Funding for Victims and Survivors Groups in Northern Ireland

NIAR 576-14

This paper summarises the arrangements for funding for groups providing support to victims and survivors of the conflict in Northern Ireland.

Key Points

This paper summarises two elements of the provision of services to victims and survivors of the conflict in Northern Ireland:

1. Policy development, particularly the current ten year strategy for victims and survivors
2. Funding arrangements for victims and survivors, particularly funding for groups providing support services

Strategy for Victims and Survivors

Following the first major strategy for victims and survivors in 2002, Reshape, Rebuild, Achieve, the current ten year strategy launched in 2009 set out the framework for victims and survivors as follows:

- Commission for Victims and Survivors to advise OFMdfM
- Victims and Survivors Forum to advise the Commission
- Victims and Survivors Service to administer support to victims and survivors

A review of the first four years of the Commission found that it had not had the impact intended. At the time of writing, the Commissioner had resigned and was in the process of being replaced.

Independent assessments of the Victims and Survivors Service in 2014 found serious weaknesses in its operation, specifically in governance arrangements. At the time of writing both the Chair of the Board and the Chief Executive had resigned and are in the process of being replaced.

Funding Arrangements

Victims and survivors and groups supporting them can receive funding from a range of sources. The two most important sources are:

1. From OFMdfM formerly via the Community Relations Council, now via the Victims and Survivors Service
2. From the EU Peace III Programme

Victims and Survivors Service

£50 million has been allocated for victims and survivors by OFMdfM for 2011-2015, currently through the Victims Support Programme (for groups) and the Individual Needs Programme (for individuals). Two of the six Schemes of the latter programme were deferred at the time of writing (Schemes 1 and 5) and one (Scheme 6) closed for applications on 30 June 2014.

The distribution of groups receiving funding is uneven across Northern Ireland. There is a close correlation between numbers of groups and numbers of deaths in the conflict in some areas (e.g. West and North Belfast, Upper Bann) but less so in others (e.g. West Tyrone and Fermanagh/South Tyrone). However, the Victims and Survivor Service has stated that there is no duplication of services.

There does not appear to be a stipulation for apportioning money between running costs and services for beneficiaries in assessment guidance.

Peace III

Priority 1.2 of the Peace III Programme (2007-2013) has provided funding for groups providing services to victims and survivors totalling approximately £37 million, although 14 recipient groups are not located in Northern Ireland.

110 groups have received funding from OFMdFM since 2011 and 36 groups from Peace III that have not already availed of OFMdFM funding suggesting, exclusive of other funding sources, 136 organisations have received funding for providing services to victims and survivors from the two main sources.

1 Introduction

The book Lost Lives records 3712 deaths between 1966-2006 attributed to the conflict in Northern Ireland¹. While police statistics have suggested around 47,500 people were physically injured during the years 1968-2003, other estimates suggest a figure closer to somewhere just under 100,000². In terms of psychological injury, there are no reliable figures, and it has even been suggested that no-one in Northern Ireland would have escaped damage during the conflict³.

This paper summarises the current Strategy for Victims and Survivors and reviews provision for addressing the needs of victims and survivors of the conflict. The focus is on statutory funding for organisations providing support to victims and survivors, which is mapped across Northern Ireland.

The appendices to this paper list the organisations that have been allocated funding from the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister (OFMdFM), either through the Community Relations Council or the Victims and Survivors Service (VSS), and organisations allocated funding under Priority 1.2 of the Peace III Programme, which is aimed at support to victims and survivors of the conflict.

