

Our baby was starved of oxygen and only lived for three days. I can't process how intelligent people can contemplate aborting such children because they appear to be a burden to parents and society as a whole.

If he had lived he would have been loved and would not have been treated as a second class citizen.

I wish this Bill success for Northern Ireland, for the people despite our difficulties, are compassionate and were not brought up to discriminate and be mean to disabled people.