who, following assessment, achieved the qualification linked to the course;
- The pass rates for the 2011/12 academic year are not available because some students have to re-sit assessments; and
- The pass rates of part-time students who study units within full-time courses are accounted for in the pass rates of the full-time course.

Background Note

AQW 13411/11-15

- All courses offered by CAFRE provide participants with an opportunity to achieve a qualification from a national awarding body or a university. Over recent years several programmes have been updated to reflect awarding body changes as they bring their suite of qualifications into line with the Qualifications and Credit Framework (QCF). CAFRE currently offers programmes from level 2 to 7.
- Analysis of CAFRE's performance demonstrated a consistently high level of performance: overall almost 90% of students who enrol will complete, and over 93% of those who complete will achieve their target qualification. These figures are in the Education and Training Inspectorate's excellent category, and are at the top end of the figures for the Landex group of Colleges. Landex is a group of colleges in Britain who offer similar programmes to CAFRE.

College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the waiting lists for any courses or training that are currently delivered by the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise.

(AQW 13412/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Further and Higher education courses have an annual recruitment cycle whereby potential students apply for courses and are allocated places as soon as examination results are available. As a result, there is no one on a waiting list.

For industry training programmes, on 5 July 2012, a total of 393 people were waiting to be allocated places on courses. The details are as follows:

| Course Name                                       | Numbers waiting |
|---|-----------------|
| All Terrain Vehicles - Adults                     | 5               |
| PA1 - Safe Use of Pesticides                      | 43              |
| PA2A - Field Crop Sprayer                         | 36              |
| PA3 – Air Assisted Sprayer                        | 6               |
| PA4 - Pesticide Granule Applicator                | 2               |
| PA4S - Pesticide Slug Pellet Applicator           | 5               |
| PA6A - Knapsack Sprayer                           | 27              |
| PA6AW – Application in or near water              | 4               |

College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development which courses delivered by the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise have been successful in achieving 100 percent subscription.

(AQW 13413/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The following CAFRE courses met or exceeded their target number of first year enrolments in 2011/12:

- Edexcel Level 2 BTEC Diploma in Land-based Technology;
- National Certificate in Land-based Technology;
- Level 2 Diploma in work-based Agriculture;
- Animal Nursing Assistant; Level 3 Diploma in work-based Agriculture;
- NVQ level 3 Poultry;
- Level 2 Diploma in Floristry;
- Foundation Degree in Horticulture (full-time and part-time routes);
- Level 3 Diploma in work-based Horticulture (Parks, Gardens and Green spaces);
- CHE Horticulture (part-time);
- Pre-farriery;
- Edexcel Level 2 BTEC Extended Diploma in Horse management; Foundation Degree Equine;
- Farriery Upskilling(part-time);
- National Diploma Food Technology;
- Foundation Degree – Food; BSc Food Technology;
- BSc Food Design and Nutrition;
- BSc Food Marketing and Nutrition;
- Advanced Certificate in Packaging; and
- Diploma in Packaging.

All industry training short courses are fully subscribed because courses are only arranged when there are sufficient applications.

College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the level of financial support that is available to students enrolled in (i) full time; and (ii) part time courses at the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise.

(AQW 13414/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill:

Full time Further Education support.

DARD provides a means tested living expenses grant to eligible full time students attending a Further Education course at the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise (CAFRE). Eligibility is based on residency and previous study. A maximum grant of £2,362 is available for students living in campus halls of residency or in lodgings and £1,659 for students living in the parental home. The grant is based on an assessment of residual household income, which includes parents' income for students who depend on their parents financially. A household contribution is calculated for a residual household income of £23,660 and above. A Childcare grant is available for students with dependent children in approved childcare. Additional support is available for students assessed as having a specific learning difficulty or disability.

Full time Higher Education support

Support for CAFRE higher education students is administered by Student Finance NI – a service delivery partnership between DEL, the five local Education and Library Boards (ELB) and the Student Loans Company (SLC). CAFRE students apply to their local ELB for financial support and they determines eligibility and entitlement. SLC sends financial notification of entitlement and payment schedule letters. Students are eligible to apply for a non means-tested tuition fee loan, to the maximum fee charged by CAFRE (£1,380 for academic year 2012). A maximum means tested maintenance grant of £3,475 and maximum means tested maintenance loan of £3,750 (home), £4,840 (lodgings) is available for academic year 2012/13. Additional support is available through a Parent's Learning Allowance (max £1,538), a Childcare Grant (max £148.75 per week for one child and £255 for two or more), an Adult Dependant's Grant (max £2,695) and a Special Support Grant. A Disabled Students' Allowance is a non means tested allowance to support students with disabilities or learning difficulties. An equipment allowance (max £5,266), non-medical helper's allowance (max £20,938) and general allowance of up to £1,759 per year are available.

Hardship Fund

This fund is intended to provide support to students who are experiencing exceptional financial difficulty in meeting costs associated with learning. All full-time students are eligible to apply. Applicants must have taken out a student loan (if eligible) and should have exhausted all other sources of income. Awards are made primarily to students in severe financial hardship, mature students, lone parents and those students with children who are not eligible for a childcare grant. Each case is considered on its own merit by a panel and the amount paid (if any) is based on basic needs being met such as travel, food and books.

Part time Further and Higher Education students

Current policy with regard to part-time study at either further or higher education level for CAFRE students is that the Department will not charge tuition fees for students who are employed in the agri-food industry. Part-time CAFRE students who have been accepted onto the Department of Employment and Learning's ApprenticeshipsNI programme are eligible for £100 payment in respect of the successful completion of each essential skill unit of Communication, Application of Number and ICT.

College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what percentage of (i) full-time; and (ii) part-time courses at the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise are delivered by independent training providers.

(AQW 13415/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: No full-time or part-time courses at CAFRE are delivered by independent training providers.

Promotion of Northern Ireland Produce

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what action her Department is taking to assist in the promotion of Northern Ireland produce with the EU's Protected Geographical Indication status.

(AQW 13467/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: From the outset, I want to make clear that EU State Aid regulations do not allow for the promotion of individual produce based on origin. However, as you are aware, my Department administers the EU Protected Food Names (PFN) Scheme on behalf of applicants. This provides a system for the protection of food names on a geographical or traditional basis and can be used as a valuable promotional tool. My Department's strategy is to raise awareness of this scheme and its benefits to producer groups who can then decide if the scheme would be of benefit to their marketing strategy. My officials can also help producer groups in making applications.

Achievement of a PFN Scheme has significant potential for products as exports are highly sought after with any of the three protected name markings. So, as well as protecting local produce in the expanding global market, it is also another tool to help with export-led growth.

The North has recently had three successful PGI applications: Lough Neagh Eels; Armagh Bramley Apples and Comber Earlies. I visited each of the groups involved in these three product applications and, while wider uptake of the scheme is still at a relatively early stage for the north, I am confident that the PGI status will bring a marketing advantage to each of the products. Indeed, this is already happening with the first crop of Comber Earlies having successfully secured a contract with a major retailer.

My Department managed very positive media coverage, not only of the achievement for each PGI produce but also to raise wider awareness of the scheme. We followed this up with a PFN exhibition stand in the Food Pavilion at the Balmoral Show. I visited this stand and was pleased to see a wide range of interest from the public as well as producers. My officials are now following-up contact with interested parties who visited the stand.

There has also been progress in developing new applications. A joint venture with colleagues in the south for 'Irish Salmon' is at an advanced stage, while meetings with other local producer groups are also ongoing, which will hopefully result in further new applications.

To help producer groups consider the benefits of the scheme, we are developing an Information Pack, as well as additional information for the DARD website. We are also planning a seminar for producers, to explain the scheme and its benefits. The Department's Supply Chain Development Programme is also available to provide support for farmers and growers to work together with others to help them improve the rewards from their supply chain.

At a recent Ards Borough Council meeting DARD Supply Chain explained to growers and packers of Comber Earlies how the PGI should be used to help promote Comber Earlies and explained how the Supply Chain Development Programme could be used to help the industry establish a group to use the PGI status to best advantage. Comber Earlies are now being harvested and packers are starting to use the Comber Earlies PGI labels on their potato bags.

In terms of promoting local quality food, you may be aware that my Department also supports the Regional Food Programme which aims to promote quality produce. Previous successful applications include the Taste of Ulster Guide, the Naturally North Coast Directory and the Food Pavilion at the Balmoral Show.

I am confident that with these actions being taken, our three current PGI products will continue to benefit from PGI status and we will have new successful applications, which in turn will help increased further take-up of this valuable scheme.

Soil Quality

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what specific publicly funded research has been carried out on soil quality since 2007.

(AQW 13487/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: My Department has been undertaking an extensive programme of research on soil quality over many years, through our research work programme at the AgriFood and Biosciences Institute (AFBI). AFBI is currently carrying out research on a DARD funded project titled: 'Monitoring Soil Quality in Northern Ireland'. The aim of this project is to improve our understanding of the extent, diversity and quality of our soil resource and how it is changing. AFBI is also undertaking long term research on the impact of slurry application on soil (since 1970), and established the Representative Soil Sampling Scheme (RSSS) which has been in place since winter 2004.

Hogweed

Ms Boyle asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what responsibility her Department has in relation to the eradication of Hogweed around river banks.

(AQW 13490/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Giant Hogweed is a weed which has spread widely through the countryside in particular along river banks. Control of weeds in the wild including around river banks is the responsibility of the landowner. DARD is not responsible for the eradication of this weed which is classified as an Invasive Alien Species. The Wildlife Order (NI) 1985 makes it an offence to deliberately plant Giant Hogweed. Information on the control of Giant Hogweed by using an appropriate herbicide has been developed by DARD and is available for the general public and other government departments to download from the DARD Internet site on: http://www.dardni.gov.uk/ruralni/giant\_hogweed.pdf

Single Farm Payment System

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether she will consider changing the Single Farm Payment system to allow an interim payment to be made to farmers who are subject to farm inspections and other matters that result in the withholding of the payment for long periods.

(AQW 13507/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: I do not intend to introduce interim payments at this time, but as part of my programme of work to tackle disallowance I am implementing plans to accelerate the processing of payments.

The Department has a programme of work in place to improve its mapping and on-the-spot controls. Payments, including interim payments, can only be made when controls have been applied and eligibility conditions have been satisfied. Where inspectors have identified breaches, it takes time to process these.

In order to accelerate future payments, I have commenced land eligibility inspections relating to the 2012 application year four weeks earlier than in 2011. This earlier start was made possible by development of IT and business systems, as well as earlier training and equipping of inspection staff. These inspectors have been deployed at this early stage to take advantage of the generally better weather and field conditions at this time of year and, importantly, to provide a longer window of opportunity for completion of inspections in order to make more payments to more inspected businesses earlier in the payment cycle.

I also previously announced my intention to introduce the use of satellite imagery for approximately 250 land eligibility inspections in the 2012 campaign. The use of remote sensing should also improve the prospects of early completion of inspections in future years.

I am working to increase the use of online applications and have increased this from 9% in 2010 to 21% on 2012. The use of online applications by farmers reduces the scope for error and accelerates the processing of claims. Farmers and their agents can assist in this by moving to online and away from the paper form in 2013 and I would exhort them to investigate this opportunity.

I have delivered a major investment in mapping and the use of ortho-photography and have made this available to farmers in 2012. The new maps will assist in due course in accelerating payment timetables once they have had time to bed in. In the meantime, farmers must be vigilant in ensuring the new maps are correct, because it is not possible for them to be correct in every case.

A major cause of delay in the processing of inspection cases is the need in many cases for retrospective re-calculation of entitlement value. This will continue to challenge payment targets in 2012, but it is intended that the other measures I have introduced or am introducing will offset this remaining cause of delay.

Bovine TB

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to provide further details on her proposals for tackling bovine TB, which she announced on 3 July 2012 and, in particular, plans to remove badgers which test positive for TB.

(AQW 13566/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Following recent discussions with industry and wider stakeholders, and informed by the views of the external experts who attended the International Vaccination Symposium in Belfast in May 2012, I have asked my officials to design specific wildlife intervention research. This approach would involve testing live badgers; vaccinating and releasing the test negative badgers; and removing the test positive ones.

This wildlife intervention research would focus on removing diseased badgers and protecting uninfected ones. This balanced approach would avoid killing healthy badgers and could lead in time to a healthier badger population incapable of transmitting TB to cattle. The aim of this research would be to test the effectiveness of this approach on the level of TB in badgers and in cattle in the north

I have therefore asked my officials to start work straightaway to design and cost this wildlife intervention research. This is a completely new approach. We expect the design for such a study will be complex and we want to make sure we get it right. There are a number of key steps to be completed.

The first step is to commission the necessary modelling using information from the north. This initial modelling will help to ensure that the subsequent design is scientifically robust. The modelling will help us identify the optimum location and size for the study, and how long it would need to run. It will also help to identify the costs of this wildlife intervention research more clearly.

When we have the results of the initial modelling, the next step will be to design the study proposal. There are a number of other preparatory actions that will be necessary. These include completing the necessary business case; obtaining the necessary licences; and securing the necessary funding. As the badger is a protected species, any direct interventions in the badger population here will be subject to the agreement of the Environment Minister and the issue of the necessary licences. Also, any interventions must be compliant with statutory powers and take into account any relevant legal rulings in Britain.

I have also asked my officials to maintain and develop stakeholder engagement with farming, veterinary and environmental representative organisations. Indeed such a meeting has already taken place on 3 July, which follows on from a TB industry and wider stakeholder workshop held last October at Greenmount College.

In addition, the Agri-Food and Biosciences Institute (AFBI) has recently been requested to put forward further research proposals across a range of aspects of TB, including the role of slurry in spreading TB; an investigation of the risk factors for herds with multiple reactors and / or chronic TB infection in order to further reduce disease in those herds; and an analysis of the existing molecular strain typing data to determine how this tool can be best applied practically in the TB eradication programme and to provide a better understanding of TB transmission in the north. An assessment has also been commissioned of farmers' understanding of and attitudes to applying biosecurity measures when dealing with diseases.

Davagh Forest Park

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development for an update on the work being done to transform Davagh Forest, Cookstown into a multi-purpose trail.

(AQW 13602/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: When Forest Service launched the 'Recreation and Social Use of Forests Strategy' in July 2009 we were keen to realise the full potential that forests offer.

The proposed recreation trail network at Davagh Forest will provide a good example of how we can promote the recreational use of our forests for the benefit of all visitors in line with Forest Service's strategy. Working together with Cookstown District Council, this project will demonstrate my Department's commitment to working in partnership with organisations and local government to secure a more diverse range of facilities and attractions in our forests, for the benefit of our rural communities and for the enjoyment of present and future generations.

Work on the construction of the trail network has not yet commenced. My officials in Forest Service have been working closely with Cookstown District Council in developing a legal agreement for the Council to construct, maintain and manage the recreation product.

EU School Milk Scheme

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, pursuant to AQW 11186/11-15, what targets her Department has with regards to the EU School Milk Subsidy Scheme; and how the delivery of the Scheme can be improved.

(AQW 13702/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: In my earlier reply I outlined the aims of the Scheme and advised that we have a high level of uptake by nursery, primary and special schools. I also welcome the fact that all of our Education and Library Boards (ELBs) participate in the delivery of the Scheme.

I would encourage every school and every parent of a child at school in the north to avail of the benefits of this Scheme. To this end the Dairy Council for the north of Ireland (DCNI) has undertaken valuable promotional work with assistance from both my Department and the European Community. I have also asked my officials to write to the Principals of all nursery, primary and special schools to encourage either their continued participation in the Scheme or to ask them to consider providing drinking milk under the Scheme for the benefit of their pupils.

Another important factor is the effective and efficient delivery of the Scheme through the ELBs. Each school participating in the Scheme liaises with the local ELB which collates a single claim at the end of each school term for all schools in its area and submits it to my Department for payment. In this way administration costs are kept to a minimum.

In conclusion, my aim is for the Scheme to continue to operate as efficiently as possible and to maximise uptake, however you will appreciate that ultimately this will be a personal choice for parents, particularly in the current difficult economic climate.

EU School Milk Scheme

Mr McCallister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail (i) her Department's EU School Milk Scheme targets; and (ii) whether any ways to improve delivery of the scheme have been identified.

(AQW 13714/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Please see my answer pursuant to AQW 13702/11-15.

Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure

Irish Language Act

Mr McGimpsey asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the benefits of an Irish Language Act.

(AQW 11217/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín (The Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure): An Irish Language Act will protect the rights of Irish speakers and clarify the responsibilities of government and public bodies.

An Irish Act represents an opportunity for the Executive to use language and culture to develop programmes to recognise and support cultural expression, improve cognitive ability, create economic opportunity and contribute towards enhanced tolerance, respect and the positive promotion of equality.

DCAL: Construction Contracts

Ms Maeve McLaughlin asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure for her assessment of (i) her Department's elements criteria used to determine public contract tenders for construction; and (ii) whether the criteria, such as turnover thresholds, might prohibit small-to-medium sized local businesses from making applications,

(AQW 13153/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: All my Department's construction contracts are awarded based on the advice of the Department of Finance and Personnel's Central Procurement Directorate. The process typically involves the selection of suitable contractors to be invited to tender, followed by the assessment of the tenders received and the award of the contract to the successful tenderer.

The criteria used at the selection stage includes having adequate financial standing, which is proportionate and relevant to the contract in question. Should a company not meet the relevant financial requirements to qualify as a lead contractor, they may be able to apply either as part of a consortium or by being included in the supply chain of sub-contractors for a lead contractor.

My Department will continue to explore all opportunities for building the Executive's priority of sustainable socio-economic for small-to-medium sized local businesses.

GAA Clubs: Funding

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, pursuant to AQW 12619/11-15, (i) whether she intends to suspend or withdraw funding to Sport NI for distribution to the GAA; (ii) whether the distribution or presentation of medals commemorating a republican terrorist to children by Galbally Gaelic Athletic Club was deemed as acceptable under Sport NI's conditions for the awarding of funds and in compliance with good relations criteria; (iii) whether and where any evidence of such a decision exists; and (iv) whether she, or her departmental officials, met with GAA representatives to discuss this issue.

(AQW 13319/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure provides grant-in-aid to Sport NI as a leading body for the development of sport in the north of Ireland. Sport NI, in turn, is responsible for administering the distributed of this grant-in-aid to sports generally. This is an on-going function of Sport NI and I have no intention of suspending or withdrawing the grant-in-aid Sport NI requires for this purpose.

Galbally Pearse's GAC is neither currently in receipt of nor in the process of being awarded funds by Sport NI. Neither I nor my officials have met with GAA representatives to discuss this matter.

Sport NI Grants

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the terms of the equity clause, which is a condition of Sport NI grants.

(AQW 13344/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Following a review of Sport NI's terms and conditions of award carried out in 2011, all offers of capital and revenue support from Sport NI now contain the following clauses:

Capital Awards

'The Applicant must operate an equal opportunities policy during and following completion of the Project and no-one shall be denied the right to equal access to any goods, facilities, services and/or employment opportunities attaching to the Project on grounds of race, gender, sexual orientation, disability, religious belief, political opinion, marital status, age, or having or not having dependants; in addition, the recipient shall take all reasonable steps to ensure that the facilities and premises assisted by this grant shall be run in an inclusive manner which will both aspire to and promote good relations'.

Revenue Awards

'The Applicant must operate an equal opportunities policy during and following completion of the Project and no-one shall be denied the right to equal access to any goods, facilities, services and/or employment opportunities attaching to the Project on grounds of race, gender, sexual orientation, disability, religious belief, political opinion, marital status, age, or having or not having dependants; in addition, the recipient shall take all reasonable steps to ensure that the opportunities and programmes assisted by this grant shall be run in an inclusive manner which will both aspire to and promote good relations'.

DCAL: Media Protocol

Mrs Hale asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what is the cost associated with the Media protocol for her Department's arm's-length bodies; and how the cost of this protocol will be met.

(AQW 13361/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: It is not envisaged that there will be additional costs associated with the introduction of the media protocol for my Department's arm's-length bodies. I am keen to see that the DCAL brand is used so that tax payers can see where their money is spent. I have emphasised to the ALBs that they should not incur any additional spend on branding. Any costs must be met within existing budgets.

DCAL: Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the capital assets of which her Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13383/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My Department plans to dispose of the assets listed in the table below over the next 3 years.

I should emphasise that actual disposals and their timing may differ from this plan for a number of reasons, including market conditions.

| Asset   | 2012/2013 | 2013/2014 | 2014/2015 |
|---|---------------|---------------|---------------|
| Ligoniel Library                                | X             |               |               |

| Branial Library                                 | X             |               |               |
| Gilnahirk library                               | X             |               |               |
| Dunmurry library                                |               | X             |               |
| Belvoir library                                 | X             |               |               |
| Gilford library                                 |               | X             |               |

Library Stocks: eBooks

Mrs McKevitt asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what proportion of library stocks are eBooks.

(AQW 13458/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The proportion of Libraries NI stock held as eBooks is 1.1%. Libraries stock, as of 3 July 2012, comprises:

- 27,296 copies of eBooks;
- 4,133 copies of downloadable audio books; and,
- 2,711,522 items in stock in the main* library catalogue.

* excludes eBooks & downloadable audio books.

Library Stocks

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how often library stocks are updated.
(AQW 13459/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Libraries NI has informed me that library stocks are updated every day, Monday to Friday. This stock is a mixture of newly published titles, stock purchased to satisfy requests; as replacement copies or to meet identified stock gaps.

The figures* below show the number of copies added to the library stock in each of the last 3 years:

- 2009/10 367,863 copies were added to stock.
- 2010/11 336,656 copies were added to stock.
- 2011/12 523,984 copies were added to stock.

* these figures do not include eBooks or downloadable audio books.

Salmon Nets

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure whether any salmon nets have been placed around the coast of Northern Ireland, in this year to date.
(AQW 13471/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: DCAL Fisheries Protection Officers have not detected any salmon nets placed in coastal waters to date in 2012.

Salmon Nets

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how her Department has sought to ensure that no salmon nets have been placed around the coast of Northern Ireland this year.
(AQW 13473/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: DCAL Fisheries Protection Officers continue to carry out surveillance in the areas in which the netsmen operated to ensure that they are complying with their undertakings and that no other illegal fishing activity is taking place. Patrols are carried out both at sea and along the coastline

Salmon Nets

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure for an update of the negotiations between the holders of licences for salmon nets and her Department on the permanent removal of these nets.
(AQW 13474/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The Department is not in any current negotiations with the holders of licences for salmon nets on the permanent removal of those nets.

The Department is currently carrying out a public consultation on a range of options for salmon conservation measures and the outcomes of this will inform the development of future salmon conservation policy, including the licensing of salmon nets.

Hogweed

Ms Boyle asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure what responsibility her Department has in relation to the eradication of Hogweed around loughs and lakes
(AQW 13489/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: DCAL has no responsibility for the eradication of Giant Hogweed. The Northern Ireland Environment Agency offers advice and guidance to landowners on their website on best practice to control and remove this invasive species.

2013 World Police and Fire Games

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how many staff are engaged and employed to deliver the 2013 World Police and Fire Games.
(AQW 13508/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The 2013 World Police and Fire Games Ltd is the Company established to deliver the Games. Currently the Company has 30 staff and a further eight people will join in the next 2-3 months making a total of 38 staff. The Company does not employ any staff directly and all staff are on secondment from their parent employer organisations.

Additionally staff from a number of the stakeholder bodies, for example Belfast City Council, are working very closely with the Company to deliver particular work streams, such as the Opening & Closing Ceremonies and Accommodation.

Six Volunteer Co-ordinators, employed by Volunteer Now, are working with the Company to recruit 3,500 volunteers for the Games and approximately 70 voluntary Sports Co-ordinators representing each of the sports organisations' Governing Bodies are also working with the Company.

2013 World Police and Fire Games

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure for an estimate of the cost to the Executive of hosting the 2013 World Police and Fire Games.

(AQW 13509/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The cost of delivering the 2013 World Police and Fire Games is £13.811m, as specified in a business case addendum approved by DFP in March 2012.

In September 2010 the NI Executive agreed to contribute £6.04m cash to the project. However as part of the business case addendum approval process my department agreed to try to manage, in conjunction with the 2013 World Police and Fire Games Ltd., potential cash pressures of £843k from existing resources. If the pressure is realised it would bring the total cash contribution from the NI Executive to £6.88m.

itionally a number of stakeholder bodies, such as the PSNI, NIFRS and NIPS, have agreed to 'in kind' contributions to the delivery of the games. The 'in kind' contributions from NI Executive linked bodies is £2.51m.

Salmon Conservation Limits

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, in light of the low percentage compliance rates in 2010, how her Department plans to improve the compliance with salmon conservation limits in the Bush, Glendun and Maine rivers.

(AQW 13551/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My Department is involved in a range of activities aimed at contributing to improvements in compliance with salmon Conservation Limits in the Bush, Glendun and Maine rivers.

Catchment management is informed by on-going work on each of the rivers to assess juvenile populations through electro fishing and monitoring of adult salmon by fish counters. My Department has a full inventory of salmon habitat in each of these rivers derived from habitat surveys and specialist assessment techniques. A fish passage assessment has been carried out on the River Bush using hydro acoustic tagging studies.

The Department continues to fulfil its responsibilities under the Fisheries Act (NI) 1966 for the protection and conservation of fish and fisheries habitat. The Department works with local angling clubs to develop and implement in river salmon habitat enhancement projects in line with NASCO commitments.

The protection of wild Atlantic salmon is a priority for my Department and Fisheries Protection Officers carry out a range of enforcement activities to detect, deter and disrupt those involved in illegal fishing.

In the current season, my Department has brokered the cessation of all commercial netting of wild salmon in the DCAL jurisdiction. My call for voluntary catch and release of salmon by recreational anglers has attracted widespread support and the Department has made all Public Angling Estate waters catch and release only for 2012.

The Department has gone to public consultation on a range of options for salmon conservation measures for both commercial and recreational salmon fishing. This will inform the development of salmon conservation policy with the aim of improving the state of salmon stocks in all our rivers.

It is pertinent to mention that there are a number of factors that influence compliance with Conservation Limits that are outside the control of DCAL, notably the increase in mortality in the marine phase of the salmon life cycle.

Flute Bands: Funding

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure how many flute bands have received funding from her Department, or its arm's-length bodies, in the last twelve months.

(AQW 13619/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Funding in support of bands in the north of Ireland is disbursed through the Arts Council and the Ulster Scots Agency. My Department also allocates funding to bands through the Community Festivals Fund administered by the local councils.

96 flute bands received funding in the 2011 calendar year through the Ulster Scots Agency and 16 received funding in the 2011/12 financial year through the Arts Council and Community Festivals Fund.

Irish Language Broadcast Fund and Ulster-Scots Broadcast Fund

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the companies and projects that received grant awards from the (i) Irish Language Broadcast Fund; and (ii) Ulster-Scots Broadcast Fund in (a) 2011; and (b) 2012.

(AQW 13677/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Details of the companies and projects that received grant awards through (i) the Irish Language Broadcast Fund are attached at Annex A and (ii) the Ulster Scots Broadcast Fund are attached at Annex B.

Department of Education

Schools: Average Capital Expenditure of Sectors in 2011/12

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education to detail the average capital expenditure, per pupil, in the (i) controlled; (ii) maintained; and (iii) integrated sectors in the 2011/12 academic year.

(AQW 13100/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd (The Minister of Education): The average capital expenditure, per pupil, in the (i) controlled sector including controlled integrated schools is £428.40; (ii) maintained sector including Irish Medium maintained schools is £234.59; and (iii) grant – maintained integrated sector is £182.86 in the 2011/12 financial year.

The Department is unable to provide details for capital expenditure information based on academic years, or to provide a split between the controlled and controlled integrated schools, as we do not report or hold information in this format.

It should be noted these figures are based on Provisional Schools' Capital Outturn and exclude capital expenditure on School Transport, Early Years and Non-School ICT Projects. The Final Capital Outturn for 2011/12 will not be available until September 2012.

Foyle Pride Festival 2012

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) the level of funding his Department has allocated to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry; and (ii) if his Department has not allocated funds to the event, how much it is willing to provide towards the running costs of £15,000.

(AQW 13202/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department of Education has not received any applications for funding of the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry. The Department assesses each application for funding on its merits.

Preschool Application Process: July/August Birthdays

Mrs Cochrane asked the Minister of Education when the Statutory Rule to remove the criterion for July/August birthdays in the pre-school application process will be introduced, given his statement to the Assembly on Monday 23 April 2012 that the legislation to remove the criterion will be introduced before summer recess.

(AQW 13352/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Statutory Rule has been laid in the Assembly and came into effect on 6 July, subject to the will of the Assembly.

Minister of Education: Visit to School in East Londonderry

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 13004/11-15, (i) why he did not provide the information requested in his response; and (ii) to detail (a) whether he visited a school in East Londonderry on 25 May 2012 from which he was called away to deal with urgent business; (b) whether the visit was of a ministerial or constituency nature; and (c) to provide details of the urgent business.

(AQW 13363/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I refer the Member to my answers to his earlier questions, AQW 12365/11-15 and AQW 13004/11-15 which were published in the Official Report on the 15th June 2012 and 29th June respectively.

GCSE Examinations

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Education for his assessment of the proposal by the Secretary of State for Education to change the GCSE examinations system, and how it might impact on Northern Ireland.

(AQW 13482/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I would refer the member to my answer to AQO 2304/11-15, tabled by William Irwin, and published in the Official Report on 6 July 2012.

CCEA

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Education what impact the changes proposed by the Secretary of State for Education may have on the future operation of CCEA.

(AQW 13483/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Education is a matter for locally accountable government and I as Minister set policy here. CCEA will continue to discharge its statutory functions as set out in the 1998 Education Order.

Should qualifications policy in England diverge from my policies, CCEA will work to ensure that our qualifications continue to have currency elsewhere.

Universities: Northern Ireland Students Seeking Admission to English Universities

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Education how changes to the examination system in England, which were proposed by the Secretary of State for Education, might impact on Northern Ireland students seeking admission to English universities.

(AQW 13484/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: My priority is to ensure that qualifications offered in the north of Ireland are relevant and appropriate for our young people, and our economy. It is vital that qualifications offered here continue to be recognised by universities and employers across these islands and beyond.

If changes proposed in England break the direct link between our GCEs and GCSEs and those offered in England, I will seek to ensure that our qualifications retain the currency and transportability which they have long enjoyed.

Education and Training Inspectorate

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Education to detail (i) the recent teaching experience of members of the Education and Training Inspectorate of Schools; and (ii) the average teaching experience and range of experience of members of the Education and Training Inspectorate of Schools.

(AQW 13485/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Education and Training Inspectorate promotes improvement not just in schools, but in pre-school centres, the youth service, institutes of further and higher education, teacher education, work-based learning, the College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise (CAFRE) and in the educational provision in the prison service.

In relation to (i) the recent teaching experience of the Education and Training Inspectorate is individual and personal to each inspector and therefore it would not be appropriate to disclose it in this forum.

In relation to (ii) All inspectors have academic and professional qualifications at least to degree level or the equivalent and are also required to have a qualification which enables them to teach in schools and /or a further education college; invariably all have substantial teaching and/or training experience in schools, colleges of further and higher education, youth work, organisations of higher education or in industrial/commercial training.

The teaching experience required for the post of inspector will depend on the specialism. For the post of an inspector of primary or post-primary education, typically, the following generic qualifications are required:

- A degree level qualification which meets the requirement for recognition to teach in grant-aided schools.
- At least 10 years teaching experience, which have been gained in schools, colleges of further education, institutions of higher education or initial teacher education.

Schools: Disputes with Parents

Mr Rogers asked the Minister of Education what assistance is available to Boards of Governors to deal with disputes between parents and schools, in addition to that offered by the Education and Library Boards and the Council for Catholic Maintained Schools.

(AQW 13502/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Disagreements between parents and a school vary widely in nature and are normally resolved quickly in accordance with a school's own complaints procedures.

It is always a matter of concern when disputes arise that cannot be settled quickly within the school community as these affect the learning environment of the pupils. In such circumstances the relevant education and library board (ELB) does play an important role as, in the case of Catholic maintained schools, does CCMS as the Employing Authority. In schools where the Board of Governors is also the Employing Authority, advice may be obtained from the local ELB and/or from external or independent sources.

In addition to approaching the ELB (and, where appropriate, CCMS) there are other avenues open to the governing body. Where there are issues relating to school performance, a Board of Governors may ask the Education and Training Inspectorate to undertake a school inspection if the normal procedures for performance management have been exhausted. Where there are issues relating to the school's management procedures, a Board of Governors may request a school audit from its funding authority.

My Department also provides advice to Boards of Governors including through the DE website which contains guidance on governors' roles and responsibilities.

Western Education and Library Board: Capital Funding

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Education to detail the level of capital funding allocated to the Western Education and Library Board in each year since 2002, broken down by spending in the (i) controlled; (ii) maintained; (iii) integrated; and (iv) Irish-medium sectors.

(AQW 13527/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Western Education and Library Board is responsible for capital accrual expenditure on Controlled Schools and Maintained School Meals Accommodations (SMAs) only.

However, I have also provided capital expenditure on Maintained, Grant-Maintained integrated and Irish Medium Schools in the Western Education and Library Board area which are grant-aided directly through the Department. As this funding is given in the form of grant aid, the figures are only available as cash expenditure.

The figures shown below relate to capital expenditure figures, per sector, for the last 7 years. Figures broken down as requested are not available prior to the 2005/06 financial year.

Primary Schools

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Education what percentage of primary schools in each Education and Library Board have been deemed to be (i) satisfactory; and (ii) in need of improvement following inspections, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13576/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd:

- (i) Percentage of primary schools evaluated as good or better

|       | 2009/2010% | 2012/2011% | 2011/2012% |

Children who are Resident in the Republic of Ireland

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education what financial contribution the Republic of Ireland Government has made to cover the costs of children who are resident in the Republic of Ireland being educated in Northern Ireland.

(AQW 13582/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I would refer the Member to my answers to AQW 11281-11/15 and AQW 12847/11-15 published in the Official Report on 18 May and 6 July respectively.

Substitute Teachers: Cost

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education to detail the costs of supplying substitute teachers, in the South Eastern Education and Library Board area, in each of the last three academic years.

(AQW 13583/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The costs of supplying substitute teachers, in the South Eastern Education and Library Board area, in each of the last three academic years are detailed in the table below. For the current academic year, information is provided from September 2011 to June 2012.

| Sept 2009 - Aug 2010 | Sept 2010 - Aug 2011 | Sept 2011- Jun 2012 |
|----------------------|----------------------|---------------------|
| £13,730,208.85       | £12,891,155.85       | £10,554,824.53      |

Expelled Pupils: Transport

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education how many pupils, who have been expelled from school, are now transported to another school by (i) bus; and (ii) taxi, broken down by Education and Library Board.

(AQW 13593/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I have been informed by the Education & Library Boards that for the 2010/11 year, the last year for which expulsions data has been published, a total of 8 pupils are now being transported to another school, 4 by bus and 4 by taxi.

The data has not been broken down by individual Education and Library Board to avoid identification of individual pupils.

It is possible that some or all of these pupils were already in receipt of transport assistance to the original school from which they were expelled.

Early Years Stakeholder Advisory Group

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education why there are representatives from primary schools on the Early Years Stakeholder Advisory Group; and whether he has any plans to review this situation.

(AQW 13595/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I indicated to the Assembly on 2 July 2012 that I would look into the issue of representation from the primary sector on the Early Years Stakeholder Advisory Group. Officials have confirmed that currently there is not representation from the primary sector and I have asked that this position is addressed as a matter of urgency to ensure that the Group is fully inclusive of all relevant sectors.

Value Education: Advertising

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Education what the advertising campaign, aimed at raising the value that local communities place on education, will entail.

(AQW 13596/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In my Autumn Statement on 26 September 2011, I emphasised the need to send a clear signal to every community about the value of education.

I intend to take forward an advertising campaign to inform and engage all parents, and in particular those from the most disadvantaged backgrounds, to become more engaged in their child's education. The campaign is intended to raise awareness of the importance of educational achievement and promote the value of a good education whilst encouraging parents to aspire to a better education and future for their children.

The finer detail of the advertising campaign and how the outcomes will be achieved have still to be worked through with the successful bidder.

Nursery School Places and Providers

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Education, in light of 1,400 of the 1,800 additional nursery school places being weighted in favour of private and voluntary providers, to detail (i) each private and voluntary nursery school provider; (ii) each statutory nursery school provider; (iii) the original Education and Training Inspectorate grading for each individual provider over each of the last two years; and (iv) whether there is research available to show differing educational outcomes for children who attend private as opposed to statutory nursery schools.

(AQW 13598/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: I have arranged for the information requested to be placed in the Assembly Library.

Parkhall Integrated College, Antrim

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 12032/11-15, why Parkhall Integrated College, Antrim, was not announced as one of the successful 18 projects for capital investment, given that the project was identified as being at Stage F/G by the Royal Institute of British Architects.

(AQW 13618/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Parkhall Integrated College is central to a recently announced NEELB consultation for the Antrim / Ballymena area in which the option now being considered for Parkhall is an 800 place 11-19 school with post-16 provision being offered as jointly managed and governed provision with Antrim Grammar School. The proposals within the consultation document also indicate that capacity would have to be expanded at both Parkhall and Antrim Grammar.

Clarity is needed on the scale and type of provision the Department of Education is being asked to provide before funding can be approved.

In my statement to the Assembly on 25 June I indicated that I propose to establish a cohort of projects to be advanced through the planning, design and business approval processes. The schools to be funded will form an announcement in the autumn.

Provision for a new school build for Parkhall will continue to be reviewed including consideration in preparation for the autumn announcement.

Teachers: Religious Background

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education what percentage of teachers in (i) controlled; (ii) maintained; (iii) integrated; and (iv) Irish-medium post-primary schools come from a (a) Catholic; (b) Protestant; or (c) other religious background.

(AQW 13620/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department does not hold this information.

Teachers: Retirement or Resignation

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Education, following the retirement or resignation of a teacher, to detail (i) whether there is a timeframe in place that would prevent a post being filled; (ii) if so, what is the timeframe; and (iii) whether it differs for posts in primary and post-primary schools in the (a) controlled; (b) maintained; (c) integrated; and (d) Irish-medium sectors.

(AQW 13637/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: There is no timeframe in place in any school to prevent a post being filled following the retirement or resignation of a teacher. When a vacancy occurs the Principal and Board of Governors look at their staffing needs to determine whether or not a post should be filled.

The timeframe for filling a vacant post will be influenced by the length of notice given and the time scale to allow for the recruitment process.

Early Years Strategy

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of Education, given that 90 percent of respondents disagreed with his Department's (0-6) Early Years Strategy, how he will ensure that a revised strategy takes account of the concerns and issues raised.

(AQW 13650/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: Consultation is an important element in the process of developing policy and every response is important. While the consultation indicates that there is widespread agreement around the need for increased early years intervention and support there is less consensus around how this might be achieved.

The core objective of my Department is to raise standards in education and, in doing so, to reduce educational underachievement particularly for those young people who face barriers to learning. As I announced in my statement to the Assembly on 2 July 2012 I consider that the focus should be on the child and their needs. That is why I intend to develop a revised strategy with a clear focus on early education and learning.

At the same time I intend to explore how the Delivering Social Change Framework might provide a mechanism for achieving enhanced collaboration and integration for early years but as part of a much wider theme of early intervention.

My officials will develop a set of proposals which take account of the outcome of the consultation. Over the coming months they will engage with key stakeholders to develop and refine these. I aim to publish a final strategic framework in November.

Early Years Stakeholder Advisory Group

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of Education why principals of primary schools are not represented on the (0-6) Early Years Stakeholder Advisory Group; and whether he will reconsider this position.

(AQW 13651/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: When establishing the Stakeholder Advisory Group for the Early Years (0-6) Strategy my Department identified key players in the area of early years provision and policy. The membership of the Group has expanded as needs have changed and issues and discussions develop.

I indicated to the Assembly on 2 July 2012 that I would look into the issue of representation from the primary sector on the Group. Officials have confirmed that currently there is not representation from the primary sector and I have asked that this position is addressed as a matter of urgency to ensure that the Group is fully inclusive of all relevant sectors.

Early Years Strategy

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of Education whether, and how, when revising the (0-6) Early Years Strategy he will take account of the findings of the Nutbrown research report, and other government-funded research, which has consistently found that qualified teacher-led provision leads to the best outcomes for children.

(AQW 13652/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: In taking forward the development of the Early Years (0-6) Strategy my Department will consider a range of relevant research and policy developments.

With respect to the Nutbrown Review on early education and childcare qualifications the policy context for early education and childcare in England and Wales differs from the north of Ireland. Although there is no direct read-across of the findings to provision here, there may be some issues that are similar and could be helpful to the development of the proposals, even if solutions differ.

I remain committed to the partnership approach between the statutory nursery sector and the voluntary/private sector to the delivery of the funded pre-school year here which has many strengths. ETI inspection findings and the Chief Inspector's Reports clearly indicate that there is high quality provision across the pre-school sector - in statutory nursery schools, nursery units attached to primary schools and in voluntary/private pre-school settings.

Army Children

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Education (i) what discussions he has had with the Ministry of Defence about educational provision and planning in relation to army families returning from Germany to, or via, Northern Ireland; and (ii) to detail the number of children from army families who will be returning who are of (a) primary; and (b) post-primary school age, in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13654/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: My officials maintain continuous engagement through the Services Children Education Forum to ensure emerging issues in relation to supporting the educational needs of children of Service Personnel are addressed.

Special Advisers

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 2636/11-15, to detail (i) when the salary band for his Special Adviser was finalised; (ii) whether his Special Adviser was in receipt of a salary prior to it being finalised; and (iii) under which salary band his Special Adviser is paid.

(AQW 13655/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd:

- (i) The salary band for my Special Adviser was finalised on 8 November 2011
- (ii) My Special Adviser was not in receipt of salary prior to it being finalised
My Special Adviser is paid under Pay Band B:
- (iii) £57,300 - £82,531

Post-primary Schools: Vacant Places

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education, following the publication of the area plans for post-primary schools by the Education and Library Boards, to detail the number of vacant places in post-primary schools, broken down by council area or constituency.

(AQW 13678/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The number of unfilled post-primary school places in the 2011/12 school year broken down by district council area and parliamentary constituency are provided in the tables below.

Unfilled post-primary school places in the 2011/12 school year by district council area

| District Council | Unfilled Places |
|------------------|-----------------|
| Antrim           | 324             |

- 1 The number of vacant places in schools is derived from the difference between a school's approved enrolment number and the number of pupils enrolled at the school.
- 2 The figures exclude the enrolment pupils in receipt of a statement of special educational needs, and pupils admitted on appeal by the Education and Library Board appeal tribunals or by direction of the independent Exceptional Circumstances Body, as these are admitted over and above a school's approved enrolment number.

Primary and post-primary Schools: Development Proposals

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 11540/11-15, to detail the names of the schools, broken down by Education and Library Board.

(AQW 13711/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The names of the schools referred to in the 53 development proposals, noted at the time of answering AQW 11540/11-15, are provided in the tables below.

Department for Employment and Learning Jubilee Garden Party

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Employment and Learning how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) his Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13289/11-15)

Dr Farry (The Minister for Employment and Learning): The number of tickets allocated within the Department for Employment and Learning, and its arms length bodies, for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 is as follows:

| Name               | No of tickets allocated |
|--------------------|-------------------------|
| Minister           | 0                       |
| Department         | 156                     |
| Arms Length Bodies | 0                       |
| Total:      | 156              |

In addition to the Departmental allocation, the Minister received 4 tickets as an MLA, through the NI Assembly.

University of Ulster: Budget Cuts

Mr McCartney asked the Minister for Employment and Learning whether he intends to meet union representatives to discuss the implementation of budget cuts at the University of Ulster.

(AQW 13329/11-15)

Dr Farry: The University of Ulster has had to sustain an efficiency of 6% in its annual recurrent grant for the 2011/12 and 2012/13 academic years as have all other higher education institutions in Northern Ireland. The decision as to how the university will achieve the necessary efficiencies is solely a matter for its senior management and governing body.

DEL: Disposal of Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Employment and Learning to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13382/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department intends to dispose of Felden House, Newtownabbey, within this financial year. This is the only planned capital asset that will be disposed of in the next three years at this stage.

STEM Subjects: Teachers

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, for each of the last three years, to detail the number of (i) newly qualified teachers; and (ii) newly qualified teachers in each of the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics subjects.

(AQW 13394/11-15)

Dr Farry: The table below details the Number of (i) newly qualified teachers; and (ii) newly qualified teachers in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) subjects from Northern Ireland Higher Education Institutions in each of the last three years.

| Academic year | Overall | STEM subjects only         |
|---------------|---------|----------------------------|
| 2008/09       | 660     | Not available (see note 5) |
| 2009/10       | 625     | 170                        |
| 2010/11       | 590     | 180                        |

Source: Higher Education Statistics Agency

Notes:

1 HESA data are rounded to the nearest 5.

- 2 The latest available data are for academic year 2010/11.
- 3 STEM subjects have been identified using the course title field on the HESA record. The content of the field is determined by individual institutions.
- 4 There are various combinations of subjects included in course titles and, in general, they cannot be assigned to each of the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics subjects. Hence, only the overall totals for STEM subjects have been given.
- 5 A figure for the number of newly qualified teachers in STEM subjects in 2008/09 is not available as specific subjects cannot be identified for a large number of qualifications.

Migrant Workers

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what discussions his Department has had with major employers to assess the number of migrant workers in the various industries.

(AQW 13404/11-15)

Dr Farry: Employers are not compelled to collect information on the nationality or migration status of workers and there are complexities in attempting to do so. However my Department has commissioned a number of pieces of research in recent years which have included analyses of the number of migrant workers in various occupational sectors. There are also a number of additional information sources, e.g. the Labour Force Survey and NISRA's International Migration Statistics, that my Department draws on to inform its work to support Migrant Workers.

Discussions with individual employers may not provide an accurate assessment of overall Northern Ireland position.

STEM Initiative

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Employment and Learning for his assessment of the STEM initiative offered by South Eastern Regional College to enable part-time students to earn back their tuition fees by successfully completing their course.

(AQW 13450/11-15)

Dr Farry: My Department is one of a number of departments contributing to the implementation of the STEM strategy, 'Success through STEM', which was endorsed by the Executive in March 2011. It aims to promote science, technology, engineering and mathematics and, in so doing, encourage more people to gain skills in these areas, to meet the needs of the economy. A particular challenge for Northern Ireland is that the envisaged growth in STEM areas is not being matched by a sufficient growth in the number of young people choosing to study these subjects at school, college and university.

I therefore welcome the initiative being taken forward by South Eastern Regional College, which will encourage more people to study STEM subjects and acknowledge its valuable contribution in helping to achieve the STEM strategy's overarching recommendations.

Certificate in Religious Education

Mr Swann asked the Minister for Employment and Learning how many people have completed the Certificate in Religious Education in each of the last three years, broken down by religious background.

(AQW 13461/11-15)

Dr Farry: As the Department does not hold the information requested, my officials contacted the four higher education institutions. The information provided by the universities and university colleges is attached at Annex A.

Annex A

Queen's University Belfast

The PGCE offered by Queen's University is for post-primary teaching. The Certificate in Religious Education is not required for post-primary contexts and Queen's does not offer this qualification. Whilst the University does make available information on how to access the Certificate to all PGCE students, no information is held on actual students undertaking the Certificate.

University of Ulster

| Total RE Certificates | 67 | 76 | 75 | 73 |

* "Other" category includes records where the information has been refused, is not known, where the student has stated that they hold no religious belief as well as any religious belief other than Protestant or Catholic.

Stranmillis University College

The following table shows the number of students from Stranmillis University College who have completed the Certificate in Religious Education by Distance Learning (CREDL) in each of the last 3 years:

| Year    | Number of Students who have completed the CREDL course |
|---------|--|
| 2009-10 | 6  |
| 2010-11 | 7  |
| 2011-12 | 3  |

Unfortunately the College is not able to provide the breakdown by religious background, as we cannot access this information.

St. Mary's University College

The Certificate in Religious Education at St Mary's is awarded upon successful completion of a three-year course for BEd students or a one-year course for PGCE students. The award is by Ecclesiastical Authority and St Mary's is not the sole provider of this qualification for Northern Ireland students.

The following table provides the information you have requested.

| YEAR | PGCE | BEd |
|------|------|-----|
| 2010 | 20   | 160 |
| 2011 | 20   | 127 |
| 2012 | 19   | 121 |

All of the students were from a Catholic background.

Customer First in the Western District

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, in light of the announcement on the roll out of Customer First in the Western District, whether any discussions have taken place between his Department and the Department for Social Development on the provision of a 'One Stop Shop' in premises at a central location in Strabane which had been envisaged previously as part of the Benefits and Jobs Project which has not yet been fully implemented.

(AQW 13478/11-15)

Dr Farry: The Jobs and Benefits service has been introduced into 27 offices across Northern Ireland, however it has not been possible to introduce it into the remaining 8 offices as capital funding has not been made available to complete roll-out.