2 Victims and Survivors Policy

During the conflict, people affected physically or psychologically by violence were generally dealt with through statutory health care or informally through community-based support groups. During the 1990s, there was a greater realisation of a need for specific care for people affected by the conflict. A number of official reports on the needs of victims and survivors were produced over the next decade, examples of which are summarised here:

- Living with the Trauma of the Troubles⁴ - This report examined issues for the care of victims and survivors by health and social services professionals and set out a number of recommendations for work with individuals affected by the conflict.
- We Will Remember Them⁵ - Sir Kenneth Bloomfield comprehensively set the scene and listed extensive recommendations for dealing with victims and survivors, including a review of the criminal injuries compensation scheme, the need for sensitivity across a range of sectors, addressing the physical and financial needs of victims and survivors, provision of advice and the need for a Commissioner or Ombudsman for victims and survivors.
- Victims Unit consultation – In 2001, the Victims Unit launched a consultation on a strategy for victims and survivors, which set out how the Executive might respond to the needs of those affected by the conflict, with a vision of⁶:

A society where the suffering of victims is recognised; a community that acknowledges the pain of the past and learns lessons for the future; and an administration that provides, in conjunction with others, support and services in a proactive and sensitive manner to meet the needs of victims.

A proposed 27-point action plan covers a range of measures, beginning with a requirement on all government departments to reflect the needs of victims in their corporate planning documentation.

- Reshape, Rebuild, Achieve - The strategy for victims and survivors launched in 2002 included a commitment that actions would be victim-centred, equitable, inclusive, focused and integrated⁷. A range of actions to support victims was set out, including resourcing support workers at Trauma Advisory Panels located at the Health Boards, measures for better planning and co-ordination across government and with the community and the funding framework was set out, as in the chart below:

Type of Funding	Period Covered	Total Amount Available	Available to	Contact Points	Purpose of Funding
EU programme for Peace and Reconciliation. (Peace II)	2000-2004 (although funds can be spent up until 2006).	£6.67m	Groups/organisations developing significant projects which must satisfy strict criteria	Northern Ireland Voluntary Trust.	To encourage peace and reconciliation. Targeted mainly at training and re-employment.
Core-funding.	2002-2004	£3m	Groups working with victims and survivors.	Provided by the NIO, but no decision yet taken as to who will administer.	To allow work of groups to continue and develop.
Strategy Implementation Fund.	2002-2004	£3m	Government Departments and agencies.	Victims Unit, OFMDFM.	To allow Government Departments and Agencies to take forward projects to assist victims.
Small grants scheme.	2002-2004	£750,000	Groups/projects working with victims and survivors.	Administered on behalf of the NIO by the Community Relations Council.	Grants for relatively small amounts of funding to allow groups or projects to carry out specific pieces of work.

In addition, the Northern Ireland Memorial Fund was described as⁸:

an independent charity established in 1998 by the NIO to provide assistance to individuals in a wide range of areas... such as small grants, education and training, pain relief, amputee and wheelchair assessment and respite breaks.

- Services for Victims and Survivors consultation⁹ - The next stage of policy development included a broad range of potential changes, such as the future of the Trauma Advisory Panels (TAPs), the operation of the Inter-departmental Working Group, creation of a one-stop shop for victims and survivors, funding and consideration of a Commissioner for Victims and Survivors.
- Strategic Approach for Victims and Survivors consultation¹⁰ - The current framework for victims and survivors policy was subject to consultation in August 2008. This envisaged a simplified but interactive structure consisting of a Victims and Survivors Forum advising a Commission for Victims and Survivors, which would in turn promote the interests of victims and survivors and provide advice to OFMDFM. A Victims and Survivors Service would provide services on behalf of OFMDFM.

Strategy for Victims and Survivors

The new strategy was launched in November 2009 and was to be 'victim and survivor centred, built around'¹¹:

- a. The Commission for Victims and Survivors
- b. A Victims and Survivors Forum
- c. A new Victims and Survivors Service

The relationship between these structures is summarised in the following diagram¹²:

¹¹ OFMDFM (2009) Strategy for Victims and Survivors, Belfast: OFMDFM, p.2: <http://www.ofmdfmi.gov.uk/strategy-for-victims-and-survivors-november-2009.pdf>.

¹² Ibid., p.17.

