The Committee noted it considered the SL1 on 27 November and noted this SR makes miscellaneous amendments to SR2025 No.165 – The Farm Sustainability Standards Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2025, the Committee noted it agreed on 6 November that it had no objection to SR2025 No.165 subject to the report of the Examiner of Statutory Rules.

The Committee noted a drafting error came to light which requires an amending SR as SR2025 No.165 that made amendments to Commission Implementing Regulation 809/2014 (Article 74) failed to fully remove reference to negligence.

The Committee noted on 27 November it agreed that the Department proceeds to make the SR.

The Committee noted the Benefits of bovine EID include :ease of use; quicker and more reliable identification of cattle in the event of disease outbreaks; improved transparency and efficiency in supply chains; improved health and safety; and reduction in human error.

The Committee also noted EID tags are likely to be £1.50 to £2 more expensive than the traditional non-EID tags but the Department has stated it will consider financial support for herd keepers and for the Department, capital expenditure of less than £10,000 is required to upgrade the NIFAIS database to incorporate and support bovine EID.

The Committee also noted that key industry stakeholders welcomed plans to introduce bovine EID and were keen it is rolled out at the same time as the bovine genetics project to minimise the impact on herd keepers.

Issues raised by Members included the feasibility of an all island approach to operation of EID tags and incentives to farmers and possible financial assistance once the scheme becomes mandatory.