Staff in the local JobCentre and the Social Security Office continue however to deliver high levels of service to customers in the Strabane area, such as work focused interviews and access to a full range of our employment services and programmes,

Both the Minister for Social Development and I will continue to seek opportunities to deliver the Jobs & Benefits service as they arise and subject to the identification of funding.

FG Wilson

Mr Ross asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what support his Department can offer to people who will lose their jobs at FG Wilson.

(AQW 13479/11-15)

Dr Farry: My officials have been very proactive since FG Wilson announced these job losses. Telephone contact was initially made with the company followed by a discussion with company representatives to explain in detail how the Department's Redundancy Advice Service can help those affected.

FG Wilson management has expressed a clear commitment to working with the Department and other Agencies to assist employees. They are keen that our services are offered to those affected across all three of their sites, and will encourage employees who will be affected to avail of the help and support available. All services are free of charge to both employees and the company. A further meeting between the Department and FG Wilson has already scheduled to plan in detail for the delivery of advice clinics.

In offering the Redundancy Advice Service, the Department will work in partnership with the Social Security Agency, Further Education Colleges, HMRC and other agencies. Employees will be provided with information and professional advice about the options and support available to them including employment, training and education opportunities, as well as careers, benefits and taxation advice.

FG Wilson

Mr Ross asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what contact his Department has had with FG Wilson since the announcement that up to 260 jobs could be lost by the end of the year.

(AQW 13480/11-15)

Invest NI

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister for Employment and Learning (i) whether there is communication between Invest NI and his Department regarding potential investors' feedback on skills; (ii) whether this feedback is used to shape specific and general programmes to improve skills, and (iii) whether this feedback is used by his Department, universities and colleges to determine which courses are offered and promoted.

(AQW 13494/11-15)

Dr Farry: I encourage a positive relationship between my Department and Invest Northern Ireland. This is immensely important as we work together to rebuild and rebalance the economy by implementing the Northern Ireland Economic Strategy.

The Assured Skills programme is one of the main areas of joint work between my Department and INI to attract potential investors to Northern Ireland. Under Assured Skills, we bring all the experience of both organisations to bear and jointly develop, design and, ultimately, fund projects.

This co-operative approach has greatly influenced the decision of several companies to invest here, and has resulted in 726 new jobs secured for Northern Ireland just in the last year. A further 400 posts are currently the subject of ongoing negotiations.

We receive direct feedback from potential investors on their needs by meeting with potential investors alongside INI colleagues. In doing this, our aim is to reduce the risk to the investor in a new labour market by using our experience to help them find the staff they need, and then ensure they have access to the skills training to get up and running – and productive – as quickly as possible.

In terms of how this feedback is used to shape specific and general programmes to improve skills, we get first hand information on the company's recruitment, training and skills requirements, and are then in a perfect position to liaise with the local further or higher education sector to design and develop a bespoke solution to meet the company's needs.

For example, we are working with Queen's, the University of Ulster and Belfast Metropolitan College to design specific programmes for CVS Caremark, a United States based pharmaceutical company that recently announced the creation of 50 new jobs in NI. Assured Skills also helps existing companies who are expanding, and Queen's University are currently designing customised management and leadership courses for Andor Technology, who are creating 166 additional jobs.

These examples show how we are improving the industry-relevant skills within the further and higher sectors in Northern Ireland in response to demand.

Course provision is a matter for institutions but, in the longer term, I believe these linkages and direct experience of industry's needs will influence institutions to adapt the courses they offer to make them even more business focussed.

This is, of course, happening already. For example, I am aware that one of the local universities has already revised some of their Information Technology provision in the light of interaction with local companies, including recent investors, and I welcome this.

Likewise, changes have been made to the syllabuses at both universities to respond to the needs of the expanding financial services sector in Northern Ireland. My Department anticipated this demand and, for example, provided support under Assured Skills to up-skill lecturers in the Investment Operation Certificate. Just under 100 graduates have now successfully completed this qualification, creating a pool of attractive potential workers with financial skills for the sector.

I hope these examples demonstrate the pro-active approach being taken by both my Department and INI to help attract potential investors to Northern Ireland by using their feedback to re-model the range of training and skills provision here.

Work Experience and Training Places: Public Sector

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, in relation to his Statement of 2 July 2012 on Youth Employment Scheme and NEETS Initiatives, (i) whether there will be short work experience placements and training places within the public sector; (ii) how many placements and training places will be offered; and (iii) whether these will be cost neutral, apart from the payment of the training allowance to the participants.

(AQW 13499/11-15)

Dr Farry: There will be short two to eight week work experience placements in both the private and public sectors. Public sector organisations can offer training opportunities for between six and nine months in skills that have the potential to transfer to the private sector to help rebuild and rebalance the economy. My Department will seek to maximize the availability of those opportunities. There are no targets for numbers of work experience placements or training opportunities in the public sector. Given that this scheme has the dual purpose of addressing youth employment and helping to rebuild and rebalance the economy, the intention is to engage with both the private and public sectors to secure the right types of opportunities. Any public sector provision will be cost neutral.

Youth Employment Scheme and NEETs

Mr B McCrea asked the Minister for Employment and Learning, in relation to the Youth Employment Scheme and NEETs initiative, what evidence exists to substantiate his statement that the Executive and his Department are doing more than any other region of the UK to assist our young people.

(AQW 13513/11-15)

Dr Farry: The evidence is in the scale of the investment announced on 2 July. The full cost of the package agreed by the Executive is £41 million over three years. In Great Britain, the Youth Contract will cost £940 million over 3 years. As a consequence of the introduction of the Youth Contract the Northern Ireland Block Grants received an additional allocation of around £28 million over three years. That is a sum roughly equivalent to 3% of the investment in Great Britain. However, such allocations are not ring-fenced so it was always a matter for the Executive to determine how much it would invest in any local scheme. The fact that we have chosen to invest £41 million is testament to a high level of commitment to our young people in Northern Ireland by the Executive.

North West Regional College

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Employment and Learning for an update on the most recent health check on the North West Regional College, and any other recent information the Department has on student achievement and retention at the College.

(AQW 13559/11-15)

Dr Farry: The Department compiles and issues health check reports to the governing bodies of all further education colleges on a quarterly basis. Reports relating to the second quarter of the 2011/12 academic year were issued to colleges on 21 May 2012. Statistical Bulletin 'Professional and Technical Retention and Achievement Data NI Further Education Sector for 2010/11', using data collated in the Further Education Leavers Survey (FELS), was published on 6 April 2012 and can be accessed on the Department's website. These figures are reported in the college health check. They show that the retention rate for all professional and technical courses in North West Regional College in 2010/11 was 84% and the achievement rate was 76%. This is based on data on the full range of further education provision, at all levels studied. This includes DEL Funded Further Education Provision, Government Training and Employment Programmes, Full Cost Recovery Provision and Entitlement Framework Provision. Recreational Provision is excluded as these courses do not have a qualification aim.

Scottish Universities

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Employment and Learning how many students from Northern Ireland have studied at Scottish universities in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13584/11-15)

Dr Farry: The information on total Northern Ireland domiciled student enrolments at Scottish Higher Education Institutions in each of the last five years is detailed below.

| Year    | Total |
|---------|-------|
| 2006/07 | 4,940 |
| 2007/08 | 4,800 |

| Year    | Total |
|---------|-------|
| 2008/09 | 4,680 |
| 2009/10 | 4,605 |
| 2010/11 | 4,520 |

Source: Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA)

Notes:

- 1 Figures are rounded to the nearest 5.
- 2 The above figures include enrolments across all years and all levels of study.
- 3 Therefore a student may be included in more than one academic year e.g. they may be included as a first year student in 2006/07 and also be included in figures for subsequent years of study.
- 4 For information the number of first year Northern Ireland domiciled student enrolments at Scotland Higher Education Institutions was 1,520 in 2006/07; 1,460 in 2007/08; 1,400 in 2008/09; 1,415 in 2009/10; and 1,360 in 2010/11.

Further Education: Sex Offenders

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Employment and Learning whether staff, or the Board of Governors, at either Belfast Metropolitan College or North West Regional College, Londonderry, were made aware that a student was subject to a Sexual Offences Prevention Order, for previous convictions, prior to enrolment in either facility; and what monitoring was subsequently put in place.

(AQW 13623/11-15)

Dr Farry: I would refer the member to my previous answers to AQW 7000/11-15 and AQW 10022/11-15 on the same subject. I can advise that colleges would be unaware of a student's background prior to enrolment. It is only as part of the enrolment process at a further education (FE) college that a student is asked to declare any criminal convictions.

However, in this case, the student had enrolled at Belfast Metropolitan College (BMC) in 2010, and North West Regional College (NWRC) in 2011 and on both occasions, failed to disclose that he was subject to a Sexual Offences Prevention Order (SOPO). The colleges were therefore unaware of the need to enact their safeguarding procedures.

Once both colleges became aware of the situation, BMC from an article in the Irish News, and NWRC from concerned students, they immediately implemented their respective safeguarding procedures, which included alerting staff and governing bodies.

All six Further Education (FE) colleges have robust safeguarding procedures in place, developed in conjunction with a number of external agencies, including the PSNI and Social Services.

My officials have requested a sector-wide policy, in respect of safeguarding at the six further education colleges. This will ensure that coherent, joined-up procedures are in place, to avoid any recurrence of this situation.

South Eastern Regional College: Enrolment Figures

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Employment and Learning to detail the enrolment figures for the South Eastern Regional College in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13628/11-15)

Dr Farry: The number of professional and technical enrolments at the South Eastern Regional College from 2006/07 to 2010/11 is detailed in the table below.

Professional and Technical Enrolments in South Eastern Regional College 2006/07 to 2010/11

| 2006/07 | 2007/08 | 2008/09 | 2009/10 | 2010/11 |
|---------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| 24,274  | 21,760  | 23,465  | 26,044  | 26,623  |

Source: Further Education Statistical Record (FESR)

Notes:

- 1 Latest validated data pertains to the 2010/11 academic year.
- 2 Professional and technical provision relates to those courses which have a qualification aim attached.
- 3 Recreational provision is not included in the above table.

Further Education: Sex Offenders

Lord Morrow asked the Minister for Employment and Learning what guidance has been provided by his Department, and what subsequent policies have been implemented to ensure that a convicted sex-offender cannot attend two further education facilities whilst subject to a Sexual Offences Prevention Order.

(AQW 13683/11-15)

Dr Farry: I would refer the member to my previous answers to AQW 7000/11-15, AQW 10022/11-15 and AQW 13623/11-15 on the same subject.

All six Further Education (FE) colleges have safeguarding policies and procedures in place, which have been developed in conjunction with a number of external agencies, including the PSNI and the Social Services. These policies and procedures were surveyed recently by the Education and Training Inspectorate and were considered to be appropriate. Safeguarding policies are developed to ensure the safety of students and staff, and procedures are in place to allow colleges to take appropriate action when a student declares that they are subject to a Sexual Offences Prevention Order or when colleges receive such information.

Central to these safeguarding procedures are risk assessments, which ensure that potential students are suitable to undertake a particular course and to establish the appropriate level of management and supervision required during their course of study.

In order to ensure a consistent approach, my officials have now requested that a sector-wide policy, in respect of safeguarding at the six FE colleges, be drawn up. This review will ensure that coherent, joined-up procedures are in place.

Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment

NI2012 Events: North Down

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many NI2012 events have been planned for the North Down constituency; and what budget has been allocated to the events.

(AQW 12703/11-15)

Mrs Foster (The Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment): The Tourism Events Funding Programme 2012/13 received 81 applications and offered funding to 51 events. Since letters of offer were issued one event has withdrawn their application.

Only one unsuccessful application was received from the North Down Constituency.

HMS Caroline

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what discussions her Department has had on the future of HMS Caroline.

(AQW 13097/11-15)

Mrs Foster: I have been working for some time to find the best solution for HMS Caroline. I, and my officials, have engaged with various interested groups, including the National Museum of the Royal Navy and I have raised the issue with my Northern Ireland Executive colleagues. On 4th July I met with Andrew Robathan, Under Secretary of State at the Ministry of Defence along with Hugo Swire, Minister of State in the Northern Ireland Office and Nigel Dodds MP to discuss HMS Caroline's future in Belfast and to seek his support to Caroline remaining in Belfast.

It was agreed that we should work together to restore the ship in Belfast. A meeting is now being sought with Navy Museum Officials.

Directors of Mutual Companies

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what measures are in place to ensure that directors of mutual companies, which provide a public service function, are not awarded salaries in excess of their counterparts in the public sector.

(AQW 13314/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Remuneration for directors in the mutual sector is a matter for each individual entity to determine.

Invest NI Funding: North Down

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how much funding InvestNI has allocated in the North Down area in each of the last three years; and to list the businesses which were in receipt of the funding.

(AQW 13325/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Whilst Invest NI does not allocate budgets or funding to geographic areas, table 1 shows the amount of assistance, or funding, that Invest NI has offered to companies in the North Down Parliamentary Constituency Area (PCA) in each of the last three financial years.

Table 1: Invest NI Assistance Offered in North Down PCA (2009-10 to 2011-12)

| Financial Year | Total Assistance £m |
|----------------|---------------------|
| 2009-10        | 2.68                |
| 2010-11        | 0.50                |
| 2011-12        | 1.68                |
| Total   | 4.86         |

Table 2 lists the names of businesses that were offered the assistance contained in table 1.

Invest NI Funding: Foyle

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, pursuant to AQW 11020/11-15, and in relation to the £4.12 million of financial assistance offered to companies in the Foyle constituency, to detail the amount of financial assistance given to each company; and to explain the rationale behind companies in Foyle receiving 5 percent of the overall assistance, whilst companies in East Belfast received 15 percent, and companies in South Belfast received 25 percent.

(AQW 13349/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Table 1 below shows the breakdown by company of the £4.12 million of financial assistance offered to companies in the Foyle constituency in 2011-12.

Note: The names of 110 companies that have collectively been offered £1.42m of assistance have been withheld, as either the assisted projects have not been publicly announced yet, or to release their names would contravene data protection regulations.

With regard to the member's second query, Invest NI has limited scope to 'direct' investment to specific Parliamentary Constituency Areas. Although it may be able to influence the location decisions of some inward-investment projects, assistance patterns are demand-led by businesses wishing to improve their competitiveness and gain a larger share of international markets. In the case of established businesses, both indigenous and externally-owned, reinvestment patterns will usually be determined by the existing location of the business.

It should also be noted that areas such as Parliamentary Constituency Areas (PCAs) are not self-contained labour markets. A project assisted in a particular location has the potential to create benefits across a much wider area. Northern Ireland is a relatively small place and evidence indicates that many investments draw their workforce from areas beyond constituency area boundaries.

Invest NI: Jobs Created

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, pursuant to AQW 11021/11-15, and in relation to the 89 jobs promoted in Foyle, to detail (i) the companies involved; (ii) the number of jobs created in each company; and (iii) the number of these jobs which currently exist, broken down by (a) full-time and part-time positions; and (b) permanent and temporary positions.

(AQW 13354/11-15)

Mrs Foster: I can confirm that 89 new full-time permanent jobs are being created across two companies in the Foyle area. However, this information is not yet in the public domain and, as such, I am not yet at liberty to disclose the names of the companies involved, nor the split in employment between each nor the number of jobs which currently exist.

In addition to the 89 jobs the member refers to in his question, the original response to AQW 11021 also highlighted an additional 43 jobs promoted in the Foyle constituency by international investors offered support through the Jobs Fund.

In the context of a continued upward trend in unemployment the Jobs Fund, which encompasses a set of proposed measures to provide direct financial support for new job creation in the local labour market, was launched in April 2011. Although the economic consensus is that the primary focus of economic development policy should normally be on competitiveness, the current state of the local labour market means that there is a need for a temporary shift in emphasis towards job creation. In line with the Rebuilding Theme included within the Programme for Government (PfG) there is an emphasis within the Jobs Fund to help improve 'employment opportunities and employability' and to 'promote employment' and, therefore, financial support is being provided across a range of industries that tend to pay lower wages than the Northern Ireland average.

Invest NI: Jobs Created

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment, pursuant to AQW 11023/11-15, why only 22 of the 978 jobs, that pay above the Private Sector Median wage, were created in the Foyle constituency.

(AQW 13355/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The number of jobs paying above the Private Sector Median in a particular constituency is a direct product of the total number of jobs that are promoted in that area, and the nature of the projects undertaken by clients. As detailed in the previous answer to the member, in the case of the Foyle Constituency, Invest NI promoted 132 jobs through offers to externally-owned businesses in the constituency in 2011/12. On a per head of population basis this is higher than the average for Northern Ireland as a whole; however, the mix of projects assisted in the Constituency during 2011/12 included more jobs in industries that tend to pay lower wages than the Northern Ireland average.

Invest NI has limited scope for 'directing' investment to specific Parliamentary Constituency Areas (PCAs). Although it may be able to influence the location decisions of some inward-investment projects, assistance patterns are demand-led by businesses wishing to improve their competitiveness and gain a larger share of international markets. In the case of established businesses, reinvestment patterns will usually be determined by the existing location of the business.

It should also be noted that areas such as PCAs are not self-contained labour markets. A project assisted in a particular location has the potential to create benefits across a much wider area. Northern Ireland is a relatively small place and evidence indicates that many investments draw their workforce from areas beyond constituency area boundaries.

Tamboran: Commercial Liability Insurance

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether she will publish details of the commercial liability insurance provided to her Department by Tamboran, including the eventualities for which it provides cover.

(AQW 13397/11-15)

Mrs Foster: I would refer the member to the answer I gave to AQW 12271.

The terms of any insurance policy between an insurance company and the organisation which is being insured is a private and commercial matter and therefore it would not be appropriate for the Department to publish details of same.

DETI: Disposal of Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the capital assets of which her Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13438/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My department, through Invest NI, holds capital assets in the form of land and property, which is held for sale or lease to support economic development. The following sales targets have been set for the next three years:

- 20 acres in 2012/13
- 20 acres in 2013/14
- 30 acres in 2014/15

London Inter-bank Offered Rate

Dr McDonnell asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what aspects of industrial and employment policies are linked to, or influenced by, the London Inter-bank Offered Rate.

(AQW 13444/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Access to Finance remains a key challenge for many businesses throughout Northern Ireland, an issue that has been highlighted in the Executive's Economic Strategy.

The London Inter-bank Offered Rate is a key determinant which impacts on interest rates set by banks. While this does not impact directly on economic policies set by my Department, I recognise that it does potentially impact on the ability for businesses to get access to affordable credit from banks and so it is imperative that there is complete transparency in how these rates are set.

George Best Belfast City Airport

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what initiatives and support her Department has provided to George Best Belfast City Airport to attract new airlines.

(AQW 13463/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Tourism Ireland works with airports, airlines, ferry operators and other tourism interests to drive demand for services from key markets to Northern Ireland and to help maintain our vital network of routes. Tourism Ireland is currently working with George Best Belfast City Airport (GBBCA) on the introduction of potential new airlines and routes. However, discussions with the airport, and with airlines, are of a commercial and confidential nature.

The commencement of the new British Airways GBBCA to Heathrow service on 2 July 2012 is very good news for the airport and for Northern Ireland. As part of its ongoing co-operation with key carriers and airports, Tourism Ireland will undertake advertising and other promotions in Great Britain together with British Airways, to maximise the demand for this route thereby boosting tourism to Northern Ireland.

Invest NI

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what monitoring arrangements are in place to assess the performance of InvestNI and; to what extent this involves practitioners of private enterprise companies not dependent on public sector or government work.

(AQW 13486/11-15)

Mrs Foster: I and my Senior Officials meet the Chairman and the CEO of Invest NI on a regular basis to review and monitor the performance of the agency. These meetings consider progress against the challenging targets that have been set for the organisation within the Programme for Government (PFG), Northern Ireland Economic Strategy and within the Corporate Plans of DETI and Invest NI.

Furthermore, the Executive Sub Committee on the Economy, which I chair, will play an important role in vigorously monitoring the key Invest NI targets as part of the PFG monitoring process.

Invest NI's Chief Executive also attends the Enterprise, Trade and Investment Committee twice a year to provide the Committee with a half year and year end summary of performance against targets.

Recently a Steering Group led by my Department comprising Departmental, Invest NI and DFP staff was convened and agreed Terms of Reference for a project to assess and enable the Department to report on Invest NI performance going forward. A report is expected from the Steering Group in the next few months which will be validated by a leading independent academic on economic performance.

Invest NI

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether InvestNI encourages international investors to locate to District Council areas with the highest unemployment rates, and if not to explain the reasons.

(AQW 13493/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Invest NI encourages international investors to locate in any area in which their business will grow and thrive. As noted by the Independent Review of Economic Policy, it is important to allow companies the scope to locate where they can operate most profitably. To do otherwise would be detrimental to the chances of securing Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) for Northern Ireland.

Invest NI works with potential investors to develop visit programmes that demonstrate Northern Ireland's capability to meet the requirements of the specific investment project. These requirements are based on a number of factors, such as availability of a skilled workforce, the presence of existing sectoral clusters, availability of suitable property and other infrastructure related issues. While Invest NI does offer guidance, the imperative of any visit programme is to demonstrate how locating in Northern Ireland will help the company to grow its business.

In a very competitive market place Invest NI is responsible for selling Northern Ireland at a regional level. FDI plays a large part in the economic growth of Northern Ireland and Invest NI has a very successful track record of attracting high quality investment which will benefit the whole of the region.

My Department, including Invest NI, is aware of the challenges facing local areas in Northern Ireland and we are working closely with councils and other local stakeholders to develop their proposition to maximise opportunities for economic growth for all areas.

Invest NI

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what processes exist within InvestNI to ensure that all Departments are fully aware of any specified weaknesses highlighted by potential investors.

(AQW 13496/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Northern Ireland's investment proposition is based on a number of factors, such as its talented and loyal workforce, advanced telecoms and transport infrastructure, high skilled business clusters, the pro-business environment, competitive operating costs and proximity to major markets. Any perceived weaknesses highlighted by potential investors are captured primarily by the Investment Managers and overseas business development executives.

Invest NI has a range of mechanisms in place to raise and address significant issues that may impact on attracting potential investment.

Most specifically, Invest NI's Chief Executive is a member of the NI Economic Advisory Group which consists of a focused group of experts from economics, business and skills who provide advice to the DETI Minister on the key issues impacting the economy and the measures required to address these issues.

In addition, Invest NI is represented on a wide range of cross Departmental bodies and working groups. For example, there are regular formal meetings between DETI, DEL and Invest NI to discuss skills issues and the development of policies and practices to address skills shortages in specific areas.

Invest NI continues to liaise with a number of other Departments. For example:

The Department of Regional Development over key issues of access and, in particular, air route access to Northern Ireland;

The Department of Social Development over the implementation of those elements of Invest NI's Jobs Fund which are focused on Neighbourhood Renewal Areas;

The Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure over the development and implementation of support for the NI

Creative Industries sector; and

The Department of Agriculture and Rural Development over the development and implementation of agri-food strategies

Electricity: All-island Single Market

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what action needs to be taken to achieve better integration between the wholesale British Electricity Trading and Transmission Arrangements and the Single Electricity Market on the island of Ireland, as referred to in the communiqué following the last British-Irish Council meeting.

(AQW 13497/11-15)

Mrs Foster: My Department is working with the Utility Regulator and counterparts in Great Britain, France and the Republic of Ireland to manage transition of the Single Electricity Market and the British Electricity Trading and Transmission Arrangements and interconnection with the French market under the move to an integrated European-wide Internal Market for electricity. This work is set against development of a target model for the Internal Market and changes to the BETTA market from the UK Government's Electricity Market Reform programme.

FG Wilson

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether any of the jobs that will be transferred out of Northern Ireland by FG Wilson were supported by InvestNI; and whether there are any issues relating to the recovery of grant aid.

(AQW 13510/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Job creation commitments made by companies with support from Invest NI are done so over an agreed period of time (usually in excess of 5 years). Accordingly the assessment of projects supported is carried out over that agreed period. It is not unusual for the employment numbers to fluctuate as companies work towards and maintain their targets. Whilst the recent announcement of 260 potential job losses by FG Wilson is regrettable and disappointing it is too early to determine what the overall impact on the grant aid will be.

Tourism: Overseas Visitors

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the number of overseas visitors in each month to date in 2012; and how this compares with the monthly figures for 2011.

(AQW 13511/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The total number of overseas visitors to Northern Ireland is not available by month. The overseas visitor numbers are compiled by combining data from the Northern Ireland Passenger Survey conducted by the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency and the Survey of Overseas Travellers conducted on behalf of Fáilte Ireland.

Data from the Survey of Overseas Travellers is provided to the Department in the form of quarterly totals.

Overseas visitors to NI January – March 2011 & 2012, can be viewed at:

Invest NI Funding: North Down

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many businesses in North Down have received financial support from InvestNI, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13523/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The table below shows the number of businesses that received an offer of support from Invest NI in the North Down Parliamentary Constituency Area (PCA) in each of the last three financial years.

Number of Businesses Offered Support in North Down PCA (2009-10 to 2011-12)

| Year    | Number of Businesses |
|---------|----------------------|
| 2009-10 | 50                   |
| 2010-11 | 44                   |
| 2011-12 | 77                   |

Note: A business may have received an offer of support in more than one financial year. As figures relate to the number of businesses within each individual year, they should not be totalled over the three year period. This could result in a business being counted twice.

Mutual Energy

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the relationship between the Utility Regulator and Mutual Energy.

(AQW 13555/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Mutual Energy is a mutualised energy company which, like other regulated utility companies, is subject to the regulatory oversight of the Utility Regulator. This oversight is principally exercised with reference to the company's operating licence and the Utility Regulator ensures that the company complies with its licence conditions.

Moyle Interconnector

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment on how many days during the last twelve months the Moyle interconnector was inoperable.

(AQW 13556/11-15)

Mrs Foster: DETI does not hold the information requested. However Mutual Energy has confirmed that the Moyle Interconnector was completely inoperable for a total of 147 days during the period between 1 July 2011 and 30 June 2012

Mutual Energy

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the amount of money paid to Mutual Energy from consumers in the last twelve months.

(AQW 13557/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Mutual Energy is a private company and, as such, the information requested is not held by DETI.

Tourism: Potential of Disused Railway Tracks

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for her assessment of the tourism potential of the network of disused railway tracks; and whether her Department provides assistance to those who wish to turn these railway tracks into cycle paths.

(AQW 13601/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The network of disused railway tracks in Northern Ireland are owned either by The Northern Ireland Transport Holding Company (a public corporation within the Department for Regional Development), the relevant local authority (or authorities) within which the railway tracks lie or private landowners.

My Department, through the Northern Ireland Tourist Board, provides assistance through the Tourism Development Scheme (TDS) which aims to assist with capital developments in the tourism industry.

Creationism Film at the Giant's Causeway Visitor Centre

Mr Lunn asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether her Department was consulted on the inclusion of a creationism film at the Giant's Causeway visitor centre; and if so, to outline its response.

(AQW 13634/11-15)

Mrs Foster: During the initial stages of the project, the National Trust undertook a series of consultations with a wide group of stakeholders which included The Northern Ireland Tourist Board in order to help inform the interpretative solution.

Creationism Film at the Giant's Causeway Visitor Centre

Mr Lunn asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to list the groups that lobbied her Department for the inclusion of a creationism film at the Giant's Causeway visitor centre.

(AQW 13635/11-15)

Mrs Foster: A range of individuals and groups wrote to me expressing an interest in the interpretative content of the Giant's Causeway Visitor Experience.

Petroleum Licences

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment (i) what a licence permitting exploration, for the potential to extract shale gas by hydraulic fracturing, entitles the licence holder to do; (ii) what restrictions or oversights are attached; and (iii) how this is then reflected in a licence to extract shale gas by hydraulic fracturing.

(AQW 13692/11-15)

Mrs Foster: A Petroleum Licence gives a company exclusive rights to search and bore for and get petroleum within a specific area. This allows the Licensee to carry out non-intrusive work such as geological mapping. With additional consents from DETI and HSENI, the Licensee may also undertake limited intrusive work, such as geophysical survey and vertical drilling for rock samples. The Licence also provides for drilling an exploration well and associated construction and engineering works, including hydraulic fracturing, but these are subject to Planning Permission and other consents from DETI, HSENI and others.

Applications to undertake construction works, exploration drilling and hydraulic fracturing would be subject to the full rigour of the Planning system including an Environmental Impact Assessment. Drilling a borehole is subject to the Borehole Sites and Operations Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1995: under these Regulations companies must notify HSENI 21 days in advance of the commencement of operations and comply with drilling specific and general health and safety regulations. As a statutory consultee in the planning process HSENI has the opportunity to make recommendations on the proposed drilling operations, including compliance with internationally accepted standards. Many elements of the proposed drilling operations would be subject to environmental and other legislation, and monitoring programmes may be included under these regulatory regimes.

DETI can include specific conditions (e.g. specifications for well design and construction) as part of its well consent. DETI has the powers to inspect the drilling operations and recover the costs from the Licensee.

During the exploration phase DETI will only issue Consent to Drill approval if the Licensee has demonstrated that it has already obtained all the other statutory permissions that it requires to carry out its operations, and it has satisfied the Department that its proposed operations are technically acceptable and will not have a significant adverse impact on the environment.

If exploration drilling is successful and a company wishes to develop the shale gas resources in its licence area it would need to submit a development programme for approval by DETI. This development programme would also require a Planning Application and accompanying Environmental Impact Statement. The planning process would involve consideration of a range of issues associated with the proposed development, including ecology, water resources and quality, air quality, the potential economic benefits, the potential for impacts on other industries, and the effects on the community.

Tourism: Impact of Hydraulic Fracturing

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what is the projected impact on tourism from extracting shale gas by hydraulic fracturing.

(AQW 13693/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The integrity of the natural environment is an important factor in the future development of the tourism sector. Should any company apply to DETI to drill a well for hydraulic fracturing, the impact on existing industries such as tourism would be fully assessed when considering any planning application.

Hydraulic Fracturing

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment for an estimated timescale for the completion of exploration for extracting shale gas by hydraulic fracturing; and to outline the next steps once the exploration is complete.

(AQW 13694/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The exploration stage of a shale gas development project may last between five and ten years although this phase would also include an assessment of the commercial viability of the proposed development through extended gas flow testing and, as such, may be considered the equivalent of the exploration and appraisal stages of a conventional oil or gas development.

The timescale for the completion of exploration of shale gas resources depends on the availability of existing information, the timeframe for the exploration work programme included as a Schedule to the petroleum licence and the time required to obtain the necessary statutory consents and complete the exploration phase.

Provided the exploration, including the extended testing of gas flow rates, yields favourable results the next stage is for the company to prepare a development programme for the production phase of the project. This development programme would form the basis of an application for planning permission which would involve an Environmental Impact Assessment and must also be approved by DETI.

Department of the Environment

Enforcement: Lisburn

Mr Craig asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the average length of time it takes to implement an enforcement action in the Lisburn area.

(AQW 6635/11-15)

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): Enforcement Action has a precise legal meaning in Article 67A (2) of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991. For the purpose of the Order (a) the issue of an enforcement notice; or (b) the service of a breach of condition notice, constitutes taking enforcement action. In the 2011/2012 business year 6 enforcement notices were issued in the Lisburn City Council area, taking an average of 3 years 9 months.

The majority of breaches of planning control are resolved informally through negotiation with the owner/occupier or through the submission and consideration of a retrospective planning application.

For your information there are 368 enforcement cases within the Lisburn City Council area - tabulated below by age and type of case.

| Current outstanding cases within Lisburn | 3 years + | 2-3 years | 1-2 years | <=1 year | Total |
|--|-----------|-----------|-----------|----------|-------|
|  | 113       | 63        | 78        | 114      | 368   |

| Type | Breach of planning condition | Change of Use | Operational / Built form | Adverts | TPO |
|------|------------------------------|---------------|--------------------------|---------|-----|
|      | 81                           | 54            | 170                      | 60      | 3   |

I have made it clear that I take the enforcement of planning powers seriously and recently convened an Enforcement Summit to consider the best architecture for enforcement in the future in terms of legislation, policy and structures.

Despite pressures within the Department dedicated enforcement teams have been retained within each Area Office and recently additional staff have been redeployed to the Downpatrick office to improve performance and provide a more efficient and robust enforcement process.

Hydraulic Fracturing

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment (i) for his assessment of whether hydraulic fracturing exploration operations are regionally significant and therefore designated as article 31 applications and subject to public inquiry; and (ii) whether full commercial hydraulic fracturing exploitation of shale gas is considered regionally significant and therefore designated as article 31 applications and subject to public inquiry.

(AQW 7216/11-15)

Mr Attwood:

- (i) Exploration operations are governed by permitted development rights (i.e. where planning permission is not required) for limited activity such as drilling bore holes, carrying out seismic surveys and other excavations for a period of up to four months. These rights are subject to conditions including pre-commencement notification to the Department giving details of the location, target mineral, details of plant and operations and anticipated timescale. I must stress that permitted development rights have related solely to exploration and do not in any way extend to extraction. That said and in these circumstances if the exploration works themselves are considered to require an Environmental Impact Assessment the current legislation makes it clear that in such circumstances permitted development rights do not apply. It is my view that exploration does require an EIA.
- (ii) If a planning application to extract shale gas by hydraulic fracturing is submitted to the Department for consideration, it should be accompanied by an environmental statement. Only when the location and specific details of such a proposal are available would the Department be in a position to assess the risks in relation to the proximity to sensitive environmental receptors. The process of designating a proposal as an article 31 application and considering the need for a public inquiry requires that the Department must first have a planning application to consider.

Once a planning application is received and the Department considers that the development would, if permitted –

- (a) involve a substantial departure from the development plan for the area to which it relates; or
  - (b) be of significance to the whole or a substantial part of Northern Ireland; or
  - (c) affect the whole of a neighbourhood; or
  - (d) consist of or include the construction, formation, laying out or alteration of a means of access to a trunk road or of any other development of land within 67 metres of the middle of such a road, or of the nearest part of a special road;
- the Department may apply Article 31 status to the application. A decision to hold a public inquiry could not be made until the detail of the planning application had received careful consideration.

However, as I have said and without prejudicing a future application or its assessment, other energy related applications – such as the North / South interconnector – have been designated Article 31s and subsequently sent for public enquiry.

Taxi Drivers Acting as Couriers

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment whether taxi drivers are authorised and insured to act as couriers, particularly in relation to alcohol orders purchased from bars and off-licences on behalf of non-passengers and delivered to their homes.

(AQW 7688/11-15)

Mr Attwood: A policy of insurance or security must be in force on a taxi that complies with the requirements of Part VIII of the Road Traffic (Northern Ireland) Order 1981. In general, where a taxi is being used for the conveyance of goods or alcohol for hire or reward, and provided that the nature of the business use has been declared to the insurance company, and such use is not excluded, cover may be in force. However, each taxi operator must take their own legal and insurance best advice and I am not in a position to confirm what the precise position may be in relation to individual taxi operators.

Under the Licensing (Northern Ireland) Order 1996, safeguards exist in relation to deliveries of alcohol from premises licensed to sell alcohol for consumption off the premises. Details of any alcohol purchased and the name and address of the purchaser have to be entered in a day book held in the premises and the courier has to hold an invoice with the same details.

Wind Farms: Planning Applications

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) the number of planning applications for (a) wind farms; (b) single wind turbines; and (c) other forms of renewable energy generation that have been submitted in the last ten years; (ii) the number and percentage of applications in each category that were approved; (iii) the number and percentage of applications in each category that were refused; and (iv) the number and percentage of applications in each category that were withdrawn.

(AQW 8035/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Table 1 below sets out the number of applications for wind farms, wind turbines and other renewable applications received in each of the last 10 years.

Table 1: Number of applications received

Other renewables includes energy from anaerobic digestion, biomass incineration, heat pumps, hydro electricity schemes, landfill gas, solar collectors, and waste incineration.

This information is based on records up to 30 September 2011.

DOE Planning continues to refine and improve the quality of data it holds for renewable energy applications. As such the data contained herein may differ from that previously published and in itself may be subject to revision.

Memorials to Terrorists

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment how many memorials to (i) republican; and (ii) so-called loyalist terrorists have planning permission.

(AQW 8414/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In general a free standing structure such as a statue is likely to require planning permission. There may be circumstances where a memorial is so minor in nature that it is considered not to be development requiring planning permission, for example, a small roadside cross or a small wall mounted plaque.

DOE Planning has dealt with approximately 50 planning applications since 1999 for various memorials. 42 were approved, 1 was refused and the remainder comprise applications awaiting decision or invalid applications.

Cost of Removing Illegal Memorials to Terrorists

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment to quantify the cost of removing illegal memorials to terrorists in each of the last five years.

(AQW 8415/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has dealt with approximately 50 planning applications since 1999 for various memorials.

A total of 42 of these applications have been approved, 1 was refused and the remainder comprise applications awaiting decision or invalid. 18 enforcement cases have been undertaken in relation to memorials.

Enforcement is an essential element of a balanced planning system and is a day to day function of the Department. Normal staffing costs apply to any enforcement action and as such, the quantification of costs is not precise.

District Councils: Tenders

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the percentage of tender contracts that each district council has awarded to contractors based within their council area in each of the last three years.

(AQW 8421/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The information requested, including the level at which each council tenders, is provided in the table below.

I believe strongly in mechanisms to support local people and employers. The recently passed social clause / local government regulations; the 180 S2W strategy in DOE; my attendance at recent council procurement officers meeting and a planned seminar on best practice around local labour clauses/ social clauses/ employment interventions; my instructions to officials to work up a green procurement strategy (etc) indicates my intention and ambition. That said, the figures below demonstrate there is significant work still to undertake.

| Council        | Tender Threshold £                        | Total contracts tendered | % awarded to local Contractors | Total contracts tendered | % awarded to local Contractors | Total contracts tendered | % awarded to local Contractors |

Crown Estate Leasing Round

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) the outcome of the leasing round which was launched by the Crown Estate in December 2011; (ii) the leasing tariffs; and (iii) whether his Department plays a role in the tendering process. (AQW 10209/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The outcome of The Crown Estate (TCE) leasing round launched in December 2011 will not be known until September 2012. Leasing tariffs is a matter for the Crown Estate and its clients.

From time to time TCE selects areas for lease of the seabed for the purpose of electrical energy generation from renewable sources. DOE does not have a role in relation to this.

The role of the Department is through the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) which has responsibility for the protection of the marine environment in NI marine waters. NIEA is also the Licensing Authority for the construction of marine Wind Farms and Tidal Arrays in NI marine waters.

The current call invites wind energy proposals in the waters off the south east Mourne area and Tidal Stream proposals in the waters off Torr Head and Rathlin Island.

Wind Farms: Planning Applications

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what consideration is given to community impact assessments as part of the process for approval of wind farm applications. (AQW 10272/11-15)

Mr Attwood: With any planning application, the Department, in dealing with the application, shall have regard to the development plan, so far as material to the application, and to any other material considerations. All the fundamental factors involved in land use planning constitute a material consideration. This includes impact on neighbourhood and community. The basic question is whether a proposal would unacceptably affect amenities and the existing use of land that ought to be protected in the public interest.

Planning Policy Statements set out the policies of the Department on particular aspects of land use planning. Their contents are material to decisions on individual planning applications. Planning Policy Statement, PPS 18 Renewable Energy is a material consideration with every wind farm planning application.

Within PPS 18 is a requirement for the Department to consider impacts on public safety, human health and residential amenity, as well as the economic and social benefits associated with any renewable energy proposal.

With wind farm development specifically, PPS 18 requires that developments do not have an unacceptable impact on visual amenity and that there is no significant harm to safety or amenity of sensitive receptors such as homes, hospitals, schools and churches arising from noise, shadow flicker, ice throw and reflected light. The requirement for minimum separation distances between turbines and occupied property provides a further element of the assessment process.

DOE: Ministerial Cars

Mr Copeland asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) the number of departmental staff who have availed of ministerial cars and drivers in each of the last three years; (ii) the cost of providing the service; and (iii) whether the benefit derived is subject to income tax. (AQW 10293/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Responsibility for Ministerial transport was transferred from the DFP Car Pool to departments with effect from 1 April 2011. No record of journeys made by officials in the Ministerial car is kept by the Department. However, the cars are provided primarily for Ministerial use and any usage by officials would have been minimal. Also, records were not kept in the period prior to the transfer of responsibility from DFP.

The payment of income tax is not an issue as the cars would have been used solely for business purposes.

Hydraulic Fracturing

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment whether he can confirm that hydraulic fracturing can never be considered 100 percent safe; and for his assessment of the probability of contamination of groundwater that the Environment Agency would consider acceptable in any Environmental Impact Assessment. (AQW 10331/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In terms of any planning applications involving hydraulic fracturing the applicant will be required to identify the risks to the environment associated with the process through the submission of an Environmental Impact Statement detailing how they would propose to mitigate against a range of potential impacts.

I have made it very clear to Tamboran Resources that I expect the most rigorous Environmental Impact Assessments (EIA) to accompany any applications they choose to submit. Tamboran have said that they accept the need for such assessments and to liaise with both Strategic Planning Division and NIEA in scoping the content of the required Environmental Statement. Such a statement will form the basis of the Departments determination of the planning application and it must take account of all potential impacts on the environment and public health.

The potential impact on groundwater will form part of the EIA process and only when the company has submitted the relevant environmental information will NIEA be in a position to give advice on this matter.

I have made it clear that there will be no headlong rush to fracturing. When the science is available, interrogated, when all planning and environmental assessments have been conducted, when applications are submitted and assessed as article 31 or not and subject to Public Inquiry (PI) or not, only in that context will decisions be capable of being made. It is clear that to date fracking has not been 100% safe – I await further evidence as to how safe or not it could be in the future.

Planning Permission: Time Limits

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of the Environment (i) what consideration he has given to time-limiting the period in which projects must be completed; and (ii) what plans he has to address partially erected buildings.

(AQW 10418/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Every grant of planning permission must, under Article 34 of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991, be made subject to a condition imposing a time-limit within which development authorised must be started.

Article 34(1)(a) specifies a period of five years from the date of the permission, and Article 34(1)(b) provides the Department with the option of granting permission subject to such other period (whether longer or shorter) as the Department deems appropriate.

The Department does not currently have powers to make developers implement a grant of planning permission or to force the completion of any building works that have begun on site. Article 37 of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 enables the Department to terminate a planning permission in certain circumstances.

On occasion DOE Planning may impose a condition requiring a development to be phased or completed to a particular stage. On a practical level a condition requiring that the whole of the development permitted be completed is likely to be difficult to enforce. For example, if the reason for the failure to complete is financial difficulties experienced by the developer, it is considered that the enforcement of conditions may be unlikely to succeed.

Other Departments/agencies/bodies may have powers to act in such circumstances.

I am very much aware of the growing issue of partially erected buildings. I recognise the financial difficulties experienced by developers at this time and the fact that they may not be in a position to develop a site for which they have been granted planning permission. I also know that there are developers with funds who leave sites to go into decay or partially finish and walk off site. I have made a case in point in this regard.

I am acutely aware of the issues of partially erected buildings. In response, I am working to ensure local councils use the full suite of powers they enjoy around dangerous sites or those in decay. I am seeking to deploy the Portrush / Portstewart model of short term monies for the built environment in other locations; I have instructed planning officials to use the full extent of DOE powers, including completion notices (etc). I will update the member further on my interventions in due course.

District Councils: Capital Debt

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the level of capital debt of each local council.

(AQW 10562/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The total level of local council capital debt as of 31 March 2012 is recorded in the table below.

Crown Estate: Devolution

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment what action he intends to take to progress the devolution of the administration and revenue of the Crown Estate.

(AQW 10601/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I agree that it is a very important issue to identify and negotiate for and work towards further devolution of powers and functions from London to Belfast. This has many elements of which one is the Crown Estate. I will encourage the Executive to work on each and all elements, though technically the devolution of the administration and revenue of the Crown Estate is not within the remit of DOE.

Given the leasing round in autumn, given my consideration that renewables is Ireland's biggest economic opportunity, I am writing to the DETI and DFP Ministers to urge that the Executive seeks to progress the issues.

DOE: Proposals for Legislation

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) what proposals for legislation, subject to Executive approval, he has introduced or intends to introduce between April 2012 and March 2015; (ii) the anticipated timescale for the introduction of each Bill; and (iii) the intention of each Bill.

(AQW 10633/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The details of the 9 Bills that I propose to introduce to the Assembly between April 2012 and March 2015 and 1 which is still at Committee Stage are contained in the attached table. The introduction of a Bill is subject to Executive agreement. Potentially prioritisation may arise. Consequently, the timelines should be treated as indicative, particularly for the later Bills, where public consultation is not yet completed.

Fines: Environmental Pollution and Planning

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the total value of fines levied in (i) environmental pollution cases; and (ii) planning cases in each of the last five years.

(AQW 10876/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In carrying out its statutory functions, the Department of the Environment has obligations to regulate and monitor potentially damaging activities, respond to breaches of environmental legislation and investigate suspected environmental crime.

Table A below details the total value of fines levied in environmental pollution cases in each of the past 5 years.

Table A

| Year           | Total value of fines |
|----------------|----------------------|
| 2007           | £53,400              |
| 2008           | £259,460             |
| 2009           | £303,900             |
| 2010           | £114,650             |
| 2011           | £151,273             |
| 2012 (To date) | £71,800              |
| Total   | £954,483      |

DOE is also responsible for planning control in Northern Ireland. Prosecutions are an important part of any enforcement system and the Department will proceed to court following legal advice. The scale of penalties for breaches of planning control is set out in legislation. The imposition of penalties and sentences is a matter for the courts.

It is important to note that the DOE Planning IT system was upgraded in March 2009. Only live case information from 1 April 2009 was backdated into the upgraded system. Prior to 1 April 2009, data inputted into the database was considered to be incomplete and unreliable, as such, data is only available from this period.

Based on Court information extracted from DOE Planning IT data on 2 May 2012, the total value of fines levied by the courts in respect of planning enforcement cases over the last three business years amounted to £391,435. Table B below details the total value of fines levied by the courts in respect of planning enforcement cases over each of the last three business years.

Table B

| Business Year       | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 | Total    |
| Fines levied by the courts | £125,000       | £132,635       | £133,800       | £391,435 |

Prosecutions often take a considerable time to work their way through the court process. Therefore, while the convictions in the tables above are listed against the year in which the case was heard in court, the offences to which each case refers will almost invariably have occurred some time before (typically 12-18 months previously).

Portadown Town Plaza

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of the Environment (i) whether planning permission was granted to erect an obelisk in Portadown town plaza; (ii) what consultation was carried out and when; and (iii) whether an Equality Impact Assessment was carried out. (AQW 10999/11-15)

Mr Attwood:

- (i) An application for planning permission to erect a 1.75metres high monument to commemorate the Centenary of the signing of the Ulster Covenant was granted full planning approval on 21st March 2012. The monument is sited in front of St Mark's Church, Portadown.
- (ii) The application was presented to Craigavon Borough Council on 31st January 2012 as part of the streamlined procedure. It was advertised in the three local papers on 10th February 2012 and 83 adjacent properties were notified of this proposal on 7th February 2012. No objections were received as part of this consultation process.
NIEA – Historic Buildings Unit and DRD Roads Service were consulted on 6th February 2012. Both replied with no objections to the proposal.
- (iii) In its role as decision maker on planning applications, the Department has a statutory duty, under Section 75 (2) of the Northern Ireland Act 1998, to have regard to the desirability of promoting good relations between persons of different religious belief, political opinion or racial group. However, it is not necessary to carry out an Equality Impact Assessment for each individual planning application. An assessment against Section 75 was included during the processing of the application as it is a material consideration and this is recorded on the file.

That said the issue of memorials is a sensitive and difficult one. I will consider further how these matters should be managed including legal and equality issues.

Ofcom: Planning Applications

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the average length of time it takes Ofcom to respond, as a consultee, to a planning application. (AQW 11010/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The median number of working days between an Ofcom consultation being sent and the Department receiving a response during the 2011/12 business year is 16 working days. The median has been used as the measure of "average" as this is standard planning reporting practice.

The Department holds Service Level Agreements with other agencies such as DRD Roads Service. The target timeframe for Roads Service to respond to 70% of planning consultations is 15 working days. Given that Ofcom are responding to planning consultations in a similar timeframe in the absence of any agreement, I am content that Ofcom consultations are not causing undue delay in the processing of planning applications.

Goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of the Environment why the Planning Service permitted the company to remove in excess of 8,000 truckloads of rock from the goldmine at Cavanacaw, Omagh, by the operator's own admission, without any assurance that there remained a sufficient amount of rock to restore the site to its original condition. (AQW 11307/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Ombudsman has reported that the Department allowed the operator to remove huge volumes of rock from the site without any reassurance that there remained sufficient rock to backfill the trench. This, in his judgement, represented maladministration. My Department accepts this conclusion. I agree with the conclusion.

In recently granting planning permission for a revised closure plan, the Department informs me that it is satisfied that following full restoration of the site a surplus of 347826 cubic metres of rock would remain. This would allow for a controlled removal of surplus rock from the site in accordance with conditions attached to the planning permission.