The outline timescales for the establishment of structures and delivery of services was set out as follows¹³:

Commission for Victims and Survivors established	June 2008
Victims and Survivors Forum established by Commission	September 2009
Victims and Survivors Service initiates commissioning of services in response to comprehensive needs assessment	As soon as assessment is received and considered
Victims and Survivors Service is established to provide support for groups and individual victims and survivors	June 2010
Continuation of existing core funding scheme operated on behalf of OFMDFM by the Community Relations Council coupled with an enhanced development grant scheme to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • provide greater support for befriending services and carers; • enable victims and survivors groups to make the transition to new funding arrangements and to participate in the Victims and Survivors Forum; and • address issue of respite care. 	April 2009 – March 2010 This will continue as the Service is established to ensure no gap in provision to either groups or individuals.
Arrangements made by OFMDFM for the development of a service to support GPs in dealing with trauma and identification of additional areas of cooperation	July 2008 – March 2010

The Commission for Victims and Survivors¹⁴ was established in May 2008 under the Victims and Survivors (Northern Ireland) Order 2006, as amended by the Commission for Victims and Survivors Act (Northern Ireland) 2008¹⁵. The Commission is designed to¹⁶:

- promote an awareness of matters relating to the interests of victims and survivors and of the need to safeguard those interests;
- keep under review the adequacy and effectiveness of law and practice affecting the interests of victims and survivors;
- keep under review the adequacy and effectiveness of services provided for victims and survivors by the new Victims and Survivors Service and services provided by statutory, community and voluntary groups;

- advise the Secretary of State, the Executive Committee of the Assembly and any body or person providing services for victims and survivors on matters concerning the interests of victims and survivors;
- take reasonable steps to ensure that the views of victims and survivors are sought concerning the exercise of the Commission's functions; and
- make arrangements for a Victims and Survivors Forum

Initially, an interim Commissioner for Victims and Survivors was appointed in 2005, then with the establishment of the Commission, there were four Commissioners. Following the resignation of one Commissioner in 2010, three Commissioners continued in post. In 2012, a single Commissioner was again appointed¹⁷, who resigned in 2014 and at the time of writing has not yet been replaced¹⁸.

A review of the Commission's first three years in operation (2008-2011) concluded the following¹⁹:

Value for money - it was concluded that: given its level of grant funding and lack of sufficient performance against its key aims and targets at the time of the review, the Commission cannot be said to have provided value for money to OFMDFM or indeed the wider public purse in its initial three years.

Relationships - In terms of relationships with its stakeholders, the Commission has engaged in a variety of means to engage with and develop positive relationships.

The overall conclusion was that the Commission had not had the impact intended.

The Victims and Survivors Forum was intended to be a consultation and discussion body to contribute to the Commission's work programme, but also specifically²⁰:

- to support the Commission in developing a comprehensive needs assessment; and
- to examine issues surrounding the definition of 'victim'

The Victims and Survivors Service²¹ was established in April 2012 as an arms-length body of OFMDFM for the delivery of the Victims and Survivors Strategy and to distribute funding for victims and survivors.

The Commissioner for Victims and Survivors was asked in 2013 to carry out an independent assessment of the Service. This reported an 'organisation in crisis'²²:

...lacking in effective strategic governance, with weaknesses in communication and a model of service delivery that is process-driven and not people-centred.

The advice took into account the conclusions of two independent assessments of the operation of the Service:

WKM Solutions²³ – Conclusions of this review included:

- The lack of a fully constituted Board left the VSS without strategic leadership and oversight until December 2013
- The VSS also lacked policy development and basic operational management functions
- Poor relationships and communication exacerbated the difficulties of the VSS
- The Individual Needs Review (INR) is, quite simply, not fit for purpose

The report contains 23 recommendations for improvement.

Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accounting²⁴ – Conclusions of this review included:

- CIPFA found major weaknesses in governance of VSS up to December 2013
- CIPFA found that during the interim governance arrangements (April 2012 to December 2013), oversight of internal controls in VSS was weak
- There is no evidence in the Interim Board minutes of any Board role in setting strategic direction
- CIPFA found the Interim Board of VSS did not fulfil its role because of a number of weaknesses including the confusing role of the Chair and the Department on the VSS Board and the resultant conflicts of interest; the Board was too operational; there was a lack of evidence of challenge; a focus on process; and no proper management of risks
- CIPFA found that key relationships between OFMDFM, the Commission and VSS have been sub-optimal

²⁴ CIPFA (2014), Independent assessment of the Victims and Survivors Service, Belfast: CIPFA: <http://www.ofmdfmi.gov.uk/vss-independent-assessment-appendix-b-cipfa.pdf>.

