

Good afternoon,

I received a letter today with reference to the 'Scrap Metal Dealers Bill'. I have read both documents about this proposed bill and have a few questions. I am the [redacted] of Gerald Hamill and Sons and we have a waste management license. The bill does not make it clear whether a current waste management license will cover us under this bill or whether we will need to apply for a separate scrap license. The waste management license costs us over £2000 per year so any additional costs for a new license would not be welcomed especially given the current downturn in the value of scrap metals.

I would be grateful if you could consider my concerns,

Gerald Hamill & Sons