Enniskillen Castle

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the attractiveness of the Enniskillen Castle complex as a visitor attraction for people from the nationalist or republican community, given that a St George's flag flies from the building every day of the year.

(AQW 11345/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I understand that my predecessor as Environment Minister, Edwin Poots, wrote to you on 23 November 2010 and explained in detail the approach to the history of Enniskillen Castle and the regiments stationed there which is adopted in the displays at the two museums housed in the Castle. He explained the history of the flying of the flag depicting the Cross of St George. Minister Poots invited you to ask Fermanagh District Council to advise my Department as to its views on the flying of the Cross of St George. No further information was received.

The flying of St George's flag from the Watergate at Enniskillen is a tradition associated with the previous use of the complex, which pre-dates current equality screening protocols. My Department will undertake an equality screening of this practice under the Equality Scheme for the Department of the Environment drawn up in accordance with Section 75 and Schedule 9 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998. I believe this is a proper response, given the differing views around the display and flying of flags. That said, it is important that each of us recognise the different, common and emerging views of our history and experience, that I will look at this issue in this light and await the outcome of the review detailed above.

Radon

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment, in light of the Health Protection Agency's 'Radon in Dwellings in Northern Ireland: 2009 Review' which states that more than 30 percent of homes around Belcoo are at actionable level, as are 10-30 percent of homes in the areas around Garrison and Derrygonnelly, to detail (i) what steps he has taken to determine the levels of naturally occurring radioactive materials in the Bundoran and Benbulbin shale; (ii) what tests were carried out, by whom and on what material; (iii) from where exactly the material was taken; (iv) on what dates the samples were taken and tested; (v) where they were tested; (vi) what were the results; and (vii) if testing has not been carried out, what action he intends to take given that the area licenced for unconventional gas exploration is a radon affected area and that radon decays from radium, uranium and thorium.

(AQW 11363/11-15)

Mr Attwood: To date no tests have been carried out by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency on the levels of naturally occurring radioactive material in the Bundoran and Benbulbin shale.

However, the "Radon in Dwellings in Northern Ireland: 2009 Review and Atlas" indicates that 10-30% of homes in the Belcoo area will have a radon level at or above the Action Level. There is an area to the south-east of Garrison and an area to the north-east of Derrygonnelly where 5-10% of homes are expected to have a radon level at or above the Action Level.

In relation to part (vii) of the question waste containing naturally occurring radioactive material (NORM) is normally generated during gas and oil production. Based on data from analysis of produced water from unconventional gas exploration elsewhere in the UK, NIEA considers that storage and disposal of produced water from any future fracking activity would require authorisation under the Radioactive Substances Act 1993. An application would need to be submitted and determined prior to generating any produced water. The application would have to include a radiological impact assessment for the proposed storage and disposal option. Clearly this is a matter that will be of importance as the issue of fracking develops and I will be highly vigilant in this regard.

Local Government: Re-employment

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 10541/11-15, in relation to the officer who was re-employed in the same position (i) whether this is an accepted practice in local government; and (ii) whether the post was advertised or trawled prior to the officer being re-employed.

(AQW 11851/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In relation to the officer who was re-employed, this person was re-employed on a temporary part-time basis to work on a project which lasted just short of a year.

In respect of (i), the council advises that it has complied with the Local Government Staff Commission Code of Procedures on Recruitment and Selection. In relation to (ii), there was no formal competition as the post was not replaced, the employee returned at the same grade but was involved in a different project. The council deemed there was no requirement to either trawl or advertise for this temporary post.

I do have concerns about practices that see some staff re-employed, quickly after their departure, as identified in the Assembly Questions. I shall write to all Councils on the matter.

Minerals Extraction or Minerals Plant/Machinery: Planning Applications

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment how many planning applications for minerals extraction or minerals plant/machinery have been (i) approved or (ii) refused in each of the last five years.

(AQW 11996/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In the last five years 162 applications for minerals extraction or minerals plant/machinery have been determined. Of these, 153 have been approved and 9 have been refused.

The breakdown of planning approvals over those five years is as follows:

(i) 26 in 2007/08, 36 in 2008/09, 39 in 2009/10, 25 in 2010/11 and 27 in 2011/12.

The breakdown of refusals over those five years is as follows:

(ii) 1 in 2007/08, 3 in 2008/9, 4 in 2009/10, 1 in 2010/11 and 0 in 2011/12.

Planning Permission: Special Circumstances

Mr Lynch asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the (i) number; and (ii) planning application numbers of planning permissions that were granted under special circumstances, in each of the last 12 months, broken down by divisional planning office.

(AQW 12059/11-15)

Mr Attwood: 19 applications have been granted under special circumstances during the 2011 calendar year. The planning application numbers are listed in Table 1 (overleaf) along with the Area Office and the month approved.

Table 1: Applications granted under special circumstances in 2011

Review of Public Administration

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister of the Environment what powers or functions he plans to devolve to local councils under the Review of Public Administration; and whether this represents a change to his previous commitments.

(AQW 12062/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The member is aware of my firm view on the number of Councils, 11 or 15. That said, I believe in radical reform of public policy, including local government. However, reducing the number of councils from 26 to 11, the reform of local government will modernise and streamline public administration and transfer a number of functions and powers from central government departments to the new councils

The Executive has acknowledged a case for revisiting the transfer package identified by its predecessor in March 2008 and modified in September 2009. This package included planning, regeneration, local economic development and tourism, public realm functions of roads, local sports facilities and rural development.

It has been agreed that the 2009 package is a reasonable starting point to refresh thinking about the way forward and I have been engaged in a series of bi-lateral meetings with my Executive colleagues on this issue. I propose to present recommendations to the Executive in due course.

That said, I believe Ministers should stretch their Departments to transfer functions that properly should rest with Councils.

DOE: Arm's-length Bodies

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment how many former senior civil servants, from deputy secretary grade to permanent secretary grade, serve on the boards of his Department's arm's length bodies in a (i) paid; and (ii) unpaid capacity. (AQW 12095/11-15)

Mr Attwood: As Minister of the Environment I have responsibility for appointing individuals to the following public bodies:

- The Northern Ireland Local Government Officers' Superannuation Committee (NILGOSC);
- The Local Government Staff Commission for Northern Ireland (LGSC);
- The Council for Nature Conservation and the Countryside (CNCC);
- The Historic Buildings Council (HBC) and
- The Historic Monuments Council (HMC).

I can confirm that there are currently no former senior civil servants from deputy secretary grade to permanent secretary grade serving on the boards of the Department's arms length bodies.

Motorcycle Instructors: Basic Training

Mr Hussey asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of the current legislation and the processes in place for the compulsory basic training for motorcycle instructors. (AQW 12134/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Compulsory basic training (CBT) for motorcyclists was introduced in Northern Ireland in February 2011, requiring learner motorcyclists to undertake initial training before being allowed to ride unaccompanied on public roads.

The relevant legislation is contained in Articles 5 and 13 of the Road Traffic (Northern Ireland) Order 1981, as amended, and in the Motor Vehicles (Driving Licences) (Amendment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2011.

The legislation introduced the requirement for learner riders of mopeds and motorcycles to complete CBT, and set out the requirements for the training courses, including the syllabus for each of the three modules. The legislation largely reflects that in place in Britain, where the CBT scheme has been operating for a number of years, while taking account of recommendations made in a review of the effectiveness of the scheme there.

Before the legislation was drafted, a public consultation was undertaken, and the respondents were subsequently invited to become part of a stakeholder group established by my Department to help design the scheme in Northern Ireland. The stakeholder group met regularly from December 2009 to February 2011, when CBT was introduced.

In Northern Ireland CBT courses can be conducted only by approved motorcycle instructors (AMIs) who are on the Department's register. Once registered as an AMI, an instructor who wishes to deliver CBT must also apply to the Department for authorisation to conduct CBT courses. There are 57 approved motorcycle instructors in Northern Ireland, of whom 43 are authorised to deliver CBT. Since the legislation was introduced in February 2011, more than 2200 CBT certificates have been issued.

Authorised AMI CBT instructors are issued with manuals which give detailed guidance on instruction techniques, course content and administrative procedures. Electronic copies of the manuals are also available online.

CBT instructors purchase books of CBT certificates from the Department. They are required to store these safely, maintain accurate and up to date records of certificates that have been issued, and provide monthly returns to the Department.

In order to carry out a preliminary evaluation of the scheme, the Driver & Vehicle Agency has invited all AMIs and members of the stakeholder group to a seminar on 6 June 2012. The purpose of this will be to provide an opportunity for all those who deliver courses to discuss the scheme and ascertain if any improvements can be made to further enhance the process at this stage.

To date 2200 courses have been completed. In addition there has been a 45% increase in the number of applications for motorcycle tests compared with 2010-11.

In summary, the CBT scheme has started well, and I am confident that it will make a positive contribution to road safety in Northern Ireland.

District Councils: Senior Officers' Pay

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of the Environment to provide details of any chief executive or senior officer in a council, who is not paid through the PAYE system, but through a limited company.

(AQW 12211/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Each of the 26 District Councils has reported that its Chief Executive and senior officers are paid through the PAYE system.

DOE: Arm's-length Bodies and Quangos

Mr Gardiner asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the current number of arm's-length bodies and quangos that are attached to his Department; and how this figure compares with the number in (i) 2008; (ii) 2009; (iii) 2010; and (iv) 2011.

(AQW 12230/11-15)

Mr Attwood: There are a total of five Arms Length Bodies (ALBs) attached to the Department of Environment (DoE). These are the Northern Ireland Local Government Officers' Superannuation Committee, the Local Government Staff Commission for Northern Ireland, the Council for Nature Conservation and the Countryside, the Historic Buildings Council and the Historic Monuments Council.

The number of ALBs attached to DoE has not changed over the three year period 2008-10.

DOE: Internships

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment how many internships are available in his Department; and if none, what plans he has to introduce an internship scheme.

(AQW 12482/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In addition to a number of GAP and under-graduate placements and 10 Programme Led Apprenticeship placements, my Department has made available 180 Steps to Work placements. To date the Department has facilitated 28 Steps to Work placements, a further 18 individuals have been offered a placement and work is ongoing with the lead contractors and DEL to fill the other available placement opportunities on an ongoing basis.

These Steps to Work placements last for either 8 or 26 weeks and largely mirror the JobBridge internship scheme in the ROI.

In addition, I have also asked my officials to identify ways to specifically target a number of these Steps to Work placements at young people who are Not in Education, Employment or Training (NEET). As a result the Department is now considering how it can join up the provision of work placements in the DOE with the work of the Gerry Rogan Initiative Trust (GRIT) initiative.

The GRIT initiative commenced in 2008, and targets young people who are substantially disadvantaged, who face major barriers to progress positively in their lives and who are at risk of becoming disconnected from their community and wider society. The GRIT experience specifically targets young people who are NEET or at risk of becoming NEET. While the majority of GRIT participants may not be ready at this stage for a work experience placement, some young people who have already completed GRIT may, with the support of Opportunity Youth (the prime delivery agent for the GRIT programme), be able to avail of the Department's Steps to Work placement opportunities.

I believe the model deployed and being developed in DOE should be escalated across government in the remainder period for Steps to Work and reconfigured for the proposed NEW EMPLOYMENT programme. On one reading the DOE placements programme implemented across government would see 1500 or more placements.

PPS 21

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of the Environment (i) for an update on the review of PPS 21; (ii) whether the policy will be relaxed to enable non-farming rural families to build homes; and (iii) when the revised policy statement will be published.

(AQW 12526/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I can advise that the review of the operation of PPS21 is close to conclusion.

In relation to your point on non-farming rural families you will be aware PPS21 already offers considerable development opportunities in this regard. It does this by providing for: Replacement dwellings (Policy CTY 3); The conversion and reuse of non-residential buildings as dwellings (Policy CTY 4); New dwellings within an existing cluster or ribbon of buildings (Policy CTY 8); Social and affordable housing schemes (Policy CTY 5); Development within designated Dispersed Rural Communities (Policy CTY 2); and a dwelling to meet compelling personal or domestic circumstances (Policy CTY 6).

However, in recognition of continued interest in this issue I met with 3 of the members of the Independent Working Group on Non-farm Rural Dwellers set up by the previous Executive as part of my review. I was interested to hear their expert perspectives first hand and have taken these into account in the review.

Finally, you should note that I have said from the beginning that this review should focus on the operation of PPS21. It is not a fundamental review of PPS21 policies and, as such, it is not my intention to publish a revised policy statement.

I am currently finalising the review report.

Allotment Schemes

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of the Environment how many Local Councils offer an allotment scheme.
(AQW 12627/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Currently 11 councils have indicated that they offer allotments. A further 3 councils do not offer allotments directly but support groups who do provide allotments.

In addition, the Northern Ireland Environment Agency is giving consideration to making lands available for allotments at some of its country park properties. These could potentially be offered in association with the relevant councils.

I should add I had previously asked NIEA to consider developing a business model and best practice guide for councils in setting up allotments, to organise an Allotments Event, and to work up a related pilot.

NIEA officials have identified the possibility of leasing suitable lands in some of its Country Parks as allotments. Crawfordsburn, Scrabo and Redburn all have old walled gardens which might be suitable and there is a field at Roe Valley which might also be used.

Review of Public Administration

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of the Environment what conditions he has placed, or intends to place, on councils in relation to capital investment, in advance of the implementation of the Review of Public Administration.
(AQW 12758/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Councils need to act responsibly and prudently in considering whether or not to incur capital expenditure in the period leading up to local government re-organisation. Indeed, the Regional Transition Committee, which I chair, is arranging for the provision of guidance encouraging them to do so and to liaise closely on this matter with the councils with which they will be amalgamating in 2015. This inter-council liaison will be initially managed through the Voluntary Transition Committees, which I have reinstated, in order to promote a pragmatic and responsible approach to the future needs of the enlarged councils.

Provision has already been made, in the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act (Northern Ireland) 2010, which will enable the Statutory Transition Committees to exercise control on capital expenditure contracts, non capital contracts, and the disposal or acquisition of land owned by the existing councils. The key requirement is for the councils to seek the written consent of their relevant Statutory Transition Committee before entering into contracts or disposal / acquisition of land which exceed sums to be specified by the Department.

The Regional Transition Committee will also be reviewing these controls and considering whether or not they need to be extended to embrace the use of council reserves and loans.

Review of Public Administration

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment whether there are any plans to restrict the capital spend of councils prior to the implementation of the Review of Public Administration.
(AQW 12770/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Councils need to act responsibly and prudently in considering whether or not to incur capital expenditure in the period leading up to local government re-organisation. Indeed, the Regional Transition Committee, which I chair, is arranging for the provision of guidance encouraging them to do so and to liaise closely on this matter with the councils with which they will be amalgamating in 2015. This inter-council liaison will be initially managed through the Voluntary Transition Committees, which I have reinstated, in order to promote a pragmatic and responsible approach to the future needs of the enlarged councils.

The Regional Transition Committee will also be reviewing these controls and considering whether or not they need to be extended to embrace the use of council reserves and loans.

Town Centre Development Programme

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment, in light of the Northern Ireland Independent Retail Trade Association's recommendation for a five-year moratorium on out-of-town superstore developments, whether a new Town Centre Development Programme will be introduced to ensure that new multiple store complexes are located in town centres.
(AQW 12835/11-15)

Mr Attwood: It is my intention to bring forward a new and updated town centre and retail planning policy to address the real issues that are self-evident. I also intend to take the difficult decisions required for the numerous major retail planning applications currently in the system throughout the North.

Town Centre Retail Planning Policy

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment, in light of the Northern Ireland Independent Retail Trade Association's recommendation for a five-year moratorium on out-of-town superstore developments, whether he intends to introduce a Town Centre Retail Planning Policy, which builds upon draft PPS 5.

(AQW 12837/11-15)

Mr Attwood: It is my ambition to bring forward a new planning policy for town centres and retailing. As part of this process I will take account of the content of existing draft PPS 5, policy and practice in other jurisdictions and the current evidential context. It is my view that there is a need to reconfigure planning policy to recognise more fully the need of in town retail.

Environmental Impact Assessment Regulations

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment whether, under Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Regulations, a development that is subject to an EIA determination, and is amended to include further development, should be the subject of a revised EIA determination.

(AQW 12843/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Amendments to planning applications are a common feature of the development management process. The Department has discretion to accept amendments but in exercising this discretion it must come to a decision as to whether or not an amendment is so substantial as to constitute a different application and thus involves the making of a new application. A fundamental principle is that the interests of the public must be fully protected when an amendment is under consideration.

In accepting amendments during the processing of an application, care is taken not to prejudice the rights of others to make comments, therefore any material changes are re-advertised, re-neighbour notified and objectors advised. New consultations are carried out if necessary.

DOE Planning has a general responsibility to consider the environmental implications of developments which are subject to planning control and the environmental impact of any amendment to a proposal will be considered.

Environmental Impact Assessment Directive

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment whether his Department would be in breach of the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Directive, if it determined that an environmental statement was not required without having first carried out an EIA determination on a development.

(AQW 12844/11-15)

Mr Attwood: It falls to DOE Planning to consider whether a proposed development requires EIA. For this purpose it is first necessary to consider whether the development is described in Schedule 1 or Schedule 2 to The Planning (Environmental Impact Assessment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2012 (the Regulations).

Development of a type listed in Schedule 1 always requires EIA.

Development of a type listed in Schedule 2 requires EIA if it is likely to have significant effects on the environment by virtue of factors such as size, nature and location. DOE Planning must screen every application for Schedule 2 development in order to determine whether or not EIA is required.

Applications for planning permission for which EIA is required are referred to in the Regulations as EIA applications.

Regulation 4 of the Regulations prohibits the granting of planning permission for EIA development unless environmental information has been taken into account by the Department in making that decision. Where the Department fails to undertake this responsibility properly, it may be open to legal challenge.

It is important to note that the thresholds are not determinative and that individual projects that fall below the indicative thresholds and criteria in the Regulations may require EIA just as those above may not. Decisions on the need for EIA are therefore taken on a case by case basis.

Glenshane Road, Derry

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, what is the current legal status of the extensive embankment made up of illegal land fill between the western boundary of the Certificate of Lawful Development and the bank of the River Faughan, an Area of Special Scientific Interest and an Area of Special Scientific Interest, given that it neither forms part of A/2007/1061/LDE nor retrospective planning application A/2008/0408/F.

(AQW 12846/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The majority of the business use at 91 Glenshane Road is an established use and either benefits from planning permission or is immune from enforcement action. This includes the land between the western boundary of the Certificate of Lawful Development and the bank of the River Faughan. Although the developer did not include this land in the application for the Certificate of Lawful Development, the Department is satisfied, having regard to the planning history of the site and aerial photographs available, that any illegal land fill had been deposited prior to May 1992 and is therefore immune from enforcement action.

Glenshane Road, Derry

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment why his Department did not take enforcement action against the extension to the concrete production yard at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, after refusing it planning permission, and successfully defending that decision at appeal.

(AQW 12857/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department only became aware of a breach of planning control occurring at this location when a letter from a member of the public was received on 08 December 1995 enquiring if a planning approval had been granted for the extension of the existing concrete production yard. Upon receipt of this letter, an enforcement investigation was immediately commenced and, having determined that a breach of planning control had occurred, the Department has been pursuing the legal process through a variety of actions since in pursuit of regularisation and/or compliance with planning legislation.

My reading of the papers clearly confirm that there was a failure by the Planning Service at that time, and since, to deal with this issue robustly.

Glenshane Road, Derry

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the full extent of the development at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, including an estimate of the quantity of land fill that has been granted a Certificate of Lawful Development, under A/2007/1061/LDE, as a result of his Department not carrying out enforcement action within the required timeframe.

(AQW 12858/11-15)

Mr Attwood: An application for a Certificate of Lawfulness of Existing Use or Development (CLUD) was made on 31st August 2007, under Article 83A of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 (as amended). This Article does not require the applicant or the Department to include an estimate of the quantity of land fill that has been granted a Certificate of Lawful Development and the "extent" of the development covered by the CLUD is that contained within the red line of the application. Article 83A (5) of the Order states that a certificate under this Article shall specify the land to which it relates and describe the use, operations or other matter in question. The Department is satisfied that the requirements of Article 83A of the Planning Order have been met regarding the application for and granting of a Certificate of Lawful Development at this location. I understand the member has previously received correspondence from one of my predecessors, explaining the reason for the then delays in pursuing enforcement action which, it is acknowledged, made possible the application for CLUD.

I am not happy with the situation that has arisen but it goes back a number of years and it is beyond my legal authority to act contrary to the circumstances that lead to CLUD.

Tree Preservation Orders

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment when investigating claims of a breach of a Tree Preservation Order (i) whether staff have to seek permission from the owner of the land before they go on to a site; and (ii) what legal authority staff have in carrying out investigation claims.

(AQW 12861/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has a statutory duty under Article 64 (duty of Department in relation to trees) of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 to secure the preservation of trees.

Any person who contravenes a TPO by cutting down, uprooting or wilfully destroying a tree, or wilfully damaging, topping or lopping a tree is guilty of an offence under Article 66 of the Order. Any person found guilty of an offence under Article 66(1) will be liable on summary conviction to a fine.

(i) whether staff have to seek permission from the owner of the land before they go to a site

Standard practice, when carrying out a site inspection, is that the inspecting officer will identify themselves to the owner/occupier (if present) and show an authorisation card. The officer should ask for permission to inspect the site and inform the owner/occupier that they are not obliged to consent to the inspection. The officer should request permission to take any photographs.

(ii) what legal authority staff have in carrying out investigation claims.

The Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 gives any person authorised in writing by the Department rights to enter land for enforcement purposes, with or without a warrant.

Any person that wilfully obstructs a person in the exercise of a right of entry shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine.

Out-of-town Retail Applications

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment for his assessment of whether the Department for Social Development should be granted statutory consultee status on all large out-of-town retail applications, given its role in regenerating town centres,

(AQW 12879/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Currently, the Department consults with a range of public bodies, depending on the nature and location of planning applications, to inform the decision making process. The Department consults with the Department for Social Development (DSD) as appropriate in applications relating to the regeneration of town centres.

I intend to introduce a Planning Bill to the Assembly shortly. Parallel to the Bill, work on subordinate legislation, will confirm the list of statutory consultees and the timeframe within which they must provide a substantive response. The status of DSD as a statutory consultee will be considered as part of this work and I will very fully consider so doing.

Balmoral Show

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment what planning permission exists at the Maze/Long Kesh site to facilitate the relocation of the Balmoral Show to that location; and what infrastructure and development is permitted.

(AQW 12880/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am advised by my officials that planning permission does not exist at the moment for any development or infrastructure associated with the proposed relocation of the Balmoral Show to the Maze/Long Kesh site.

Notwithstanding this, my officials are engaging with representatives of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society regarding the proposal. I am advised that any subsequent planning application will be processed in time to allow the show to open at the Maze/ Long Kesh in 2013.

Maze/Long Kesh Site: Access from the M1

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment what planning permission exists to permit access from the M1 to the Maze/Long Kesh site; and whether there is an extant application for access.

(AQW 12881/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am advised by my officials that planning permission does not exist at the moment for access to The Maze/Long Kesh site from the M1 motorway. I have also been advised that there is no extant planning application regarding the construction of such an access.

River Faughan: Unauthorised Settlement Lagoons

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment whether the unauthorised settlement lagoons adjacent to the River Faughan, an Area of Special Scientific Interest and a Special Area of Conservation, when combined with the development at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, made lawful under A/2007/1061/LDE, would fall under the description of an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) development as defined in the EIA Regulations.

(AQW 12898/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department considers that the unauthorised settlement lagoons adjacent to the River Faughan, an Area of Special Scientific Interest and a Special Area of Conservation, when combined with the development at 91 Glenshane Road, Derry, made lawful under A/2007/1061/LDE, does not fall under the description of an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) development as defined in the EIA Regulations.

Environmental Impact Assessment Directive

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment whether his Department would be in breach of the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Directive if it granted a Certificate of Lawful Development for an unauthorised EIA development because it did not take prior enforcement action.

(AQW 12899/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In relation to the development at 91 Glenshane Road, the Department does not consider it an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) development.

As advised elsewhere (AQW/12859) the Certificate of Lawful Use or Development (CLUD) process, as set out in the legislation, does not make explicit provision for consideration of the EIA process.

Planning Application A/2008/0408/F

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment (i) whether his Department carried out a revised Environmental Impact Assessment determination, for planning application A/2008/0408/F, after it accepted an amendment to the application which introduced new settlement lagoons that did not feature in the original proposals; and (ii) if not, to outline the reasons why.

(AQW 12900/11-15)

Mr Attwood: My Department (i) did not carry out a revised Environmental Impact Assessment determination, for planning application A/2008/0408/F, after it accepted an amendment to the application which introduced new settlement lagoons that did not feature in the original proposals. This was not carried out as the revision to the proposal made provision for relocated lagoons in place of the existing and as such the nature and extent of the development proposed was not altered.

You may wish to note that an Appropriate Assessment, under the Habitats Directive Regulations was carried out when the application reference A/2008/0408/F was first received and this was revisited when the proposal was amended.

Wind Turbines

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of the Environment what protections exist for people living in close proximity to lands where approval has been granted for a wind turbine to be erected.

(AQW 12942/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In assessing applications for wind turbines, the impact of the proposed development on adjacent occupied properties is a material consideration that the Department will take into account in reaching a balanced judgement.

For an individual wind turbine best practice guidance of the fall over distance (i.e. the height of the turbine to the tip of the blade) plus 10% is often used as a safe separation distance between the turbine and occupied property. For wind farm development, a separation distance of 10 times the rotor diameter to occupied property with a minimum distance of not less than 500m will generally apply.

In addition, as part of its consideration of a planning application, and in order to further inform the decision making process, the Department will consult with the Environmental Health Department of the District Council, who will provide expert advice in relation to planning related matters such as the potential noise impact of the proposed development on an adjacent occupied property.

High Street Review: Absentee Landlords

Mr Spratt asked the Minister of the Environment what action he intends to take to challenge absentee landlords who (i) leave shop premises empty; and (ii) refuse to engage in regeneration through the High Street Review.

(AQW 12972/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I have commissioned a review of retail planning policy for town centres and retailing which will consider the many and varied issues currently faced by our High Streets, including the matters referred to in your question. I am hopeful that this review will bring forward policy proposals which will support and revitalise city and town centres.

Direct intervention on the issue of vacant shop premises remains an option for local councils and they could draw on the experience gained via the pilot project in Portrush/Portstewart which addressed derelict sites.

The High Street Review is being taken forward by a taskforce established by the Minister for Social Development to review his Department's provision for town centres. I have brought the Member's comments on this matter to the attention of my Executive colleague and my Department remains fully committed to contributing actively to this review.

I have demonstrated that at a DOE level or council level, all current powers should be deployed in relation to derelict sites, sites in decay, sites abandoned. The member makes a valid point in relation to landlords. I will consider the matter further.

Driving Tests

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of the Environment how his Department monitors and ensures the fair and consistent application of driving tests.

(AQW 12982/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Driving tests in Northern Ireland are carried out by the Driver & Vehicle Agency (DVA) and are conducted from 16 locations; Armagh, Ballymena, Belfast (2 sites), Coleraine, Cookstown, Craigavon, Downpatrick, Enniskillen, Larne, Lisburn, Londonderry (2 sites), Newry, Newtownards and Omagh.

All Driving Examiners, both in Northern Ireland and in Britain, are trained at the Cardington driving training establishment in Bedfordshire which is run by the Driving Standards Agency (DSA).

DVA, as part of DoE, places high priority on standards; ensuring candidates who pass the driving test meet the minimum safe criteria for driving on their own and there are robust procedures in place to ensure these standards are consistently applied and maintained.

During the driving test each candidate is assessed against strict criteria, and if they do not succeed in all required competences they are offered a full debrief, with their instructor present if they so wish.

Driving test candidates are directed around a legally compliant test route, as prescribed in European legislation. Each test centre has a minimum of 6 test routes which are, as far as possible, equal in relation to the type of road network and traffic densities. This provides equality for all candidates and ensures they all demonstrate skills in similar conditions and on roads they will encounter once they pass their driving test.

DVA carry out regular quality assurance checks on all driving examiners, minimum of one day per year, to ensure the standards they apply are correct and consistent. This entails a supervising examiner accompanying a driving examiner during live tests. The supervisor observes the work of the examiner from quality, standards and customer care perspectives. In addition, examiners are provided with refresher training and in 2010-11, for example, all DVA examiners received a further five days of training.

European Driving Directive 2006/126/EC is scheduled for implementation on 19 January 2013. This Directive will, amongst other things, introduce European standards for the initial qualification, quality assurance and periodic training of examiners authorised to conduct practical tests for licence acquisition. Current DVA practice is broadly in line with the requirements of the Directive and, in terms of examiner supervision, exceeds these requirements.

I very much understand the point that the member is making, have discussed the matter with DVA, have asked that DVA continues to monitor to ensure consistency and proper treatment.

Illegal Driving Instructors

Mr McGlone asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) the investigations that have taken place into the operation of illegal driving instructors; (ii) what were the findings of the investigations; and (iii) how the matter is monitored.

(AQW 12983/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Driver & Vehicle Agency (DVA) administers and maintains the register of approved driving instructors (ADIs) on behalf of the Department under the Road Traffic (Northern Ireland) Order 2007. It is illegal for anyone to charge for instruction in driving a car or motorcycle unless they are registered with the Department.

Although anecdotal evidence suggests there may be some incidents of unregistered driving instruction, the extent of it is difficult to gauge. Evidence is hard to obtain since it must be established that a person has paid money for instruction and learners are often unwilling to complain to the PSNI or DVA.

DVA investigates all substantive allegations of unregistered instruction where evidence has been presented and it works closely on the issue with the Road Traffic Policing Division of PSNI, which has responsibility for enforcement and prosecution.

While it is not possible to provide information on individual investigations, DVA has a process in place to deal with any information received.

Following a report of alleged unregistered instruction DVA obtains information, including candidate details, from the Agency's driving test booking system. This identifies if the reported vehicle has been presented for driving tests. Where this is the case, the Agency writes to the individual affording them an opportunity to reply to the allegations either in person or in writing. DVA may also write to candidates who took driving tests in the vehicle to ask whether confirmation they have paid the unregistered instructor for driving tuition.

It is at this stage that the process sometimes falls down, as individuals are often not willing to provide any information. However, where evidence of paid instruction has been presented, the details of the case are passed to PSNI for prosecution. Pending prosecution, the Agency continues to monitor the presentation by suspects of candidates for test.

Since 2007 the PSNI has prosecuted two cases of unregistered instruction, and DVA is aware of one further case pending.

The partnership approach with PSNI has resulted in ADI enforcement now being included in PSNI roadside vehicle check points. To date all instructors stopped at the on-road checks have been registered with the Department and compliant with the relevant legislation.

If the member or others has additional information I would be pleased to hear further.

Lughnasa Fair in Carrickfergus

Mr Hilditch asked the Minister of the Environment whether he will review the Northern Ireland Environment Agency's decision to cancel the Lughnasa Fair in Carrickfergus, which has been running for 40 years.

(AQW 12991/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Due to ongoing financial pressures resulting primarily from reduced planning fee income, a number of budgets have had to be reduced across the Department. Consequently, the Events Programme has been reduced over the past two years from eleven flagship events in 2010/11 to four in 2011/12 and in 2012/13. Unfortunately, Lughnasa Fair is one of the events affected in the current year.

However, the Department is committed to promoting Carrickfergus Castle as a flagship monument, not just in heritage terms but also in recognition of its value to NI tourism. We continue to run the very popular series of living history events throughout the year at the Castle which attract consistently high numbers of visitors. We are already committed to running 16 living history events between May and August this year and are planning more events throughout the year. One of the 16 events will run on the last Saturday of July, the date that the Fair would normally take place.

Previously, we have also invited Carrickfergus Borough Council to work with us to run a major family event at the Castle, but unfortunately nothing came to fruition. I have asked officials to extend this invitation again, and although it is too late to reconsider Lughnasa Fair for 2012, a joint approach may result in this event re-emerging in July 2013.

Strangford Lough Modiolus Restoration Plan

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to fisheries management and fisheries involvement in any Strangford Lough Modiolus restoration plan, what communication has taken place with the Strangford Lough Fishermen's Association about such undertakings.

(AQW 12993/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Strangford Lough Fisherman's Association (SLFA) met with the DARD Minister Michelle O'Neill and her officials on 2 April 2012 to provide feedback on the SLFA meeting with DG Environment at the European Commission. I understood that the report from QUB on the restoration of the Modiolus reefs was also discussed and that SLFA sought assurance that evidence to support its position would be made available to the Commission.

Minister O'Neill held a further meeting with representatives of the fishing industry on 30 April at which the outcome of a joint DOE/DARD meeting with DG Environment was discussed. The proposals for a revised management regime for Strangford Lough to allow a level of pot fishing to continue while meeting the obligations under Habitats Directive were discussed, including various ways to achieve this.

I, of course, am available to meet and have done so previously.

Litter

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of the Environment what action the Northern Ireland Environment Agency is taking to reduce the level of litter and anti-social behaviour at Struell Wells, Downpatrick.

(AQW 12994/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Whilst NIEA can take corrective action, the litter is left by the public and it is their irresponsible behaviour which creates the problem. NIEA will seek to increase the frequency of site patrols at Struell Wells and is reviewing the access arrangements at this monument to discourage anti-social behaviour.

NIEA encourages the visiting public to behave responsibly at all its properties and supports the Leave No Trace campaign.

Litter and Antisocial Behaviour in Inch Abbey

Mr Lyttle asked the Minister of the Environment what action the Northern Ireland Environment Agency is taking to reduce the level of litter and anti-social behaviour at Inch Abbey, Downpatrick.

(AQW 12995/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Whilst NIEA can take corrective action, the litter is left by the public and it is their irresponsible behaviour which creates the problem. NIEA will seek to increase the frequency of site patrols at Inch Abbey and is reviewing the access arrangements at this monument to discourage anti-social behaviour.

NIEA encourages the visiting public to behave responsibly at all its properties and supports the Leave No Trace campaign.

Drug Driving

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment what discussions he has held with the UK Government to ensure that legislation and penalties for drug-driving are consistent across the United Kingdom.

(AQW 13007/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Legislation here is broadly in line with Britain and it is currently illegal to drive whilst impaired through drink or drugs. However, that legislation requires the police and courts to both prove the presence of the intoxicant and also demonstrate impairment in each case before a driver could be prosecuted. The legislation in Ireland is similar, with prosecution depending on proof of impairment.

New British legislation is being progressed to make driving or being in charge of a motor vehicle with concentration of specified controlled drug above specified limit an offence without a need to prove impairment, bringing drug driving into line with drink driving in this regard. As you might be aware this legislation, consideration of which is included in our Road Safety Strategy, is currently progressing through the House of Lords.

The legislation as drafted would mean that a person would be committing an offence simply by having a specified level of a specified drug in their body. It identifies that both the drugs and the relevant limits would be specified by regulation and includes the option for any specified limit to be zero. Offenders could face a ban of at least 12 months, a fine of up to £5,000 and up to 51 weeks in jail (6 months in Scotland) for driving with specified drugs in the body in excess of specified limits.

A scientific review panel is considering the scientific underpinning for the new law, assessing the effects on driving of different drugs. The drugs ultimately specified by the offence and the specified limits for each will be decided when advice has been received from the panel, expected in October, and on foot of public consultation planned for early in 2013.

Police are to be equipped with handheld detection devices to test saliva at the roadside. I understand that five devices are being considered by the Home Office, which is expected to give approval by the end of the year. PSNI has a commitment in the Road Safety Strategy to 'investigate new technologies and legislative powers to better detect and collect evidence from drivers suspected of being impaired through drugs; including both illicit and prescription drugs'. Under the new legislation, failure of a roadside test would result in a driver being arrested for drug driving. A further new piece of equipment in the station would provide the evidential test, based on which, as appropriate, the driver would be prosecuted.

DOE officials have been liaising with the Department for Transport on the ongoing work, are monitoring the progress of the draft legislation and await the outcome of the work of the scientific panel and on the necessary testing equipment. My Department has also maintained contacts on this issue with the Road Safety Authority and I understand that the pursuit of similar legislation will also be a priority in Ireland, possibly being introduced in 2013.

Drink driving in Northern Ireland is responsible for more road traffic collisions, fatalities and casualties than drug driving. Between 2006 -2010, the most recent published statistics, there were seventy-seven deaths and serious injuries due to drink driving and eight due to drug driving. Seven fatalities were caused by drink / drug driving (I cannot identify drink and drugs fatalities separately due to disclosure control applied to protect identities).

Legislation to tackle drink driving including reductions in the limit will be introduced to the Assembly in a Road Traffic (Amendment) Bill before the end of the year. With respect to the introduction of new drug driving laws here, the timing will be dependent on the Department for Transport delivering on the ongoing work, including the scientific underpinning, indicative legislation and testing equipment. Consultation will also be required on the proposals. I plan to bring forward a further Road Traffic (Amendment) Bill in 2013 to introduce mutual recognition of penalty points and I would envisage new drug drive legislation being part of that Bill.

Crown Estate: Rental Payments

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what assessment he has made of the proposals by the Scottish Committee in Westminster regarding rental payments by councils to the Crown Estate, and whether he intends to take any action on this issue. (AQW 13027/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am aware of the Scottish Government report and shall review it. I believe in maximising the powers and potential of devolution and that extends to the issue of Crown Estates. I intend outlining my further views by the late summer.

District Councils: Staff Disciplinary Procedures

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment on how many occasions formal staff disciplinary procedures have been carried out by each council, in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13028/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The number of occasions formal staff disciplinary procedures have been enacted within the 26 District Councils in the last five years are detailed in the table below.

| Council       | 2008 | 2009 | 2010 | 2011 | 2012 |

Greenhouse Gas Emission and EU Climate Protection Targets

Ms Ruane asked the Minister of the Environment what action his Department has taken, with the North/South Ministerial Council, in relation to greenhouse gas emission and EU climate protection targets.

(AQW 13054/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The issue of climate change must be faced up to, including through a dedicated and robust NI Climate Bill. I also work closely with Dublin, inter alia on used tyres, waste, management of water, smoky coal, clean beaches, turf cutting, reuse of plastics (etc) all of which impact on emissions and climate protection. As members of EU, we also share climate/emission goals.

Outside of the NSMC my officials continue to engage with their counterparts in the south on both climate change mitigation and adaptation issues and officials from the south are invited to attend all key stakeholder events.

The forthcoming Irish Presidency of the EU has recently resulted in a request for secondees from the NICS to work for the Presidency in the area of climate change and this presents a further potential opportunity for North/South co-operation.

Moreover, if renewable is the biggest environmental and economic opportunity the island has – and I believe it is – the greater cohesion of energy policy, renewable industry, integrated supply opportunities there is, the better for the island and its people.

Cycling: Road Deaths

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of the Environment what research his Department has carried out, or commissioned, to address the causes of cyclist road deaths.

(AQW 13080/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Road Safety Strategy outlines key challenges to be addressed over the period up to 2020 and contains a commitment to continuously explore road safety issues and develop new ways to keep people safe on our roads.

To this end the Department has established a road safety research programme, involving road safety partners, to help identify emerging trends and provide a sound knowledge base for developing future policies. The programme, which is reviewed annually, includes ongoing statistical analysis, projects carried out by partner organisations and assignments commissioned by DOE.

The Department maintains a problem profile, first produced as part of the development of the Road Safety Strategy, which uses detailed trend data to explore key road safety issues. The most recent paper, based on 2006-2010 data, indicates that cyclists accounted for 5 of the 516 people killed and 170 of the 5,225 people seriously injured over that period. This equates to 3% of all fatal and serious road traffic casualties. The cyclist was responsible for the casualty in 39% of those cases. The most common cause of cyclist deaths and serious injuries, where the cyclist was deemed responsible, was inattention or attention diverted, the principal causation factor in 33% of those casualties. Overtaking on the offside without care was the largest principal causation factor in collisions where the driver was responsible (16%).

In 2011, there were two cyclist fatalities compared with none in 2010 and 2009. Cyclists accounted for 47 serious injuries in 2011 compared with 49 in 2010 and 32 in 2009. At the time of writing, there have been no cyclist deaths this year, compared with one at this point in 2011 and none in 2010.

Cyclists are a vulnerable road user group and the Road Safety Strategy contains a number of action measures that relate specifically to cyclists' safety.

The Department monitors progress towards the casualty reduction targets set out in the Road Safety Strategy. It also tracks performance indicators, including monitoring cyclist casualty rates and perceptions of the safety of cycling. This will improve our understanding of road casualty trends and help us target interventions more effectively.

Monitoring of targets and performance indicators will be published as part of a Road Safety Strategy Annual Report, the first of which is planned for publication by the end of the year.

The Department recently undertook a review of Road Safety Education Services and resources to ensure that they appropriately address today's road safety issues. This review recommended that the Cycling Proficiency Scheme offered by the DOE's Road Safety Education Officer Service be evaluated to assess the benefits and impact of the programme, including a review of the content of the course and methods of delivery to ensure these are up to date and fit for purpose.

The review of the Cycling Proficiency Scheme will also seek to identify and evaluate potential alternative approaches and make recommendations on the future direction of the provision of road safety cycle training by the Department. It is planned that the review will commence shortly.

Action Measure 124 of the Road Safety Strategy recommends that DOE 'give consideration to measures that improve the safety of cyclists; including what cyclists can do to keep themselves safe and what other road users can do.'

In developing a recent cycling campaign, which I launched in October 2011, the Department used its understanding of the relevant research and data to target both drivers and cyclists with the key message that they have a shared responsibility for cyclist safety. This is why the Department adopted a dual approach consisting of a 'Be Cycle Aware' message for drivers and a 'Cycle Aware' message for cyclists.

I am mindful of the need continuously to explore road safety issues better to understand the causes of collisions and the Department will use such research to develop and introduce new measures to keep people safe on our roads.

Pedestrians: Road Deaths

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of the Environment what research his Department has carried out, or commissioned, to address the causes of pedestrian road deaths.

(AQW 13081/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Road Safety Strategy outlines key challenges to be addressed over the period up to 2020 and contains a commitment to continuously explore road safety issues and develop new ways to keep people safe on our roads.

To this end the Department established a road safety research programme, involving road safety partners, to help identify emerging trends and provide a sound knowledge base for developing future policies. The programme, which is reviewed annually, includes ongoing statistical analysis, projects carried out by partner organisations and assignments commissioned by DOE.

The Department maintains a problem profile, first produced as part of the development of the Road Safety Strategy, which uses detailed trend data to explore key road safety issues. The most recent paper, based on 2006-2010 data, indicates that pedestrians accounted for 92 of the 516 people killed and 919 of the 5,225 people seriously injured over that period. This equates to 18% of all fatal and serious road traffic casualties and makes pedestrians the third largest road user casualty group. Of those pedestrians killed or seriously injured, 68% were deemed responsible for the collision. The most common causes of pedestrian deaths and serious injuries was pedestrian carelessness and being heedless of traffic; with the most common cause where the driver was responsible also carelessness/inattention.

In 2011, there were 13 pedestrian fatalities compared with 10 in 2010 and 24 in 2009. Pedestrians accounted for 200 serious injuries in 2011, compared with 167 in 2010 and 191 in 2009. At the time of writing, there have been 4 pedestrian deaths this year, the same as at this point in 2011 and 2010. Two of the fatalities were aged under 16 years of age and 3 were male.

'Pedestrians' is quite a diverse grouping, with 60% of pedestrian deaths and serious injuries over the 2006-2010 period being male. The data identify that children and young people up to 24 years of age, particularly males, and those over 65, are at higher risk.

The figures above, the people that they represent and the families and communities affected are obviously of real concern to me. For this reason, on 23 May 2012, I launched a new campaign specifically aimed at pedestrian safety. The campaign addresses both driver and pedestrian responsibility and highlights a number of circumstances where pedestrians can be particularly vulnerable. Significant research underpins the development of such campaigns and fully informs the Department's wider advertising strategy.

As well as looking in detail at the causes of collisions, qualitative research is also used to inform our campaigns. Ten focus groups carried out during February highlighted pedestrians' and drivers' lack of consideration and regard for each other and that optimism and over-confidence result in an "it will never happen to me" attitude. The focus groups also revealed that pedestrians and drivers make the easy choice by denying their own errant behaviours and this is reinforced by a lack of interest and awareness of the relevance of the Highway Code to their decisions and how they behave on the road. These are the attitudes and behaviours which compromise pedestrians' safety and which the new campaign therefore seeks to address.

Further consideration is always required and welcome in helping improve our understanding of road safety issues, including those affecting pedestrians, and shaping new initiative and policies. Action Measure 133 of the Road Safety Strategy commits DOE to continue to monitor and, where appropriate, carry out Northern Ireland specific research on pedestrian and cyclist behaviour with a view to developing further effective interventions.

I can also assure you that the Department and its partners will introduce any appropriate initiatives that arise from our research programme. Road safety partners have already considered recommendations arising from completed projects into Deprivation and Child Pedestrian Casualties, which found a clear trend of increasing rates for all child pedestrian casualties (aged 0-15) with increasing area deprivation. This relationship is highly statistically significant and means that a child living in a most deprived area is almost 5 times more likely to be injured in a collision than a child living in a least deprived area.

As a result of this work, a number of additional measures have been incorporated into the Strategy. The Department will seek to improve practical pedestrian training for children while the Department for Regional Development will undertake a review of site conditions in the most deprived areas with the highest collisions / casualties identified in the research. From DRD's review, PSNI will consider additional police patrols in these locations.

In addition to local research, the Department maintains strong working relationships with British and Irish counterparts and works to strengthen appropriate links to access the best available research, data and guidance to support our work to improve the safety of all our road users.

Planning Applications for Farm Dwellings

Mr Clarke asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 11071/11-15, for each of the last two years, to detail how many planning applications for farm dwellings under PPS 21 have been refused due to the proposed buildings not being (i) linked; or (ii) site clustered with established groups of buildings on a farm, broken down by divisional planning office.

(AQW 13089/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The number of planning applications refused for 'farm dwelling' under PPS 21 in the last two years broken down by area office is detailed in the Table below. A total of 10 applications for 'farm dwelling' have been refused in the last two business years. Of these, four included refusal reasons which related to the proposed buildings not being (i) linked or (ii) site clustered with an established group of buildings on a farm.

Table showing Number of farm dwellings refused in the last two years under PPS 21 broken down by area office.

| Area Planning Office | Year 2010/2011                 |   | Year 2011/2012                 |   |
|----------------------|--------------------------------|---|--------------------------------|---|
|                      | Number of Applications Refused | Refusal Reason: Not visually linked or site clustered | Number of Applications Refused | Refusal Reason: Not visually linked or site clustered |
| South Antrim         | 2                              | 1   | 1                              | 1   |
| Southern Downpatrick | 1                              | 1   | 0                              | 0   |
| Western              | 5                              | 1   | 1                              | 0   |
| Total         | 8                       | 3  | 2                       | 1  |

Note: This information is based on a search of the Planning Portal where the word 'farm' was included in the description of applications relating to a dwelling.

It is worthwhile noting that in the 2010/2011 year, 3146 applications for single dwellings in rural areas (excluding replacement dwellings) were decided of which 804 were refused and from April - December 2011, 2147 applications were decided and 324 refused. Some of these applications may relate to dwellings on a farm, however, a manual search of each application would be required to identify such cases and this would be disproportionate in terms of time and cost.

Wind Turbines

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what are the criteria used to determine whether an Environmental Statement is required for a single wind turbine.

(AQW 13105/11-15)

Mr Attwood: A wind turbine falls within the description of developments listed under Schedule 2, Category 3(j) of The Planning (Environmental Impact Assessment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2012.

Where a development is listed in Schedule 2, DOE Planning will establish whether the development is either located wholly or in part in a sensitive area or meets/exceeds any of the relevant thresholds/criterion listed in Column 2 of Schedule 2.

In relation to the thresholds for a wind turbine, DOE Planning will screen applications for the need for an EIA where the development involves the installation of more than 2 turbines or the hub height of any turbine or height of any other structure exceeds 15 metres. If the proposed wind turbine meets or exceeds this threshold/ criterion it is important to establish if the development would have significant effects on the environment.

When carrying out the screening process, DOE Planning will have regard to the Selection Criteria specified in Schedule 3 of the Regulations. In summary, the Selection Criteria fall under three broad headings:-

Characteristics of the development: taking into account aspects such as size, raw material usage, emissions and risk of accidents.

Location of development: the environmental sensitivity of the areas likely to be affected including existing land uses and the capacity of the existing environment to absorb the new development.

Characteristics of the potential impact: in particular with regard to its extent, complexity, probability, duration and frequency, in relation to the characteristics and location of the development.

Where it is determined that the impact is significant, then the identified development is EIA development and an Environmental Statement will be required. Where it is not significant, then an EIA is not required.

It is important to note that the thresholds are not determinative and that individual projects that fall below these indicative thresholds and criteria may require EIA just as those above may not. Decisions on the need for EIA are therefore taken on a case by case basis.

Planning Application Fees

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what criteria must be met to receive the 50 percent discount on planning application fees.