- Despite these concerns CIPFA also found a strong willingness by VSS staff, the new Board and the Department to strengthen relationships to improve the services provided by VSS
- CIPFA found that gathering and providing information has been a difficult area for VSS
- A high level review of the Operational Manual noted many similarities to the processes adopted for EU funding programmes which themselves are generally considered to be at the bureaucratic end of the scale
- It is a weakness that the VSS has had no Internal Audit function hitherto

The report contains 32 recommendations.

It was noted in the Commission's advice that the VSS Board was working strategically to address these problems. However, both the Chief Executive and the Chair of the Board have resigned during the process of implementing the recommendations of the reports and advice from the Commission²⁵.

3 Funding for Victims and Survivors

This section summarises funding for victims and survivors from OFMdfM and the Peace III Programme.

Victims and Survivors Service

£50 million has been allocated for victims and survivors for the period 2011-15. £10 million was allocated for the current financial year, although the intention is to restore this to a baseline position of £11.3 million annually²⁶.

The Victims and Survivors Service (VSS) distributes funds for victims and survivors from OFMdfM, which were formerly distributed by the Community Relations Council and the Northern Ireland Memorial Fund²⁷. These funds consisted of the following at the time of writing:

- The Victims Support Programme (VSP), which provides funding of small (under £75,000) or large (£75,000+) grants for organisations which provide social support and health and wellbeing services to victims and survivors²⁸
- Individual Needs Programme (INP), which provides funding for individuals through six Schemes:
 1. Education and Training, deferred at the time of writing²⁹
 2. Care for Carers, which gives a cash payment of £500³⁰
 3. Support for the Injured 1, which has a personal allowance of £200³¹
 4. Support for the Injured 2, with a £1500 personal allowance³²
 5. Respite Breaks, deferred at the time of writing³³
 6. Financial Assistance, which included recipients of funding formerly from the Northern Ireland Memorial Fund, closed for applications on 30 June 2014 due to budgetary pressures³⁴

²⁶ Deputy First Minister answering AQO 6545/11-15 8 September 2014:

http://www.victimsservice.org/pages/index.asp?title=Scheme_5_Respite_Breaks.

The budget available for Scheme 6 for the period 2014/2015 is £1.644 million, for which there were 2119 applications, 187 of which were still being processed at the time of writing. The Scheme opened in two phases for 2014/15³⁵:

Phase 1 was for the Seriously Injured, defined as applicants who are in receipt of DLA High Rate Care Component. As in previous years, these applicants are NOT means-tested. All applications received under Phase 1 are processed by VSS to ensure that the applicant receives this level of benefit. This year, the eligible applicants have been offered an award of £1,000.

Phase 2 was for all other applicants. As in previous years, these applicants are means-tested. Scheme 6 is the only means-tested Scheme of support in the Individual Needs Programme. All applications received under Phase 2 are processed by VSS to determine whether the applicant's income is above or below the means-testing threshold. In keeping with instructions issued by the Department, VSS opened Phase 2 for applications for a period of 4 weeks, following which all applications were processed. The total budget available was then divided by the total number of eligible applications received, to arrive at a final award. All applicants to Phase 2 were advised of this process when applying for the Scheme.

The Individual Needs Programme opened for applications on 14 August 2014³⁶.

In all, letters of offer issued by or on behalf of OFMdFM to victims and survivors groups during the period 1 April 2011 to 31 March 2015 total £24,588,922.00³⁷. To be eligible for funding from the Victim Support Programme, groups must be³⁸:

Any constituted group or organisation providing services to victims and survivors, who have been affected by a conflict-related incident and resident in Northern Ireland.

The definition used for 'victims and survivors' is taken from the Victims and Survivors (Northern Ireland) Order (2006)³⁹:

⁴¹ Ibid., p.12.