(AQW 13106/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The current Planning (Fees) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005 (S.R. 2005 No.222) as amended were made by the Department in pursuance of its powers under Article 127 of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991.

The Fee Regulations also make provision for what is commonly referred to as a 50% concessionary fee with respect to applications made on behalf of certain non-profit making organisations. Schedule 1, Part 1, Paragraph 3 allows for the planning fee payable to be one-half of the amount that would otherwise be payable where an application or deemed application for planning permission is:

- (i) made or deemed to be made by or on behalf of a club, society or other organisation (including any persons administering a trust) which is not established or conducted for profit; and
- (ii) is for the provision of community facilities (including sports grounds) and playing fields; and
- (iii) the development is to be carried out on land which is, or is intended to be, occupied by the club, society or other organisation and to be used wholly or mainly for the carrying out of its objects.

Applicants should make clear on the planning application form that they have applied for the fee assessed under Schedule 1, Part 1, Paragraph 3 of the Fee Regulations and the Department will undertake an assessment as to whether an application meets the conditions and is eligible for the 50% concessionary fee.

Some examples of non-profit organisations include Gaelic Athletic Association / Association Football Clubs, where the players are not paid salaries, registered charities and community groups.

Belfast International Airport: Unauthorised Car Parks

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 11374/11-15, what the figure quoted represents as a percentage of all car parks at Belfast International Airport.

(AQW 13123/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Since the Department's response to AQW 11374/11-15, it has been confirmed that one of the six unauthorised car parks identified is no longer operational, thus 5 car parks remain unauthorised. The Department are aware of 4 lawful car parks in the vicinity of Belfast International Airport i.e. 5 out of 9 (56%) are unauthorised and subject to ongoing enforcement proceedings. An update of the six enforcement cases previously listed is contained in Appendix 1.

DOE: Legislative Programme

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of the Environment for an update on his planned legislative programme for the current Assembly mandate.

(AQO 2186/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Marine Bill, which I introduced to the Assembly in February 2012, is currently at Committee stage. This Bill will allow the better management of the waters around our coasts to derive more benefit from their use and achieve better protection for the rich environment.

This will help achieve the aim of having clean, healthy, safe, productive and biologically diverse oceans and seas and ensure that a planned approach is taken to managing activities and developments within the marine area in a sustainable manner.

Additionally I propose, subject to Executive approval, to introduce 9 Bills to the Assembly between now and March 2015. These are:-

- 1 The Planning Bill which will bring forward a number of the reforms contained in the Planning Act (NI) 2011 and apply them to the Department in advance of the transfer of powers to district councils; I hope to introduce this Bill before the end of this Assembly session;
- 2 Local Government Reorganisation which provides for the reorganisation of local government; new governance arrangements for councils; a new ethical standards regime; the introduction of community planning powers and the power of well-being; and an updated service delivery and performance improvement regime. I expect to introduce this Bill to the Assembly in October 2012.
- 3 National Parks Bill which will allow for the identification, designation and management of national parks, forecast to be introduced in November 2012.
- 4 Road Traffic Amendment No 1 which will lower the limits on blood alcohol levels for motorists, introduce other measures to tackle drink driving; and introduce a new regime for learner and novice drivers to address high fatality levels in this group. I anticipate this Bill will be introduced to the Assembly in December 2012.
- 5 The Carrier Bag Levy Bill which I hope to introduce in January 2013 will extend the levy to certain types of re-usable carrier bags.

I propose to introduce 4 Bills during the 2013-14 Assembly Session. At this stage I cannot be more definitive on their date of introduction. These are:

- 1 The Buses (Licensing of Operators) Bill which will overhaul the bus licensing regime;
- 2 The Road Traffic (Amendment) Bill No 2 which will introduce mutual recognition of penalty points for motoring offences between Northern Ireland and Ireland; and to make necessary legislative amendments regarding drug driving offences.
- 3 The Environmental Better Regulation Bill which will reduce the environmental regulatory burden on business and enhance protection of the environment.
and
- 4 The Climate Change Bill which will introduce statutory targets for greenhouse gas emissions in Northern Ireland.

Japanese Knotweed

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what action his Department is taking to prevent the invasion and the irresponsible disposal of Japanese knotweed.

(AQW 13159/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department of Environment recognises the threat posed by invasive alien species (IAS) such as Japanese knotweed (Fallopia japonica). As such, the Department has been taking action to address this issue for several years.

Due to the threat posed by Japanese knotweed the Department of Environment listed it on Schedule 9 Part II of The Wildlife Order (NI) 1985 (as amended). As such, under Article 15, it is an offence for any person to plant or otherwise cause Japanese knotweed to grow in the wild. This piece of legislation is enforced by PSNI.

I have been informed by officials in the Northern Ireland Environment Agency that they have undertaken control of a range of invasive species, including Japanese knotweed, on properties under their ownership or management. Where the growth of Japanese knotweed occurs in areas outside those owned or managed by the Department it is the decision and responsibility of the individual landowner or land manager to undertake control.

To assist landowners NIEA has developed a range of best practice management guidance documents which outline the range of known control options available for the control of Japanese knotweed in addition to waste legislation requirements to prevent irresponsible disposal. These documents are available online on the Invasive Species Ireland website and the DOE website.

Outside of land directly owned or managed by the Department, NIEA seeks to work in partnership with organisations to tackle invasive species. For example, the Department has recently provided part funding to a £2.6 million catchment scale eradication project, led by the Queens University Belfast. This project, which covers the Newry Canal/Clanrye River and River Faughan, aims to tackle Japanese knotweed as well as other invasive species in these river catchments.

To raise awareness of invasive species NIEA has worked in partnership with Local Biodiversity Officers across Northern Ireland to deliver training on legislation, identification and management options for a range of species, including Japanese knotweed, to staff from a range of organisations including District Councils, Roads Service, Rivers Agency, Translink and environmental NGOs. This training has also been provided to local angling clubs upon request.

In addition NIEA, through its Natural Heritage Grant Programme, can provide funding towards projects which aim to sustainably control invasive species such as Japanese knotweed.

To reduce the risk of further spread of Japanese knotweed NIEA would advise that it is treated in situ where it is possible to do so. Where Japanese knotweed is required to be moved offsite the movement of the waste material must be done in compliance with the Controlled Waste (Duty of Care) Regulations (NI) 2002 and the Waste Management Regulations (NI) 2006. Any suspected illegal disposal or transport of waste material, including Japanese knotweed material, can be reported via Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111. This enables waste crime to be reported completely anonymously.

District Councils: Severance Pay-Outs

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment how many council staff who were (i) dismissed; or (ii) resigned, after or during suspension for investigations, received severance pay-outs, or similar, broken down by council area, in each of the last 10 years.

(AQW 13187/11-15)

Information not received on time

I have asked officials to seek more details on these matters from the relevant councils, as the information clearly requires further interrogation. Craigavon and Castlereagh Councils will be advised to respond within 10 days of the AQ being released.

Beach Safety By-laws

Mr Beggs asked the Minister of the Environment whether the by-laws, prepared by Larne Borough Council, to improve beach safety by regulating the use of seaside pleasure boats, such as jet skis, at designated bathing water beaches have been confirmed by his Department.

(AQW 13204/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has not received an application from Larne Borough Council regarding proposed bye-laws to regulate the use of seaside pleasure boats at designated bathing water beaches.

Runkerry Golf Resort

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment whether he has sought legal advice as to the possible consequences of halting the development of the golf resort at Runkerry to allow the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization to assess the possible impact of the development.

(AQW 13210/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The member will appreciate that my planning decision is before the High Court by way of Judicial Review. The case is listed for hearing on 27 November for 4 days. The member will appreciate that I am therefore constrained in what I can say, save that I am satisfied and content with the decision and the process around the decision.

Occupancy Restrictions

Mr Anderson asked the Minister of the Environment, for each of the last two years, to detail (i) how many applications have been made by financial institutions to remove an occupancy restriction; and (ii) how many were (a) approved; and (b) declined, broken down by divisional planning office.

(AQW 13213/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Policy CTY6 (Personal and Domestic Circumstances) of Planning Policy Statement 21 Sustainable Development in the Countryside allows for a dwelling to be permitted in the countryside for the long term needs of an applicant, where there are compelling and site specific reasons for this related to the applicant's personal or domestic circumstances.

All permissions granted under Policy CTY 6 will be subject to a condition restricting the occupation of the dwelling to a named individual and their dependents.

Policy CTY 7 (Dwellings for Non-Agricultural Business Enterprises) of Planning Policy Statement 21 states that planning permission will be granted for a dwelling in connection with an established non-agricultural business enterprise where a site specific need can be clearly demonstrated that makes it essential for one of the firm's employees to live at the site of their work.

Planning permission granted under Policy CTY7 will also be subject to a condition restricting occupation of the dwelling for the use of the business.

Article 28 of the 1991 Order provides for an application to develop land without compliance with conditions previously attached to a planning permission.

The Department does not have any records of a financial institution having submitted a planning application, in any of the Area Planning Offices, under Article 28 in each of the last two years to have a condition removed from a previous planning approval.

Table 1 shows the total number of planning applications approved for the removal of a planning condition under Article 28 in each of the last two years. These totals include applications for the removal of an occupancy condition.

Table 1: Article 28 approvals in each of the last 2 years

| Year       | Total No. of Article 28 ApplicationsApproved by DOE Planning |
|------------|--|
| 2010/2011  | 222  |
| 2011/2012* | 132  |

* The year 2011/2012 provides data up until 31 December 2011

I recognise that there are a number of cases where a personal occupancy condition has given rise to difficulties in securing a mortgage. I am looking at this issue and have asked to meet with the banks to identify how this impediment can be eased.

Litter

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment what measures are in place to ensure a consistent approach by councils in deterring people from dropping litter.

(AQW 13236/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Clean Neighbourhoods and Environment Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 provides district councils with stronger powers to deal more effectively with litter. The enforcement of these powers, including larger on the spot fines (fixed penalty notices) for littering offences, should deter people from dropping litter. Larger fines for litter offenders together with the stronger anti-litter laws generally should send out a strong message to people who litter to think about the quality of their environments. Larger fines should act as an effective deterrent against littering in the future. From 1st April 2012 councils can impose fines of up to £80 on people who litter – this is a significant increase on the previous £50.

It is a matter for each district council to determine its own policy with respect to the enforcement of anti-litter laws and the development of their local anti-litter strategies. However, to support councils, the Department has issued comprehensive guidance on the anti-litter laws and also specific guidance on the use of fixed penalty notices. This guidance should help district councils develop and improve their strategies for issuing fixed penalty notices for offences contrary to environmental law, including litter offences. The guidance should also help to improve the payment rates for fixed penalty notices and ultimately maximise their contribution to improving local environmental quality.

The use of fixed penalty notices is just one element of enforcement of environmental law in an effort to tackle environmental crime such as littering. It follows that there are other ways in which a district council can improve local environmental quality and reduce environmental crime: education, campaigns and improvements to street-scene services are just three examples of things that can play a part.

Over the coming years the Department will be monitoring the impact of the new anti-litter laws and the extent to which they are being enforced by councils and also in terms of improvements in local environmental cleanliness. Councils asked for the stronger new anti-litter powers and I fully expect councils to implement them in order to deter people from littering and to improve local environmental quality.

Listed Buildings

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment whether he will allocate additional grant aid for listed buildings of significant importance that require urgent repairs, where, for ethical reasons, Lottery grants cannot be accepted.

(AQW 13238/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department's listed buildings grant-aid scheme - for the repair and maintenance of historic fabric - is targeted at the listed building itself; historically (ie pre 2008) the higher grades of listed buildings received a higher level of grant-aid. The rate of grant-aid has now been standardised at 35%, ensuring a consistency of approach. However, in taking account of the needs of some owners, a higher level of grant-aid is available for those on certain qualifying benefits, and also to owners of thatched buildings for repair work to thatch roofs.

A review of the grant-aid policy is underway. This question has been raised in the past, and the Department has responded that it cannot vary consistency of approach in relation to the ethical stand of some owners. I will think further on the issue but need to ensure consistency and equality of approach.

There are other funding streams available, for example, the Funds for Historic Buildings (FFHB) website is a comprehensive guide to funding for anyone seeking to repair, restore or convert (for a new use) any historic building in the United Kingdom (excluding the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man) which is listed, scheduled or in a conservation area and of acknowledged historic merit. It includes details of virtually all substantive funding sources which specialise in historic buildings.

It also contains extended notes on selected topics and a variety of other more detailed information. You may find the attached link helpful <http://www.ffhb.org.uk/>

Beaches: Upkeep and Cleaning

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment why contracts for the upkeep and cleaning of beaches by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency, that were due to commence in April 2012, have been suspended.

(AQW 13252/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The only beaches for which the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) is responsible are those at Crawfordsburn Country Park (including Helen's Bay) and at Killard National Nature Reserve and Magilligan Point Nature Reserve.

NIEA sought to tender for site maintenance services so that a new contract would commence at the expiry on 31 March 2012 of the previous one. Tenders for these services were invited but, following the evaluation of the tenders and DFP's Central Procurement Directorate (CPD) publishing the intention to award the contract, several legal challenges were made to the processes employed by CPD in procuring the contract on behalf of NIEA. This resulted in CPD advising NIEA against awarding the contract to avoid facing subsequent legal writs and court cases and NIEA did not award the contract.

Crawfordsburn Beach

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment what measures are in place to ensure the cleaning and maintenance of Crawfordsburn Beach.

(AQW 13253/11-15)

Mr Attwood: From 1 April 2012 NIEA used its own Country Park staff to clean and maintain Crawfordsburn Beach and since 18 June 2012 it has availed of an existing generic Property Maintenance contract procured by DFP's Central Procurement Directorate to lift litter and dog foul and cut grass.

Beaches: Cleaning and Maintenance

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment when his Department intends to award contracts for the cleaning and maintenance of beaches.

(AQW 13254/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The only beaches for which the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) is responsible are those at Crawfordsburn Country Park (including Helen's Bay) and at Killard National Nature Reserve and Magilligan Point Nature Reserve.

NIEA is currently availing of an existing Property Maintenance contract let by DFP's Central Procurement Directorate (CPD) to lift litter and dog foul and cut grass, but is working with CPD to retender for maintenance services at the properties it manages. It is expected that new contracts will be in place by 1 April 2013.

Beaches: Cleaning and Maintenance

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment, in light of the suspension of contracts for the cleaning and maintenance of beaches, what consideration has been given to extending the existing contracts until the issue can be resolved.

(AQW 13255/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The previous contract for cleaning and maintenance services expired on 31 March 2012; it was both time-bound and included an expenditure ceiling which had almost been reached. Having been extended twice already, there was no scope for further extending the contract once it had expired.

Beaches: Cleaning and Maintenance

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment what interim measures are in place to ensure the cleaning of beaches whilst contracts for cleaning and maintenance are finalised.

(AQW 13256/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The only beaches for which the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) is responsible are those at Crawfordsburn Country Park (including Helen's Bay) and at Killard National Nature Reserve and Magilligan Point Nature Reserve.

From 1 April 2012 NIEA used its own staff to clean and maintain its properties and since 18 June 2012 it has been availing of an existing generic Property Maintenance contract previously procured by DFP's Central Procurement Directorate to lift litter and dog foul and cut grass at the two beaches in Crawfordsburn Country Park. NIEA continues to use its own staff to maintain and keep clean the other beaches in its care.

Beaches: Cleaning and Maintenance

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment whether the South Down coastline will be affected by the suspension of contracts for the cleaning and maintenance of beaches.

(AQW 13280/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Prior to 31 March 2012 when property service contracts expired, contractors were employed by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) to clean its properties, including a small number of beaches. Due to challenges to the procurement process, new contracts could not be let as planned and must be retendered.

The only beaches in the southern part of County Down which have been cleaned and maintained by NIEA are those at Killard National Nature Reserve at the mouth of Strangford Lough. These were cleaned about six times a year under the former contract which expired on 31 March 2012. No other beaches will be affected by the failure to let new contracts.

Since the expiry of the property maintenance contracts NIEA has been using - and will continue to use - its own staff and volunteers to clean and maintain the beaches at Killard until a new contract can be let. It is hoped that a high standard of cleanliness can be maintained, though the main beach is always subject to the washing up of flotsam and jetsam.

Beaches: Cleaning and Maintenance

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of the Environment, in light of the suspension of contracts for the cleaning and maintenance of beaches, what consideration has been given to extending the existing contracts until the issue is resolved.

(AQW 13281/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The previous contract for cleaning and maintenance services expired on 31 March 2012; it was both time-bound and included an expenditure ceiling which had almost been reached. Having been extended twice already, there was no scope for further extending the contract once it had expired.

DOE: Jubilee Garden Party

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) his Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13290/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I was allocated 4 tickets with a further 150 allocated to my Department for the event to celebrate The Queen's Diamond Jubilee. All staff were invited to express an interest and 196 did so seeking over 300 tickets. As this was greater than our allocation, a random selection process was implemented resulting in 48 staff receiving tickets at an average of 3 per person. No tickets were allocated to Arms Length Bodies.

Bushmills Dunes Golf Resort

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment to list the dates and methods of the consultations he has held with UNESCO on the Bushmills Dunes Golf Resort planning application.

(AQW 13401/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Your question refers to an issue which inter alia is before the High Court by way of a judicial review. That case is listed for hearing on 27 November for 4 days. The member will appreciate that I am therefore constrained in what I can say, save that I am satisfied and content with the decision and process around the decision.

Roads: Name Changes

Mr I McCrea asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the process for changing the name of a road.

(AQW 13405/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Article 11 of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) (Northern Ireland) Order 1995 sets out the powers of district councils in relation to street naming. (For the purposes of the legislation, the term "street" is defined as including a road).

The legislation does not provide councils with an explicit power to alter the name of a street (or road). The procedure to be undertaken by councils in changing the name of a street (or road) is not detailed in the legislation and is a matter for each individual council.

I am aiming to issue for consultation proposals on street names, which will include the issue of providing councils with explicit powers to rename streets, by the end of the year.

District Councils: Payment of Invoices

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to supplier invoices paid by councils during the 2011/12 financial year, to detail (i) the number of invoices paid; and (ii) how many invoices were paid (a) within 30 days; and (b) later than 30 days, following receipt of the supplier's invoice.

(AQW 13536/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The overall total of invoices paid by each council during the 2011/2012 financial year, plus the number paid both within and outside of 30 days, is provided in the attached table.

| Council | Total Noof invoices(i) | Paid within30 days(ii) (a) | Paid outsideof 30 days(ii) (b) |

Climate Change Adaptation Strategy

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment (i) what action his Department is taking to ensure that the built environment is adapted to changing climatic conditions; and (ii) whether he intends to introduce a climate change adaptation strategy.

(AQW 13548/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am taking a range of actions to ensure the built environment is adapted to climate change.

My Department jointly chairs a Stormwater Management Group with the Department for Regional Development. This Group is examining a range of approaches to stormwater management to assist in the development of more integrated and sustainable systems. A current pilot study in Ballyclare is exploring the benefits of the implementation of sustainable drainage systems within the catchment of the town.

I am considering legislation which will make it mandatory for new / retrospective planning applications to install open / soft engineering stormwater management systems.

By applying Planning Policy Statement (PPS) 15, which takes account of climate change, my Department adopts a precautionary approach to development in flood risk areas and seeks to avoid inappropriate development in these areas. In addition, Policy LC3 of the second addendum to PPS 7 encourages greater use of permeable paving within new residential developments so as to help reduce flash flooding from surface water run off.

In conjunction with the Rivers Agency in DARD my Department published guidance in December 2011 on the use of the Strategic Surface Water Flood Map.

I have commissioned research which will assist my officials in implementing an appropriate management response to the impacts of climate change on our cultural heritage. Owners of listed historic buildings have also been provided with advice and information on how to protect these buildings.

Most importantly, as you are aware, my Department is currently developing a Northern Ireland Adaptation Programme, which will be presented to the Executive in early 2013. This Programme, co-ordinated by my department, will further develop my Department's actions and provide a cross departmental response to the risks and opportunities identified in the Northern Ireland Climate Change Risk Assessment for the built environment.

Furthermore, work is at an early stage in the preparation of a single planning policy document for the north. Its preparation will require a fresh look across all areas of planning policy, including climate change.

Consequently, I have no current plans to introduce a climate change adaptation strategy.

Marine Bill

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQO 2188/11-15, to detail under what specific circumstances his Department would need to use the powers, proposed by Clause 24 of the Marine Bill, to make byelaws, given that there are similar byelaw making powers provided by Article 21 of the Nature Conservation and Amenity Lands (NI) Order 1985.

(AQW 13710/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Byelaws under Article 21 of the Nature Conservation and Amenity Lands (NI) Order 1985 are intended to manage activities which are not subject to regulation or control by other public bodies, and are potentially damaging to the features of a Marine Nature Reserve (MNR). In this context an example of an activity which could be managed through a byelaw could be the use of anchors or moorings which drag on the seabed due to strong tides or currents. These objects could be detrimental to a seabed habitat. Another example could be to restrict the use or speed of jet skis near a seal haul out area during the breeding season.

Marine Conservation Zones (MCZs), legislated for under the Marine Bill, are intended to replace MNRs designated under the Nature Conservation and Amenity Lands (NI) Order 1985. All MNR provisions, including byelaw making powers under Article 21 of this Order will therefore be repealed by the Marine Bill.

The Marine Bill will provide the Department powers to designate and manage MCZs. Management measures include the introduction of byelaws as set out in Clause 24 of the Bill.

Department of Finance and Personnel

DFP: Junk Mail

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel why civil servants have been receiving unsolicited emails to their work computers promoting the Lófa campaign, along with a promotional newsletter; and what is the relevant departmental policy on junk mail.

(AQW 11329/11-15)

Mr Wilson (The Minister of Finance and Personnel): The internal Northern Ireland Civil Service e-mail system is used by departments to distribute information about events and issues that are relevant to their work, as well as more general information about health related issues, appeals from charitable organisations, transport issues etc. Individual departments are responsible for the material that they issue. IT Assist, which is responsible for maintenance of the e-mail system, uses a system for the detection of e-mails which may contain unwanted content that could present a security risk or contain undesirable content to prevent such e-mails from reaching Northern Ireland Civil Service addresses.

Currency Fluctuations

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, in relation to EU funding, to detail how much Departments gained from the currency fluctuation between Sterling and Euro in 2010/11; and what became of any such gains.

(AQW 12910/11-15)

Mr Wilson: In 2010/11 the total nett value of exchange rate gains on EU Structural Funds' Programmes was £ 1,399,929.65. Nett gains are returned to the Centre as a Reduced Requirement.

DfP: Jubilee Garden Party

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) his Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13118/11-15)

Mr Wilson: I did not receive any tickets as Minister for Finance and Personnel for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012. 150 tickets were allocated to the Department and its arm's length bodies.

Rates Collection: Legal Fees

Mr D Bradley asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how much his Department has spent on legal fees in relation to Rates' debt collection.

(AQW 13125/11-15)

Mr Wilson: If a ratepayer has not paid their rate bill, or made contact with LPS to agree a payment arrangement after the issue of a bill and a final demand, LPS has little option but to take forward Court proceedings to recover the money owing.

LPS is obliged to pay fees to the NI Courts & Tribunals Service for the different stages of the legal proceedings, including for issue of a Court Process, the granting of a Court Decree, the issue of a Notice of Intention to Enforce Debt, and Enforcement Fees. These charges are added to ratepayers' bills, and therefore become part of the recoverable amount.

Payments are made to the Courts & Tribunals Service by LPS at the time that the actions are taken and are then recovered from ratepayers in due course. Given the daily movements in individual rate accounts, and the time differences in payment to the Courts and recovery of the money, it is not possible to provide an accurate figure for the net (unrecovered) legal costs in any period. The figures in the table below are therefore the total figures paid by LPS to the Courts & Tribunals Service.

| Year    | Payment by LPS to Courts & Tribunals Service |
|---------|--|
| 2010/11 | £2,654,959.75                                |
| 2011/12 | £3,216,079.30                                |

In addition, LPS also incurs professional legal costs in relation to cases pursued through the High Court Chancery Division. The figures in the table below are therefore the total figures paid by LPS to Crown Solicitor's Office in relation to such cases.

| Year    | Payment by LPS to Crown Solicitor's Office |
|---------|--|
| 2010/11 | £254,775.94                                |
| 2011/12 | £344,092.38                                |

LPS also incurs additional staff costs in pursuing recovery of unpaid rates. These costs form part of the cost of rate collection and are therefore paid from the district and regional rates – in effect, by all ratepayers.

I would stress that no recovery costs would exist if all ratepayers paid their rates in a timely manner, or if in difficulty contacted LPS to agree a payment arrangement.

Legal Profession

Mr Dallat asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what arrangements are in place to ensure that members of the legal profession deliver the highest standards of service to the public.

(AQW 13313/11-15)

Mr Wilson: All members of the legal profession in Northern Ireland are subject to codes of conduct and professional service set out by the relevant professional body.

Legislation (the Solicitors (Northern Ireland) Order 1976 as amended), together with Practice Regulations made by the Law Society, set out the standards to which solicitors in Northern Ireland must adhere in relation to their practices and their duties to their clients.

Barristers are similarly bound by a code of conduct and other professional service regulations as set out by the Bar Council and the Inn of Court of Northern Ireland.

Rate Relief Exemptions

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many applications for rate relief exemptions have been received since the introduction of the rating of empty homes scheme in the (i) Ards Borough Council; and (ii) North Down Borough Council areas. (AQW 13333/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Since the introduction of the Rating of Empty Homes scheme on 1st October 2011 there have been 139 applications for rate relief exemptions for the Ards Borough Council Area, and 147 applications for rate relief exemptions for the North Down Borough Council Area.

Marriages and Civil Partnerships (Approved Premises) (Amendment) Regulations 2011

Ms Lo asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel whether he has any plans to consult on introducing legislation similar to the Marriages and Civil Partnerships (Approved Premises) (Amendment) Regulations 2011, in England and Wales, which effectively allows churches to officiate at Civil Partnerships if they wish.

(AQW 13373/11-15)

Mr Wilson: My Department has no plans to consult on legislation similar to the Marriages and Civil Partnerships (Approved Premises)(Amendment) Regulations 2011.

DfP: Disposal of Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13385/11-15)

Mr Wilson: My Department intends to dispose of the following properties over the next three years:

| 2012-13                        | 2013-14                       | 2014-15        |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|----------------|
| 1a Belt Road, Londonderry      | 2-14 George Street, Ballymena | Rosepark House |
| Northland House, Belfast       | Hospital Road, Omagh          |                |
| 35-39 Bridge Street, Ballymena | 4-6 Killane Road, Limavady    |                |

My Department will also continue to carry out a rolling IT asset refresh programme which forms part of a planned disposal and replacement schedule. Similarly there will be a smaller number of other assets that will be disposed of in the course of normal business.

District Councillors

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, pursuant 12192/11-15, whether the paid leave is in addition to the annual allowance paid to all councillors.

(AQW 13386/11-15)

Mr Wilson: No, if payment, other than for reimbursement of expenses is offered, civil servants should choose to either accept the payment and apply for special leave without pay to enable them to carry out the required duties or decline the payment and apply for special leave with pay.

London Inter-bank Offered Rate

Dr McDonnell asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel what aspects of public finances are linked to, or influenced by, the London Inter-bank Offered Rate.

(AQW 13443/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The London Inter-bank Offered Rate, or LIBOR, is a key factor which impacts on the rate at which banks are willing to lend to both businesses and individuals. While the availability of finance at affordable terms is strategically a very important issue, and vital to our economic recovery, Northern Ireland's public finances are not directly linked to or influenced by LIBOR.

NICS: Secondment

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the number of people on secondment by grade (i) into each Department; (ii) out of each Department; (iii) the length of the secondment; and (iv) the purpose of each secondment, over the last ten years.

(AQW 13469/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The information requested is not held centrally by Departments and to access and collate it would incur disproportionate cost. Under departmental disposal schedules, many related files have been destroyed. It would not, therefore, be possible to provide information for the full ten year period.

NICS: Secondment

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to list the average annual cost of each secondment into and out of each Department over the last ten years.

(AQW 13470/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The information requested is not held centrally by Departments and to access and collate it would incur disproportionate cost. Under departmental disposal schedules, many related files have been destroyed. It would not, therefore, be possible to provide information for the full ten year period.

2011 Census

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel when the 2011 Census will be published.

(AQW 13519/11-15)

Mr Wilson: Because of the breadth of information to be provided, the results from the 2011 Census will be published in a number of releases over the coming months. The first output, which will provide a breakdown of the usually resident population of Northern Ireland on Census Day by age and sex, will be published on 16 July 2012. A detailed release schedule for all of the planned outputs is available in the Census Output Prospectus which is published on the website of the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (www.nisra.gov.uk).

Security Staff: Guaranteed Overtime

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel (i) for an estimate of the legal costs to his Department of defending proceedings taken by security staff in relation to guaranteed overtime; and (ii) why his Department defended the proceedings given that its own documentation established that such overtime was built into the contract.

(AQW 13532/11-15)

Mr Wilson: No information is yet available in relation to the total legal costs for this case.

The Department took the decision to defend the claims on the basis of legal advice and the fact that, following the withdrawal of the first case at hearing, the second case had, previously, been dismissed by the County Court.

Security Staff: Guaranteed Overtime

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel for an estimate of (i) the number of security staff who will benefit from the recent successful legal proceedings taken by security staff in relation to guaranteed overtime; (ii) the cost of compensation and back payments.

(AQW 13533/11-15)

Mr Wilson: A judgement has been issued in respect of an individual Plaintiff and the Department is considering the wider impact, if any, for other staff. Until such issues have been finally determined information on the numbers of staff affected or the cost of compensation and back payments is not available.

Empty Premises Relief Scheme

Mr Rogers asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel how many applications for Empty Premises Relief have been received for the (i) Newry and Mourne; (ii) Down; and (iii) Banbridge Council areas to date; how many of these applications have been approved.

(AQW 13560/11-15)

Mr Wilson: At 9th July 2012, applications for Empty Premises Relief have been received by Land & Property Services for the requested areas are as follows: Newry & Mourne 7; Down 2; and Banbridge 1.

Two applications from the Newry & Mourne council area met the criteria, however, the applications from both Down and Banbridge were not successful.

Unoccupied Non-domestic Properties

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to detail the number of unoccupied non-domestic properties in each of the last three years, broken down by council area.

(AQW 13581/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The number of vacant non-domestic properties in each Council area as at 31st March 2010, 31st March 2011 and 31st March 2012 is given in the table overleaf.

| District Council  | Vacant Non-Domestic Properties as at 31 March 2010 | Vacant Non-Domestic Properties as at 31 March 2011 | Vacant Non-Domestic Properties as at 31 March 2012 |

Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety

Prescription Waiting Times: Royal Victoria Hospital

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety why outpatients at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast, have to wait up to six hours to receive their medication and be discharged from hospital compared with outpatients at the Belfast City Hospital who can collect their medication and be discharged immediately.

(AQW 13341/11-15)

Mr Poots (The Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety): The Royal Victoria Hospital's average time to process a prescription is 82 minutes with 75% dispensed within the 120 min target, whereas Belfast City Hospital's average time to process a prescription is 91 minutes with 76% dispensed within the 120 min target.

A number of factors can influence patient waiting times including the availability of the doctor to write the prescription, pressure on pharmacy services and complexity of the individual prescription. I have been advised by the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust that it is currently reviewing the situation and taking appropriate action to comply with the target.

Muscular Dystrophy

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety when a nurse who specialises in muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular conditions will be appointed.

(AQW 13378/11-15)

Mr Poots: I refer the member to my response to AQW 12947/11 on 2 July 2012.

DHSSPS: Disposal of Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13384/11-15)

Mr Poots: It is intended that the following DHSSPS capital assets (land and property) will be disposed of in each of next three financial years:

|   | Financial Year 2012/13                               |
|---|---|
| 1 | 149 Falls Road, Belfast                                     |
| 2 | 151 Falls Road, Belfast                                     |
| 3 | Braniel Health Clinic, Glen Road, Belfast                   |
| 4 | 137-141 Ormeau Road, Belfast                                |
| 5 | St Dymphna's Cemetery, Downpatrick                          |
| 6 | Site at Market Street, Downpatrick                          |
| 7 | Land at Plot 13, T & F Hospital Site, Crevenagh Road, Omagh |

|   | Financial Year 2013/14                |
|---|--|
| 1 | Glasvey Special Care School, Ballykelly      |
| 2 | Land at Downshire Hospital site, Downpatrick |
| 3 | Land at Drumcoo Derrygore Road, Enniskillen  |

|   | Financial Year 2014/15                |
|---|--|
| 1 | Land at T & F Hospital Site, Omagh           |
| 2 | Land at Whiteabbey Hospital Site, Whiteabbey |
| 3 | Land at Gransha Hospital Site, Londonderry   |

Psychosexual Counselling

Mr B McCreagh asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many people have received psychosexual counselling in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13391/11-15)

Mr Poots: Information on the number of people who have received psychosexual counselling in each of the last three years is not available centrally and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Domiciliary Care: Western Health and Social Care Trust

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the total legal costs attributable to the defence of the decision to award contracts to four domiciliary care providers in the Western Health and Social Care Trust in June 2011; and whether any costs were paid to the providers who successfully challenged the award of these contracts.

(AQW 13408/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Trust received four individual legal challenges. The combined cost of dealing with the defence of the four cases was £70,726 including VAT and disbursements. One case was withdrawn and three were settled. The terms of settlement are confidential as between the parties and their legal advisors.

Domiciliary Care: Western Health and Social Care Trust

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the total cost of the procurement process, including any costs attributable to tendering or decision making, which led to the appointment of four domiciliary care providers in the Western Health and Social Care Trust in June 2011.

(AQW 13409/11-15)

Mr Poots: The homecare tender project has a dedicated resource of one Project Manager, appointed on 1st March 2009 at an annual cost of approximately £40,000. The evaluation and decision-making responsibilities fell to Trust officers as part of their routine roles within the Trust. No additional cost was therefore entailed. The tender process was facilitated by the 'e-bravo' electronic tender system hosted by the Business Services Organisation's Procurement and Logistics Service (PaLS), who also provided guidance as required. Again, this was within the substantive role of PaLS and incurred no additional costs.

Domiciliary Care: Western Health and Social Care Trust

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how the new procurement process will be taken forward following the successful challenge by providers over the decision to award contracts to four domiciliary care providers in the Western Health and Social Care Trust in June 2011.

(AQW 13410/11-15)

Mr Poots: The process will be taken forward by a new tender which will be undertaken in accordance with Public Procurement Regulations 2006 (as amended). As such, it will be advertised in the Official Journal of the E.U. via the "open" procedure.

Duchenne's Muscular Dystrophy

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what plans he has to establish a centre of excellence for sufferers of Duchenne's Muscular Dystrophy.

(AQW 13427/11-15)

Mr Poots: There are currently no plans to establish such a centre of excellence in Northern Ireland. However, I have asked my officials to collaborate with the Health and Social Care Board in considering the findings and recommendations of the All Party Working Group on Muscular Dystrophy's "The McCollum Report: Access to specialist neuromuscular care in Northern Ireland", which was launched on 3 July, and report back to me.

Duchenne's Muscular Dystrophy

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what action he is taking to alleviate the suffering of those diagnosed with Duchenne's Muscular Dystrophy.

(AQW 13428/11-15)

Mr Poots: Following diagnosis, people with Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy are referred to the Special Regional Muscle Clinic at Belfast City Hospital. This is a generic, all-age neuromuscular clinic at Belfast City Hospital held twice monthly, which has input from Adult and Paediatric Neurologists, an Orthopaedic Surgeon, and Consultant Geneticist. The clinic also provides therapy from Allied Health Profession staff, including physiotherapy, occupational therapy, and orthoptics. The Muscular Dystrophy Campaign officer also attends to provide family support.

In addition, the Belfast Trust has recently advertised for a new Neuromuscular Nurse Specialist Post, which will cover both adults and children and will have a greater clinical focus. This will establish a nurse-led service that could potentially review patients in their own home as well as in hospital.

Mourneside Family Practice, Ballycolman Avenue, Strabane

Ms Boyle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients (i) are registered with the Mourneside Family Practice, Ballycolman Avenue, Strabane; and (ii) have attended the practice in the last twelve months.

(AQW 13429/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) There were 10,780 patients registered with Practice 601, Mourneside Family Practice, Ballycolman Avenue, Strabane as at 1st April 2012.
- (ii) The information requested is not available centrally.

Mourneside Family Practice, Ballycolman Avenue, Strabane

Ms Boyle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many car-parking spaces are available to members of the public accessing the Mourneside Family Practice, Ballycolman Avenue, Strabane.

(AQW 13430/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Mourneside Family Practice, on Ballycolman Avenue in Strabane, is not a Western Health and Social Care Trust facility but is a General Practitioner owned practice.

I can confirm, however, that there are 20 public car parking spaces available to the public at this practice.

Western Urgent Care: Out-of-hours Services

Ms Boyle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many telephone contacts were received by the Western Urgent Care Out of Hours service; and to list the the location of these contacts, broken down by district council area.

(AQW 13431/11-15)

Mr Poots: The number of telephone contacts received by the Western Urgent Care Out of Hours service during the year April 2011 – March 2012 is shown in the table below. Figures are allocated to District Council area based on the location of the clinician; it should be noted that this may differ from the location of the patient making the call. Information on the location of the patient is not available centrally.

The figures include all telephone contacts regardless of the outcome, so will include patients who were asked to attend the OOH centre or who received a home visit, as well as those who received telephone advice.

Table 1: Number of telephone contacts received by the Western Urgent Care Out of Hours service, April 2011 – March 2012.

| District Council Area | Out of Hours Centre    | Number of Telephone Contacts |
|-----------------------|------------------------|------------------------------|
| Derry                 | Altnagelvin OOH Centre | 46624                        |
| Limavady              | Limavady OOH Centre    | 10313                        |
| Strabane              | Strabane OOH Centre    | 12397                        |
| Omagh                 | Omagh OOH Centre       | 21348                        |
| Fermanagh             | Enniskillen OOH Centre | 19517                        |

Western Urgent Care: Out-of-hours Services

Ms Boyle asked inister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients were seen at each of the Out of Hours centres in the Western Urgent Care area in the last year.

(AQW 13432/11-15)

Mr Poots: The number of patients seen at each of the Out of Hours centres in the Western Urgent Care area during the year April 2011 – March 2012 is shown in the table below.

Table 1: Number of patients seen at each of the Out of Hours centres in the Western Urgent Care area, April 2011 – March 2012.

| Out of Hours Centre    | Number of Attendances |
|------------------------|-----------------------|
| Altnagelvin OOH Centre | 23,717                |
| Limavady OOH Centre    | 5,448                 |
| Strabane OOH Centre    | 6,638                 |
| Omagh OOH Centre       | 10,440                |
| Enniskillen OOH Centre | 9,933                 |

Western Urgent Care: Out-of-hours Services

Ms Boyle asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many patients have been advised, upon telephone contact with Western Urgent Care, to attend the Out of Hours Service in Strabane within the last year.

(AQW 13433/11-15)

Mr Poots: During the year April 2011 – March 2012, 6,638 patients attended the Out of Hours Service in Strabane. The majority of these patients will have been advised to attend the Out of Hours service following telephone contact with Western Urgent Care, however the figure also includes patients who attended the centre without first telephoning Western Urgent Care, but these numbers are very small.

Rathlin Island: Nursing Accommodation

Mr McKay asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety if there are plans to downgrade the nursing accommodation on Rathlin Island and whether any assessment has been made of the impact this would have on overnight nursing care on the island.

(AQW 13446/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Health and Social Care Trust is responsible for the provision of nursing accommodation on Rathlin Island. I have been advised by the Trust that as the accommodation previously rented is no longer available, and having considered a number of suitable alternatives, the Trust is now renting a new treatment room, office accommodation and living quarters in the newly refurbished Richard Branson Centre.

The new accommodation arrangement, which came into effect on 29 June, fully meets the treatment room requirements and the needs of a member of nursing staff required to stay overnight.

Communication Advice Centre Assessments

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for his assessment of the current waiting times for communication advice centre assessments.

(AQW 13455/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Communication Advice Centre regional service at Musgrave Park Hospital has seen a significant increase in referral numbers. This increase has created a capacity and demand gap leading to a waiting list backlog.

In order to address this, the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust and the Public Health Agency are actively finalising recurrent monies to help decrease the capacity gap and, in the intervening period, they are seeking to recruit temporary staff to help address the backlog.

Dyslexia Glasses

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether his Department has any plans to make dyslexia glasses available through the Health Service.

(AQW 13456/11-15)

Mr Poots: The prescribing of tinted glasses for dyslexia is currently not provided for by the Department under the General Ophthalmic Services framework. Whilst some evidence exists for the provision of tints for certain learning difficulties, the current evidence base for the prescribing of tints for dyslexia is deemed insufficient to permit provision under General Ophthalmic Services. The Health and Social Care Board only contract primary eye care services within the current General Ophthalmic Services framework.

Ulster Hospital: Cancer Services

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what plans are in place to upgrade cancer services at the Ulster Hospital, Dundonald.

(AQW 13468/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Ulster Hospital is one of five cancer units in Northern Ireland that manage patients with more common cancers and provide local chemotherapy services. Services are currently provided in the MacDermott Unit.

A major capital investment programme (Phase A) has been completed at the Ulster Hospital. Enabling works have commenced on a second phase of redevelopment, (referred to as Phase B). The MacDermott unit upgrade, whilst forming part of the longer term redevelopment strategy for the hospital, is not included in current plans for the Budget 2010 period. This project is subject to on-going review in the light of emerging priorities and as the proposals in Transforming Your Care are taken forward.

HSC: Re-evaluated and Upgraded Posts

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail how many posts have been re-evaluated and upgraded over the last five years, broken down by each Trust.

(AQW 13472/11-15)

Mr Poots: There have been a total of 1,696 non-medical posts in the Health and Social Care that have been upgraded as a result of re-evaluation in the last five years. 502 of these were in Belfast HSC Trust, 289 in the Northern HSC Trust, 258 in the South Eastern HSC Trust, 377 in the Southern HSC Trust, 263 in the Western HSC Trust and 7 in the NI Ambulance Services Trust.

HSC: Voluntary Early Retirements

Mr McNarry asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the Voluntary Early Retirements in all Health and Social Care Trusts over the last twelve months including the cost and savings achieved.

(AQW 13475/11-15)

Mr Poots: There have been a total of 86 Voluntary Early Retirements in the Health and Social Care Trusts in the period 1 July 2011 to 30 June 2012. The total cost was £4,859,524 and the total savings that will be achieved as a result of these early retirements is £6,628,141 over the payback period.

A breakdown of this information by Trust is as follows:

- Belfast HSC Trust: 19: cost £1.5m, savings of £1.5m;
- Northern HSC Trust: 34: cost £1,157,427, savings of £2,740,680;
- South Eastern HSC Trust: 8: cost £443,971, savings of £420,173;
- Southern HSC Trust: 21: cost £1,473,923, savings of £1,682,185;
- Western HSC Trust: 4: cost of £284,203, savings of £285,103.

There have been no Voluntary Early Retirements in the NI Ambulance Service Trust over the last twelve months.

Cyberknife SBRT Treatment

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many people have been referred for Cyberknife SBRT treatment in each of the last five years.

(AQW 13476/11-15)

Mr Poots: I have been advised by the Health and Social Care Board that information on the number of people referred for CyberKnife Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy treatment in the 2007 calendar year is not available.

Information on the number of people who have been referred for CyberKnife Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy treatment, during each calendar year since 2008, is detailed in the table below:

| Year | No. of people referred for CyberKnife SBRT treatment |
|------|--|
| 2008 | 8  |
| 2009 | 21   |
| 2010 | 30   |
| 2011 | 3  |

GP in Ederney, Co Fermanagh

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) for an update on his Department's efforts to secure a permanent GP in Ederney, Co Fermanagh; (ii) when the recruitment of a new permanent GP will begin; and (iii) when the local community can expect a new permanent GP to take up the post.

(AQW 13535/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) The Health and Social Care Board (HSCB) convened a group consisting of members of the HSCB, the Local Medical Committee, the Local Commissioning Group and the Patient and Client Council on 7th June 2012 to address issues around the running of the Ederney Practice in the short term and to assist in the long term future of the Practice.
- (ii) A recruitment process has commenced following agreement at the meeting on 7th June.
- (iii) It is anticipated that a new permanent GP would take up post in autumn 2012.

Cancer Prevention, Treatment and Care

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) whether the Service Frameworks Programme Board has approved the implementation plan for the Service Framework for Cancer Prevention, Treatment and Care; and (ii) when the updated Framework will be published on his Department's website.

(AQW 13537/11-15)

Mr Poots: The implementation plan for the Service Framework for Cancer Prevention, Treatment and Care was considered by the Service Frameworks Programme Board, chaired by the Chief Medical Officer, in March 2012.

While significant progress had been made in the implementation of the Framework, a number of Key Performance Indicators still required baseline auditing. It was agreed therefore that further development of the plan was warranted and a revised Implementation Plan should be developed and submitted to the Service Frameworks Programme Board at its September 2012 meeting. It is expected that an updated version of the Framework will be published on my Department's website thereafter.

Bowel Cancer Screening Programme

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what consideration has been given to further developments in the Bowel Cancer Screening Programme, including (i) the extension of the upper-age range; (ii) the incorporation of flexible sigmoidoscopy; and (iii) the replacement of the current fecal occult blood test with the Fecal Immunochemical Test.

(AQW 13538/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) The Bowel Cancer Screening Programme, when launched in 2010, was offered to eligible men and women aged 60-69. In April 2012 it was extended to include men and women aged 60-71. The Programme for Government 2011-15, includes a commitment to extend the age range for bowel cancer screening up to age 74 across all Trust areas from April 2014.
- (ii) The Advisory Committee on Bowel Cancer Screening in England is currently establishing a flexible sigmoidoscopy pilot. The pilot is expected to commence in winter/early spring 2013 and will test the IT system in terms of supporting the programme and consider staffing models for future roll out. I will await the outcome of this pilot before making a decision on introducing flexible sigmoidoscopy to the Northern Ireland Bowel Cancer Screening Programme.
- (iii) In Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales the faecal occult blood test (FOBT) is sent to individuals to complete at home. Those who receive an 'unclear' result are then sent a faecal immunochemical test (FIT) to complete.

There have been concerns about the stability of some FIT tests and work is ongoing to improve reliability. The Advisory Committee for Bowel Cancer Screening is planning to pilot the FIT test as the primary screening test in 2014/2015. I will await the outcome of this pilot before making a decision to replace the FOBT.

National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence Guidance

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in light of the publication of circular HSC (SQSD) NICE 04/11 in September 2011, whether the timescales are being achieved for (i) the endorsement of National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) guidance; and (ii) commissioning endorsed NICE guidance.

(AQW 13539/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) Since the publication of circular HSC (SQSD) NICE 04/11, my Department has endorsed almost all Technology Appraisals and the majority of Clinical Guidelines published by NICE within the required timescales.
- (ii) Where new treatments were commissioned, the majority of commissioning plans for Technology Appraisals and Board responses for Clinical Guidelines have been submitted to my Department by the HSC Board within the required timescales.

National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence Guidance

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in light of the publication of circular HSC (SQSD) NICE 04/11 in September 2011, what measures are in place to ensure that patients can access effective treatments in the period between the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence approval and his Department approving the commissioning plan for the Technology Appraisal.

(AQW 13540/11-15)

Mr Poots: For cancer drugs commissioning arrangements for 2012/13 have been agreed including drugs that have been approved by NICE at final draft or final stage but not yet endorsed for use in Northern Ireland. Funding will be on a cost per case basis. Trusts are required to submit a request in respect of each patient in advance of treatment commencing.

A Medicines Management Commissioning Team has been established which met for the first time in early July. This team will play a key role in ensuring that commissioning arrangements for all new drugs in Northern Ireland are robust, transparent and facilitate timely access to evidence-based treatments.

National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence Guidance

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (i) when he will receive the first annual report from the Health and Social Care Board on the progress in commissioning services in accordance with the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence guidance endorsed by his Department, as stated in HSC (SQSD) NICE 04/11; and (ii) whether the report will be published.

(AQW 13541/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) The first progress report is expected to be submitted to my Department in April 2013 and will cover the 18 month period from the start of the new process for Endorsement, Implementation, Monitoring and Assurance of NICE Technology Appraisals and Clinical Guidelines in Northern Ireland. The HSC Board will report annually thereafter.
- (ii) It is intended that the first and subsequent reports will be published.

Foyle Search and Rescue: Funding

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant AQW 13350/11-15, to detail (i) why his Department does not fund Foyle Search and Rescue given its remit towards public safety and the recent launch of the refreshed Protect Life Strategy; and (ii) whether he will give consideration to providing financial support to Foyle Search and Rescue.

(AQW 13547/11-15)

Mr Poots: The funding of individual groups to provide suicide prevention services is an operational issue and is not, therefore, addressed under the refreshed Protect Life Strategy. However, the Strategy contains an action on supporting community-based suicide prevention and bereavement support initiatives. In taking forward this action, the Public Health Agency (PHA) provides funding for community-led initiatives. Foyle Search and Rescue has been allocated £175,600 by the PHA under Protect Life over the period 2007-2013, including £25,000 in the current financial year. The organisation has also received £17,411 from the PHA through the CLEAR project's small grants scheme.