It is not within the scope of this paper to assess value for money with regard to groups accessing funding for providing services to victims and survivors. Individual applications were not consulted in the compilation of this paper and available guidance does not appear to define limits on running costs in proportion with costs for direct services to victims and survivors.

The groups listed as having received funds for the support of victims and survivors via the Community Relations Council and the Victims and Survivors Service have been summarised in Table 1. This has been correlated with the numbers of deaths in each area (in this case, grouped by parliamentary constituency), to discern if there is a relationship between the number of groups and the perceived need by volume of violence.

Table 1: Numbers of Deaths 1969-2005 and Numbers of Organisations in Receipt of Victims and Survivors Funds from OFMdFM 2011-15 by Parliamentary Constituency⁴²

Location	No. Deaths	No. support groups
Belfast East	143	3
Belfast North	629	10
Belfast South	192	10
Belfast West	663	11
East Antrim	40	1
East Londonderry	83	2

South Antrim	72	1
South Down	94	3
Strangford	25	2
Upper Bann	152	3
West Tyrone	141	15
Grand Total	3,649	107

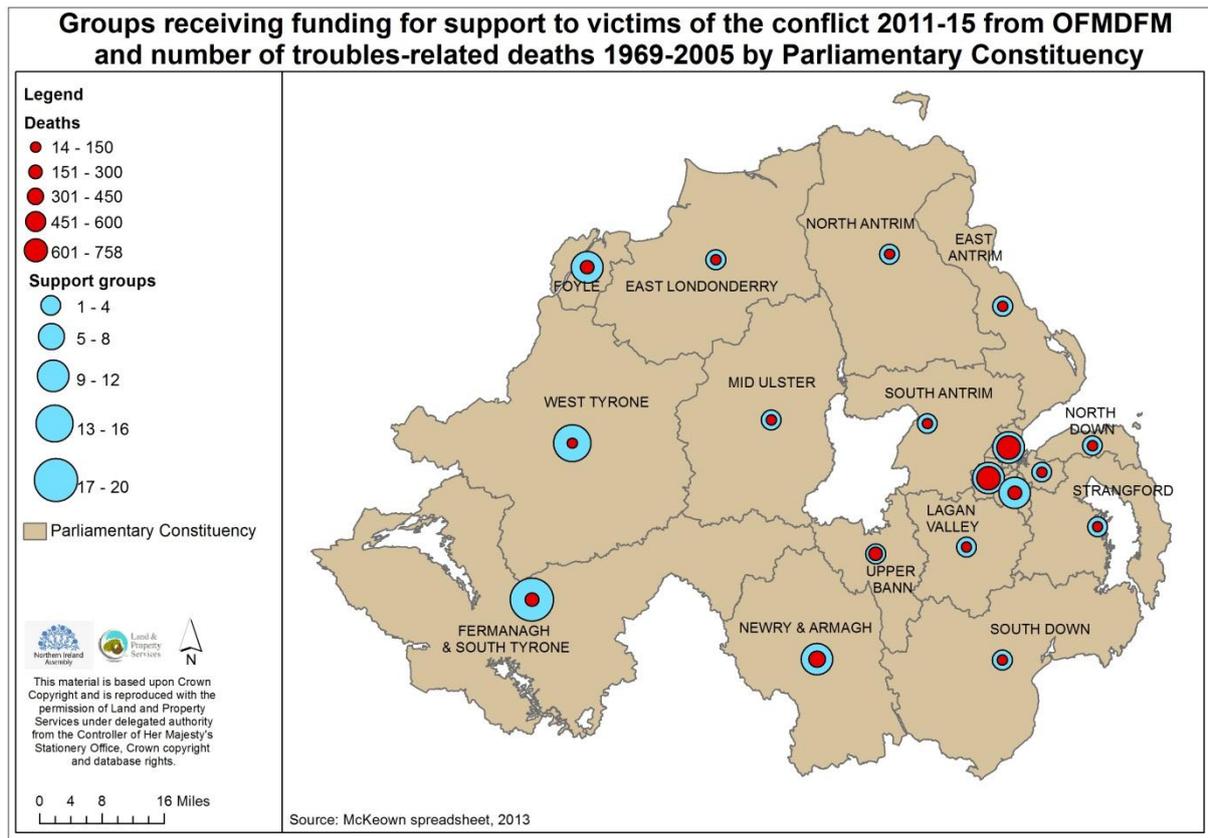

There are a number of caveats to be considered in relation to this data:

- Correlation is between the number of groups and deaths, rather than the amount of funding committed to each area.