Hospitals and Care Homes: Care for Older People

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what measures he is taking to ensure dignity in the care for older people in hospitals and care homes.

(AQW 13567/11-15)

Mr Poots: The concept of treating all patients, irrespective of their age or any disability, with dignity and respect at all times is integral to the training of all healthcare professionals. All registered professions have very clear Codes of Conduct built into the regulatory requirements, and all registrants must maintain those standards in order to remain on their professional register.

Hospitals and Care Homes: Care for People with a Learning Disability

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what measures he is taking to ensure dignity in the care for people with a learning disability in hospitals and care homes.

(AQW 13568/11-15)

Mr Poots: The concept of treating all patients, irrespective of their age or any disability, with dignity and respect at all times is integral to the training of all healthcare professionals. All registered professions have very clear Codes of Conduct built into the regulatory requirements, and all registrants must maintain those standards in order to remain on their professional register.

Hospital and Care Homes: Abuse

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what measures he is taking to ensure that older people do not suffer abuse in hospital or care home settings.

(AQW 13569/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department, in conjunction with other agencies, continues to develop measures aimed at safeguarding all vulnerable adults, including older people and people with a learning disability, in hospitals and care homes. Such measures include:

- Implementing the changes to disclosure and barring arrangements for preventing unsuitable individuals from working with vulnerable groups;
- Development of a service framework for the health and wellbeing of older people; and
- Development of a safeguarding vulnerable adults training programme targeted at the voluntary, community and independent sectors.

In addition, the Health and Social Care Board, together with the Northern Ireland Adult Safeguarding Partnership (NIASP):

- Launched a training DVD which addresses the phenomenon of abuse of vulnerable adults in care settings;
- Are reviewing current regional adult protection operating policies and procedural guidance by the NIASP;
- Are planning a conference aimed at the acute sector, including hospitals, which will focus on adult safeguarding and will take place later this year.

Hospital and Care Homes: Abuse

Mr McCarthy asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what measures he is taking to ensure that people with a learning disability do not suffer abuse in hospital or care home settings.

(AQW 13570/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department, in conjunction with other agencies, continues to develop measures aimed at safeguarding all vulnerable adults, including older people and people with a learning disability, in hospitals and care homes. Such measures include:

- Implementing the changes to disclosure and barring arrangements for preventing unsuitable individuals from working with vulnerable groups;
- Development of a service framework for the health and wellbeing of older people; and

- Development of a safeguarding vulnerable adults training programme targeted at the voluntary, community and independent sectors.

In addition, the Health and Social Care Board, together with the Northern Ireland Adult Safeguarding Partnership (NIASP):

- Launched a training DVD which addresses the phenomenon of abuse of vulnerable adults in care settings;
- Are reviewing current regional adult protection operating policies and procedural guidance by the NIASP;
- Are planning a conference aimed at the acute sector, including hospitals, which will focus on adult safeguarding and will take place later this year.

Future of Adult Care

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to outline the reasons for the delay in publishing the discussion paper on The Future of Adult Care and Support in Northern Ireland; and for his assessment of the impact of this delay. (AQW 13571/11-15)

Mr Poots: It is widely accepted that issues such as an ageing population, increased public expectations and a difficult financial climate are putting adult social care provision in Northern Ireland under increasing pressure. If we are to meet the challenges that these issues present, change is needed, and that is why I have committed to a three stage process of reform to identify the future direction of adult social care.

Reform of this scale poses a significant challenge, and while I recognise there has been some delay in publishing the first stage in the reform process, it is important that we take the time to ensure that the discussion document covers all the key issues, and is capable of promoting meaningful discussion and debate. It is my intention to publish the discussion document before the end of August, which will be followed by an extensive consultation phase aimed at reaching as many people as possible.

Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy Treatment Equipment

Mr McDevitt asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, pursuant to 13163/11-15, to detail the type of cancers that were treated by Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy Treatment. (AQW 13572/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Health and Social Care Board have informed me that information on the types of cancer that were treated with Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy Treatment is not collected centrally, and can only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

Sterile Water

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in light of the pseudomonas investigation, what conclusion has the Department reached on the cost of using sterile water compared to using Point-of-Use filters. (AQW 13588/11-15)

Mr Poots: RQIA's interim and final reports of the Independent Review of Incidents of Pseudomonas aeruginosa Infection in Neonatal Units in Northern Ireland recommended that sterile water should be used when washing all babies in neonatal care (Levels 1, 2 and 3) and that this should be kept under review in relation to babies in Level 3 neonatal units (Special Care Baby Units) as new evidence emerges.

The Department has not costed the use of sterile water.

Passported Benefits

Mr McCallister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the passported benefits for which his Department has responsibility, including (i) the total of each benefit paid; and (ii) the number of recipients, in each of the last five years. (AQW 13607/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department is responsible for the following passported benefits: free Health Service dental treatment; free Health Service sight tests; vouchers towards the cost of glasses or contact lenses, the payment of necessary travel costs to hospital for Health Service treatment; and the Healthy Start Voucher scheme. Further information on these passported benefits is set out in the tables below:

| Benefit  | Total paid2007/08£m | Total paid2008/09£m | Total paid2009/10£m | Total paid2010/11£m | Total paid2011/12£m |

- 3 Responsibility for the delivery of this service transferred to the Business Services Organisation (BSO) in April 2010, it is not possible to provide activity figures for the period before this date. However, based upon expenditure information, it could be assumed that activity levels in 2007/08 to 2009/10 were broadly similar to those reported in 2010/11 & 2011/12.

Northern Health and Social Care Trust: Hospital Network

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety, in relation to the creation of the Hospital network in the Northern Health and Social Care Trust area and the assessment of need for a new hospital, when such an assessment will be made and whether the assessment will be made on the basis of clinical need.

(AQW 13608/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Northern Health and Social Care Trust Draft Population Plan, as do all Trusts' draft Plans, sets out an assessment of the needs of its local population and how those needs are to be delivered.

Draft Population Plans together with a draft Strategic Implementation Plan have now been published on my Department's website and will be subject to quality assurance and further engagement with clinical leaders over the summer months. All of these draft Plans include proposals for hospital configuration to ensure that acute services adhere to best practice in terms of quality outcomes, infrastructure and staffing and that they are safe, resilient and sustainable based on clinical assessment. No decisions have yet been made in relation to the future hospital configuration, including services in the Northern Trust area.

These plans are only proposals and it is appropriate that the material which has been produced is considered carefully. Once finalised, all Plans will be subject to formal consultation, over the autumn, which will ensure that people are informed and engaged in shaping the future for the health and care sector. Further public consultation would be undertaken on any significant service changes being proposed in light of conclusions on the Strategic Implementation Plan and Populations Plans.

MRI Scanners

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety how many MRI scanners were available, at each acute hospital, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13616/11-15)

Mr Poots: The numbers of MRI scanners which were available, at acute hospitals, in each of the last three years are as follows:

| Acute Hospital | 2012 | 2011 | 2010 |

Acute Hospitals: Funding

Mr Campbell asked Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the total level of funding allocated to each acute hospital across the 2011-15 budgetary period.

(AQW 13617/11-15)

Mr Poots: This information is not available as funding is not allocated at hospital site level.

Oakridge Social Education Centre, Dungannon

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what is the timescale for the new build for Oakridge Social Education Centre, Dungannon.

(AQW 13622/11-15)

Mr Poots: The Southern Health and Social Care Trust is currently developing the business case for Oakridge Social Education Centre. Upon receipt, the business case will need to be assessed and approved by my Department and by the Department of Finance and Personnel.

Once the business case has been approved, I will consider the timing of this and other projects in light of my available budget.

Nursing and Midwifery Students: Non-means Tested Award

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety why the nursing and midwifery non-means tested award is being reduced by his Department; and how he intends to support nursing and midwifery students who may be struggling in the current economic climate.

(AQW 13625/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department is currently consulting on the Review of Healthcare Bursaries and the proposals in relation to nursing and midwifery are aimed at beginning to harmonise arrangements with other health and social care students.

The current proposal is for a reduction from £6055 to £5165 per annum. Unlike bursary provision for the other healthcare professions, this is a non means-tested entitlement which continues to be available to all nursing and midwifery students.

Nursing and Midwifery Students: Book and Uniform Allowance

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety why the one-off book and uniform allowance for nursing and midwifery students is being discontinued, given the benefit it provides for students, particularly students from low-income backgrounds.

(AQW 13627/11-15)

Mr Poots: The removal of the one-off book and uniform allowance for Nursing and Midwifery students, is proposed in the Consultation on the Review of HSC Student Bursary Schemes. The proposals presented in the review are aimed at beginning to harmonise the support arrangements provided across the health and social care professions. The book and uniform allowance is not provided to any other health and social care students.

The decision on the possible removal of this allowance will be taken following completion of the consultation on 2nd August.

Nursing and Midwifery students continue to receive support throughout their training by provision of a non means tested, non repayable bursary, and the potential availability of a range of other allowances such as Disabled Students' Allowance and Dependents' Allowance, based on their individual circumstances.

Nursing and Midwifery Students

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what action his Department intends to take to financially support nursing and midwifery students in terms of bursaries and allowances, given the current economic pressures on students.

(AQW 13629/11-15)

Mr Poots: My Department provides all nursing and midwifery students with a non means-tested, non repayable bursary, and funds the entire cost of tuition fees to the university. In addition, nursing and midwifery students can apply for additional allowances such as Parental Learning Allowance, Disability Allowance, and contribution to childcare costs, subject to individual circumstances and attendant eligibility.

My Department is currently consulting on proposals for a modest reduction in the nursing bursary, and removal of the book and uniform allowance, provided only to nursing and midwifery students. This is a first step in harmonisation of DHSSPS-funded student support provided across the healthcare professions. If this reduction is introduced, all nursing and midwifery students will remain entitled to a non means tested bursary of £5165 per annum and there will be no change to the additional allowances available subject to eligibility.

Patient and Client Council: Staffing

Mr Durkan asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety for an update on the staffing arrangements at the Patient Client Council, Omagh, following the recent retirement of staff.

(AQW 13649/11-15)

Mr Poots: The staffing complement in the Patient and client Council's (PCC) Omagh office is currently four. Prior to the retirement of two members of staff, one Administrative Officer and one Patient and Client Support Officer, the PCC put in place temporary arrangements to ensure continuity of service for people in the Western Area. This included the recruitment of a temporary member of staff to assist with personal and public involvement work in the Western area, and for all calls to the Omagh office being answered centrally by PCC.

The Patient and Client Council is undergoing a review of its organisational structure and it is planned changes to its structures will be implemented in 2013.

HSC Recruitment: Consultant Posts at Acute Hospitals

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what is the minimum required notification to be given to a medical consultant, from outside the United Kingdom, to attend an interview for a consultant's post at an acute hospital.

(AQW 13660/11-15)

Mr Poots: Consultants are appointed to health and social care organisations in accordance with the Health and Personal Social Services Appointment of Consultants Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1996. The accompanying guidance to the regulations provides useful advice to employers when making appointments to consultant posts. Neither the regulations nor the guidance specifies a minimum period of notification for interview for either a UK or international applicant.

Recruitment & selection policy and procedures have been developed within each Trust and the advice from all Trusts is there is no difference in the period of notification for interview for either a UK or international applicant. Trusts normally liaise with individual applicants in relation to their availability and plan accordingly.

Residential Care: Funding

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety whether consideration is being given to a review of funding for residential care.

(AQW 13661/11-15)

Mr Poots: It is widely accepted that issues such as an ageing population, increased public expectations and a difficult financial climate are putting adult social care services, including residential care, in Northern Ireland under increasing pressure. If we are to meet the challenges that these issues present, change is needed, and that is why I have committed to a three stage process of reform to identify the future direction of adult social care.

The first stage of this, which I aim to publish in August 2012, will be the development of a discussion document setting out the challenges that the system is facing and aiming to promote a public debate around the future of adult social care. This will include discussion around how services such as residential care should be funded in the future, with a view to establishing a fair and sustainable system of funding.

Fire and Rescue Service Recruitment Exercise

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety who chaired the Appeal Panel for the practical aptitude test in the Fire and Rescue Service's wholetime recruitment exercise.

(AQW 13684/11-15)

Mr Poots: Assistant Chief Fire Officer Eoin Doyle chaired the appeal panel for the practical aptitude test.

Fire and Rescue Service Recruitment Exercise

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail of candidates who (a) appealed their results; and (b) were permitted to resit the practical aptitude test in the Fire and Rescue Service's wholetime recruitment exercise.
(AQW 13685/11-15)

Mr Poots: A total of 67 candidates appealed in writing to the Recruitment & Services Manager in relation to the Practical Tests.

Of the 67 candidates who appealed, 44 were given a re-test, after the Panel had considered each appeal on individual merit. Of the 44 candidates given a re-test, 37 were successful when re-tested and these candidates then proceeded to interview stage.

Fire and Rescue Service Recruitment Exercise

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the (i) number; and (ii) names of candidates who were successfully recruited to the Fire and Rescue Service after appealing their practical aptitude test results in the wholetime recruitment exercise.

(AQW 13686/11-15)

Mr Poots:

- (i) Of those candidates who appealed their Practical Aptitude Test results, five were successfully recruited.
- (ii) The names of successful appellants cannot be released as this would be a breach of the Data Protection Act 1998.

Fire and Rescue Service Recruitment Exercise

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail who (i) chaired; and (ii) was involved in the Appeal Panel when the practical aptitude test performance of candidate Doyle in the Fire and Rescue Service's wholetime recruitment exercise was considered.

(AQW 13687/11-15)

Mr Poots: Information relating to individual candidates cannot be released as this would be a breach of the Data Protection Act 1998.

Fire and Rescue Service Recruitment Exercise

Mr Irwin asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety who was responsible for the process of re-testing the candidates who appealed their initial result in the Fire and Rescue Service's wholetime recruitment exercise.

(AQW 13688/11-15)

Mr Poots: Successful appellants were re-tested in the appropriate elements by Fire & Rescue Service Assessors. The Assessors involved in the retesting did not include any individuals who were members of the Appeal Panel.

Fire and Rescue Service Recruitment Exercise

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail which elements of the Fire and Rescue Service's wholetime recruitment exercise candidates were permitted to appeal.

(AQW 13689/11-15)

Mr Poots: The recruitment competition comprised four stages: a multi-stage fitness test; an assessment of the candidate's application form; a Practical Aptitude Test (PAT); and an interview.

Of the four stages, only the PAT had an appeal process.

Hospitals: Elective and Non-elective Admissions

Mr Dunne asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail how many (i) elective; and (ii) non-elective admissions there were in (a) medicine; and (b) surgery at each hospital, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13698/11-15)

Mr Poots: Information on the number of (i) elective; and (ii) non-elective admissions in (a) medicine; and (b) surgery at each hospital, in each of the last three years, are given in the following tables.

All admissions to the medicine and surgery specialties within the Acute Programme of Care have been included.

Hospitals: Occupancy of Surgical Beds

Mr Hamilton asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety what was the occupancy of surgical beds at each hospital, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13706/11-15)

Mr Poots: The percentage occupancy of surgical beds during each of the three years from 2008/09 to 2010/11 (the latest three year period for which data is currently available) is shown by hospital in the table below:-

| Hospital         | % Occupancy |         |         |

Hospitals: Occupancy of Surgical Beds

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail the average length of stay for patients in a surgical bed in each hospital, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13707/11-15)

Mr Poots: The average length of stay for patients in surgical beds during each of the three years from 2008/09 to 2010/11 (the latest three year period for which data is currently available) is shown by hospital in the table below:-

| Hospital         | Average Length of Stay |         |         |

Nursing Homes

Mr McCallister asked the Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety to detail how many residents in (i) independent residential/nursing care homes; and (ii) statutory residential/nursing homes are having their costs met by (a) the state; and (b) private contributions ; and (iii) how this figure compares with each of the last five years.

(AQW 13713/11-15)

Mr Poots: The information is not collected centrally and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Department of Justice

Gerry McGeough

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, in relation to the convicted republican separated prisoner, Gerry McGeough, whether (i) delivery of his medication was disrupted due to dysfunction at Maghaberry Prison; (ii) he has had to climb on a ledge and shuffle along a set of railings to avoid urine and excrement in prison corridors; (iii) security issues are causing difficulties which are preventing him from being sent for further medical tests; and if so, to detail the security issues; and (iv) there has been a recent escalation in the republican separated prisoners' protest.

(AQW 13186/11-15)

Mr Ford (The Minister of Justice):

- (i) Delivery of medication to Mr McGeough has not been disrupted due to dysfunction at Maghaberry Prison.
- (ii) I have no evidence that this is correct although some prisoners on protest continue to 'slop out' a mixture of faeces and urine under their cell doors.
- (iii) At no time have any of Mr McGeough's hospital appointments being delayed as a result of security issues.
- (iv) Some further republican prisoners on protest recently began 'slopping out' under their cell doors. In addition, some have recently refused to wash and change their clothes prior to seeing the doctor.

Northern Ireland Prison Service: Staff

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12616/11-15, whether the figure covers all staff who have worked at the Prisoner Assessment Unit, including staff who were present (i) when problems resulting in the facility's closure arose or were carried out; and (ii) when the prisoner drug debt matter arose.

(AQW 13189/11-15)

Mr Ford: The answer to AQW/12616 with regard to the number of staff interviewed does not include all of the staff who have worked at the Prisoner Assessment Unit. However, it does include all of the staff, except one who was on sick leave during the investigation, who were present when problems resulting in the facility's closure arose.

Code of Practice on Discipline and Grievances at Work

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12538/11-15, to detail (i) why the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service Code of Practice on Discipline and Grievances at Work does not apply to Northern Ireland; and (ii) the alternative that operates in its place.

(AQW 13190/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) is funded by the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills to improve organisations and working life in Great Britain through better employment relations.

The remit of ACAS does not extend to Northern Ireland. Comparable functions are discharged in this jurisdiction by the Labour Relations Agency (LRA), which is funded by my Department.

The Agency publishes a Code of Practice on Disciplinary and Grievance Procedures that, taking account of differences in law and practice between Northern Ireland and Great Britain, broadly corresponds with the ACAS Code. It was most recently revised in April 2011, and provides practical guidance on statutory requirements relating to disciplinary and dismissal issues; good employment practice in dealing with grievance issues; what constitutes reasonable behaviour when dealing with disciplinary and grievance issues; drawing up and using disciplinary and grievance procedures; and a worker's statutory right to bring a companion to grievance and disciplinary hearings. The Code is available free of charge from the LRA's website (www.lra.org.uk).

Prisons: Misuse of Drugs

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Justice, in light of the Prison Ombudsman's report on the death of a prisoner through drug misuse, what measures the Prison Service has put in place to deal with the misuse of illegal and prescription drugs in prisons. (AQW 13216/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prison Service currently has a range of measures in place to deal with the misuse of illegal and prescription drugs in prisons. These measures include:

- a drugs and alcohol treatment and counselling service;
- multi-disciplinary case reviews;
- development of a revised anti-bullying policy;
- provision of individual safes for storing prescription medication;
- mandatory drugs tests;
- regular cell searches and the deployment of drugs dogs; and
- disciplinary action and removal from association with other prisoners where warranted.

I can also confirm that Prison Service officials are in the process of initiating a review of the effectiveness of the range of measures currently in place to minimise the availability and use of illegal drugs in our prisons. In addition, the South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust and the Prison Service are committed to addressing recent concerns in relation to 'in possession' medication, in particular to consider 'supervised swallow' arrangements for certain categories of drugs.

Foyle Pride Festival 2012

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Justice to detail (i) the level of funding his Department has allocated to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry; and (ii) if his Department has not allocated funds to the event, how much it is willing to provide towards the running costs of £15,000. (AQW 13220/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Department of Justice has not allocated any funding to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 and currently has no plans to allocate funding to this event.

The Department has in place a Diversity Strategy and Action Plan to encourage a working environment and culture that respects and values diversity.

Historical Inquests

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice for his assessment of the impact on his Department's current work as a result of the need to fund and resource the upcoming historical inquests. (AQW 13223/11-15)

Mr Ford: The term 'historical' or 'legacy' inquest is administrative rather than a legal or statutory one. There is no formal definition, but these cases generally relate to deaths involving agents of the State or allegations of collusion and due to their complex and contentious nature will require considerable resources to bring them to conclusion. The Coroners agree the classification of a case as a legacy or historical inquest.

To date, the legacy inquest case workload has been delivered from within the NI Courts and Tribunals Service budget but the management of these cases has created pressures for the Coroners and the Coroners Service.

The administrative and funding arrangements are being kept under review as cases progress and costs become clearer. My officials are working to ensure that the response is co-ordinated and that available resources are deployed effectively. Any future pressures highlighted by NICTS will be considered as part of the in-year monitoring round process.

The listing of legacy inquests is a matter for the relevant Coroner and can be influenced by a number of factors including:

- other ongoing investigations e.g. by the Historical Enquiries Team or the Office of Police Ombudsman;
- the availability of evidence for the Coroner's investigations;
- witness and family availability; or
- any legal challenges initiated by parties to the inquest.

A decision on whether or not to hold an inquest is a matter for the Coroner. Where the Coroner declines to hold or has already held an inquest, the Attorney General may refer the case back to the Coroner with a direction that an inquest be convened. Therefore, there is potential for the number of legacy inquest cases to increase.

The security arrangements for retired security personnel attending inquests are subject to risk assessment and arrangements are agreed with the Coroner.

Historical Inquests

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice to outline the criteria used for identifying the current list of historical inquests; and how the order in which the inquests will be heard was determined.

(AQW 13225/11-15)

Mr Ford: The term 'historical' or 'legacy' inquest is administrative rather than a legal or statutory one. There is no formal definition, but these cases generally relate to deaths involving agents of the State or allegations of collusion and due to their complex and contentious nature will require considerable resources to bring them to conclusion. ## Historical Inquests

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice for his assessment of the likelihood of the current number of historical inquests increasing; and whether the families of members of the security forces who were killed during the troubles will be able to have fresh inquests heard.

(AQW 13226/11-15)

Mr Ford: The term 'historical' or 'legacy' inquest is administrative rather than a legal or statutory one. There is no formal definition, but these cases generally relate to deaths involving agents of the State or allegations of collusion and due to their complex and contentious nature will require considerable resources to bring them to conclusion. ## Historical Inquests

Mr Givan asked the Minister of Justice what security provision has been made for retired security personnel who will be required to provide evidence at historical inquests.

(AQW 13227/11-15)

Mr Ford: The term 'historical' or 'legacy' inquest is administrative rather than a legal or statutory one. There is no formal definition, but these cases generally relate to deaths involving agents of the State or allegations of collusion and due to their

Prisons: Misuse of Drugs

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he has any plans to introduce tougher penalties for people who smuggle drugs into prisons, and for those who control and deal drugs within the prison population.

(AQW 13230/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Criminal Justice (NI) Order 2008 set and restructured the penalties for smuggling articles into prison. Controlled drugs are categorised under List A and the maximum penalty for smuggling List A items into a prison is ten years. There are currently no plans for any further review of the penalties available for people who smuggle drugs into prison or for those who control and deal drugs within the prison population.

Governors inform PSNI in all cases where a visitor has been found in possession of illicit drugs. Governors also deal with prisoners found in possession of drugs as offences against discipline under Prison Rules and will refer more serious cases to PSNI for investigation. In addition, as stated in my answer to AQW 13112, Prison Service officials are in the process of initiating a review of the effectiveness of the range of measures currently in place to minimise the availability and use of illegal drugs in our prisons.

Prison Reform

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice what discussions he has had, or plans to have, with the Prison Officers Association (POA) to address concerns over Prison Reform, particularly as the Chairman of the POA is now on record as sharing those concerns; and whether he has discussed the matter with the Northern Ireland Prison Service.

(AQW 13251/11-15)

Mr Ford: I last met the Chairman of the Prison Officers' Association (POA) on 28 May 2012 when he and the Director of Human Resources signed the Agreement reached between Management and the POA following a ballot of the POA membership. Prison Service management are now moving forward with the implementation of the Agreement and are committed to working with the Trade Union side in doing so. I have no further meetings planned with the POA Chairman but would be willing to meet him if that would be helpful.

HMP Magilligan: Redevelopment

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice whether a new prison has been designed, utilising the shape of the Magilligan site to its fullest potential, at a cost of £5,000,000.

(AQW 13272/11-15)

Mr Ford: As part of the redevelopment of the Magilligan Prison an exemplar design for a new 800 place prison was developed to the Royal Institute of British Architects Work Stage C.

NIPS requirements were identified and used to develop outline proposals which in turn were used to produce the exemplar design. The design illustrated the size and character of the proposed prison in sufficient detail to enable NIPS to agree the spatial arrangements, materials and appearance. The design proposed a more efficient prison with a more compact layout yet utilised the shape and footprint of the entire Magilligan Prison site to its full potential. This informed the costs and operational improvements contained in the Outline Business Case.

The costs associated with the development were £3.773million and not £5million.

HMP Magilligan: Redevelopment

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice whether he can confirm that the Prison Officers Association and other staff members indicated their support for the statement in 2008 by the then Secretary of State, Paul Goggins, that Magilligan was the preferred site for a new prison.

(AQW 13274/11-15)

Mr Ford: It would not be appropriate for me to comment on the conclusions reached or views expressed by the Prison Officers' Association or other members of staff.

HMP Magilligan: Sick Absence

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice how sickness levels at HMP Magilligan compare with other prisons.

(AQW 13276/11-15)

Mr Ford: The average working days lost per member of staff due to sickness absence in Northern Ireland's prisons over the last 3 financial years is outlined below:

|            | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
|------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Magilligan | 9.1     | 11.8    | 9.7     |
| Maghaberry | 12      | 14      | 17      |
| Hydebank   | 17.5    | 14.3    | 16      |

Marian Price

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the United Nations doctors attended, and examined, Marion Price; and if so, (i) on which date and where did they attend; (ii) whether the doctors subsequently made representations to the Northern Ireland Prison Service; and (iii) to what extent did the doctors' input influence the decision to have Ms Price moved from prison to hospital.

(AQW 13283/11-15)

Mr Ford: Neither the United Nations, nor anyone representing that organisation, has requested to visit Mrs Marian McGlinchey.

Two doctors representing the Irish United Nations Association (which is not part of the UN but a voluntary organisation whose objectives are to promote the aims and objectives of the UN in Ireland) booked a professional visit to Mrs McGlinchey which was scheduled to take place in Hydebank Wood on Wednesday 6 June. The doctors cancelled their visit. They subsequently rescheduled their visit to Mrs McGlinchey and one has since visited her at the outside hospital to which she had been transferred prior to their visit.

The decision to transfer Mrs McGlinchey to an outside hospital was taken on the basis of a recommendation for secondary care received from the South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust and the Belfast Health and Social Care Trust. No input from any other individuals or organisations had any influence on that decision.

Hospital Accident and Emergency Units: Disorderly and Abusive Behaviour

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he will consider allocating revenue, received from Fixed Penalty Notices for disorderly and abusive behaviour in hospital Accident and Emergency units, for patient comfort funds or for other beneficial schemes in the Health Service.

(AQW 13284/11-15)

Mr Ford: All Penalty Notice revenue received must be surrendered to the Consolidated Fund. It is not, therefore, possible for the Department of Justice to allocate these funds to specific initiatives.

The member may wish to note, however, that each Penalty Notice is subject also to a £5 Offender Levy which is not surrendered to the Consolidated Fund, but is allocated exclusively to victims' services.

Antisocial Behaviour

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice what funding his Department plans to provide to local councils to combat anti-social behaviour.

(AQW 13286/11-15)

Mr Ford: In Northern Ireland we have adopted a multi-agency partnership to tackle anti-social behaviour, which uses a graduated approach of prevention, intervention and enforcement to tackle anti-social behaviour. This approach has contributed to a reduction of over 20% in the incidence of anti-social behaviour across Northern Ireland since 2008.

The measures taken by my Department have included initiatives such as CCTV, Community Safety Wardens, Neighbourhood Watch schemes, intergenerational projects, and Priority Youth Intervention programmes.

It is my intention to build on the success to date and to develop partnership working at a local level to support local communities in addressing the anti-social behaviour issues that matter locally.

In particular, Policing and Community Safety Partnerships will have a pivotal role in developing partnership working at a local level and in supporting communities in identifying solutions to issues of local concern.

In conjunction with the Northern Ireland Policing Board, £5.2 million has been made available to the Policing and Community Safety Partnerships for this financial year to address local community safety issues, including anti-social behaviour. In addition, the Priority Youth Intervention programme, which also addresses anti-social behaviour, allocates £200,000 per year to the Policing and Community Safety Partnerships.

Zoe Crowe

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the Governor, who recommended that Zoe Crowe be suspended from duty on 5 November 2011, reported the matter fully to the Minister; and if so, (i) on what did was the matter reported; (ii) what directions, if any, he gave to the Governor; (iii) when these directions were delivered to the Governor; and (iv) when the directions were actioned.

(AQW 13293/11-15)

Mr Ford: I refer the member to the answer given to AQW/13005/11-15.

ACAS Code of Practice

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12538/11-15, why the ACAS Code of Practice does not apply, given that the Northern Ireland Prison Service Code of Conduct and Discipline states that in establishing whether a disciplinary offence has been committed the standard of proof to be applied is the balance of probabilities, and that this is the standard required by employment law and provided for in the ACAS Discipline at Work guidelines.

(AQW 13320/11-15)

Mr Ford: ACAS has no formal role in Northern Ireland.

The introductory section of the current Code of Conduct and Discipline refers to the ACAS Code of Practice to reflect the consideration given to exemplary standards of good practice when drafting the document.

Prisons: Random Drug Tests

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice when the last random drug tests were carried out at each prison facility, including Hydebank Young Offenders Centre and the Juvenile Justice Unit; and how often, on average, such tests are undertaken.

(AQW 13321/11-15)

Mr Ford: Random drug tests were carried out at both Maghaberry and Magilligan Prisons on 28 June 2012. The last random drug test at Hydebank Wood Prison and Young Offenders Centre was on 19 May 2012. The Northern Ireland Prison Service aims to carry out drug testing, including random testing, five days per week. Resource issues can impact on the ability to do this.

Woodlands Juvenile Justice Centre is the responsibility of the Youth Justice Agency and is not a Prison facility. Random drugs tests are not carried out in the JJC.

Northern Ireland Prison Service: Suspended Staff

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) how many prison staff, in each Northern Ireland Prison Service facility, including Hydebank Young Offenders Centre and the Juvenile Justice Unit, are currently suspended on full pay; (ii) what is the rank of each of the suspended staff; and (iii) for how long each staff member has been suspended.

(AQW 13322/11-15)

Mr Ford: There are a total of four Prison Service staff suspended from duty, two of whom are from Maghaberry, one from Hydebank Wood and one from the Prisoner Escorting and Court Custody Service (PECCS). The grades of the individuals suspended range from prison support grades to Governor level.

The periods of suspension are 15 and four months for those in Maghaberry and seven weeks and five weeks for those at Hydebank Wood and PECCS respectively.

Woodlands Juvenile Justice Centre (JJC) is the responsibility of the Youth Justice Agency (YJA) and is not a Northern Ireland Prison Service facility. However the information in regards to staff employed operationally in the JJC is as follows:

- (i) One member of JJC staff is currently suspended on full pay.
- (ii) Care Worker grade.
- (iii) 10 months (since 26 August 2011).

Dungannon Courthouse: Security Measures

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12764/11-15, which other courthouses are to have improvements; and what is the estimated cost at each courthouse.

(AQW 13323/11-15)

Mr Ford: Additional measures are planned for a number of other courthouses at a cost of £705,000. Due to the nature of this work I am unable to provide further detail until this work is underway or completed.

Prisons: Body Scanning Equipment

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12860/11-15, whether he will continue with the installation of the body scanning equipment, despite the separated republican prisoners having given no commitment to cease their protest should the equipment be installed; and what action is planned should the protest continue after the equipment has been installed.

(AQW 13362/11-15)

Mr Ford: NIPS is committed to fulfilling its stated undertaking with regard to piloting and assessing the proposed new searching technology in line with recommendation 8 of the Prison Review Team's report. These technologies are being piloted to learn whether or not they offer a viable alternative to Full Body Searching for all prisoners. However, in the event that some prisoners do not avail of the new technology and continue on protest, the Governor will continue to manage this situation in line with existing operating procedures.

Legal Aid

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12913/11-15, and as new legislation will not apply retrospectively, in cases where legal aid was granted to a person who is known to have significant income or assets, whether checks can be made to ensure that all the relevant financial circumstances were declared; and in cases where the information was not declared, what further steps can be taken in relation to fraud charges and redress for the legal aid payment.

(AQW 13364/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission (the Commission) is presently not empowered to conduct its own investigations into the means of defendants in receipt of criminal legal aid.

If credible evidence were brought to the attention of the Commission that a convicted defendant had sufficient means to pay for his or her own defence representation which would cast doubt on their eligibility for criminal legal aid, they could refer the matter to the police for investigation. This could lead to a criminal conviction for fraudulently claiming legal aid and a compensation order for the costs incurred in providing that defence representation. If a compensation order was not made by the court, the Commission could seek to recover the costs as a civil debt.

I have recently made the Criminal Legal Aid (Recovery of Defence Costs Orders) Rules (Northern Ireland) 2012. This will ensure that in future the Commission will have the power it needs to recover defence costs from convicted defendants in the Crown Court who have sufficient means to pay for those costs.

Dungannon Courthouse: Hearing Centres

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12764/11-15, how this expenditure has been deemed necessary when other hearing centres are facing closure.

(AQW 13365/11-15)

Mr Ford: Dungannon Courthouse is not a Hearing Centre and therefore there is no direct correlation between the Hearing Centre closure consultation exercise and the security enhancements at Dungannon Courthouse.

Marian McGlinchey

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) to detail the amount of legal aid paid to date in relation to Marian McGlinchey; (ii) whether legal aid was granted to fund the costs of the United Nations doctors who were to examine her; and (iii) if so, what was the total cost of funding the doctors, including expenses.

(AQW 13367/11-15)

Mr Ford: The legal aid payments made to Mrs McGlinchey's legal team are detailed below, broken down by Criminal, Civil and Legal Advice and Assistance (Green Form) legal aid categories.

Criminal Legal Aid

A total of £1,124.61 (including VAT of £179.58 and disbursements of £47.13) was paid to Mrs McGlinchey's solicitor in respect of PACE advice provided at the police station.

Fees have been paid to Ms McGlinchey's solicitor totalling £1,700.46 (including VAT of £283.41) for work done in the Magistrates' Court. The counsel who represented Ms McGlinchey also represented one of her co-accused, therefore the fees paid are in respect of both defendants. It is not possible to disaggregate the payment to reflect the portion of the payment relating to Ms McGlinchey. The total paid to counsel in respect of both defendants is £1,273.01 (including VAT of £212.17).

| Civil Legal Aid |  |
|-----------------|--|
| Profit Costs    | £1,257.72 (including VAT of £209.62 VAT).  |
| Counsel Fees    | £360.00 (including VAT of £60 VAT).        |
| Outlay          | £18.80, solely in respect of photocopying. |
| Total    | £1,636.52                           |

Legal Advice and Assistance (Green Form) Scheme

| Advice Type             | Amount paid     | VAT            |
|-------------------------|-----------------|----------------|
| PACE                    | £139.74         | £23.83         |
| Complaints against PSNI | £64.11          | £12.82         |
| PACE                    | £945.03         | £179.58        |
| Criminal Charge         | £673.20         | £132.14        |
| Bail                    | £72.08          | £14.42         |
| Judicial Review         | £88.00          | £17.60         |
| Life Sentence Review    | £409.99         | £75.16         |
| Judicial Review         | £184.55         | £31.91         |
| Total            | £2576.70 | £487.46 |

No “United Nations doctors” have visited Ms McGlinchey, nor requested to do so. A doctor representing the Irish United Nations Association (which is not part of the United Nations but a voluntary organisation which aims to promote the aims and objectives of the UN in Ireland) has visited her: no legal aid application has been submitted in relation to that visit.

Prisons: Sexual Assaults

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of Justice how many sexual assaults have been reported in prisons in each of the last five years; and how many of these have resulted in convictions.

(AQW 13368/11-15)

Mr Ford: There have been 45 allegations of sexual assault recorded in NIPS establishments in the past five years. NIPS do not have access to statistics in regard to convictions.

Forensic Science Northern Ireland

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12818/11-15, and his remarks on 6 February 2012, whether he accepts there have been significantly more than four cases delayed due to the backlog at Forensic Science Northern Ireland.

(AQW 13381/11-15)

Mr Ford: My comments on 6 February 2012 referred to four cases for which a prosecution could not proceed due to outstanding forensic reports; this was the position at that point. Given that these figures refer to a live caseload, they are subject to fluctuation.

Northern Ireland Prison Service: Compensation

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many prison officers, who have been dismissed from the Northern Ireland Prison Service since 1995, have successfully appealed their dismissal; and what is the total amount of compensation paid out in these cases.

(AQW 13387/11-15)

Mr Ford: It is not possible to provide details of the number of prison officers who have been dismissed from the Northern Ireland Prison Service since 1995 and who have successfully appealed their dismissal. This information could only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

However, I can advise the Member that during the last five years, four operational staff who have been dismissed on disciplinary grounds, have successfully appealed their dismissal. The total amount of compensation awarded to date is £44,281.74.

HMP Hydebank: Former Governor

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the female governor of HMP Hydebank retired on pension and was subsequently re-employed by the Northern Ireland Prison Service on a part-time basis and whether she then applied for and received a severance package; and to include the relevant dates.

(AQW 13388/11-15)

Mr Ford: The information requested constitutes the personal data of a third party as defined at section 1 of the Data Protection Act 1998. To disclose this information would be in breach of the first data protection principle (fair and lawful processing).

Prisons: Oral Swab Drug Testing

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice when he intends to introduce oral swab drug testing in prisons.

(AQW 13389/11-15)

Mr Ford: The use of oral swab drug tests in prisons was trialled by NIPS for a period of three months from October 2010. The effectiveness and accuracy of testing oral fluid/saliva was found to be inferior to the testing of urine. As a result it is not planned to introduce oral swab testing.

Day Release from Custody: Alleged Offences Committed

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many cases are presently in the courts system for alleged offences committed whilst on day release from custody, broken down by (i) youth; and (ii) adult.

(AQW 13390/11-15)

Mr Ford: Information in the form requested is not readily available for prisoners or young offenders within the Prison Service and could only be obtained/compiled at disproportionate cost.

In relation to Woodlands Juvenile Justice Centre, there is no information that can be provided due to current court reporting restrictions.

Dungannon Magistrates Court: Case Number 12/011425

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice to detail the total costs involved, including legal aid and forensic reports, in case number 12/011425 at Dungannon Magistrates Court.

(AQW 13416/11-15)

Mr Ford: The table below sets out the estimated identifiable costs associated with case number 12/011425.

| Cost Type                                     | Estimated Cost  |
|---|-----------------|
| Defence (Legal Aid Costs) <sup>1</sup>        | £528.00         |
| Court Costs – Judiciary, Staff and Facilities | £318.50         |
| Forensic Services                             | £319.00         |
| Total                                  | £1165.50 |

1 represents an estimate of the fees payable based on the claim submitted, however, the claim has not yet been assessed.

The Police Service of Northern Ireland has indicated that the Investigating Officer conducted his enquires consistent with his normal duties and therefore no additional police costs were incurred.

The Public Prosecution Service of Northern Ireland has indicated that it is not possible to produce precise costs for a particular case or even average costs for a particular type of case. Some costs would be identifiable, for example any fees paid to prosecuting counsel, however, these were not incurred in this case.

NIPS: Severance Package

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many (i) full-time; and (ii) part-time Northern Ireland Prison Service officers, who applied for and received a severance package, have been re-employed by any employer, in each prison facility, in any full-time or part-time capacity.

(AQW 13417/11-15)

Mr Ford: 160 members of the Northern Ireland Prison Service left the service under the Voluntary Early Retirement Scheme by 30 April 2012.

I can confirm that none of these staff has been re-employed by NIPS, the DOJ or any of its agencies or Arms-length bodies. I am not in a position to provide information on staff employed by any other employer.

NIPS: Code of Conduct and Discipline

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12644/11-15, (i) which Department is responsible for this document; (ii) when he requested a copy of the signed minute; (iii) when it was agreed that he would receive a copy; and (iv) when it will be delivered.

(AQW 13418/11-15)

Mr Ford: I can confirm that the Northern Ireland Office is the owner of the document the Member refers to. Authorisation to release a redacted version was sought and granted in June 2012. A redacted copy of the document is attached.

Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims (Amendment) Act 2012

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he plans to introduce legislation similar to the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims (Amendment) Act 2012, which provides for a person found guilty of allowing serious physical harm to a child or vulnerable adult to be sentenced to ten years in jail.

(AQW 13419/11-15)

Mr Ford: My Department is committed to monitoring any changes to domestic and sexual offences legislation, such as those described, and to assess the impact of those amendments. We will explore the detail with Ministry of Justice colleagues, with a view to assessing its introduction in Northern Ireland.

NIPS: Code of Conduct and Discipline

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) to detail the principles and policies of the National Executive Committee of the Prison Governors Association, to which the Northern Ireland Prison Service is affiliated, in regards to members holding meetings during the appeal process of officers recommended for dismissal from the service under the Code of Conduct and Discipline when they have no remit to do so and no regulatory authority; (ii) whether this behaviour constitutes acting in a manner prejudicial to the interests of the officer and the Association; and (iii) whether meetings held under such circumstances are deemed to be a breach of discipline.

(AQW 13420/11-15)

Mr Ford: As Minister of Justice I am unable to detail the principles and policies of the National Executive Committee of the Prisoner Governors Association (PGA). I would however refer the Member to the response I provided to AQW/12782/11-15, which outlined the role of the PGA in representing their members should they be recommended for dismissal.

DOJ: Disposal of Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13442/11-15)

Mr Ford: It is intended that the land and buildings at the Prison Service College in Millisle will be disposed of once the new joint training facility is opened at Desertcreat. This is planned for 2015. At 31 May 2012 the Net Book Value of all of the land and buildings on the site was £3.3 million.

The Department of Justice, including its agencies but excluding its arm's length bodies, has no plans to dispose of any further capital assets during the next three years.

Hydebank Wood: Confinement

Mr McKay asked Minister of Justice to detail the number of inmates in Hydebank Wood who have been adjudicated to cellular confinement from 1 January 2012 until 31 June 2012, broken down by (i) gender; (ii) length of time of confinement; and (iii) the nature of the adjudication.

(AQW 13449/11-15)

Mr Ford: Since 01 January 2012 until 30 June 2012 Hydebank Wood has had 220 adjudications which have resulted in confinement to a room.

The table attached at Annex A shows the breakdown as requested.

Annex A

| Adjudication Date | Gender | Nature of adjudication | Award Quantity | Award Unit |
|-------------------|--------|------------------------|----------------|------------|
| 15/02/2012        | Female | Unauthorised article   | 3              | Days       |

Prisons: Transgender Prisoners

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice to outline the Northern Ireland Prison Service policy or guidance for housing, in male and female facilities, a (i) transgender prisoner; and (ii) a prisoner who is going through transgender reassignment treatment. (AQW 13453/11-15)

Mr Ford: The initial placement of any pre-operative prisoner with gender dysphoria would be to a prison appropriate to their gender at birth. Where there was any doubt about such a placement, the prison would organise a case conference, involving the health care team and representatives from the relevant establishments and Directorates, to determine the most appropriate location.

Decisions relating to the location of prisoners with gender dysphoria who have not yet undergone gender re-assignment surgery, whether or not they have commenced hormone treatment, would be considered on an individual basis taking into account the individual circumstances of each case.

The most appropriate location for a post-operative transgender prisoner would normally be agreed following a full case conference. The decision would take account of the prisoner's own preference and the presumption would be that a post-operative transgender prisoner would be allocated to an establishment for prisoners of his/her gender of choice.

Forensic Science Northern Ireland

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, in relation to his statement in the Assembly on 6 February 2012, whether case number 11/150443 at Dungannon Magistrates' Court and case number 11/128987 at Magherafelt Magistrates' Court, were included in the figure of four cases which were delayed at Forensic Services Northern Ireland.

(AQW 13454/11-15)

Mr Ford: No they were not as these cases were not referred to Forensic Science Northern Ireland.

Fine Default

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice how many people have been imprisoned for defaulting on fines in each of the last five years; and what percentage of the prison population they represented.

(AQW 13462/11-15)

Mr Ford: The number and percentage of people committed to prison for non-payment of fines across the last five years for which data is available is provided in the table below.

| New Committals           | Year        |             |              |              |              |

Data for 2007 and 2008 should not be directly compared with data from 2009 to 2011 as the data sets are sourced from different systems.

Prisons: Healthy Prison Tests

Mr G Robinson asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 13273/11-15, and given that the results are not comparable, for his assessment of the benefits of these tests.

(AQW 13481/11-15)

Mr Ford: The 'three' marking attained by Magilligan Prison provides an indication of where Magilligan Prison sits against the 'Healthy Prison tests' carried out by HMIP.

The full inspection report provided more details across a diverse range of areas, functions and activities within the prison. The report highlighted to NIPS the areas where performance was good but also provided NIPS with a number of recommendations for improving the current regimes available at Magilligan Prison.

Prisons: Searching Visitors

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) how many prisoners, at each prison facility including Hydebank Young Offenders Centre and the Juvenile Justice Unit, have been searched for drugs following a prison visit, in the last six months; (ii) how many were found to have drugs; and (iii) what action was taken against the prisoner and the visitor in cases where drugs were found.

(AQW 13488/11-15)

Mr Ford: Throughout NIPS, all prisoners are searched for illicit items prior to and following each visit. In the past six months the following drug finds have been recorded: Maghaberry eight finds, Magilligan five finds and Hydebank Wood ten finds. In addition, there have been other visits terminated due to suspicion of an article being passed.

In all cases the prisoners involved have been subject to adjudications heard by the Governor. Punishments awarded range from cellular confinement to closed visits and a total of 24 visitors were barred from visiting any establishment.

Woodlands Juvenile Justice Centre is not a prison facility. Planned visits are risk assessed in advance, closely supervised and monitored.

NIPS: Acting Director General

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many meetings the Acting Director General of the Prison Service has attended with the Committee for the Administration of Justice in each of the last twelve months.

(AQW 13492/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Acting Director General of the Northern Ireland Prison Service has not attended any meetings with the Committee on the Administration of Justice (CAJ) in the last twelve months.

Prisoner Assessment Unit

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice how many meetings have been held, or attended by, the Northern Ireland Prison Service and his Department in relation to (i) the issues leading to the closure of the Prisoner Assessment Unit; and (ii) the publication of the subsequent report.

(AQW 13514/11-15)

Mr Ford:

- (i) Two Prison Service meetings were held prior to the decision to close the Prisoner Assessment Unit.
- (ii) Two Prison Service meetings were held to discuss requests for the disclosure or publication of the Report into the Investigation of the Prisoner Assessment Unit.

Death in Custody

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW12906/11-15, to detail the relevant staff associations that were in agreement.

(AQW 13515/11-15)

Mr Ford: Both the Prison Officers Association and the Prison Governors Association agreed the existing NIPS Code of Conduct and Discipline.

Illegal Protest: Ardoyne

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW11862/11-15, with the exception of the costs disclosed, what is the total of all other costs which have been incurred in this case, including costs to the PSNI and the Public Prosecution Service.

(AQW 13516/11-15)

Mr Ford: The estimated court related costs incurred to date including judicial, staff and facilities are £12,600.

Further claims for legal fees have been submitted since my previous answer and I have set out below updated Legal Aid costs.

Fees of £5,378.08 have been paid under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE) (including VAT of £852.62 and disbursements of £121.96).

£53,464.19 has been paid to date for proceedings at the Magistrates' Court (including VAT of £8,597.52 and disbursements of £9.07). Fees of £47,604.58 (including VAT of £7,859.25 and disbursements of £9.07) were paid to solicitors and a total of £5,859.61 (including VAT of £738.27) was paid to Counsel.

£10,005.51 has been paid to date for proceedings at the Crown Court (including VAT of £1,426.30 and disbursements of £1,447.68).

Of these fees £5,906.88 (including VAT of £743.20 and disbursements of £1,447.68) has been paid to solicitors and £4,098.63 (including VAT of £683.10) has been paid to Counsel.

The Police Service of Northern Ireland and the Public Prosecution Service have advised that to extract the information required to answer this question would involve a lengthy manual exercise which would incur disproportionate cost. They are therefore not in a position to supply the information sought.

Office of the Police Ombudsman: Complaints

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice to detail the process used by his Department when dealing with complaints made against the actions of the Office of the Police Ombudsman.

(AQW 13517/11-15)

Mr Ford: If having made a complaint of administrative maladministration to the Chief Executive of the Police Ombudsman's Office, the complainant is unhappy with the Chief Executive's decision, the individual can raise a complaint with my Department. A written request specifying the grounds of maladministration along with a copy of the Chief Executive's decision letter should be forwarded to my Department. My Department will then ask the Police Ombudsman's Office for a report, which the Head of Policing Policy and Strategy Division will consider on my behalf, and determine whether the complaint is substantiated and if so, can appoint an independent person to investigate.

Office of the Police Ombudsman: Complaints

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice how many complaints his Department has received regarding the actions of the Office of the Police Ombudsman, in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13520/11-15)

Mr Ford: The information requested is only available from 12 April 2010, when the Department of Justice came into being. The table below details how many complaints of administrative maladministration regarding the actions of the Office of the Police Ombudsman the Department has received.

| Period                  | Number of complaints received |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------|
| April -December 2010    | 0                             |
| January – December 2011 | 1                             |

Office of the Police Ombudsman: Complaints

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice how many of the complaints received by his Department against the actions of the Office of the Police Ombudsman, in each of the last three years, were upheld.

(AQW 13522/11-15)

Mr Ford: The information requested is only available from 12 April 2010, when the Department of Justice came into being. The table below details how many complaints of administrative maladministration regarding the actions of the Office of the Police Ombudsman the Department has received and how many of those complaints were upheld.

| Period                  | Number of complaints received | Number of complaints upheld               |

Prisoner Ombudsman

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether the Prisoner Ombudsman has made representations on behalf of republican separated prisoners on protest, including the dates on which any representations were received.

(AQW 13546/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prisoner Ombudsman has not made any such representations.

Cost of Transporting Defendants to Court

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW12956/11-15, whether the four prisoners were produced to the court in error on the day in question, given that no applications or amendments had been sought, and that no bail issues or arrangements needed to be considered; and who made the requests to the Northern Ireland Prison Service for the production of the prisoners.

(AQW 13549/11-15)

Mr Ford: None of the prisoners were produced to the Court in error. As I stated in my answer to AQW/12956/11-15, the decision to have a defendant produced in court is a judicial decision.

Judicial decisions on prisoner production are communicated to the Northern Ireland Prison Service by the Northern Ireland Courts and Tribunals Service.

Prisons: Body Scanning Equipment

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Justice whether he can give an undertaking that, should separated prisoners be relocated to Mourne House, the commitment given on full body scanners will be upheld in the facility.

(AQW 13561/11-15)

Mr Ford: As I have stated in the House on a number of occasions, new search technologies are to be piloted to assess their suitability for use in relation to all prisoners in all establishments, in keeping with the Prison Review Team's recommendation and are not related to specific groups of prisoners.

Prisons: Body Scanning Equipment

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Justice for an update on the pilot for full body scanners in Magilligan and Hydebank Wood.

(AQW 13562/11-15)

Mr Ford: Formal written quotations have now been received from two suppliers for the leasing of Millimetre Wave Body Scanners for three month pilot schemes at Magilligan Prison and Hydebank Wood YOC. Purchase orders will be placed as soon as the business case has been approved but one of the suppliers has advised that there will be an eight week delivery time from the date the purchase order is received. A number of final queries have yet to be resolved with the other supplier, including operator training costs and equipment insurance requirements. It is planned that these outstanding matters will be resolved during a visit to the supplier on 24 July.

Prison Service officials are continuing to work through a number of practical arrangements including site surveys in conjunction with the suppliers, staff training requirements, legal advice and information to prisoners. Consideration is also being given to the timing of the commencement of the respective pilots given the delivery timescale from one of the suppliers.

Prisons: Body Scanning Equipment

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister of Justice to outline the timescale for (i) the procurement of full body imaging equipment; (ii) the installation of the equipment; (iii) staff training on the use of the equipment; (vi) any other work to make the imaging scanners operational in the planned pilot scheme.

(AQW 13563/11-15)

Mr Ford: My answer to AQW/13562 provides an update on the pilot schemes for Millimetre Wave Body Scanners at Magilligan Prison and Hydebank Wood YOC.

There are also plans to pilot the use of Transmission X-ray Scanners at Magilligan Prison as soon as the necessary approval has been obtained under the Justification of Practices Involving Ionising Radiation Regulations 2004.

Northern Ireland Prison Service: Disciplinary Proceedings

Lord Morrow asked Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW 12780/11-15, and given that the statistics requested should be easily accessed in accordance with the recording requirements contained in Regulation 13.1 of the Northern Ireland Prison Service Code of Conduct and Discipline, and in accordance with Rule 118 (5) of the Prisons and Young Offenders Centre Rules (NI) 1995, as amended, (i) to explain why the information can only be obtained at disproportionate cost; (ii) whether the foregoing requirements have been complied with by the Northern Ireland Prison Service and; (iii) to detail the format in which these records have been retained or stored since 1995.

(AQW 13575/11-15)

Mr Ford: The information requested would require detailed examination of paper records and could therefore only be obtained at disproportionate cost.

The Northern Ireland Prison Service complies with the Department of Justice's Records and Information Retention and Disposal Schedule.

Records pertaining to disciplinary cases are retained in either hard copy or electronic format.

Supervision and Treatment Orders

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice whether he has any plans to (i) legislate to extend Supervision and Treatment Orders beyond the current two year maximum; or (ii) allow the Judiciary to extend the duration of the Orders at its discretion.

(AQW 13577/11-15)

Mr Ford: The maximum period for supervision and treatment orders was increased from two to three years, with effect from 30 June 2011, by the Supervision and Treatment Orders (Maximum Period) Order (Northern Ireland) 2011 (S.R. 2011 No. 115).

On 6 July, my Department issued a public consultation on extending proposed mental capacity legislation to the criminal justice system in Northern Ireland and implications for the courts' existing mental health powers. The consultation invites comments on these existing powers, including supervision and treatment orders, whether these are sufficient and whether they might be amended. I look forward to the responses to the consultation and will examine these in detail before deciding whether to bring forward further proposals in this area.

Courts: Adjournment Monitoring

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice why the adjournment monitoring exercise is only available at Londonderry Magistrates Court.

(AQW 13578/11-15)

Mr Ford: The adjournment monitoring exercise was piloted in Londonderry Magistrates' Court to analyse the adjournment reasons in that Petty Sessions District.

Any decision surrounding the operation of this pilot is a matter for the Presiding District Judge (Magistrates' Court).

Prison Unit at Crumlin Road

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice for how long a prison unit has operated at Crumlin Road, Belfast since the prison's closure, irrespective of the title; and to list the titles by which it was known in the corresponding years.

(AQW 13579/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Prisoner Assessment Unit at the former Belfast Prison site has been in operation since the closure of the Prison in 1996. It was originally known as the Working-out Unit which operated from a designated landing within Belfast Prison.

On the closure of the vacant Staff Training Unit the locker rooms were converted into a 22 bed residential unit which became the Working-out Unit. In 2002 (approximately) the title of the Unit was changed to the Prisoner Assessment Unit.

Registered Firearms Dealers

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Justice to detail the number of Registered Firearms Dealers in each of the last ten years.
(AQW 13614/11-15)

Mr Ford: The operation of firearms licensing is a matter for the Chief Constable, who is accountable to the Northern Policing Board. I am committed to respecting the operational independence of the Chief Constable and role of the Policing Board.

You may therefore wish to direct your question to the PSNI.

Firearms Certificates

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Justice how many Firearms Certificates were issued in each of the last ten years.
(AQW 13615/11-15)

Mr Ford: The operation of firearms licensing is a matter for the Chief Constable, who is accountable to the Northern Policing Board. I am committed to respecting the operational independence of the Chief Constable and role of the Policing Board.

You may therefore wish to direct your question to the PSNI.

Brian Brendan Lynch

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW13022/11-15, (i) to provide a timeline of each appearance at court since the first appearance, detailing whether each adjournment was at the request of the prosecution or the defence; and (ii) what is the nature of the delay that is holding up the progress of this case.

(AQW 13621/11-15)

Mr Ford:

- (i) The table below lists the dates of all court appearances of this case. Not all appearances were for the purpose of seeking an adjournment.

The table also sets out the reason for the appearance and, where relevant, the party seeking an adjournment.

| Date     | Reason for Appearance       | Party Seeking Adjournment |
|----------|-----------------------------|---------------------------|

| 18.06.12 | Remand                | Prosecution               |

- (ii) I am advised that the reason for the delay in this case is because the Public Prosecution Service is awaiting the evidential copies of CCTV evidence for inclusion in the Preliminary Enquiry Papers.

Gerry McGeough: Legal Aid

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, given the amount of legal aid awarded for Gerry McGeough's numerous court challenges, and taking into account that all such actions have failed, whether he will instruct that no further funding should be certified to pursue any follow-up actions; and whether he will seek a percentage, of the legal aid awarded to be re-couped from the Gerry McGeough and Family Fund which hosted appeals for donations to cover his legal fees.

(AQW 13624/11-15)

Mr Ford: Any future applications for legal aid from Mr McGeough will be considered on the merits, by the relevant statutory authority, in accordance with Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights.

My Department has no evidence of additional funding being provided to Mr McGeough directly through the fund mentioned. If evidence were available that Mr McGeough had additional income which he failed to mention on his application for legal aid, the Northern Ireland Legal Services Commission would be in a position to commence an investigation for fraud.

Northern Ireland Prison Service: Disciplinary Action

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice (i) on how many occasions an outside agency has recommended disciplinary action against a Northern Ireland Prison Service staff member, in each of the last five years; (ii) to detail the recommending agency in each case; and (iii) how many recommendations were approved and actioned.

(AQW 13626/11-15)

Mr Ford: Disciplinary records held by the Prison Service indicate that no outside agency has explicitly made a recommendation that disciplinary action be invoked against a Northern Ireland Prison Service (NIPS) staff member, in the last five years.

Northern Ireland Allowance

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Justice whether he has any plans to introduce and back date the Northern Ireland Allowance to ex-members of the RUC or PSNI Full Time Reserve, to ensure equality with officers who served as regular members.

(AQW 13641/11-15)

Mr Ford: The Northern Ireland Transitional Allowance (NITA) has been paid since 1978, originally to recognise the special difficulties faced by the Royal Ulster Constabulary.

The NITA was reduced in 2007 following a comprehensive review. It was never the case that this allowance was removed completely.

Earlier this year, having carefully considered representations made to me, I agreed to increase the rate of NITA from £2,730 to £2,994, back-dated to September 2010. I made this decision to reflect the Chief Constable's assessment of an increase in the level of security threat and to take account of a specific recommendation in Tom Winsor's first report on police terms and conditions.

The pay remit for Full Time Reserve NITA payment is currently being progressed. All members of the PSNI, including Full Time Reserve, who were serving police officers at September 2010 should receive the increase.

Bloody Sunday

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Justice whether he will make representations to the Chief Constable that any police investigation into the events of 'Bloody Sunday' should cover all alleged criminality, including the possession of illegal weapons by some of those present.

(AQW 13670/11-15)

Mr Ford: The scope and remit of criminal investigations is a matter for the Chief Constable, who is accountable to the Northern Ireland Policing Board. I am committed to respecting the operational independence of the Chief Constable and the role of the Policing Board. You may therefore wish to direct your question to the Police Service of Northern Ireland.

Prisoner Assessment Unit

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW13452/11-15, and given the length of time already allowed on this report and that any preparations or redactions should have been completed before the end of June 2012, and that the inconvenience due to flooding lasted two days, (i) for his assessment of the explanation provided by the Northern Ireland Prison Service; (ii) whether he can provide a definitive deadline for publication of the report; and (iii) if this deadline is missed, whether he will authorise disciplinary action.

(AQW 13681/11-15)

Mr Ford: I am satisfied that the redactions were completed by Prison Service and agreed with Departmental Solicitors before the end of June. I believe that, in the unforeseen and wholly unprecedented circumstances, where NIPS had to vacate Headquarters in Dundonald House and to then focus on the delivery of essential services and the relocation of around 180 staff, it was entirely appropriate to make publication of the PAU report a lower priority.

Given the fluidity of the existing problems faced by NIPS, I am not prepared to give a definitive statement on when the report will be published. As stated, disciplinary action would be entirely inappropriate.

Department for Regional Development

Capital Projects: Lagan Valley

Mr Craig asked the Minister for Regional Development what capital projects his Department has planned for Lagan Valley over the next four years.

(AQW 13315/11-15)

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): The capital projects which my Department has planned for Lagan Valley over the next four years are set out below.

My Department has several hundred projects in progress or under development during each of the next 4 years. Details of those projects which have a forecast cost greater than £5 million are set out in the table below. The table also includes programmes within which a number of smaller projects are being taken forward.

The information provided above reflects current plans and may be subject to change.

The capital budget available to the Department in 2015-16 will be dependent on the outcome of the next Budget process.

Transport

Included in the table are projects which are relevant to the whole of the network including Lagan Valley, apart from the Belfast Rapid Transit figures which relate to the approximate proportion of the project capital spend which will be attributable to the Lagan Valley constituency.

NI Water

The investment levels in capital are indicative and will be determined by the Utility Regulator through its next regulatory price control process for water.

Roads Service

Roads Service has currently no significant capital projects planned for the Lagan Valley constituency over the next four years. The majority of Roads capital budget allocation is in relation to Strategic Roads Improvements and the planned spend will be focused on the A5, A8 and A2 schemes up to 2015-16. While this will not impact directly on the Lagan Valley constituency the improved roads infrastructure will benefit the country as a whole.

Of the remaining capital budget allocation resources are not allocated to a specific constituency or geographical area. Capital structural maintenance, for example, is allocated to the four Roads Service Divisions on the basis of need, using a range of weighted indicators tailored to each maintenance activity (i.e. resurfacing, surface dressing, structural drainage). Divisions use these indicators when apportioning across Council areas to ensure, as far as possible, an equitable distribution of funds across the whole of Northern Ireland.

Parking: Bangor

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he has any plans to introduce a telephone payment system for parking in Bangor.

(AQW 13369/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise the Member that my Department's Roads Service intends to introduce electronic parking payment across the whole of Northern Ireland. This service will mean that drivers do not need to have the correct change and they can start and stop their parking using a mobile phone and only pay for the time used. This facility currently exists in Belfast, Londonderry, Lisburn, Newry and Omagh, and it is hoped to extend this scheme to other towns across Northern Ireland, including Bangor, over the coming months.

Parking Meters

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Regional Development whether there are any plans to modify parking meters to dispense change.

(AQW 13371/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service is not aware of the use of Pay and Display machines that offer change in other regions of the UK. In the event that such machines were available, it is likely that their cost would be much greater than those currently used by Roads Service, and that the potential benefits of purchasing such machines would need to be carefully assessed, especially at a time when the Department is striving to identify further efficiencies in the provision of its parking enforcement and car park management services.

Blue Badges

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, in light of the National Audit Office findings that 7300 blue badges are being used despite the registered holder being deceased, what steps are being taken to address this issue.

(AQW 13398/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that the Northern Ireland Audit Office (NIAO) was reporting on the outcome of the 2010/11 National Fraud Initiative. This data matching exercise compared details on Blue Badge holders against death records. This exercise assisted in identifying those instances where the identity of a deceased person has been used to illegally obtain or renew a Blue Badge. Investigations carried out on these matches, indicated two such instances, which were reported to the police.

The NIAO report also identified the risk that a Blue Badge may be used by someone other than the named badge holder, to avoid parking costs or for easy parking.

Enforcement of Blue Badge use is undertaken by a team of dedicated Blue Badge Traffic Attendants. This team devotes the majority of its time to Belfast, however, every main town in Northern Ireland is covered on a rotational basis. Dedicated Blue Badge Traffic Attendants are easily identifiable by their high visibility waistcoats displaying the words "Blue Badge Parking Enforcement", which serves not only as a deterrent, but also a demonstration to legitimate Blue Badge holders that action is being taken to protect the proper use of Blue Badges. They are supported by the Blue Badge Unit in Enniskillen, which is able to verify badge details for the team on patrol so that they are able to carry out a more detailed level of investigation than the normal Traffic Attendant. Any suspicious activity relating to a Blue Badge is recorded and a Penalty Charge Notice is issued, if necessary, or the matter is referred to the police.

I can also advise that two recent surveys on the use of Blue Badges in Belfast in relation to street parking bays revealed no instances of misuse of deceased persons' Blue Badges.

Concessionary Travel Passes

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development for his assessment of the number of concessionary travel passes which are not cancelled following the death of the registered holder; and the cost of any resulting losses.

(AQW 13399/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department and Translink have been proactive in dealing with the deactivation of passes of deceased pass holders following the National Fraud Initiative (NFI) exercise. It is not a case that SmartPasses were issued to deceased individuals. Rather, there will always be a proportion of travel pass holders who regrettably pass away. The cases identified during the NFI exercise generally arose because their dependants have simply not realised that the passes should be returned for cancellation. Restrictions on data sharing have now been addressed as part of the NFI framework allowing this administrative issue to be addressed.

During the exercise, which identified approximately 15,000 possible cases there were 88 instances where a deceased customer's SmartPass was used to travel on Translink services after the reported date of death. It is estimated that the resulting cost of this was £4,593.39. These passes have since been deactivated. Existing controls over the use of Concessionary Fares mean that the individual using the card must purchase tickets and for the small percentage of cards used inappropriately it is not possible to pursue recovery of the loss incurred because the individual users cannot be identified.

Roads: Severe Weather

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister for Regional Development what research his Department has carried out on the resilience of the road network to severe weather.

(AQW 13403/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can confirm that my Department's Roads Service has not carried out any specific research in relation to the resilience of the road network to severe weather.

However, I can advise that a study was carried out, following the severe winter of 2009/10, to determine the extent of the damage caused to the network as a result of the severe winter. The study determined that a conservative estimate of damage caused by the repeated freezing and thawing would be in excess of £2m.

The study also concluded that the total cost of the damage, caused solely by the weather during that winter, may never fully be known, as it would not be practical, or indeed possible, to diagnose every failure that has already led to, or is likely to, contribute to damage in the future.

By and large, well maintained roads, in good condition, suffer relatively little damage from severe weather. But, where the surface is ageing, or has been damaged by excavation and reinstatement, water can penetrate into small cracks and other defects in the surface. When the water freezes (often overnight) it expands, opening up the cracks. During daytime thaws, the ice melts and more water seeps in, before the next freeze. Repeated freeze thaw cycles gradually open cracks and create cavities and the surface deteriorates very quickly. Traffic soon displaces the loose aggregate and potholes form. Most of the damage caused to carriageways by severe weather is very obvious, is very localised (patchy), and occurs where there were already minor defects in the surface.

It is clear that the current level of funding for roads maintenance is no longer sustainable, as the cost of poor value for money reactive patching is climbing year on year. The underinvestment of previous spending periods has created a vicious circle, because as pavements deteriorate through a lack of planned maintenance, they require relatively expensive patching to avoid public liability claims and maintain road safety, which draws further funds away from good value resurfacing and surface dressing.

Furthermore, it is difficult to estimate how the level of patching would increase if underinvestment in structural maintenance continues, because, as the level of underfunding and backlog increases, the rate of deterioration and the need for patching is also likely to increase, as will the damage caused by severe weather.

Fair Employment Tribunal: NI Water

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the costs incurred by his Department in relation to the Fair Employment Tribunal case on the appointment of the Chair of NI Water, including a breakdown by legal fees, travel costs and all other expenses.

(AQW 13421/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I refer to the answer I gave to AQW 13171/11-15 on 6 July.

The Department is continuing to consult with its legal advisors following the Tribunal's decision. As the process has not been concluded it is too early for me to comment further or to provide estimates in relation to the costs associated with this case.

Fair Employment Tribunal: NI Water

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development, in light of the Fair Employment Tribunal ruling in Lennon v the Department for Regional Development, whether he has reviewed the appointment of the current Chairman of Northern Ireland Water; and what was the outcome.

(AQW 13422/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I want to take some time to examine the implications of the decision with my officials and legal advisers. Any issues for follow up action will be considered after that as appropriate.

Active School Travel

Mrs D Kelly asked the Minister for Regional Development what progress his Department has made against the Programme for Government targets on Active School Travel.

(AQW 13436/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise the member that my Department is currently assessing the costs, potential for funding partnerships as well as developing the necessary Business Case to enable the Active School Travel Project to begin.

In the meantime my Department has commissioned a one year interim sustainable school travel proposal to be delivered to 40 schools which will begin the process of delivering increases in sustainable transport choices made by school children in advance of the introduction of the full Active School Travel Scheme.

DRD: Disposal of Capital Assests

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13441/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The Department and its Arm's Length Bodies, Northern Ireland Transport Holding Company and Northern Ireland Water, regularly review the assets they hold to establish whether they are still required, will be needed for future projects / operational purposes or can be declared surplus to requirements.

This ongoing process of reviewing asset holdings results in a rolling programme of asset disposals.

The assets listed below were programmed for disposal by the Department and its Arm's Length Bodies from 2012/13 to 2014/15. However, given the ongoing review processes this list may be subject change. Where possible, indicative timescales for asset disposal have been noted below.

The Department and its Arm's Length Bodies are also considering other future asset efficiency opportunities.

Traffic Volumes: A7

Mr Hazzard asked the Minister for Regional Development, pursuant to AQW 13017/11-15, for his assessment of the daily traffic flow on the A7 Downpatrick to Belfast road compares with traffic flow on all other ancillary roads into the city.

(AQW 13451/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that traffic volumes are recorded at a number of permanent sites located throughout the Northern Ireland road network. The collection of traffic data contributes to the effective management of the road network, the allocation of Roads Service's financial resources and the development of future proposals for the network.

The most recent Annual Average Daily Traffic (AADT) traffic flow information, recorded on the major ancillary roads into Belfast including the A7 Downpatrick – Belfast Road, is provided in the table below:

| Route                      | Location                             | Aadt   |
|----------------------------|--------------------------------------|--------|
| A7 Downpatrick – Belfast   | Belfast Road at Quoile               | 11,214 |
| A24 Newcastle – Belfast    | Belfast Road, Ballynahinch           | 8,698  |
| A1 Hillsborough – Lisburn  | At Harry's Road                      | 39,197 |
| A30 Glenavy – Belfast      | Glenavy Road                         | 3,779  |
| A6 Antrim – Belfast        | Belfast Road, Antrim                 | 8,984  |
| A2 Carrickfergus – Belfast | Near Trooperslane Road               | 24,825 |
| A2 Bangor – Belfast        | At Cultra , East of Folk Museum      | 36,613 |
| A20 Newtownards - Belfast  | Upper Newtownards Road at Quarry Inn | 22,945 |
| A22 Comber – Belfast       | Comber Road, South East of New Line  | 10,866 |
| A23 Ballygowan – Belfast   | Ballygowan Road at Roselawn Cemetery | 11,930 |
| A52 Crumlin – Belfast      | Belfast side of Horseshoe Bend       | 8,766  |

The information indicates that traffic flows on the A7 are sixth highest out of the eleven roads listed above.

Gully Inspections: South Down

Mrs McKeivitt asked the Minister for Regional Development how many inspections were carried out on gullies in South Down over the last three years.

(AQW 13457/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that it inspects, and cleans where necessary, all gullies in urban areas twice each year and gullies in rural areas once each year. This policy ensures that a reasonable level of maintenance is carried out to drainage systems, taking account of the Department's finite funding and staff resource levels.

In addition, and in accordance with Roads Service's Road Maintenance Standards for Safety, all public roads in the South Down area are inspected on a one, two or four monthly cycle, depending on the type of road.

Officials have indicated that during the course of these inspections any noticeable problems with the road drainage system are noted and, if necessary, remedial action is taken. As well as proactively identifying problems within the road drainage system, Roads Service also actively responds to representations made by elected representatives and members of the public, and will undertake further inspections upon receipt of any complaints.

Transport Infrastructure

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister for Regional Development whether there is communication between InvestNI and his Department regarding potential investors' feedback on transport infrastructure; and whether this feedback is used to inform decision-making on transport investment.

(AQW 13495/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: In March 2012 my Department published a New Approach to Regional Transportation. This document outlines the High Level Aims and Strategic Objectives for the development of transportation in Northern Ireland and the processes that it will use to make them a reality. In developing the New Approach my Department engaged with other public bodies including DETI and InvestNI to ensure that transportation integrates with existing and emerging Executive strategies and policies.

In bringing forward any new transport infrastructure or policies my officials will continue to engage with key stakeholders in other Departments, local government, business and industry (including InvestNI) and transport operators who are contained within its Section 75 consultation contact list.

A6 Dualling: Public Inquiry

Mr Campbell asked the Minister for Regional Development what is the estimated cost of the Public Inquiry on the proposed A6 dualling, which is due to be held at the Radisson Hotel, Limavady in September 2012.

(AQW 13512/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that the cost of holding the Public Inquiry at the Roe Park Resort, at the end of September 2012, is estimated at £150,000.

Illegal Posters: Lisburn

Mr Givan asked the Minister for Regional Development how many illegal posters have been removed by the Roads Service in the Lisburn Council area, in each of the last five years; and to list the organisations that have been charged for such removals.

(AQW 13528/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I can advise that 1,213 unlawful signs have been removed by my Department's Roads Service in the Lisburn Council area, within the past 5 years, an annual breakdown of which is shown below:

|                           |     |
|---------------------------|-----|
| ■ April 2007 – March 2008 | 601 |
| ■ April 2008 – March 2009 | 303 |
| ■ April 2009 – March 2010 | 203 |
| ■ April 2010 – March 2011 | 70  |
| ■ April 2011 – March 2012 | 36  |

Unfortunately, Roads Service does not hold information on cost recovery on a Council basis and the data is not easily extracted for a specific area. However, I have attached a list of those organisations charged by Roads Service's Eastern Division, which is mostly made up of Belfast, Castlereagh, Lisburn, Newtownabbey and Carrickfergus council areas.

Built Environment

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Regional Development what measures his Department is taking to ensure the built environment is adapted to changing climatic conditions; and whether he plans to introduce a climate change adaptation strategy.

(AQW 13543/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The Regional Development Strategy recognises the importance of climate change adaptation in development planning.

My Department provides input to the development of the Northern Ireland Climate Change Adaptation Programme through the Cross Departmental Working Group on Climate Change (CDWG-CC). This group is chaired by the Minister of the Environment. My Department is represented at the CDWG-CC by its Transport Deputy Secretary. DRD Roads Service and Water Policy provide input through an Adaptation Sub-Group. The development of an Adaptation Programme by the CDWG-CC reflects a coordinated effort across departments to respond effectively to climate change. Therefore, I do not have plans to develop a separate climate change adaptation strategy.

Northern Ireland Water also maintains a Climate Change Adaptation Strategy, Action Plan and Monitoring Plan aimed at adapting its drinking water and waste water assets to the risks associated with climate change. My Department's Roads Service takes account of Climate Change factors in the built environment.

Street Lighting

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Regional Development whether there are currently any delays in repairing street lighting.

(AQW 13574/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that there is currently no general delay in repairing street lighting. At present, Roads Service is operating its normal summertime cycle of street lighting night scouting, that is, lights are inspected once every four weeks, with follow up repairs carried out on any defects identified.

I would advise the Member that any street lighting faults, which occur outside of the inspection cycle, should be reported to the relevant Roads Service Division in the first instance.

TEN-T Funding

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development what applications have been made for TEN-T funding following the EU Commission's call for applications in January 2012; and with what result.

(AQW 13586/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The TEN-T Executive Agency announced an Annual Call for funding applications in January 2012 and my Department submitted applications for funding towards the following projects:

- (i) Coleraine to Londonderry Track Relay - funding support of approximately £4 million was sought ; and
- (ii) a study on developing the design of the York Street Inter-change - funding support of approximately £1 million was sought.

In addition, I can advise that my Department also submitted a joint application for funding with the Republic of Ireland's Electricity Supply Board. The application was submitted for funding of approximately €1.9million towards the installation of rapid charge points for electric vehicles, and a supporting IT system, on the TEN-T road network in Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland.

It is expected that the TEN-T Executive Agency will formally announce whether the applications have been successful by the autumn.

Disused Railway Lines

Mrs Overend asked the Minister for Regional Development (i) to detail the total length of disused railway lines; (ii) for a list of unused railway tracks, broken down by (a) length; and (b) constituency; and (iii) to list the current owners of the land on which the disused railway lines are found; and (iv) whether there are plans to utilise that land.

(AQW 13599/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Translink has advised that there are only two lines in public ownership that might fall under this description. They are Lisburn (Knockmore Junction) to Antrim and Greenisland to Monkstown. The former, which covers 18.5 miles, is in the South Antrim constituency and the latter, which is 1.5 miles long, is in the East Antrim constituency.

Translink has also advised that it has no plans to re-open the Lisburn to Antrim line within the timeframe of their current Corporate Plan but envisages the likelihood of re-opening the line in the medium-term future. It is currently maintained and used as a diversionary route in circumstances of emergency and on occasions for rail operations as part of driver training programmes.

Translink has advised that it has no plans or expectations to re-open the Greenisland to Monkstown line within the timeframe of the current Corporate Plan or medium-term future but would recognise a strategic benefit in retaining the alignment.

Parking: North Down

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development how many applications have been received for disabled parking bays in North Down, in each of the last three years; and how many (i) were granted; (ii) were rejected; and (iii) are pending.

(AQW 13630/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: Details of applications for disabled parking bays in North Down received, granted, rejected and pending in the 2009/10, 2010/11 and 2011/12 financial years are set out in the table below:

| Parking Bay Applications | 2009/10 | 2010/11 | 2011/12 |
|--------------------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Applications received    | 12      | 10      | 8       |
| Applications granted     | 4       | 2       | 4       |
| Applications rejected    | 8       | 8       | 4       |
| Applications pending     | 0       | 0       | 0       |

Traffic Volumes

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the average daily traffic volumes on the fifty busiest roads.

(AQW 13632/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: My Department's Roads Service has advised that traffic surveys are carried out on strategic and other specified routes as part of the Annual Traffic Census.

Details of the Annual Average Daily Traffic (AADT) on Northern Ireland's 50 busiest routes, or links along a route, in terms of traffic volume, as recorded in the 2009 Annual Traffic Census, are provided in the table below:

| Route no | Route | Location  | Channel 1  | Channel 2    | AADT   |

Craigtantlet Crossroads

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development what is the projected timescale for the proposed upgrade works on the Craigtantlet crossroads.

(AQW 13633/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: As the Member may be aware, a planning application for a proposed upgrade scheme at Craigtantlet crossroads was lodged on 16 January 2012. Details of the scheme are available through the DOE Planning Division portal at the following web address:

http://epicpublic.planningni.gov.uk/PublicAccess/zd/zdApplication/application\_detailview.aspx?caseno=LXY5VDSV30000.

I should advise that DOE Planning Division is currently considering this planning application and there is still the opportunity for interested parties to comment on the proposed scheme. I also understand that a number of objections to the proposed scheme have already been received.

As the project is at an early stage, funding has not yet been allocated for the scheme, and therefore, I am unable to confirm the likely timescale for the commencement of construction work.

Northern Ireland Water

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he can confirm that the current Chairman of Northern Ireland Water claimed, in his application for the post, that at that time he was employed with a company which had been dissolved in 2010 and dormant for the previous twelve months; and what action was taken, or is being taken, by his Department in relation to that matter.

(AQW 13639/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised that the application forms for the NI Water Chair position did not require applicants to provide information on their employment experience, this followed advice from the Office of the Commissioner for Public Appointments (OCPANI).

Parking: Bangor

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Regional Development whether he will review the revenue collected from the three car parks in Bangor, that were previously operated free of charge, within the next month, to ensure that the expected revenue is being raised; and if the revenue falls significantly below target, whether he will consider reversing his decision to end free parking at these car parks. (AQW 13642/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: The introduction of charges in a number of Roads Service car parks forms part of the budgetary Savings Delivery Plan relating to the review of car parking charges. The original projected total increase in revenue for year one of the Savings Delivery Plan (2011/12) was £1.865m. This total includes the additional revenue from both the tariff increases and the free to charged car parks.

The projected income for any individual car parks, which were originally free, cannot be considered, as demand and usage cannot be accurately predicted.

However, Roads Service carries out an annual review of parking charges, and in doing so, the individual parking needs of all towns, including Bangor, will be considered.

Department for Social Development

Jobseeker's Allowance

Mr Flanagan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) how many staff are currently employed as a result of the entire Job Seekers Allowance process, including tasks such as registration/application, signing on and making payments; (ii) how this figures compares with each of the last ten years; and (iii) whether additional staff will be required in the near future. (AQW 13241/11-15)

Mr McCausland (The Minister for Social Development):

- i) The number of staff currently involved in the administration of Job Seekers Allowance processes is 1,564. This figure includes 478 staff in the Social Security Agency who process and maintain Jobseekers Allowance and 1086 staff in the Department for Employment and Learning who undertake a range of roles including Job Seekers Allowance in Jobs and Benefits Offices. The Department for Employment and Learning figure includes staff that provide a work focused service to clients in receipt of Incapacity Benefit (since 2005) and Employment and Support Allowance (since 2008) as well as those in receipt of Job Seekers Allowance.

Staffing levels in the Department for Employment and Learning are determined by the Department's workforce planning procedures and it is not possible to give a detailed breakdown of the staff currently employed to deliver the service to Job Seekers Allowance clients only.

- (ii) Comparative analysis is available for the most recent 6 years from 2007 to present as outlined in the following table.

| Financial Year | Social Security Agency (JSA) | Department for Employment & Learning (Employment Service) |
|----------------|------------------------------|---|
| 2012/2013      | 478                          | 1,086   |
| 2011/2012      | 449                          | 1,103   |
| 2010/2011      | 410                          | 1,029   |
| 2009/2010      | 420                          | 975   |
| 2008/2009      | 237                          | 869   |
| 2007/2008      | 253                          | 801   |

Social Security Agency staff resources have been established in line with statistical forecasts with growth in-built for increasing workloads.

The figures shown include the period associated with the increase in unemployment caused by the economic downturn and the corresponding increase in staff resources over this period.

The Social Security Agency will continue to assess the impact of all issues impacting Job Seekers Allowance including the ongoing impact of the economic downturn and the recovery of the economy along with Welfare Reform changes.

- (iii) Additional staff may be required by the Department for Employment and Learning to deliver a service to Universal Credit claimants, however staffing requirements for the new service are unclear at this stage.

Dunluce Family Centre Site in Ballymagroarty, Derry

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the outcome of the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's pre-planning consultation on the future of the former Dunluce Family Centre site in Ballymagroarty, Derry.

(AQW 13358/11-15)

Mr McCausland: As the Dunluce Family Centre site is in an area of housing need, a detailed feasibility study was completed in order to determine the potential for social housing on the site. NIHE held pre application discussions (PAD) with the Planning Service on 1 December 2011.

Planning Service has subsequently confirmed that they would have no objection in principle to housing on this site subject to a number of issues around access, car parking, layout etc being satisfactorily addressed as part of any planning application.

Parents of Foreign Nationals Receiving State Benefits

Mr Clarke asked the Minister for Social Development whether the parents of foreign nationals, who have come to live in Northern Ireland with their adult children, are entitled to receive social benefits if they are of pensionable age and have never contributed to the pension system.

(AQW 13370/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The availability of social security benefits for people coming to the United Kingdom depends initially on their immigration status. Immigration, asylum and relations with the European Union are excepted matters under Schedule 2 to the Northern Ireland Act 1998 and fall outside the legislative competence of the Assembly.

The presence of non-EU nationals in the United Kingdom is strictly regulated by the Home Office and immigration rules impact directly on entitlement to social security benefits. Persons subject to immigration control are not normally entitled to income-related and non-contributory benefits. People who have not lived and worked in the United Kingdom will not have paid National Insurance contributions and will not normally have entitlement to contribution-based benefits.

Northern Ireland, as part of the United Kingdom, has legal obligations to meet in respect of citizens of the European Union. Family members of EU nationals who are workers or self-employed have a right to reside in the United Kingdom and may be entitled to income-related benefits. This can apply to the parents of a person exercising rights under EU law, provided they are dependent on that person.

Entitlement to income-related benefits such as State Pension Credit also requires satisfaction of the habitual residence test. The test has two elements: a legal right to reside and an objective assessment of factual evidence of habitual residence.

The United Kingdom also has reciprocal agreements with a number of countries which may assist an individual to satisfy contribution or residence/presence conditions for entitlement to certain benefits.

Blind or Visually Impaired Benefit Claimants

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development whether his Department has considered excluding claimants who are blind or visually impaired from having to undergo assessment for benefits, under the current proposals for personal independence payments.

(AQW 13379/11-15)

Mr McCausland: It is intended that the assessment for Personal Independence Payment will look at people as individuals rather than label them according to a particular impairment or disability. It has been designed to consider an individual's personal circumstances, enabling them to explain, in their own words, the impact their condition has on their everyday lives and the support they need. A face-to-face consultation will be a key part of the assessment process but it is important to ensure it is carried out in a sensitive and proportionate way and that individuals can, if appropriate, be helped through it by a family member or a support worker.

Where it is considered that there is already enough written evidence from the claimant, their GP or other people involved in supporting them from which an accurate assessment of the impact their condition has on their everyday life can be made, it may not be appropriate to require them to attend a consultation. Decisions on whether sufficient evidence has been gathered will be based on the circumstances of each case and guidance will be provided to support such decisions.

Employment and Support Allowance

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the number of Employment and Support Allowance claimants being treated for (i) cancer; (ii) mental health issues; and (iii) phobias, whose benefits have been stopped following an examination by a nurse.

(AQW 13407/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Department does not hold information on whether a customer is being treated at the time of their medical examination. Information is also not held on the medical conditions of disallowed customers.

Customer First: Western District

Ms Boyle asked the Minister for Social Development, in light of the announcement on the roll out of Customer First in the Western District, whether any discussions have taken place between his Department and the Department for Employment and Learning on the provision of a 'One Stop Shop' in premises at a central location in Strabane which had been envisaged previously as part of the Benefits and Jobs Project which has not yet been fully implemented.

(AQW 13477/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Jobs and Benefits service has been introduced into 27 offices across Northern Ireland, however at this juncture it is not possible to introduce it into the remaining 8 offices as no capital funding has been made available to the Department to complete the roll-out. While it is not possible to continue with the roll-out of new or substantially refurbished offices as originally envisaged, both my colleague, the Minister for Employment and Learning and I remain committed to maintaining and improving services to customers and will seek to take advantage of future opportunities to complete the introduction of the Jobs & Benefits service on an office by office basis. There is, however, no timeline for this work and progress will be subject to the identification of funding.

Houses in Multiple Occupation: Foyle

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on houses in multiple occupancy registration in the Foyle constituency.

(AQW 13505/11-15)

Mr McCausland: 464 Houses in Multiple Occupation have been registered in the Foyle constituency between 1 April 2004 to 4 July 2012.

Child Maintenance

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development whether he intends to impose an increase of the minimum Child Maintenance Payments.

(AQW 13506/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I am committed to encouraging and supporting parents to make their own family-based arrangements whenever possible and to also providing a much better and efficient statutory service.

I have not yet taken a decision as to whether the flat rate maintenance payments for child maintenance will be increased.

Benefits: Sanctions

Mr F McCann asked the Minister for Social Development how many benefit customers have been reported to his Department to be sanctioned during the current mandate.

(AQW 13524/11-15)

Mr McCausland: 8,300 benefit customers were referred to my Department for consideration of applying a sanction from May 2011 to date.

Benefits: Sanctions

Mr F McCann asked the Minister for Social Development how many benefit customers were reported to his Department to be sanctioned in each of the last three years.

(AQW 13525/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information requested is not available as it was not routinely recorded prior to May 2011. I refer the member to written answer given to AQW 13524/11-15 in relation to the most recent year.

Benefits: Sanctions

Mr F McCann asked the Minister for Social Development how many benefit customers have been sanctioned by his Department in the current mandate.

(AQW 13529/11-15)

Mr McCausland: 1325 sanctions were imposed on customers in receipt of benefit from May 2011 to date.

Benefits: Sanctions

Mr F McCann asked the Minister for Social Development how many benefit customers were sanctioned by his Department during the last mandate.

(AQW 13530/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information requested is not available as it was not routinely recorded prior to May 2011.

Housing Associations: Subcontractors

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) how housing associations monitor payments from main contractors to sub-contractors that are working on new build social housing developments; and (ii) the consequences if a main contractor does not pay a sub-contractor.

(AQW 13531/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Housing Associations monitor contractors' performance through the use of Constructionline, inspections of contracts by Clerk of Works and by holding monthly site meetings with all key stakeholders including sub-contractors and suppliers. It is not incumbent upon any Association to directly monitor the work or payment of sub contractors as the Association is not a party to these domestic sub-contracts.

Part 4 of the Department's Housing Association Guide, requires Housing Associations to operate a prompt payment policy (current Departmental guidance requires payment to be made within 30 days) to all contractors and subsequently requires all contractors to make prompt payments to their sub-contractors. Compliance with this guidance is checked as part of the Department's Inspection Process. However, there is no legal liability on Housing Associations to enforce the prompt payment provisions in any sub-contract.

Portrush: Station Square Public Realm Scheme

Mr Allister asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) how his Department ensures that all planning consents are in place before it allocates funding for public realm schemes; and (ii) whether the necessary steps were taken in regard to the Station Square Public Realm Scheme in Portrush.

(AQW 13534/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Any funding awarded by the Department to capital projects is subject to the applicant providing documentary evidence that all statutory approvals necessary have been obtained prior to the commencement of works.

In the Portrush scheme the Department issued a contract for funding on 17 May 2011 to Coleraine Borough Council and was provided with a copy of a Certificate for Lawfulness of Proposed Use or Development for the Station Square Scheme on 20 June 2011. This certificate was approved by Planning Service and satisfied the Department's requirement that statutory planning approval had been obtained for the Public Realm scheme.

The Department was also advised that separate planning applications would be required for a canopy and sculptural masts. These were subsequently taken forward by the appointed contractor to obtain the statutory approvals. The Department was content with this process and work commenced on 20 September 2011. Planning permission was subsequently granted for the canopy on 20 December 2011 and for the sculptural masts on 3 January 2012.

The Department did not make any financial payments to Coleraine Borough Council until all Planning Permissions were in place.

In the past few weeks it has transpired that there may be an issue with the planning status of the lighting columns. Discussions to resolve this issue are ongoing with Coleraine Borough Council and Planning Service.

Housing Waiting List: North Down

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development how many people in North Down, who are over the age of 55, are on the housing waiting list, broken down by housing type requested.

(AQW 13542/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The information is not available in the format requested as the Housing Executive does not hold waiting list information for applicants aged 55 years and above. However, figures are available for the Housing Executive's Bangor District Area regarding housing applications which includes households where a member is aged at least 60 years old and these are detailed in Table 1 below.

The Housing Executive collates information with regards to 26 separate household compositions and for reporting purposes groups them into six main household composition categories as detailed in Table 2 below. The Housing Executive determines the housing type required by the applicant on the basis of their housing need, household size and composition.

Table 1

|                                  | Elderly | Large Adult | Large Family | Single | Small Adult | Small family | Total |
|----------------------------------|----------------|--------------------|---------------------|---------------|--------------------|---------------------|--------------|
| Applicants not in Housing Stress | 262            | 20                 | 55                  | 497           | 90                 | 234                 | 1158         |
| Applicants in Housing Stress     | 380            | 17                 | 46                  | 423           | 64                 | 194                 | 1124         |
| Total Applicants on Waiting List | 642            | 37                 | 101                 | 920           | 154                | 428                 | 2282         |

Table 2

| Definition of Household types  | Household composition |

Social Housing: Subcontractors

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) whether there have been any incidences since 2007 of main contractors, who are working on social housing developments, not paying sub-contractors; and (ii) what power he has to intervene in such circumstances.

(AQW 13558/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I assume the Member is referring to the Social Housing Development Programme. With regard to non-payments by a main contractor to a sub contractor, my Department and Housing Associations would not have any access to this information. Part 4 of the Department's Housing Association Guide, requires Housing Associations to operate a prompt payment policy (current Departmental guidance requires payment to be made within 30 days) to all contractors and subsequently requires all contractors to make prompt payments to their sub-contractors. Compliance with this guidance is checked as part of the Department's Inspection Process. However, there is no legal liability on Housing Associations to enforce the prompt payment provisions in any sub-contract.

Housing Executive: Contractors

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Social Development what plans he has to recover money from contractors employed to carry out maintenance work for the Housing Executive that was not done.

(AQW 13564/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I assume the Member is referring to the statement which I made in the Assembly on 3 July 2012 regarding the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's management of response maintenance contracts. The draft report, in relation to the forensic investigation I commissioned, is currently being considered. However, as I indicated in my Statement, where it has been identified that claims were made that were fraudulent, unfounded, inappropriate and improper, the Housing Executive will vigorously pursue the recovery of such monies under their contract management arrangements.

Housing Executive: Maintenance Contracts

Mr Agnew asked the Minister for Social Development for the estimated cost to the Housing Executive of payments made on maintenance contracts for work that was not done.

(AQW 13565/11-15)

Mr McCausland: I assume the Member is referring to the statement which I made in the Assembly on 3 July 2012 regarding the Northern Ireland Housing Executive's management of response maintenance contracts. The draft report, in relation to the forensic investigation I commissioned, is currently being considered. This information is not therefore available at present. However, as I indicated in my Statement, where it has been identified that claims were made that were fraudulent, unfounded, inappropriate and improper, the Housing Executive will vigorously pursue the recovery of such monies under their contract management arrangements.

Housing Executive: Risk Evaluation on Bonfires

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development whether his Department, or the Housing Executive, has carried out a risk evaluation on bonfires which are located on, or near to, Housing Executive property.

(AQW 13573/11-15)

Mr McCausland: A number of annual bonfires are located on Housing Executive land and the Housing Executive is responsible for the clean up of sites and the repair of any damage to Housing Executive properties. The Housing Executive adopts a good relations and community led approach to best manage bonfires. Local bonfire management initiatives are supported at a local level by Housing Executive District Offices and monitored and supported by the Housing Executive's Community Cohesion Unit.

The approach to dealing with bonfires aims: -

- To reduce the risk to the environment.
- To develop a partnership approach which allows the agencies involved to impact on the bonfire issue in a cohesive manner.
- To develop a graduated response to bonfires which involves consultation, shared understanding, negotiation and if necessary proportionate and legal use of enforcement methods.
- Promote a shared, inclusive community celebration.

The general benefits for the Housing Executive in providing support to improve bonfire management include: -

- Environmental damage through the burning of inappropriate material is reduced.
- Introduction of controls into the commencement of the collection of bonfire material.
- Reduced opportunities for fly tipping and the disposing of illegal waste.
- Reduced clean up costs.
- Engagement and supporting local communities.
- Reduced paramilitary and inappropriate displays of flags and effigies etc.
- Enhanced partnership working.
- Improved community cohesion and good relations.
- Reduced aggressive cultural displays.

The management of bonfires is the responsibility of a range of agencies and the Housing Executive works in partnership with local Councils, the PSNI, Fire Service and local communities. A large number of the bonfire initiatives are Council led and the Housing Executive supports these Council led initiatives in a partnership approach. This approach has proved very successful in areas such as Belfast, Newtownards and Antrim.

In addition the Housing Executive provides an estate warden service which monitors the condition of bonfire sites in a number of its estates.

Passported Benefits

Mr McCallister asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on (i) the consultative forum established to consider the issues of passported benefits; and (ii) the Social Security Advisory Committee established to carry out a review of the implications of a change to passported benefits.

(AQW 13604/11-15)

Mr McCausland:

- (i) The Universal Credit consultative forum provides the opportunity for senior officials to consider and advise on cross departmental policy issues arising from the introduction of Universal Credit. This includes reviewing potential eligibility criteria and the technical solutions required to deliver specific passported benefits.

Via the consultative forum, my department has facilitated the analysis of potential costs and the impact on entitlement of identified demographics. This analysis will assist affected departments to determine the eligibility criteria that Ministers may choose to apply to the specific passported benefits for which they are responsible.

- (ii) The Social Security Advisory Committee was commissioned to complete a review of passported benefits in Great Britain and how they would interact with Universal Credit. At my request, this review was subsequently extended to include Northern Ireland. All departments that currently deliver passported benefits in Northern Ireland, and a number of customer representative groups, responded to the consultation. A report detailing the Committee's findings was published on 27 March 2012.

The report provided an analysis of current delivery across the UK and highlighted various methodologies that could be adopted for determining eligibility to the major passported benefits alongside the advantages and disadvantages of the detailed options. The report has been useful to inform discussions on the eligibility and delivery of passported benefits in Northern Ireland.

Universal Credit

Mr McCallister asked the Minister for Social Development for his assessment of the projected additional uptake of benefits through Universal Credit, due to the simplifications which will be introduced to the rules governing the new benefit.

(AQW 13605/11-15)

Mr McCausland: It is estimated that up to 46,000* households will be newly taking up or taking up more benefit as a direct result of Universal Credit. This is due to changes in entitlement, increases in take-up, and the integrated nature of the Universal Credit system.

This figure is made up of three main groups:

- Cases who were not entitled to current system benefits but are entitled and take up Universal Credit. For example in work, claimants aged under 25 who are not currently eligible for Working Tax Credits but will be eligible for Universal Credit.

- Cases who are entitled to current system benefits but do not take up any of their entitlement to these benefits in the current system, who are then expected to claim Universal Credit when it is introduced, due to an increase in entitlement or a simpler claim process.
- Cases who take up less than their full entitlement to current system benefits, but will receive the full amount of Universal Credit they are entitled to due to the integrated system. For example, a claimant may be entitled to Income Support and Housing Benefit but only claim Income Support. Under Universal Credit, a claimant will be assessed for all the elements at one time and will automatically receive the Housing Element if they are entitled to it.

Passported Benefits

Mr McCallister asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the passported benefits for which his Department has responsibility, including (i) how much of each benefit has been paid; and (ii) the number of recipients, in each of the last five years. (AQW 13606/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Department for Social Development is responsible for three passported benefits, which form part of the regulated Social Fund. These benefits are Cold Weather Payments, Funeral Payments and Sure Start Maternity Grants.

Through the Northern Ireland Housing Executive, my Department is also responsible for several schemes providing support for people on low incomes. The provision of this financial assistance is dependent on existing entitlement to a social security benefit and/or the application of a test of an individual's ability to meet costs (means testing). The benefits offered are the Disabled Facilities Grant, the Home Repairs Assistance Grant, the Replacement Grant, the Renovation Grant, Group Repair and Warm Homes Scheme.

- (i) & (ii) The tables below show the amounts paid and the number of recipients for the last five years in respect of Cold Weather Payments, Funeral Payments and Sure Start Maternity Grants.

Cold Weather Payments

| Year    | Amount £m | Number of recipients |
|---------|-----------|----------------------|
| 2011/12 | Nil       | Nil                  |
| 2010/11 | 16.81     | 672,520              |
| 2009/10 | 16.87     | 672,000              |
| 2008/09 | 1.84      | 73,520               |
| 2007/08 | Nil       | Nil                  |

Funeral Payments

| Year    | Amount £m | Number of recipients |
|---------|-----------|----------------------|
| 2011/12 | 2.41      | 2421                 |
| 2010/11 | 2.59      | 2639                 |
| 2009/10 | 2.53      | 2612                 |
| 2008/09 | 2.57      | 2657                 |
| 2007/08 | 2.37      | 2508                 |

Sure Start Maternity Grants

| Year    | Amount £m | Number of recipients |
|---------|-----------|----------------------|
| 2011/12 | 2.02*     | 3994*                |
| 2010/11 | 5.31      | 10453                |
| 2009/10 | 5.02      | 9904                 |
| 2008/09 | 5.12      | 10064                |
| 2007/08 | 4.48      | 8842                 |

* Grants restricted to first child born on or after 11 April 2011

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development how the current transformation plans for the Girdwood site will address the current inequality in housing impacting on the Catholic community in North Belfast.

(AQW 13609/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Social Housing Development Programme for the current year includes a gross programme of 333 units that could be delivered across a number of locations in North Belfast. Each of these will meet housing need.

When plans for Girdwood are at a stage where they can be included in the programme, this will further contribute to meeting housing need in North Belfast.

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development how many new homes will be built on the Girdwood site; and how these will mitigate the housing inequality in North Belfast.

(AQW 13610/11-15)

Mr McCausland: No feasibility has yet been undertaken to identify the type of housing or density that could be accommodated on this site.

Once that work has been undertaken I would be happy to advise the member accordingly.

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development whether the current plans for social housing on the Girdwood site will be opened for public consultation.

(AQW 13611/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The draft master plan for the Girdwood site was subject to public consultation in 2007. An Equality Impact Assessment was carried out on the proposals for the site in 2008/09 and was also subject to public consultation.

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development whether an equality screening exercise has been carried out on the plans for social housing on the Girdwood site, as per the Department's legal obligations; or when such an exercise will be undertaken.

(AQW 13612/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The draft master plan for the Girdwood site was subject to public consultation in 2007. An Equality Impact Assessment was carried out on the proposals for the site in 2008/09 and was also subject to public consultation.

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Copeland asked the Minister for Social Development to outline the timeframe for the progression of each stage of the plan for social housing on the Girdwood site.

(AQW 13613/11-15)

Mr McCausland: No feasibility has yet been undertaken to identify the type and density of housing that could be accommodated on this site. Once this is completed I will be in a better position to outline a timeframe for progress and will be happy to respond to the member at that time.

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the number of social houses planned for the Girdwood site, North Belfast.

(AQW 13646/11-15)

Mr McCausland: No feasibility has yet been undertaken to identify the type of housing or density that could be accommodated on this site.

Once that work has been undertaken I would be happy to advise the member accordingly.

Publicly Funded Jobs in the Voluntary Sector

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the procedures followed by his Department when monitoring publicly funded jobs in the voluntary and community sectors.

(AQW 13647/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Department for Social Development does not directly fund jobs in the voluntary and community sector. It does however provide funding to voluntary and community groups for the employment of individuals to deliver agreed outputs/outcomes. As the Department is not the employer, responsibility for monitoring the individual employed rests with the relevant voluntary and community group.

Benefits: Ulster Bank

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development what alternative arrangements have been considered for the payment of benefits to claimants who use the Ulster Bank, until normal service at the bank is resumed.

(AQW 13657/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The Social Security Agency has fully discharged its responsibility by ensuring that benefit payments have been lodged to customers' designated bank accounts. It is therefore inappropriate to make replacement payments. Agency officials continue to liaise with the Ulster Bank to ensure, where necessary, validation of entitlement to benefit is confirmed thereby enabling the Bank to make the necessary payment.

Housing: Girdwood Site

Mr Humphrey asked the Minister for Social Development, in relation to the plan for social housing on the Girdwood site, to detail (i) what instructions his Department gave to Apex Housing Association and when; (ii) who prepared the plan for Apex and when they were commissioned to prepare it; (iii) what instructions they were given; (iv) the cost of preparing the plan and who met the cost; (v) when the plan was completed and given to his Department; (vi) whether a planning application was submitted; (vii) whether an Equality Impact Assessment was carried out in relation to the plan; and (viii) whether the plan mirrors the original vision.

(AQW 13690/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Apex Procurement Group were appointed by the NIHE on 8 July 2010 to bring forward a scheme for the Girdwood site that would deliver social housing in 2 phases; the first for 100 homes in 2011/12, and the second for a further 100 homes in 2012/13. This action was taken on foot of advice to the NIHE that the department would be making land available on the Girdwood Park site and that a Housing Association/Procurement Group should be appointed to take this work forward.

Apex Procurement Group subsequently invited design teams, from their framework agreement for professional construction related services, to view the site and submit proposals to design and manage the construction of social housing on the Girdwood Park site. McAdam Design was appointed following this exercise on 6th October 2010.

The design, which was developed to RIBA Stage C, was launched by my ministerial predecessor on 14 March 2011.

The design, which included housing proposals for the majority of the Girdwood site, was not subject to an Equality Impact Assessment and was not submitted for planning approval. The 2007 Master plan Conceptual Framework for Girdwood (revised in 2010) envisaged housing provision as one of the physical uses on the site within a mixed-use comprehensive development to include other uses.

Housing Associations would normally recoup fees associated with scheme designs in the overall housing grant payable at the completion of a scheme. As the social housing scheme at Girdwood did not proceed as anticipated, design costs of £119,674.49 were paid by NIHE on behalf of DSD in August 2011.

Northern Ireland Assembly Commission

Cost of Securing the Report on the Unauthorised Disclosure of a Draft Report of the Public Accounts Committee

Mr Allister asked the Assembly Commission what was the total cost of securing the Report on the Unauthorised Disclosure of a Draft Report of the Public Accounts Committee.

(AQW 13342/11-15)

Mr Cree (The Representative of the Assembly Commission): There was no cost to the Assembly Commission for securing the interim Assembly Commissioner for Standards' report on the Unauthorised Disclosure of a Draft Report of the Public Accounts Committee. The interim Assembly Commissioner for Standards has advised the Assembly Commission that the total cost to the Ombudsman's office for completing the report has been calculated at £5,891.66. This is based on the staff time involved in completing the investigation.

Written Answers to Questions

Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister

Child Poverty

Mrs Overend asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister what targets they have in place for reducing the levels of severe child poverty.

(AQW 11382/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness (The First Minister and deputy First Minister): The Child Poverty Act 2010 describes the statutory targets against which the Executive is under an obligation to measure poverty reduction here.

These include:

- the relative low income target
- the combined low income and material deprivation target
- the absolute low income target and
- the persistent poverty target

Although there is no target in the Act for 'severe' poverty, the Executive has made a commitment to support those in greatest need. Our Delivering Social Change framework has been developed to help support this work.

Social Investment Area Steering Groups: Membership

Mr Lyttle asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister which type of elected representatives will be considered, in conjunction with the d'Hondt mechanism, for membership of Social Investment Area Steering Groups.

(AQW 13518/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: On 17 May 2012, Executive Ministers agreed the operation of the Social Investment Fund (SIF), which included the process to form the steering groups across all nine zones.

Our officials have carried out an analysis of the elected representatives per zone and applied the D'Hondt method to determine political party membership. We will write to Party leaders shortly to ask for representation to the groups within their specific allocations.

Party leaders will nominate. There will be a maximum of 4 political representatives per Steering Group.

Winter Fuel Payments

Mr Lyttle asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister how the criteria were set for cancer patients' entitlement to winter fuel payments; and whether they will consider widening these criteria in the future.

(AQW 13591/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Executive established the Social Protection Fund to assist those most in need within the wider community.

Last year it agreed to prioritise fuel poverty through this fund and committed the entire £20 million budget to a Winter Fuel Poverty Payment Scheme, brought forward by DSD and DHSSPS, under the Financial Assistance Act.

Among those entitled to Winter Fuel Poverty Payments last year were people in receipt of cancer treatment, who met separate eligibility criteria, determined by DHSSPS.

Future Social Protection Fund Programmes are subject to the identification of future revenue streams during budgetary exercises. Each scheme under the Social Protection Fund should be treated as an exceptional, stand alone scheme.

Department of Agriculture and Rural Development

Central Investigation Service

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development why the civil servant investigated in the Deloitte report into the Central Investigation Service in July 2010 was not subject to any disciplinary action, given the adverse findings.

(AQW 12909/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill (The Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development): The Department is not in a position to discuss individual members of staff. However, I can advise that the Department is completely satisfied that all appropriate action was taken as a result of the findings in the Deloitte Report.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the number and percentage of people (i) considered for inclusion; and (ii) successful, in all ministerial appointments since 2007, broken down by perceived community background.

(AQW 13173/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: There have been 46 ministerial appointments made to DARD -sponsored Non Departmental Public Bodies (NDPBs) since May 2007. Of these, 24 appointees (52%) declared community background as Protestant, 20 appointees (43%) as Roman Catholic and 2 appointees as "Neither". A total of 247 applications were received in respect of competitions held for these appointments, of which 159 (64%) declared community background as Protestant, 74 (30%) as Roman Catholic, 12 (5%) as "Neither" and 2 (1%) were unknown.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, in relation to ministerial appointments, what the respective success rates have been for Protestant and Catholic applicants since May 2007.

(AQW 13288/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: There have been 46 ministerial appointments made to DARD -sponsored Non Departmental Public Bodies (NDPBs) since May 2007. Of these, 24 appointees (52%) declared community background as Protestant, 20 appointees (43%) as Roman Catholic and 2 appointees as "Neither". A total of 247 applications were received in respect of competitions held for these appointments, of which 159 (64%) declared community background as Protestant, 74 (30%) as Roman Catholic, 12 (5%) as "Neither" and 2 (1%) were unknown.

Countryside Management Scheme

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what funding is available to councils through the Countryside Management Scheme.

(AQW 13580/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Funding for measures that promote environmental benefit is available to councils that are participants in the new NI Countryside Management Scheme (NICMS) or the legacy Countryside Management Scheme and Environmentally Sensitive Area Schemes.

This funding aims to enhance biodiversity, improve water quality, reduce the impact of climate change and enhance the landscape.

The next application period for such agri-environment schemes will be during the NI Rural Development Programme 2014 - 2020.

Rural Development Programme

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development how many groups or individuals have been awarded funding under the Rural Development Programme to create cycle paths from disused railway tracks or revamp existing cycle paths.

(AQW 13600/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Under the Rural Development Programme 2007/2013 funding has not been provided to any projects to create cycle paths from disused railway tracks. However funding has been awarded to one project to replace a bridge on an existing walking/cycling pathway along a disused railway track.

Dundonald House: Flooding

Mr Frew asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, in relation to the flooding on 27 and 28 June 2012, (i) what (a) paper; (b) data; and (c) equipment was stored in the basement of Dundonald House; (ii) what was destroyed by the flooding; (iii) how the data and information will be recovered; (iv) how this will impact on the work and recording of her Department; and (v) for her assessment of the impact on the agriculture industry or other sectors for which her Department is responsible.

(AQW 13636/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill:

- i. (a) A large number of mostly pre-2007 paper files and the data held therein were stored in the basement of Dundonald House.
- (b) Besides the data held within the paper files, there was no other data (e.g. computer backup tapes) held in the basement.
- (c) A small amount of replacement IT supplies and some redundant equipment such as printers were stored in the basement.
- ii. It is clear that most of the paper files and equipment have been destroyed by the flooding. There has also been extensive damage to the electrical, heating and air ventilation services to Dundonald House.
- iii. Recovery of any information held solely on the paper files in the basement is unlikely.
- iv. There has been some impact on my Department due to re-locating a large number of staff from Dundonald House, but it is functioning as normal.
- v. External facing IT services were taken down as a precaution for a short period, but no additional impact for the agricultural industry or related sectors is anticipated.

Wildlife Intervention Programme

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development what discussions she had with the Minister of the Environment prior to announcing her Department's Wildlife Intervention Programme.

(AQW 13653/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: As the badger is a protected species, any wildlife intervention research here will be subject to the agreement of the Environment Minister and to the issue of the necessary licences. As I shall explain, considerable preparatory design work needs to be completed before we will be in a position to submit such a licence application to the Minister of the Environment. Therefore a meeting at this stage in relation to the bovine TB wildlife intervention research, which I announced on 3 July 2012, would be premature. However, our respective officials maintain regular contact in relation to bovine TB and wildlife related issues.

Following recent discussions with industry stakeholders and informed by the views of the external experts who attended the International Vaccination Symposium in Belfast in May 2012, I asked my officials to design specific wildlife intervention research. This approach would involve testing live badgers; vaccinating and releasing the test negative badgers; and removing the test positive ones.

This wildlife intervention research would focus on removing diseased badgers and protecting uninfected ones. This balanced approach would avoid killing uninfected badgers and could lead in time to a healthier badger population and a reduction in transmission of TB to cattle.

The aim of this wildlife intervention research would be to test the effectiveness of this approach on the level of TB in badgers and in cattle in the north.

I have asked my officials to start work straight away to design and cost this wildlife intervention research. This is a new approach. We expect the design for such a study will be complex and we want to be sure that we get it right. There are a number of key steps to be completed.

The first step is to commission the necessary modelling using information from the north. This initial modelling will help to ensure that the subsequent design is scientifically robust. The modelling will help us identify the optimum location and size for the study, and how long it would need to run. It will also help to identify the costs of this wildlife intervention research more clearly.

When we have the results of the initial modelling, the next step will be to design the study proposal. There are a number of other preparatory actions that will be necessary. These include completing the necessary business case; securing the necessary funding; and, at the appropriate time, to seek the agreement of the Environment Minister and the issue of the necessary licences.

Rivers in the Foyle System: Establishment of Fish Hatcheries

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether she intends to allow the establishment of fish hatcheries on rivers within the Foyle system.

(AQW 13656/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Salmon and inland fisheries operational management within the cross border Foyle system is a role of the Loughs Agency. The Agency has reviewed research into the role that hatcheries might play in conservation of the wild fisheries in the catchment and angling development. The common theme emanating from all these studies is that while hatcheries may have a place in stock rebuilding in certain circumstances they are not currently appropriate for the Foyle salmon fisheries.

Rather, the Agency undertakes a programme of habitat protection and restoration geared to optimising the production of indigenous genetically 'fit' fish. Evidence indicates that these wild fish demonstrate better survival through the salmon's life cycle – from egg to egg – than hatchery raised fish. The current low marine survival of salmon from post smolt to adult is the predominant factor impacting low runs of salmon. Consequently helping create conditions in freshwater to optimise the numbers of these wild smolts is the more sustainable biological approach to maximising returns of adult salmon to their natal rivers.

This strategy has been communicated to stakeholders.

Foyle System: Buy-out of Remaining Nets

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether she will consider a buy-out of the remaining nets on the Foyle system.

(AQW 13658/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The Department with the other Sponsor Department of the Loughs Agency, the Department of Communication, Energy and Natural Resources, provided funding to the Loughs Agency in 2007 for the provision of a hardship package to commercial salmon fishermen.

This was made available to all licence holders who were prepared to permanently cease fishing for salmon in the Foyle Area. Of the 162 licences available in 2007 134 of the licensees opted for the package leaving 18 drift net licences to operate in Lough Foyle and 10 draft nets to operate in the tidal River Foyle.

The Regulations introduced by the Agency in association with this rationalisation of the exploitation of salmon require defined escapement targets to be achieved if the commercial fishery is to operate. These have not been achieved in recent years. The commercial fishery for salmon has therefore been suspended and will only reopen if the escapement targets are achieved in 4 of the previous 5 years.

In light of this, and prevailing budget pressures, I do not believe it is appropriate to consider such an action at this time.

Wind Turbines

Mr Elliott asked Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail (i) the number of applications for financial support for the erection of wind turbines in each of the last five years; and (ii) the amount of funding awarded to successful applicants.

(AQW 13659/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The only funding available within my Department for the installation of wind turbines is through Axis 3 of the Rural Development Programme. The information you have requested is as follows:-

(i) Number of applications by year:

| 2009 | 2010 | 2011 | 2012 |
|------|------|------|------|
| 18   | 5    | 23   | 75   |

(ii) The amount of funding awarded to successful applicants so far is £618k of which £117k is for the completion of feasibility studies. These may lead to further projects for the installation of wind turbine equipment.

Rural Development Programme

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development whether any successful applications for funding under the Rural Development Programme have yet to receive funding; and if so, (i) what is the value of the funding in each case; and (ii) by what date will this backlog be cleared.

(AQW 13663/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: I am interpreting this question to refer to Axis 3 of the Rural Development Programme.

- (i) Currently under Axis 3 there are 137 projects worth £9.1 million that have been approved for funding by Local Action Groups (LAGs) and ratified by Joint Council Committees (JCCs) but await issue of Letters of Offer (LOOs). A list detailing each can be provided if required.
- (ii) Given the need to accelerate spend, all clusters issue letters of offer as quickly as possible after approval by the JCC. Once this has been done there is a requirement for cluster staff to discuss with promoters, the terms and conditions attached to the LOO, the promoter then has four weeks to consider whether or not to accept the Letter of Offer. Opening calls and processing applications is an iterative process and as a result there will always be a number of projects at this stage of the processing. This coupled with the autonomous nature of the terms of the delivery contract means that each JCC and its LAG manage their own administrative arrangements. With these arms length management arrangements this contract focuses on the outcomes, including investment milestones which are to be achieved and does not therefore collate information on average processing time.

Wildlife Intervention Programme: Testing Badgers

Mr McCallister asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to detail the procedure for testing badgers as part of the Wildlife Intervention Programme for addressing bovine TB, including (i) the type of diagnostic test to be used; (ii) the staffing requirement to conduct or oversee the diagnostic test; (iii) the timescale from the diagnostic test being administered to the result being obtained.

(AQW 13697/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: Following recent discussions with industry stakeholders and informed by the views of the external experts who attended the International Vaccination Symposium in Belfast in May 2012, I have asked my officials to design specific wildlife intervention research. This approach would involve testing live badgers; vaccinating and releasing the test negative badgers; and removing the test positive ones.

This wildlife intervention research would focus on removing diseased badgers and protecting uninfected ones. This balanced approach would avoid killing uninfected badgers and could lead in time to a healthier badger population and a reduction in transmission of TB to cattle. The aim of this wildlife intervention research would be to test the effectiveness of this approach on the level of TB in badgers and in cattle in the north.

I have asked my officials to start work straight away to design and cost this wildlife intervention research. This is a new approach: we expect the design for such a study will be complex and we want to make sure we get it right. There are a number of key steps to be completed.

It will also help to identify the costs of this wildlife intervention research more clearly.

When we have the results of the initial modelling, the next step will be to design the study proposal. The design of the study will include consideration of the type of diagnostic test to be used; the staffing requirement to conduct or oversee the diagnostic test; and the timescale from the diagnostic test being administered to the result being obtained.

The MMV Ostrea

Mrs Dobson asked the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development for a breakdown of expenditure on the MMV Ostrea in each year since it was procured.

(AQW 13699/11-15)

Mrs O'Neill: The Loughs Agency vessel, the MMV Ostrea was procured from New Zealand and arrived in England in April 2009 at a total cost of some £807k. Subsequent expenditure on running costs, maintenance and upgrades for the vessel has been:-

|      | Running costs£ | Maintenance£ | Upgrades£ |
|------|--------------------|------------------|---------------|
| 2009 | 9546               | 358              | 59,712        |
| 2010 | 19,488             | 27,589           | 3262          |
| 2011 | 18,022             | 19,515           | 0             |
| 2012 | 11,818             | 2,439            | 20,417        |

Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure

Language Strategies: Irish and Ulster Scots

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to list the organisations and individuals who have received the (i) draft Strategy for Ulster-Scots Language, Heritage and Culture; and (ii) draft Strategy for Protecting and Enhancing the Development of the Irish Language, prior to their release for public consultation.

(AQW 13675/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín (The Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure): Ministerial Colleagues, and the Chair and Members of the Committee for Culture, Arts and Leisure, received the draft strategies prior to their release for public consultation.

- (i) Foras na Gaeilge received an early working draft of the Irish language strategy
- (ii) The Ulster-Scots Agency and the Ministerial Advisory Group on the Ulster Scots Academy (MAGUS) received early working drafts of the Ulster Scots language, heritage and culture strategy.

Language Strategies: Irish and Ulster Scots

Miss M McIlveen asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to list the organisations and individuals that her Department consulted on the development of the (i) draft Strategy for Ulster-Scots Language, Heritage and Culture; and (ii) the draft Strategy for Protecting and Enhancing the Development of the Irish Language.

(AQW 13676/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My department consulted with:

- (i) Pobal for the draft Irish language strategy
- (ii) Ulster-Scots Agency and Ministerial Advisory Group on the Ulster Scots Academy (MAGUS) for the draft Ulster Scots language, heritage and culture strategy.

Arts Council: Annual Funding Programme

Mr Eastwood asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, pursuant to AQW 11441/11-15, to detail the organisations in the Derry City Council area that (a) received grants from the Annual Funding Programme in 2012/13 and the grants they received; and (b) unsuccessfully applied for grants from the Annual Funding Programme in 2012/13 and the grants for which they applied. (AQW 13715/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Organisations in the Derry City Council area that (a) received grant awards through the Annual Funding Programme 2012/13 and the grants they received are attached at Annex A and (b) unsuccessfully applied for grants from the Annual Funding Programme in 2012/13 and the grants for which they applied are attached at Annex B.

Annex A

Awards through the Annual Funding Programme 2012/13

| Organisation Name   | Grant Amount |
|---|--------------|
| An Gaelaras Ltd   | £143,850.00  |
| Contre for Contemporary Art Derry - Londonderry (Formerly, Context Gallery) | £91,187.00   |
| Derry Theatre Trust   | £132,994.00  |
| Echo Echo Dance Theatre Company   | £113,153.00  |
| Guildhall Press   | £48,638.00   |
| North West Play Resource Centre (The Playhouse)                             | £267,023.00  |
| Sole Purpose Productions  | £35,565.00   |
| The Nerve Centre  | £158,995.00  |
| The Void Art Centre   | £147,183.00  |
| Verbal Arts Centre  | £263,398.00  |
| Voluntary Arts Network (for Voluntary Arts Ireland)                         | £98,590.00   |
| Waterside Theatre Company Ltd   | £134,979.00  |

Annex B

Unsuccessful applications to the Annual Funding Programme in 2012/13

| Organisation Name                 | Grant Amount |
|-----------------------------------|--------------|
| Greater Shantallow Community Arts | £63,230      |
| Walled City Music Trust           | £119,050     |

Both of the above organisations have since been funded through other appropriate Arts Council programmes.

Department of Education

Schools: Admissions

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQO 1954/11-15, how the current residency policy could be contrary to obligations, under the Treaty on the Functioning of Europe, given that education is a member state competence, and that the height of the EU's role, under Article 165, is to encourage co-operation between member states.

(AQW 11731/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd (The Minister of Education): As I have previously stated, it is my view that school admissions should reflect the way families along the border access services within modern concepts of mobility. In that context the current residency requirement raises the question whether such a requirement is compatible with EU law.

Jubilee Garden Party: Tickets

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Education how many tickets for the Jubilee Garden Party on 27 June 2012 were allocated to (i) the Minister; (ii) his Department; and (iii) its arm's-length bodies.

(AQW 13400/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd: The Department of Education was allocated 150 tickets, of these 76 were allocated to Departmental staff and their families, 66 tickets were allocated to the Department's arm's-length bodies. The remaining 8 tickets were allocated to other organisations within the wider education sector. There was no separate allocation of tickets made to Departmental Ministers.

The NIO also made separate allocations to the Education and Library Boards.

Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment

Gas Boiler Flues in Voids: Health and Safety Executive Recommendations

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether financial assistance will be available to pensioners, and people on low incomes, to meet the Health and Safety Executive recommendations on gas boiler flues in voids.

(AQW 13673/11-15)

Mrs Foster (The Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment): The Health and Safety Executive for Northern Ireland will not be making financial assistance available to pensioners or people on low incomes to meet its recommendations on gas boiler flues in voids.

Gas Boiler Flues in Voids: Health and Safety Executive Recommendations

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment whether the Health and Safety Executive recommendations on gas boiler flues in voids will be compulsory for home owners and tenants; and whether any guidance will be issued to the owners of such boilers.

(AQW 13674/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Whilst the recommendations regarding the visual examination of gas boiler flues in voids are not legally binding on homeowners and tenants, they are strongly advised to follow them. Related guidance is available from the gas supply companies or from HSENI.

Executive Subgroup on the Economy

Mr McCallister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to outline the forward work programme of the Executive Sub Group on the Economy and to provide a summary of its meetings and achievements to date.

(AQW 13705/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The primary focus of the Executive Sub-Committee on the Economy, from its establishment in March 2010, was the development of the NI Economic Strategy. The Strategy was published on 13 March 2012 following agreement by the Executive and endorsement by the NI Assembly.

In addition to developing the NI Economic Strategy, the Sub-Committee also received regular updates on key policy issues including: the work of the Joint Ministerial Working Group on the NI Economy (Corporation Tax); Regional Aid and the contribution of Skills & Employability. Members of the Sub-Committee also received briefings from other Executive Ministers on the role of the agri-food sector; planning reform and welfare reform.

At its most recent meeting, held in June 2012, members of the Executive Sub-Committee on the Economy met with the EU R&D Commissioner, Máire Geoghegan-Quinn.

Going forward, the key focus of the Sub-Committee will be on monitoring the implementation of the Economic Strategy and its impact on the performance of the local economy. The Sub-Committee will also take the opportunity to discuss any relevant, wider economic issues that may arise.

The next meeting of the Sub-Committee is planned to take place in September 2012.

Executive Subgroup on the Economy

Mr McCallister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how the Executive Sub-Group on the Economy's top five priorities were identified which focus on key research markets.

(AQW 13708/11-15)

Mrs Foster: The NI Economic Strategy recognises that in order to deliver the Executive's economic vision we must build a larger and more export focused private sector. To do this we must build upon our existing strengths as well as exploit new opportunities in the global economy by targeting resources and support towards those sectors which have the greatest potential for growth.

The NI Economic Strategy identifies five key R&D intensive and high technology global markets which have significant potential for growth and which have been identified as areas where Northern Ireland already has established key strengths in research, skills and exports. They were identified by MATRIX, the Northern Ireland Science Industry Panel, following an extensive process of research and consultation. We have also established a unit within DETI which will work closely with MATRIX, business leaders, academia and other departments to identify emerging market and technology opportunities for the NI economy over the next decade and beyond, and will develop a strategic approach to exploiting these.

The Economic Strategy has also prioritised business and financial services, creative industries, tourism, the social economy and the rural economy in recognition of the significant and ongoing contribution these areas make to the Northern Ireland economy.

FP7 Applications

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the number of successful FP7 applications from collaborations between Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland.

(AQW 13709/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Analysis of the most recent data provided indicates that there have been 553 Collaborative Applicants (216 Northern Ireland and 337 Ireland) in 197 proposals to November 2011 of which 137 applicants (54 Northern Ireland and 83 Ireland) have proved successful securing funding of €40,171,045 for 50 proposals (€9,948,297 Northern Ireland and €30,222,748 Ireland).

The largest areas of successful activity are Marie Curie, AgriFood, Research for the Benefit of Small and Medium Enterprises, Health, Security, Nanosciences, Nanotechnologies, Materials and New Production Technologies (NMP) and Information Communication Technology.

InterTradeIreland will continue to work in partnership with Invest NI, businesses and the universities to encourage more collaboration in the Framework programme and the future Horizon 2020 programme.

Department of the Environment

Leases for Facilities on Land

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment what consultation has taken place with the Crown Estate in relation to leases for facilities on land.

(AQW 11059/11-15)

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): The Department does lease some areas of foreshore from the Crown Estate for management within statutory nature reserves and a Country Park. NIEA leases some areas of foreshore from the Crown Estate in Strangford Lough, in Lough Foyle and at the west end of Rathlin Island for management as part of statutory nature reserves and at Crawfordsburn and Helen's Bay for management as part of the Country Park. No recent consultation has taken place on these; consultation is generally confined to the period leading up to renewal of the lease. NIEA does, however, receive annual invoices for payment under the leases.

I have requested a full schedule of the leases, renewal dates (etc) and will consider the matter further.

Some of the areas so leased include slipways but no other 'facilities' are involved.

The Crown Estate also consults NIEA on the implications for nature conservation of the issuing of new leases or the renewal of existing leases to third parties of the sporting rights over foreshore areas in Northern Ireland.

Local Government: Capital Spending

Mr McMullan asked the Minister of the Environment whether he intends to put a cap on capital spending by local government prior to its reform.

(AQW 11156/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Councils need to act responsibly and prudently in considering whether or not to incur capital expenditure in the period leading up to local government re-organisation. Indeed, the Regional Transition Committee, which I chair, is arranging for the provision of further guidance encouraging them to do so and to liaise closely on this matter with the councils with which they will be amalgamating in 2015. This inter-council liaison will be initially managed through the Voluntary Transition Committees, which I have reinstated, in order to promote a pragmatic and responsible approach to the future needs of the enlarged councils.

Provision has already been made, in the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act (Northern Ireland) 2010, which will enable the Statutory Transition Committees to exercise control on capital expenditure contracts, non capital contracts, and the disposal or acquisition of land owned by the existing councils. The key requirement is for the councils to seek the written consent of their relevant Statutory Transition Committee before entering into contracts or disposal / acquisition of land which exceed sums to be specified by the Department.

The Regional Transition Committee will also be reviewing these controls and considering whether or not they need to be extended to embrace the use of council reserves and loans. I will consider if legislation is required and will monitor closely the situation.

River Faughan Special Area of Conservation

Mr McCartney asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to the letter he received, dated 12 September 2011, from the River Faughan Anglers on their environmental concerns about the extensive unauthorised sand and gravel extraction which is affecting the River Faughan Special Area of Conservation, why, after eight months, he has not replied and when he will reply.
(AQW 11487/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The letter of 12 September 2011 from the River Faughan Anglers was passed by my Private Office to planning officials, for a reply to issue on my behalf. Departmental officials acknowledged receipt of this letter on 5 October 2011 and indicated that a number of issues required further investigation and that a comprehensive response would issue once those investigations were completed.

Let me make it clear – the delay in reply is unacceptable and the fact that a draft AQ has been forwarded to me on 6 July 2012, six weeks after the AQ has been submitted also raises questions. I have instructed that a comprehensive reply is issued by 10 July 2012 and I would be happy to meet the River Faughan Anglers on the related issues. I have asked my head of planning to look at the management of the correspondence.

I am also looking at the issues and questions raised in the members series of questions and, if appropriate, I shall advise the member further. There are a range of complex matters that will require further assessment by me.

Minerals Extraction or Minerals Plant/Machinery: Planning Applications

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment how many planning applications for minerals extraction or minerals plant/machinery, which have been approved in the last five years, were retrospective.
(AQW 12163/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In the last five years the Department approved 153 applications for minerals extraction or minerals plant/machinery. With regard to establishing those that were approved retrospectively in the period covered by this question, the Department does not hold this information in a form that is readily available and could only be compiled at a disproportionate cost. However the interrogation of a smaller sample of recent applications suggests that at any time between 40 and 50% of applications of this type may have been retrospective. I have asked further details on why and how up to 50% may have been retrospective.

Climate Change Adaptation Measures

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what climate change adaptation measures are being taken; and for his assessment of whether these are sufficient to meet Northern Ireland's obligations under the UK Climate Change Act 2008.
(AQW 12862/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Government departments are taking action to adapt to our changing climate through existing and new policies and strategies. The Department of the Environment has contributed to a Preliminary Flood Risk Assessment, published in December 2011, enabling flood risk up to the year 2030 to be assessed. Furthermore, the Department's planning policy minimises flood risk to property by restricting development in flood plains and in areas of flood risk.

The Cross-Departmental Working Group on Climate Change (CDWG), which I chair, provides the platform that will facilitate effective control and monitoring of adaptation actions across all departments and ensure that we meet our legal obligations under the UK Climate Change Act 2008. The Working Group is currently assisting in the preparation and delivery of a cross cutting Adaptation Programme for Northern Ireland, which should be presented to the Executive in early 2013. This programme will provide a cross departmental response to the risks and opportunities identified in the Northern Ireland Climate Change Risk Assessment.

Whilst adaptation is an important issue, mitigation is also equally as important as this deals with the causes of climate change and looks at the challenges we face in dealing with greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions and the potential means by which Departments, working together, might tackle these challenges.

While all of the parties represented in the Assembly agree on the need to address the issue of greenhouse gas emissions, there are differences of opinion on the best way to achieve this. There is considerable political support for a Northern Ireland Climate Change Bill with robust targets but it is by no means universal. In this regard I have extended an invitation to my Executive colleagues to meet with me to discuss this important matter and how best we can take the legislation forward while at the same time helping Northern Ireland make the transition towards a low carbon economy.

When considering the desirability of introducing a Northern Ireland Climate Change Bill to the Assembly, I sought independent advice from the Committee on Climate Change, a UK wide body established under the Climate Change Act 2008. The Committee's report, "The Appropriateness of a Northern Ireland Climate Change Act", was published in November 2011 and sets out the benefits of legislation. The report was subsequently reinforced in a follow up letter from the Chief Executive of the Committee in which he stated 'legislation in Northern Ireland would help signal political commitment and improve the investment climate, and would therefore complement the UK Act in providing a basis for action'.

To progress a Northern Ireland Climate Change Bill I intend to bring forward policy proposals for a Climate Change Bill for consideration by the Executive in the autumn, followed by a public consultation. The outcome of the public consultation exercise will inform the final content of the Bill, including targets for greenhouse gas emissions. I hope to introduce the Bill to the Assembly in April 2014 though I will attempt to accelerate the timescale if possible.

Northern Ireland Environment Agency: Inspection of the Exploration Oil and Gas Wells

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to detail, since 1990, on what date the Northern Ireland Environment Agency, or other bodies, inspected each of the exploration oil and gas wells.

(AQW 13102/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Northern Ireland Environment Agency, or its predecessors, have not had any involvement in exploration oil or gas wells requiring any inspections to be carried out.

I am given to understand that any person who wants to explore for, drill for, or extract oil or gas in Northern Ireland must hold a Petroleum Licence granted by the Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment (DETI) under the Petroleum (Production) Act (Northern Ireland) 1964.

You may wish to contact the Minister for Enterprise, Trade and Investment as her Department may have had a role in inspecting oil or gas wells.

Wind Farms: Planning Applications

Mr Beggs asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) how many planning applications for wind farms are with the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) and awaiting a decision; and (ii) what is the average time taken by the NIEA to make a decision.

(AQW 13193/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The NIEA is an agency within the DOE and provides expert advice on environmental issues. The Department currently has nineteen windfarm applications awaiting internal advice from the NIEA. This figure however does not equate to the number of consultations received as there may be multiple consultations for each application.

The average time to provide a consultation response from the Built and Environmental Protection Directorates is two weeks. The Natural Heritage Directorate receives a significantly higher number of windfarm applications, some requiring input from a number of specialist staff. In 2011/12, 152 consultations arising from 57 windfarm applications were received by the Natural Heritage Directorate. 143 of these have been responded to, the average response time being eleven weeks, with a range of one to thirty one weeks. A dedicated windfarm team has been set up within the Natural Heritage Directorate in view of the complexity and increasing number of windfarm consultations.

The Department continues to work with applicants and agents, particularly in respect of renewable energy, and participates in strategic meetings with wind farm and single turbine developers to improve communication and the quality of applications submitted in a bid to reduce delays caused by inadequate information.

North Down Borough Council Area: Planning Enforcement Actions

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment how many planning enforcement actions are currently being administered in the North Down Borough Council area.

(AQW 13279/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department is currently pursuing seven enforcement actions in North Down Borough Council area. It is important to note that the term enforcement action refers to the service of an enforcement notice or direct summons.

At present there are 160 investigations in the North Down Borough Council area.

Capital Assets: Disposal

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

(AQW 13440/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department's main capital assets relate to the land and buildings managed by the Northern Ireland Environment Agency. There are currently no plans to dispose of any significant assets in the next three years. However, the Agency also manages smaller assets such as vehicles and scientific equipment which are disposed of mainly by sale at auctions when they become obsolete and are no longer fit for purpose. Given the nature of the bidding process at auctions it would be very difficult to put a value on the potential sales over the next three years of these smaller assets however the residual values are usually quite low. Very few of these smaller assets are scrapped.

Flooding: Planning Requirements

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment whether he intends to introduce planning requirements to ensure that (i) new buildings are not developed in flood prone areas: (ii) Sustainable Urban Drainage Systems are adopted.

(AQW 13550/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Planning Policy Statement (PPS) 15 'Planning and Flood Risk' introduced in June 2006 already seeks to minimise the risk of flooding by requiring that in all but the most exceptional of circumstances new development is not located within the flood plains of rivers or the sea where it may be at risk itself or cause or worsen the effects of flooding in the locality.

I am currently reviewing PPS 15 to take account of new information and experience in the implementation of flood risk policy.

In addition, following the Northern Ireland Environment Agency (NIEA) publication 'Managing Stormwater – A Strategy for Promoting the Use of Sustainable Drainage Systems (SuDS) within Northern Ireland' in September 2011, a Stormwater Management Group has been established to drive forward recommendations published in this Strategy. The most likely legislative vehicle which will drive the implementation of stormwater management is the 'Floods Regulations' which are being taken forward by Rivers Agency.

It is my intention that future stormwater is managed in a more sustainable way, moving away from traditional underground piped drainage systems. This is underpinned by PPS 15 which promotes an integrated and sustainable approach to the management of development and flood risk. Any changes to the planning requirements as a result of this proposed legislation will be taken into account in the review of PPS 15.

I anticipate that this integrated and catchment based approach to stormwater management will deliver multiple sustainable and economic benefits.

Bangor West to Ballywooley Lane, Bangor: Proposal to Extend

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment what consideration he has given to the Planning Appeals Commission's proposal to extend Bangor West to Ballywooley Lane, Bangor.

(AQW 13554/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I took a decision in June 2012 to depart from normal practice and publish the reports from the Planning Appeals Commission (PAC) that relate to the objections heard at the BMAP Public Inquiry, in advance of the adoption of the Plan.

In the Ministerial Statement that accompanied the release of the PAC Reports, I explained that I had taken this decision in order to introduce further certainty about potential development opportunities in the Belfast Metropolitan Area, in the interim period before BMAP is finalised.

In this Statement, I stressed that while the PAC reports contain the recommendations of the Commission, they do not give the final position with regard to the objections to the Draft Plan. In cases where the PAC recommend changes to the draft Plan, my Department is carefully considering these recommendations as part of the adoption process.

The PAC has recommended such a change to draft BMAP in relation to lands at Ballywooley Lane in Bangor, and therefore no assumption should be made as to the development status of this land until such times as the PAC recommendations have been considered, and BMAP is finalised.

I also made it clear in my Ministerial Statement that in order to allow the focus to remain on adopting BMAP, neither I nor my officials will be entering into any discussions relating to the recommendations contained in the PAC Reports.

Article 20 of the Planning Order and Article 7(1) of the 1993 General Development Order

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment to outline the importance of the requirements in Article 20 of the Planning Order and Article 7(1) of the 1993 General Development Order, that drawings and information furnished as part of a planning application should adequately describe the intended development; and if they are inadequate, what are the consequences.

(AQW 13589/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The requirements in relation to the form and content of planning applications are laid down in planning legislation and in application forms and guidance documents published by the Department.

The main relevant legislative requirements, governing the submission of planning applications and description of proposed development are Articles 20 of the Planning (Northern Ireland) Order 1991 and Article 7 (1) of the Planning (General Development) Order (Northern Ireland) Order 1993.

Applications for permission to develop land are made on Form P1 or on one of a series of other application and supplementary forms depending upon the nature of a development. The forms and the Department's publication entitled 'Explanatory Notes on Applying for Planning Permission, Approval of Reserved Matters and Other Planning Consents' advise applicants as to what is required in relation to a planning application, including scaled plans and drawings, identifying the site to be developed and providing a full and accurate description of the proposal. It is essential that drawings are clear and precise and thus avoid misinterpretation.

Not only is planning application information required by the Department for validation and determination reasons, it is needed to inform the public and those who wish to make representations, including local Council and other political representatives, and to allow consultees to assess proposals and make their responses. It is, therefore, incumbent upon applicants and their agents to supply adequate and accurate scaled drawings and other information.

The implications of an incomplete and/or inaccurate application form, plans and planning fee can mean the return of the application due to it being made invalid or furthermore possible delay caused to the processing of the application and the potential for the application to be refused on the grounds that insufficient information has been provided and/or additional information requested has not been forwarded to allow the Department to determine the application.

It is of paramount importance that the adequacy and accuracy of drawings and other information required for a planning application meets the legislative and administrative process requirements of the Department and facilitate the planning system to operate efficiently and effectively in the interests of applicants and the public.

Another important part of processing a planning application is its advertisement in the press. Under Article 21 of the Planning Order 1991, the Department shall publish notice of an application in at least one newspaper circulating in the locality of the application site. The proposal description should make all aware of the location and nature of the proposal for which planning permission is being sought. If the MLA has a case or cases where there are issues I would wish to hear further.

Wildlife Intervention Programme: Consultation with Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development

Mr Swann asked the Minister of the Environment what consultation was carried out with the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development prior to her announcing the launch of her Departments Wildlife Intervention Programme.

(AQW 13662/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The announcement by the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development concerned 'wildlife intervention' research to address the important issue of bovine tuberculosis. The programme anticipates the trapping and testing for bovine TB in the field of live badgers; those testing negative would be vaccinated and released; those testing positive would be removed from the population.

For several years both Departments have been involved in gathering and sharing information on badgers and bovine TB, with the most recent meeting between officials having taken place on 1 June 2012.

My Department was not specifically consulted about the research programme announced by Minister O'Neill on 3 July 2012. However I note that in her announcement the Minister stated that any wildlife intervention research must comply with the relevant legislation and would require the issue of the necessary licences. Any licence application to NIEA to trap and test badgers, then to vaccinate or 'remove' them, would be assessed against the evidence presented at the time.

Wind Turbines: Planning Applications

Mr Elliott asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number of planning applications for wind turbines that are yet to be approved, broken down by divisional planning office.

(AQW 13664/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Table 1 overleaf sets out the number of live planning applications for wind turbines in each Area Planning Office as of 9 July 2012. Live applications refer to those planning applications which are currently being processed by DOE Planning and have not yet been decided. The figures include applications for single wind turbines, wind farms and meteorological masts.

Table 1: Live wind turbine applications by Area Planning Office (APO)

| APO   | Number of applications |
|--------------|-------------------------------|
| Belfast      | 52                            |
| Northern     | 212                           |
| South Antrim | 94                            |
| Southern     | 149                           |
| Strategic    | 169                           |
| Western      | 256                           |
| Total | 932                    |

Source: Planning, DOE

Please note: This information has been sourced from a live database, is subject to change following validation, and will not equate to any finalised official statistics which may be later published on the topic.

The Department acknowledges the importance of processing these types of planning applications in a timely manner.

Car and Trailer Test

Mr McKay asked the Minister of the Environment why the Car and Trailer Test can only be provided in three driving test centres; and whether there are plans to extend it to other centres.

(AQW 13665/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Category B + E car and trailer tests are currently conducted in four of the 15 Driver & Vehicle Agency test centres: Belfast, Londonderry, Craigavon and Omagh.

The towing element of the B + E test includes an off-road reverse manoeuvre, a controlled stop, and uncoupling and coupling of the trailer, in addition to driving on the road, and tests of this type can therefore be offered only in centres where suitable areas or spaces are available in which to carry out the manoeuvring requirements.

A key aspect of delivering driving tests to high and consistent standards is that of maintaining skills levels amongst driving examiners, and that in turn requires tests to be conducted on a regular basis by the examiners involved. The demand for B + E tests is still relatively low, as the table below shows, and that is reflected in the number of examiners involved and the number of centres from which the test can be delivered.

| Car + Trailer (Category B+E) | Tests Conducted |             |             |
|------------------------------|-----------------|-------------|-------------|
|                              | 2009-10         | 2010-11     | 2011-12     |
| Belfast                      | 240             | 300         | 315         |
| Craigavon                    | 235             | 574         | 710         |
| Londonderry                  | 69              | 126         | 190         |
| Omagh                        | n/a             | n/a         | 418         |
| Totals                | 544      | 1000 | 1633 |

The table indicates that the demand for these tests is increasing, and that was why Omagh was added as an additional centre in 2011-12.

Management in DVA are keeping the situation under review, and additional centres may be added in line with demand and the associated accommodation, training and quality control requirements.

Listed Buildings and Structures

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment what financial assistance is available to meet the approved expenditure for listed buildings and structures.

(AQW 13695/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Under Article 106 of the Planning (NI) Order 1991 'The Department may make grants or loans towards the whole or part of any expenditure incurred or to be incurred in the repair or maintenance of a listed building.'

The Department's listed buildings grant-aid scheme is available for 35% of the costs of eligible repairs of secular listed buildings and listed churches at Grade B+ and above. Assistance is also available for up to 75% of eligible professional fees and for works of repair to thatch roofs. Enhanced grant-aid may be available to owners of listed buildings in receipt of Income Based Job Seekers Allowance, Income Support, or Guaranteed Pension Credit.

Generally, the Department can offer grant-aid assistance towards the repair and maintenance of the original fabric of historic listed buildings, where it can be demonstrated that the works are necessary. At present, grant-aid is capped at £150,000 per scheme with a total budget available in 2012-13 of circa £2.6 million.

Applicants who are not eligible for grant-aid under the Department's listed buildings scheme include:

- Government/Public Bodies;
- Housing Associations funded by public monies;
- Large commercial organisations (for grant purposes this applies to listed buildings owned by Financial Institutions, for example, banks, building societies, insurance companies); and
- Multi-national companies.

Full details of the listed buildings grant-aid scheme may be found at the following link http://www.doeni.gov.uk/niea/historic\_buildings\_grants-2.htm

Listed Buildings

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the obligations and responsibilities of an owner of a listed building in relation to (i) repairs and maintenance; (ii) preservation; and (iii) alterations, internally and externally.

(AQW 13696/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department's Planning Policy Statement (PPS) 6: Planning, Archaeology, and the Built Heritage provides detailed guidance on the upkeep and repair of listed buildings, as well as guidelines for their alteration, extension and maintenance. I have provided a link to the document at the end of this answer. However, to paraphrase the policy (briefly) in relation to your specific questions, I offer the following response:

- (i) Repair and maintenance is essential to the conservation of historic buildings. Owners who inspect their buildings regularly and are prepared to carry out routine maintenance and necessary repairs, can prevent much more expensive work becoming necessary at a later date.
- (ii) Although there is no specific duty on owners to keep their buildings in a good state of repair, it will normally be in their interests to do so. However the Department has statutory powers to take action where the condition of a listed building is giving cause for concern. In practice, officials will normally try to enter into discussion with the owner before resorting to legal action. Annex D of PPS6 - The Upkeep and repair of Listed Buildings - provides detailed and helpful guidance on page 53.
- (iii) In relation to alterations, it is important to realise that every listed building has its own characteristics, which are usually related to an original or subsequent function, and these should be respected when proposals for alteration are put forward. There is considerable guidance contained in Annex E of PPS6 - Guidelines for the Alteration, Extension and Maintenance of Listed Buildings on page 56. The link to the document is as follows:-

Department of Justice

Bloody Sunday Deaths: Police Investigation

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Justice what are the budgetary implications of the decision to launch a four year police investigation on the 'Bloody Sunday' deaths.

(AQW 13669/11-15)

Mr Ford (The Minister of Justice): The scope and remit of criminal investigations is a matter for the Chief Constable, who is accountable to the Northern Ireland Policing Board. I am committed to respecting the operational independence of the Chief Constable and the role of the Policing Board. You may therefore wish to direct your question to the Police Service of Northern Ireland.

Bloody Sunday Deaths: Police Investigation

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice for his assessment of the projected cost of the PSNI's criminal investigation into the deaths on 'Bloody Sunday'.

(AQW 13679/11-15)

Mr Ford: The scope and remit of criminal investigations is a matter for the Chief Constable, who is accountable to the Northern Ireland Policing Board. I am committed to respecting the operational independence of the Chief Constable and the role of the Policing Board. You may therefore wish to direct your question to the Police Service of Northern Ireland.

Bloody Sunday Deaths: Police Investigation

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Justice whether any funding has been ring-fenced for the PSNI criminal investigation into the deaths on 'Bloody Sunday'.

(AQW 13680/11-15)

Mr Ford: The scope and remit of criminal investigations is a matter for the Chief Constable, who is accountable to the Northern Ireland Policing Board. I am committed to respecting the operational independence of the Chief Constable and the role of the Policing Board. You may therefore wish to direct your question to the Police Service of Northern Ireland.

Serious Case Reviews

Lord Morrow asked the Minister of Justice, pursuant to AQW13110/11-15, (i) whether he ordered the serious case review, (ii) why a serious case review was deemed unnecessary in the first instance; (iii) why it was June 2012 before a serious case review was instigated, given the numerous representations provided; and (iv) whether he can give an assurance that any agency or staff member found to have been in default in monitoring will face disciplinary action.

(AQW 13682/11-15)

Mr Ford: In response to parts (i) to (iii), I refer the Member respectively to the answers I gave to AQW 12823/11-15, AQW 9331/11-15, and AQW 13008/11-15.

In response to part (iv), agencies have their own individual disciplinary and capability procedures. In the event of being initiated, these procedures involve due process; it would therefore not be appropriate for me to comment further.

Department for Regional Development

A2 Bangor to Belfast Road and the Craiganlet Crossroads: Daily Traffic Volume

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Regional Development to detail the average daily traffic volume on (i) the A2 Bangor to Belfast road; (ii) the Craiganlet Crossroads.

(AQW 13631/11-15)

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): My Department's Roads Service has advised that it collects data from approximately 300 automatic traffic counting sites located throughout the Northern Ireland road network.

Details of the Annual Average Daily Traffic (AADT) traffic flow information, recorded at various locations on the A2 Bangor to Belfast road and at Craiganlet Crossroads, are provided in the table below:

| Census point      | Location  | AADT (7Day) | Year      |
|-------------------|---|-------------|-----------|
| 209               | A2 Sydenham Bypass at George Best City Airport                  | 58,270      | 2009      |
| 501               | Hollywood Bypass, east of Belfast Road                          | 45,100      | 2009      |
| 502               | Belfast – Bangor, at Cultra, east of Folk Museum                | 36,660      | 2009      |
| 506               | Bangor Ring Road at Clandeboye                                  | 19,260      | 2008      |
| 903               | Belfast Road, Bangor, at Coach Hill Bend                        | 15,180      | 2009      |
| 905               | Belfast Road, Bangor, before Springhill junction                | 11,190      | 2009      |
| 907               | Belfast Road, Bangor, Bangor side of Ballyrobert Road junction  | 14,503      | 2010      |
| 908               | Belfast Road, Bangor, Belfast side of Ballyrobert Road junction | 16,880      | 2009      |

| 915               | Bangor Road, west of Ballymoney Road at Devil's Elbow           | 17,211      | 2010      |
| Temporary Counter | Ballymiscaw Road, Craiganlet                                    | 9,775       | Sept 2011 |
| Temporary Counter | Dunlady Road, Craiganlet  | 5,971       | Dec 2011  |
| Temporary Counter | Hollywood Road, Craiganlet                                      | 7,068       | Oct 2011  |
| Temporary Counter | Craiganlet Road, Craiganlet                                     | 9,155       | Oct 2011  |
| Temporary Counter | Whinney Hill Road, Hollywood                                    | 7,627       | Dec 2010  |

Newcastle, Co. Down: Sustainable Urban Drainage System

Mr Hazzard asked Minister for Regional Development for his assessment of the performance of the retention tank and Sustainable Urban Drainage System in Newcastle, Co. Down during the flooding on Thursday 5 July 2012.

(AQW 13666/11-15)

Mr Kennedy: I have been advised by Northern Ireland Water (NIW) that the recently constructed storm retention tank and associated wastewater pumping station at Castle Park, Newcastle are currently being commissioned and have not yet transferred over to NIW. In the circumstances no telemetry data is available to assess detailed performance but an inspection by NIW shortly after the rainfall event on 5 July 2012 found the retention tank performed as designed during the incident and the pumping station had started to return the captured flow back to the sewerage system.

Written Answers to Questions

Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister

Nomination Form for an Honour

Mr Lyttle asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail the how their Office determines which nomination form for an honour to submit to the Cabinet Office when a person who resides outside Northern Ireland submits a form to their Office.
(AQW 2681/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness (The First Minister and deputy First Minister): Where the nominee is resident in Northern Ireland and the activities for which recognition is being sought relate wholly or primarily to here, the nomination is referred to the Honours Secretariat in the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister.

Nominations where the activities relate to elsewhere are referred to the Cabinet Office for consideration.

Travel Costs

Mr Dallat asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail the travel costs incurred by (i) the First and deputy First Minister; and (ii) departmental officials in the last 12 months.
(AQW 3697/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The following table sets out the costs incurred by the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister in relation to travel costs in respect of the twelve months ended 30 September 2011.

|  | Year ended 30 September 2011 |
|--|------------------------------|
| First Minister and deputy First Minister | £41,569                      |
| Departmental Officials                   | £262,879                     |

Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, pursuant to AQW 4775/11-15, whether the Executive is currently making any plans to mark the occasion of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee, in consultation with the Department for Culture, Media and Sports.
(AQW 5595/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: At its meeting on 31 May the Executive agreed to present a gift to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

Evangelical Alliance Paper 'Seeking Peace and Prosperity'

Mr Lyttle asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for their assessment of the Evangelical Alliance paper 'Seeking Peace and Prosperity' which includes the proposition that the Programme for Government should set out a broader concept of prosperity to include well-being and a commitment to fostering good relationships.
(AQW 5989/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: There are five overarching and inter-connected priorities in the draft Programme for Government which, collectively, will help us work towards our vision of a shared and better future. Priority two, "Creating Opportunities, Tackling Disadvantage and Improving Health and Wellbeing" and priority four, "Building a Strong and Shared Society" are intended to deliver interventions that encourage personal and community development both socially and economically.

Number of Children Living in Poverty

Mr Moutray asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail the number of children in the (i) Upper Bann; (ii) Banbridge; (iii) Lurgan; and (iv) Portadown areas who were deemed to be living in (a) relative poverty; (b) mixed poverty; and (c) absolute poverty in each of the last five years.

(AQW 6636/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Department for Social Development, Analytical Services Unit publishes annually the Households Below Average Income report.

WAVE Trauma Centres

Mr Cree asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, pursuant to AQW 9649/11-15, whether the WAVE Trauma Centres are in a position to provide the services necessary for military personnel who have medical problems and mental health issues as a result of active service overseas.

(AQW 10515/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: WAVE receives funding from our Department via the Community Relations Council to be used for the benefit of Victims and Survivors who have suffered as a result of the conflict here. The definition of those who can be assisted is contained within Article 3 of the Victims and Survivors (Northern Ireland) Order 2006.

WAVE does not receive funding from any other government provider.

AQW 8311/11-15

Mr Eastwood asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister why AQW 8311/11-15, which was due for answer on 23 February 2012, remains unanswered.

(AQW 10644/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: A response to AQW 8311/11-15 was issued on 14 May 2012.

Peter Hain Controversy

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, in light of the Peter Hain controversy, whether the Attorney General still enjoys their confidence.

(AQW 10832/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Attorney General is statutorily independent of the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister, the Northern Ireland Executive and the Northern Ireland Departments.

The Attorney General enjoys the confidence of the First Minister and deputy First Minister.

However, any individual proceedings undertaken by the Attorney are a matter for the Attorney alone.

Interministerial Groups

Mr Swann asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister how many Inter-Ministerial Groups are in existence.

(AQW 11353/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: There are currently 10 Inter-Ministerial Groups in existence.

Interministerial Group

Mr Swann asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister how many times each Inter-Ministerial Group has met in each of the last five years.

(AQW 11354/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The number of meetings of each Inter-Ministerial Group is set out in the following table:

| Title of Group   | Number of Meetingsin the last 5 years |
|--|---|
| Executive Sub-Committee on the Economy                       | 8   |
| Ministerial Road Safety Group                                | 4   |
| Inter-Ministerial Group on Domestic and Sexual Violence      | 3   |
| Ministerial Group on Mental Health and Learning Disabilities | 5   |
| Ministerial Co-ordination Group on Suicide Prevention        | 3   |

| Title of Group                                   | Number of Meetingsin the last 5 years |
|---|---|
| Executive Sub Group on Welfare Form                     | 5   |
| Budget Review Group                                     | 15  |
| Ministerial Sub-Committee on Children and Young People  | 8   |
| Executive Sub-Committee on Poverty and Social Inclusion | 3   |
| Programme for Government                                | 1   |

Interministerial Group

Mr Swann asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister which Minister has lead responsibility for each Inter-Ministerial Group. (AQW 11355/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The lead Minister or Ministers for each Inter-Ministerial Group is set out in the following table:

| Title of Group  | Lead Minister(s)                               |
|--|---|
| Executive Sub-Committee on the Economy                       | Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment          |
| Ministerial Road Safety Group                                | Minister of the Environment                           |
| Inter-Ministerial Group on Domestic and Sexual Violence      | Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety |
| Ministerial Group on Mental Health and Learning Disabilities | Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety |
| Ministerial Co-ordination Group on Suicide Prevention        | Minister of Health, Social Services and Public Safety |
| Executive Sub Group on Welfare Form                          | Minister for Social Development                       |
| Budget Review Group  | First Minister and deputy First Minister              |
| Ministerial Sub-Committee on Children and Young People       | Junior Ministers OFMDFM                               |
| The Executive Sub-Committee on Poverty and Social Inclusion  | First Minister and deputy First Minister              |
| Programme for Government Programme Board                     | First Minister and deputy First Minister              |

Interministerial Group

Mr Swann asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister who is responsible for calling a meeting of an Inter-Ministerial Group. (AQW 11357/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: It is the responsibility of the lead Minister or Ministers to call a meeting of an Inter-Ministerial Group.

Key Achievements of the Executive

Mr Mitchel McLaughlin asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, on the fifth anniversary of the restoration of the political institutions, to outline the key achievements of the Executive in the past five years. (AQO 1878/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: Since the restoration of the political institutions five years ago, we have been through a very tough economic period. In spite of that, we delivered a range of key achievements which are benefiting people now and will do so for many years into the future. We exceeded our targets in terms of promoting investment and jobs; securing almost £2.6 billion in investment commitments and £487 million in annual salaries; promoting 15,565 new jobs; safeguarding 5,329 existing jobs and supporting 8,267 new local business starts between 2007/08 and 2009/10. A total of £4.8 billion was delivered in gross capital investment through our Investment Strategy during the period 2007/08 up to 2009/10 and in addition, a number of major road schemes were completed, improving journey times and safety on our Key Transport Corridors. Investment of more than £1 billion in water improvements has been delivered during the previous Programme for Government, as well as a range of new Health and Social Care developments, including over £500 million worth of investment in completed and ongoing works in our hospitals.

Our achievements reaffirm the importance the Executive attaches to supporting economic recovery and providing the foundations for tackling disadvantage. Our achievements to date promise a stronger, more qualified, healthier environment and have set the foundations to re-balance the economy, tackle disadvantage and promote fairness and equality. The recent agreement of a challenging, balanced and extensive Programme for Government, with a clear focus on tangible delivery of economic and social goals, clearly shows the desire to further enhance the pace of delivery.

More information on important initiatives which have been delivered since 2008 are also outlined in the current Programme for Government 2011-2015.

The Gathering: An Irish Homecoming

Mrs D Kelly asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether they intend, at the next North/South Ministerial Council meeting, to raise the collaborative opportunities which the The Gathering: An Irish Homecoming offers the Northern Ireland economy. (AQO 1931/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We can confirm that The Gathering was raised at the North South Ministerial Committee Plenary meeting held on 15 June 2012. It was agreed that the Tourism Ministers would meet to discuss how benefits from this can be maximised for both jurisdictions.

Ministers' Hospitality, Gifts, Meetings and Overseas Travel

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether any arrangements, similar to those prevailing at Westminster, exist whereby information on Ministers' hospitality, gifts, meetings and overseas travel is published quarterly; and, if not, whether they will consider introducing such arrangements.

(AQW 12439/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Northern Ireland Executive has not introduced such arrangements but may consider doing so at a future date.

Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry

Mr Eastwood asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister to detail (i) the level of funding their Department has allocated to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012 in Derry; and (ii) if their Department has not allocated funds to the event, how much it is willing to provide towards the running costs of £15,000.

(AQW 13229/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: OFMDFM has not allocated funding to the Foyle Pride Festival 2012.

Community Relations Council Staff

Mr Allister asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister, pursuant to AQW 12129/11-15, what action has been, or is planned to be, taken against the Community Relations Council staff member who failed to declare a relevant interest.

(AQW 13353/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: The Community Relations Council has advised us that no staff member failed to declare a relevant interest where and when required.

Equality Commission Survey into Discrimination

Mr P Ramsey asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister for their assessment of the recent Equality Commission survey into experiences of, and attitudes towards, discrimination.

(AQO 2293/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: We welcome the research as it contributes to greater understanding and information in relation to the experiences of, and attitudes towards, discrimination.

Fuel Payments for Cancer Patients

Mr Lyttle asked the First Minister and deputy First Minister whether winter fuel payments will be made available to cancer patients next year.

(AQW 13590/11-15)

Mr P Robinson and Mr M McGuinness: Each scheme under the Social Protection Fund should be considered as exceptional, stand alone schemes. Future funding allocations will be decided on the basis of need, priorities and proposals.

Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure

Illegal or Unlicensed Nets

Mr Swann asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, pursuant to AQW 6140/11-15, how officials from her Department were able to identify the persons to whom the warning letters were issued.

(AQW 7295/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín (The Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure): When Fisheries Protection Officers speak to any individual in connection with a potential breach of fisheries legislation they will ask them for some form of identification to confirm their identity.

If individuals do not have any identification available there are a number of checks that the officers may carry out to verify the identity of an individual.

Centenary of the Formation of the Royal Ulster Constabulary

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure whether the centenary of the formation of the Royal Ulster Constabulary will be included in the decade of commemorative anniversaries which the Executive is co-ordinating.

(AQW 11545/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The political, social and cultural consequences of what happened during the decade of 1912-22 reverberate to this day. The Executive agreed that it was appropriate and necessary to set an inclusive tone to examining major centenaries such as, for example, the Ulster Covenant, the Easter Rising, World War 1, the rise of the Labour Movement, Universal Male and Limited Women's Suffrage, and Partition.

These significant events influenced or were the direct cause of multiple developments such as the establishment of the Civic Guard (later renamed the Garda Síochána na hÉireann); the Irish Citizen Army; the Ulster Volunteer Force; the Irish Volunteer Force; and the formation of other groupings. I therefore have no doubt that these wider developments will be examined by a diverse range of organisations and interested individuals as a result of the major centenaries and the inclusive approach being advocated by the Executive.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure to detail the number and percentage of people (i) considered for inclusion; and (ii) successful, in all ministerial appointments since 2007, broken down by perceived community background.

(AQW 13174/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: The tables below sets out information on ministerial appointments made since 2007.

Table 1 Ministerial Appointments

|                           | Community Background |          |                    |
|---------------------------|----------------------|----------|--------------------|
|                           | Protestant           | Catholic | Neither or Unknown |
| Applications              | 310                  | 224      | 74                 |
| Number successful         | 53                   | 44       | 37                 |
| % successful              | 17.10                | 18.75    | 52.70              |
| % of overall appointments | 39.55                | 32.84    | 27.61              |

Boxing Strategy

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure whether the upcoming Boxing Strategy will directly address the factors which are perceived to discourage Protestant and Unionist participation in the sport, including the selection of venues for competitions, such as that experienced by the Sandy Row Boxing Club.

(AQW 13501/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: My boxing strategy initiative, together with the associated business case for funding, is intended to help the sport directly address any factors that evidence indicates act as barriers to participation in boxing. The initiative should also assist the sport to promote inclusivity, including at venues selected for competition, so that anyone, regardless of community background, who wishes to take part in boxing at participative and competitive levels is clearly not discouraged from doing so.

Boxing in Northern Ireland

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure if the present governing body for boxing in Northern Ireland fails to take adequate steps to address sectarian barriers to participation, whether she will take steps to compel governance changes, as was the case with the Irish Football Association.

(AQW 13504/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: Neither I nor my Department has or can compel governance changes on any sports governing body, including the Ulster Provincial Boxing Council (UPBC) and the Irish Football Association. However, through Sport NI, the Department will seek to exert influence in order to encourage a sport to undertake governance changes where it deems this to be necessary. In the case of boxing, this process is already ongoing. Sport NI has invited the UPBC to be one of the first organisations to go through the new Equity Standard for sport. This is a mechanism for encouraging better governance and administration, widening access and increasing participation in sport by under-represented individuals, groups and communities.

Ministerial Appointments

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Culture, Arts and Leisure, pursuant to AQO 2324/11-15, what positive measures are being put in place to address the disparity in the number of Protestants who are successful ministerial appointments.

(AQW 13587/11-15)

Ms Ní Chuilín: There is no disparity to address in terms of the number of Protestants who are successful in ministerial appointments.

All DCAL's public appointments are made in line with the Code of Practice issued by the Commissioner for Public Appointments NI. Appointment competitions are regulated by the Commissioner for Public Appointments.

Department of Education

Equality Impact Assessment on Preparatory Schools Funding

Mr Weir asked the Minister of Education, pursuant to AQW 11155/11-15, why the publication of the Equality Impact Assessment on preparatory schools did not occur when expected.

(AQW 12679/11-15)

Mr O'Dowd (The Minister of Education): Unfortunately the completion and presentational issues on the final EQIA report took slightly longer than anticipated with staff involved in this exercise also dealing directly with a range of queries from schools, prior to and immediately following schools' closures for the summer.

The Final Equality Impact Assessment on the Proposal to Withdraw Funding from the Preparatory Departments of Grammar Schools has now been published on the Department's website. Respondents to the EQIA have been advised that this Report is now available.

Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment

Electricity Bills that are in Excess of £1 Million per Annum

Mr Campbell asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment what progress is being made to assist employers whose electricity bills are in excess of one million pounds per annum and whose competitors' bills in other nations are considerably lower.

(AQW 9220/11-15)

Mrs Foster (The Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment): My Department does not have a direct role in the setting of electricity tariffs; however my Department, along with the Utility Regulator, strives to create market conditions to put downward pressure on prices for all consumers.

I have been examining the feasibility of Invest NI providing financial assistance to a limited number of Large Energy Users who could show that by making a significant capital investment, they could reduce their energy costs. As I advised the Assembly on 13 March, Invest NI is willing to consider providing financial assistance on a pilot basis, under its normal Selective Financial Assistance schemes, to Large Energy Users who have proposals for capital expenditure which will make a significant impact on energy efficiency and therefore reduce their costs and improve competitiveness.

Additionally, the UK Government has announced proposals to assist Energy Intensive Industries through provision of a £250m fund to help offset the costs associated with decarbonisation of electricity generation. Individual companies will have to make a case for inclusion in the scheme.

Fusion and Acumen Programmes

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment how many jobs were created under the Fusion and Acumen programmes; and how many of these jobs still existed after the Intertrade Ireland subsidy had ended.

(AQW 13667/11-15)

Mrs Foster: Analysis for the period 2008 to 2011 shows that 313 jobs were created through the Acumen programme.

During this same period a total of 419 jobs were created through Fusion projects.

Fusion and Acumen Programmes

Mr Allister asked the Minister of Enterprise, Trade and Investment to detail the total cost of the Fusion and Acumen programmes, including staff, PR and marketing costs; and how the success of the programme is being monitored.

(AQW 13668/11-15)

Mrs Foster: InterTradeIreland has commenced three phases of each of its Fusion and Acumen programmes. The third phase of each is currently on-going while the first and second phases of each have concluded.

The expenditure to date is as follows:

|                             | Fusion - £'000 | Acumen £'000 |
|-----------------------------|----------------|--------------|
| Phase 1*                    | 3,651          | 2,445        |
| Phase 2*                    | 10,788         | 2,658        |
| Phase 3 (To 30th June 2012) | 9,093          | 1,481        |

The success of both programmes is monitored through mid-term and final evaluations for each phase. These evaluations are conducted by independent consultants who are appointed through a competitive tendering process. Evaluations are conducted in accordance with departmental guidelines. In addition, conclusion reports are completed for each project and InterTradeIreland carries out monitoring visits with each of the companies up to three years after completion.

Department of the Environment

Peatlands

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment (i) what action his Department is taking to preserve peatland; and (ii) for his assessment of the potential carbon emissions that may result from the destruction of peatlands.

(AQW 7268/11-15)

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): The Department undertakes a wide range of actions to preserve semi-natural peatland habitats. The best examples of peatland habitats have been designated and are managed as Special Areas for Conservation (SACs) or Areas of Scientific Interest (ASSIs). Published habitat action plans for blanket bog and lowland raised bog deliver positive actions for peatland across Northern Ireland. The implementation of these plans is being co-ordinated by the Peatland and Upland Biodiversity Delivery Group chaired by NIEA.

The estimated stock of carbon held in soils in Northern Ireland is 386 million tonnes with 162 million tonnes (42%) occurring in peatland habitats. Peat extraction for fuel (mainly from blanket bog) was estimated to have released between 75,936 and 126,623 tonnes of carbon a year (tC/yr) in 1990 – 1991. This fell to between 6,481 and 10,807 tC/yr in 2008. However, peat extraction for horticulture increased from an estimated 30,000 tC/yr in 1990-1991 to 36,000 tC/yr in 2007-2008.

A range of other land management activities affect carbon emissions from peatlands including drainage, land reclamation, afforestation, burning, over-grazing and development. These are difficult to quantify but can result in significant emissions of carbon.

Tree Preservation Orders

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to detail the number of trees felled between the application for, and the imposition of, Tree Preservation Orders in each of the last three years.

(AQW 7366/11-15)

Mr Attwood: When an application for a Tree Preservation Order is received, sites are prioritised in terms of known threats to the trees, and site inspections are undertaken by a small dedicated team in Planning Headquarters.

Since the purpose of the Tree Preservation Order legislation is to protect trees which have high amenity value, felled trees do not form part of the consideration, when trees on a site are being assessed.

Transfer of Planning Functions to Local Councils

Mr Weir asked the Minister of the Environment for an update on the proposed transfer of planning functions to local councils. (AQW 9433/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Planning powers will transfer to councils in circumstances to be determined by the Executive. A sustainable planning system will be handed over to councils – my officials are developing a work force planning model and reviewing fees to make sure that the right number of people are in the right offices and that there is sufficient income to cover costs.

My Department is committed to working with councils to ensure a smooth transition – this includes pilot projects to test different aspects of the proposed arrangements, capacity building, and formal training for councillors.

The reforms to the planning system contained within the Planning Act (Northern Ireland) 2011 will result in a modernised system transferring to councils with quicker local development plans, faster decisions on planning applications, faster and fairer appeals, and tougher and simpler enforcement.

In advance of the transfer of powers to councils my Department is bringing forward a Bill that will accelerate the implementation of a number of those reforms, to be administered by the Department. My Department intends to introduce the Bill in this Assembly session and is working on the associated subordinate legislation required to implement the reforms pre transfer of planning powers. This will maintain the momentum of planning reform by allowing the planning system to benefit from these reforms at the earliest possible date.

Planning Application F/2010/0092/F

Mr Dickson asked the Minister of the Environment for an update on planning application F/2010/0092/F. (AQW 11316/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Ornithology information required by NIEA was received on 2 April 2012, and advertised as a second addendum for this application on 20 April 2012. Roads clarification was received on 12 April 2012. Environmental Health clarification was received on 17 May 2012.

To date 447 objections have been received for this application, no objections have been received in response to the 2nd Addendum.

This application was presented to Larne Council on 18 June 2012 as an approval. A deferral was requested and granted for this application. The deferred office meeting was held on 28 June 2012. Reconsideration is ongoing and it is anticipated that this application will be re-presented to Larne Council on the 6 August 2012.

Road Haulage Operators

Mr Allister asked the Minister of the Environment what action is taken against road haulage operators, in relation to their operations within Northern Ireland, who are found to be using illegal fuel outside Northern Ireland, or who are otherwise breaking the law. (AQW 12038/11-15)

Mr Attwood: No licences have yet been refused or revoked because of the use of illegal fuel. This is primarily because to date it has been the policy normally of HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) not to prosecute operators found to be using illegal fuel, and instead to rely on the use of fixed penalties. It has also been HMRC's policy not to provide information to my Department on any other penalties imposed, on the grounds that they have no authority to do so. That said, officials in the DVA know of at least one case where an operator received a penalty, that HMRC refused to confirm and that DVA did not take further action in relation to an operator licence. I have asked DVA to explain this approach and how many similar cases have been brought to their attention.

However, as provision of this information would enable the use of illegal fuel to be taken into account when determining an application for an operator's licence, or when considering whether a licence should be retained, I instructed officials to contact HMRC again to seek the sharing of information and to tell HMRC my views, and I can confirm that a memorandum of understanding is now being drafted that will provide for enforcement information to be shared between HMRC and the Driver & Vehicle Agency in the future. I consider the previous approach by HMRC as an impediment to enforcement.

Any other breaches of the law are taken into account in determining an applicant's or licence holder's repute, and such breaches can lead to the refusal of a licence or the revocation of an existing licence.

Planning Applications for Minerals Extraction or Minerals Plant/Machinery

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment how many planning applications for minerals extraction or minerals plant/machinery, which have been refused in the last five years, were retrospective. (AQW 12164/11-15)

Mr Attwood: In the last five years the Department refused 9 applications for minerals extraction or minerals plant / machinery. Of these 9 applications, 2 were retrospective. I have instructed officials to provide further details on all cases and I will forward same to the Member.

Sustainable Charcoal

Mr D McIlveen asked the Minister of the Environment what action his Department has taken to promote the use of sustainable charcoal produced in the UK.

(AQW 12280/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I am aware of this issue and research around sustainable charcoal. An intervention that reduces carbon emissions, helps address climate change and helps employment would have my backing. DOE has no particular legal vires on the issue but I will write to DETI and OFMDFM advising of your interest.

Vehicle Excise and Registration Act 1994

Mr A Maginness asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 4075/11-15, for an update on the Department for Transport bringing vehicle licensing services in Northern Ireland into line with those provided in Britain.

(AQW 12567/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency in Swansea have been examining how they can deliver an integrated IT system to Northern Ireland that would bring vehicle licensing services here into line with those in Britain and provide online applications, more services from Post Office and other enhanced services to motorists. I enclose a copy of the statement of Mike Penning (DoT) which has updated the position.

A separate study is also examining options for the future delivery of vehicle licensing services following systems integration. I believe that NI drivers should have the full range of services.

I have written to Justine Greening, Secretary of State for Transport, expressing my support for the delivery of these services to customers in NI but emphasising my opposition to any reduction in jobs in NI as a consequence of these changes. I have been assured that no decisions will be made without further consultation with me.

I have met also the Department for Transport Minister, Mike Penning twice; and provided a dossier to London on how to protect local DVA jobs; have met the Secretary of State, Owen Patterson, to urge that he support my argument; have written to the NI MP's to urge they use their influence and so on.

I believe I have made a full case for the retention of DVA jobs or the retention of the full profiled jobs at Coleraine. I hope my argument will prevail. I have kept the Union informed of my actions.

Exemption of Pre-1960 Classic and Historic Vehicles from MOT Testing

Mr Frew asked the Minister of the Environment why pre-1960 classic and historic vehicles are subject to annual MOT tests, when Westminster will be removing this requirement on 18 November 2012.

(AQW 12981/11-15)

Mr Attwood: The Department has consulted on possible exemption of certain categories of historic vehicles from MOT testing and the Environment Committee, at its meeting on 22 March 2012, considered the synopsis of responses to the Department's consultation. The responses indicated that there is broad support for exemption of pre-1960 vehicles from periodic testing.

The Committee was content with the Department's proposed way forward, which was to develop policy on the basis of the consultation responses that would make use of the exemption in Roadworthiness Directive 2009/40/EC concerning the periodic testing of pre-1960 vehicles.

There have been significant European Commission (EC) policy developments since that time. On 13 July 2012, the EC published a 'Roadworthiness Package' that, amongst other things, addresses periodic roadworthiness tests for motor vehicles, therein, making changes to the rules that apply to historic vehicles. The proposals are expected to be introduced no earlier than August 2014.

If implemented as currently drafted, the proposals will narrow the parameters within which the department can provide for exemptions to historic vehicles, as the definition of a historical vehicle is more prescriptively described.

The Department's policy intentions remain the same; that is to make exempt pre-1960 vehicles from the MOT regime, but I have to have regard changing legislative context, to ensure that any changes we make are not made redundant by incoming EC Regulations.

I expect to be in a position to provide further clarification on the Department's position in September, but subject to the above, would wish to take forward exemptions for certain categories.

Black and Minority Ethnic Network 'BME Link'

Ms Lo asked the Minister of the Environment, in relation to the Black and Minority Ethnic Network 'BME Link' set up by the Department of Justice, what consideration he has given to introducing a similar network within his Department.

(AQW 13094/11-15)

Mr Attwood: I have asked officials to provide further details on the BME Link, the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender network and the Carers network in place in DOJ. I consider these structures have importance and impact. I will look closely at the models and advise the member further.

Tony Bazley's Involvement with Tamboran

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment to detail (i) whether he and his Department were aware of Tony Bazley's involvement with Tamboran prior to October 2011; (ii) whether he declared an interest at the Council for Nature Conservation and the Countryside meetings; and (iii) if not, whether his position will be reconsidered.

(AQW 13396/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Dr Tony Bazley informed the Chairman of the Council for Nature Conservation and the Countryside (CNCC) of his involvement with Tamboran Resources in writing on 28 October 2010. This was proper and good practice and it should be acknowledged as such. Indeed the chair of CNCC has written to me, advised me that the interest was stated and that Dr Bazley confirmed that he would withdraw from CNCC if appropriate.

The Department became aware of Dr Bazley's connection with Tamboran when he gave a presentation to CNCC on shale gas on 30 September 2011.

I understand no further reason has arisen for Dr Bazley to declare an interest at CNCC since that time.

Dr Bazley is an acknowledged geologist. The potential conflict of interest must be and must be seen to be managed properly. I have informed officials and the CNCC that this is the case, but I want to make it clear that there is currently no basis for Dr Bazley to conclude his membership of the council. The CNCC advises me that it intends to produce a public register of declared conflicts. I have asked that other bodies under my control do likewise.

The Chairman of CNCC, Patrick Casement, has consistently responded to queries of this nature that the potential conflict of interest is being managed properly and that Dr Bazley remains a committed and valuable member of the Council.

Moreover, I have to say that it is an incongruous place for the argument presented by some that a person otherwise well qualified for a position, should be excluded because of one aspect of their wider work. That is not a good standard to operate against and diminishes the contribution of CNCC ordinary members, who are also voluntary.

That said there is an issue that, having declared an interest, CNCC then agreed to have a presentation from that member on the very issue where an interest had been stated, and in the knowledge that the issue was contentious and may give rise to public concern. Patrick Casement has informed me that it was the Council which requested this presentation. Nonetheless I have advised the Chair that I do not consider that this was a wise course of action.

Planning Applications in areas Formerly Designated as Green Belt Land

Mr Agnew asked the Minister of the Environment how many planning applications have been (i) received; and (ii) approved, in areas that were formerly designated as green belt land in the draft (a) Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan ; (b) Magherafelt Area Plan; and (c) Banbridge, Newry and Mourne Area Plan, since the introduction of PPS 21,

(AQW 13553/11-15)

Mr Attwood: Based on a spatial search, all planning applications falling wholly within the greenbelt designations from the relevant plans have been identified. Within the period 1 June 2010 to 6 July 2012, 2672 planning application have been received and 2476 have been approved by the Department within Green belt locations associated with (a) Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan; (b) Magherafelt Area Plan; and (c) Banbridge, Newry and Mourne Area Plan. This data is broken down by Area Plan in the table overleaf.

| Relevant Area Plan                         | Applications Received | Applications Approved |
|--|-----------------------|-----------------------|
| Belfast Metropolitan Area Plan 2015        | 1452                  | 1266                  |
| Magherafelt Area Plan 2015                 | 96                    | 89                    |
| Banbridge, Newry and Mourne Area Plan 2015 | 1124                  | 1121                  |

Please note: This information has been sourced from a live database, is subject to change following validation, and will not equate to any finalised official statistic which may be later published on the topic.

It is important to note that applications received in the year may not have had a decision issued within the same time period and applications decided in the year may not have been received in the same time period. Therefore direct comparisons between figures cannot be made.

Shale Gas: Radioactive Substances

Mrs Overend asked the Minister of the Environment, pursuant to AQW 10298/11-15, in relation to the extraction of shale gas by hydraulic fracturing, to detail (i) what constitutes a minor use of radioactive substances; (ii) how the benefit of the use is assessed; (iii) how an industry is defined as local; and (iv) how the legislation effects foreign-owned companies.

(AQW 13691/11-15)

Mr Attwood:

- i) A minor use of a radioactive substance is one where the level of risk associated with its use is sufficiently low to make it suitable for control under the Radioactive Substances Exemption Order regime.
- (ii) The Exemption Orders are a mechanism for providing a “light touch” level of regulation over those beneficial uses of radioactive substances that are of low risk to people and the environment. In the case of hydraulic fracking there is no direct “use” of radioactive substances. The radioactivity, in the form of naturally occurring radioactive material arises incidentally in one of the waste streams generated during the extraction process and would be defined as radioactive waste. It is unlikely that this waste would be “out of scope” of the legislation or suitable for control under the Exemption Order regime. Based on experience elsewhere in the UK it is proposed that an authorisation under the Radioactive Substances Act 1993 would be required to accumulate and/or dispose of this waste.
- (iii) The Radioactive Substances Exemption (Northern Ireland) Order 2011, the Radioactive Substances Act 1993 and the Radioactive Substances Act 1993 (Amendment) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2011 apply to any activity taking place in Northern Ireland whether carried out by a “foreign-owned” company or a locally registered one.

Department of Finance and Personnel

Miscellaneous Educational Services

Mr Kinahan asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel, in relation to the Miscellaneous Educational Services budget, to detail what discussions he has had with the Minister of Education (i) regarding the lack of detail available on the budget; and (ii) to ensure that there is effective budgetary oversight in relation to the expenditure of the £13.771 million.

(AQW 13024/11-15)

Mr Wilson (The Minister of Finance and Personnel): I have had no discussion with the Minister of Education specifically in relation to the Miscellaneous Educational Services budget that the question refers to. However, I can inform the member that this category includes provision for the Sports Initiative, spend on certain Special Educational Needs activities, pupil support and counselling, Young Enterprise schemes, the Exceptional Circumstances Body and certain payments in relation to the School Improvement Programme. Further, a draft paper on the Review of the Financial Process, which proposes the Department of Education provides more detailed information on its budget than is currently the case, has been circulated to Ministerial Colleagues. The aim of the Review is to create a more transparent public expenditure process that meets the needs of the Assembly and the Executive.

Unfunded Costs

Mr Cree asked the Minister of Finance and Personnel to outline the individual nature of all unfunded costs to which the Executive have made a commitment, for which there is no provision within the current budget.

(AQW 13592/11-15)

Mr Wilson: The Executive's key commitments are defined within the Programme for Government. In addition, the Executive may agree further commitments on an ongoing basis as part of its normal business. OFMdFM is the only department with full insight into the totality of Executive commitments. For that reason I am not in a position to comment on any ‘unfunded costs’ in this respect.

Department for Social Development

Disposal of Capital Assets

Mr Weir asked the Minister for Social Development to detail the capital assets of which his Department intends to dispose in each of the next three years.

Note 1: Relates to a perfecting title exercise where some 100 folios of land, consisting of road bed, are wrongly held under DSD title and are to be transferred to DRD. Total acreage of this land is 79 acres.

Note 2: This is a small portion of land being transferred to Derry City Council to facilitate the construction of Guildhall terrace and ramp to Harbour Museum.

Note 3: Strabane Score site will be marketed through the issue of a Development Brief later this year/early next year. However, even if a preferred developer is identified through this process, the land will not transfer to the developer until the proposed development is complete, possibly towards the end of 2015.

Note 4: The Fort George site comprises 14 acres providing a major regeneration opportunity within the central area of Londonderry. Ilex urban regeneration company are responsible for its redevelopment. An outline planning application was submitted in July 2012 with a Development Framework which demonstrates the overall urban design concept for the site. The Department plans to lease part of the site to the North West Regional Science Park in 2013/14 however DSD will retain the freehold for the site, but the land will be controlled by the Science Park.

Note 5: assets acquired in relation to Northside Urban Village Regeneration Framework; to be disposed off via development brief.

Welfare Reform Bill: Royal Assent

Mr McCallister asked the Minister for Social Development what is the timescale for the Welfare Reform Bill to receive Royal Assent before any breach of parity occurs.

(AQW 13603/11-15)

Mr McCausland: It is normal practice for a Northern Ireland Social Security Bill be introduced as soon as possible after the corresponding Westminster Bill has received Royal Assent, in this case, the Welfare Reform Act 2012 received Royal Assent on 8th March 2012.

The Department for Work and Pensions accept that some delay between the Great Britain Act and the corresponding Northern Ireland Act is inevitable, as Northern Ireland legislation can only be introduced to the Assembly after the Great Britain legislation has achieved Royal Assent and a number of pre-introductory legislative processes are completed. On previous occasions, this delay was not regarded as a breach of parity as our aim has always been to facilitate the passage of the Bill and obtain Royal Assent in as timely a fashion as possible here.

I should explain that the pre-introductory legislative processes include seeking confirmation from the Departmental Solicitor's Office and the Attorney General that any proposed Bill is within the legislative competence of the Assembly, as well as seeking the consent of the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland on the inclusion of provisions which deal with excepted matters under section 4(1) of, and Schedule 2 to, the Northern Ireland Act 1998. These approvals and consents have all been received and I can confirm that I have issued a paper to the Executive seeking their agreement to introduce the Bill to the Assembly. However, this agreement will not be secured until after the summer recess.

Local Advice Services

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) where funding for local advice services will originate after March 2013; (ii) who will administer the funding; and (iii) how funding will be allocated to bodies.

(AQW 13643/11-15)

Mr McCausland: Funding for local advice services in 2013/14 will continue to be provided through my Department's Community Support Programme. Local Councils will continue to administer that funding, taking responsibility for the commissioning of advice services in their local areas.

Funding for Advice Services

Mr P Ramsey asked the Minister for Social Development whether a consultation exercise will be carried out with stakeholders on the delivery of funding for advice services from March 2013.

(AQW 13644/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My Department has no plans to carry out a consultation exercise with stakeholders on the delivery of funding for advice services from March 2013.

Funding for advice services will continue to be made available in 2013/14 through my Department's Community Support Programme, with local councils continuing to take responsibility for the administration of funding and the commissioning of local advice services.

Welfare Reform Bill

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development for an update on the timescale for the introduction and implementation of the Welfare Reform Bill.

(AQW 13645/11-15)

Mr McCausland: At this stage no date has been arranged for introduction and implementation of the Welfare Reform Bill to the Assembly as I am awaiting the Executive's consideration of the final policy proposals of the Bill and for its agreement to the introduction of the Bill to the Assembly.

Funded Posts in the Community and Voluntary Sectors

Mr Durkan asked the Minister for Social Development to detail (i) the number of jobs currently funded (a) in full; and (b) in part by his Department; and (ii) how many of the posts are in the community and voluntary sectors.

(AQW 13648/11-15)

Mr McCausland: My Department supports a broad range of services directly through the core Department, and also through the core Department, and also through the Northern Ireland Housing Executive and local councils. Given the broad range of services and initiatives supported, the information requested is not readily available.

In the interest of helpfulness it has been identified that, as a result of funding provided directly by the core Department, approximately 961 individuals are employed by the voluntary and community sector as part of service delivery arrangements. Detail as regards those funded in (a) full, and (b) in part, is not available.

Employment and Support Allowance Appeals

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development, pursuant to AQW 13259/11-15, given the impact that further medical evidence may have on Employment and Support Allowance appeals, what consideration has been given to introducing a questionnaire to enable claimants' GPs or specialists, to provide further opinion and evidence before a decision is made.

(AQW 13671/11-15)

Mr McCausland: The customer is responsible for providing Employment and Support Allowance with all relevant medical evidence in support of their claim to the benefit. However, there is a procedure in place to obtain further evidence from a claimant's GP in cases where it is likely that the evidence may allow the healthcare professional to advise either that significant disability is likely or that Support Group criteria are likely to apply. On some occasions, this will remove the need for the customer to attend a medical examination. In addition, customers are provided with two opportunities to provide further evidence that may prevent their claim progressing to an appeal. Social Security Agency Decision Makers contact customers before making a disallowance decision if the existing medical evidence does not support an award of Employment and Support Allowance, in order to give the customer the opportunity to supply additional medical evidence. The decision maker will take this new evidence into account before making a final decision. The Social Security Agency also contacts customers upon receipt of an appeal. This is to provide the appellant with the opportunity to supply any additional evidence that may result in the disallowance being reconsidered and therefore remove the need for an appeal.

Work Capability Assessments for Employment and Support Allowance

Mr McGlone asked the Minister for Social Development, pursuant to AQW 13259/11-15, what consideration his Department has given to (i) providing assistance to Employment and Support Allowance claimants for the costs associated with providing further medical evidence; (ii) the responsibilities of GPs, hospitals and others for providing the evidence; (iii) the quality and the cost of the evidence; (iv) the non-return rate, of evidence sought; and (v) the onus for seeking additional material resting with the decision maker and his Department, as the claimant may well be under stress due to their health situation.

(AQW 13672/11-15)

Mr McCausland:

- i) In accordance with the legislation governing eligibility and payment of Employment and Support Allowance, it is the customer who is responsible for providing all relevant medical evidence in support of their claim to benefit. As the provision of letters of evidence is regarded as a private service, it is a matter for the GP to decide what fee they wish to charge for providing a letter of evidence.
- ii) GPs and Hospital Consultants are independent contractors. Therefore, under the terms of the General Medical Services contract there is no requirement for them to provide letters of evidence in respect of an individual claim for Employment and Support Allowance.
- iii) As the provision of letters of evidence is regarded as a private service, and as GPs are independent contractors, the cost and quality of evidence provided is a matter for the individual GP.
- iv) The information requested is not available.
- v) Throughout the process for claiming Employment and Support Allowance the responsibility remains with the customer to provide all relevant medical evidence in support of their claim to benefit. The Social Security Agency does ensure customers have a number of opportunities to supply this evidence. The Social Security Agency Decision Maker considers all available evidence in relation to a customer's claim before making a decision to entitlement. This will include information from the medical questionnaire, the healthcare professional's assessment and any other relevant information provided. The requirement to seek GP and/or further medical evidence is dependent on the circumstances of each individual case. As a safeguard for vulnerable customers, the Atos healthcare professional will seek further medical evidence where it is likely that the evidence may allow them to advise either that significant disability is likely or that Support Group criteria are likely to apply. On some occasions, this will remove the need for the customer to attend a medical examination. It is also usual for the Atos healthcare professional to request further medical evidence in cases where the available evidence suggests the customer is particularly vulnerable, for example, where there is noted to be an appointee, or where there is a diagnosis of a severe and enduring mental health condition.

Arm's-length Bodies and Quangos

In Bound Volume 75, page WA 235, replace the answer to question AQW 12227/11-15 asked by Mr Gardiner with:

Dr Farry (The Minister for Employment and Learning): There are currently fifteen bodies classified as NDPBs of the Department for Employment and Learning.

From 2008 until October 2009, there were officially seven such bodies: three NDPBs, three tribunal NDPBs, and one non-executive advisory committee. The latter was abolished in October 2009, leaving six NDPBs.

The role of NI Adviser for Employment and Skills was established in October 2008, however the Department of Finance and Personnel officially classified the post as an Advisory NDPB in November 2011, bringing the total number of NDPBs back to seven.

The Office of National Statistics reclassified the six Further Education Colleges and the two University Colleges as NDPBs from an administrative perspective from 1 April 2012. The addition of these eight bodies results in the current total of 15 NDPBs.

The Certification Officer for Northern Ireland is classed as a Statutory Office Holder, rather than an Arm's Length Body.

Further information may be found in the 'Public Bodies & Public Appointments Annual Report 2010-11', published by OFMDFM. This is available from the Assembly Library under Reference number R351.41609 NOR. The next edition of the Annual Report will reflect the new classification of the NI Adviser for Employment and Skills.

University of Ulster and Queen's University, Belfast: Sick Absence

In this Bound Volume, page WA 28, replace the answer to question AQW 12212/11-15 asked by Mr P Ramsey with:

Dr Farry (The Minister for Employment and Learning): As the Department does not hold the information requested, my officials contacted Queen's University and the University of Ulster. The information has been placed in the Assembly Library and on my Department's website <http://www.delni.gov.uk/>.

Environment

MOT Test: Pre-1960 Vehicles

In this Bound Volume, page WA 181, replace the answer to question AQW 12348/11-15 asked by Mr Elliott with:

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): The Department has consulted on possible exemption of certain categories of historic vehicles from MOT testing and the Environment Committee at its meeting on 22 March 2012 considered the synopsis of responses to the Department's consultation. The responses indicated that there is broad support for exemption of pre-1960 vehicles from periodic testing.

The Committee was content with the Department's proposed way forward, which is to develop policy on the basis of the consultation responses that would make use of the exemption in Roadworthiness Directive 2009/40/EC concerning the periodic testing of pre-1960 vehicles. The Department is progressing its detailed consideration of the appropriate way forward, to ensure that the requirements of the Directive are met in the detail of the policy.

I have instructed officials, however, to proceed to exempt certain category of vehicles independent of what the EU finally determines. I understand that this is the approach being adapted by the Department for Transport in London.

Wind Turbines/Farms

In this Bound Volume, page WA 174, replace the answer to question AQW 8648/11-15 asked by Mr Kinahan with:

Mr Attwood (The Minister of the Environment): In the response issued on 25/06/2012 there was a mistake in the column for the 2010/11 year in relation to Carrickfergus Local Government District (LGD). There was in fact only 1 single turbine approval in the Carrickfergus LGD and not 10 as previously stated.

This typographical error was brought to light when the Carrickfergus Advertiser asked for location details in the Carrickfergus area and the statistician in Planning revisited the data.

Roads Service: Vesting of Land

In Bound Volume 75, page WA 174, replace the answer to question AQW 11649/11-15 asked by Mr Weir with:

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): My Department's Roads Service has advised that it has received a number of requests to improve visibility for drivers exiting the Ballyvester Road junction in Donaghadee. These include one from the Donaghadee Road Safety Committee with support from the PSNI and residents of both the Millisle and Ballyvester Roads.

When assessed, the scheme was determined to be high priority, and accordingly was included in a programme of improvement works. However, the scheme requires the acquisition of land from adjacent landowners.

For various reasons, it is becoming common practice for Roads Service to acquire land for road schemes through the vesting process, particularly where there are multiple landowners and where there is unregistered land, as in this case. This ensures clear title to land and helps to ensure that schemes are progressed in a timely fashion.

Roads Service: Vesting of Land

In Bound Volume 75, page WA 174, replace the answer to question AQW 11650/11-15 asked by Mr Weir with:

Mr Kennedy (The Minister for Regional Development): My Department's Roads Service has advised that initial contact was made with residents of Millisle Road and Ballyvester Road following a site survey by the design engineers in April 2009. Following progress on the design of the scheme, Roads Service officials met with landowners in March 2011. Further meetings have taken place and all residents have been offered an opportunity to respond to the Department's proposals prior to the Notice of Intention to Vest.

Further consultation included a Freedom of Information request from a resident seeking all information relating to the proposal. In addition, a number of letters of objection were received during April and May 2011 and each reply contained a description of the proposal and an offer to meet to discuss residents' concerns. All those who submitted objections declined the offer of a meeting with officials.

However, the Department's offer to meet with residents is still available, should they wish to discuss the proposed scheme.