⁴² Data on deaths from the Michael McKeown dataset, CAIN website, accessed 17 September 2014: <http://cain.ulst.ac.uk/victims/mckeown/index.html>; data on groups from Appendices 1-3 in this paper. There are in fact 110 individual organisations listed in these appendices, but three addresses were not available for the purposes of this table.

- The data uses deaths as a measure of conflict intensity and therefore potential victimhood, but this does not allow for impacts of the conflict on individuals where death may not have taken place
- The locations of organisations and the areas they provide services to may differ, for example, for organisations with offices in Belfast providing services across Northern Ireland
- Funding provision is not dependent on the nature of the organisation, but rather the services they provide, so some may be termed 'victims and survivors groups' while others are general service providers that also work with victims and survivors
- Specific services provided by organisations differ as to the nature and range of support and the constituency which they support, for example:
 - Mixed groups providing a range of services to victims and survivors
 - Groups supporting former member of the security forces and their families
 - Groups supporting other former combatants and their families
 - Groups with a campaigning focus
 - Organisations providing services to the general population as well as victims and survivors, such as psychological support or alternative therapies
 - Groups supporting particular sections of the community, such as women or young people

The data in Table 1 are presented in the map below.

The map suggests there is a relatively close correlation between deaths and organisations supporting victims in North and West Belfast and Upper Bann, less so in West Tyrone and Fermanagh and South Tyrone. However, along with the caveats listed above, access to support in rural areas may be a factor in a need for a greater number of groups in the west.

The issue of duplication of services between groups was raised in a briefing to the Committee for OFMDFM on 7 May 2014, to which the Chief Executive of the Victims and Survivors Service responded⁴³:

On the geographical location of some of the groups, we are satisfied that there is no duplication of services in those areas. It is not that clients are moving from one group to another and getting the same thing in different groups. You are absolutely right that people go to different groups for different things, and we are satisfied that those services are provided. The groups provide quarterly monitoring and evaluation reports that are signed off, and we are very comfortable with that. The board has asked the executive team to provide it with a geographical spread of services, and we are in the middle of doing that, to inform the commission and policymakers about how they may want to do that.

Peace III

The EU Special Support Programme for Peace and Reconciliation in Northern Ireland and the Border Region of Ireland, which became known as PEACE I, was established by the European Union to⁴⁴:

make a positive response to the opportunities presented by developments in the Northern Ireland peace process during 1994, especially the announcements of cessation of violence by the main republican and loyalist paramilitary organisations.

The initial programme was followed by further programmes to promote peace and reconciliation in Northern Ireland, as follows:

- Peace I - €667 million 1995-1999
- Peace II - €995 million 2000-2004
- Peace II Extension - €160 million 2005-2006
- Peace III – allocated €225 million for the period 2007-2013

According to the Operational Programme for Peace III⁴⁵:

The overall objective of the Peace III Programme is to reinforce progress towards a peaceful and stable society and to promote reconciliation in Northern Ireland and the Border Region. Building on the successes and lessons of the PEACE I (1995-1999) and PEACE II (2000-2006) Programmes, the PEACE III Programme will have a continued and renewed emphasis on reconciliation and will specifically focus on reconciling communities and contributing towards a shared society.

To this end, the Programme had two priorities, each having two key themes⁴⁶:

- Priority 1: Reconciling Communities:
 - 1.1 Building Positive Relations at the Local Level
 - 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past
- Priority 2: Contributing to a Shared Society:
 - 2.1 Creating Shared Public Spaces
 - 2.2 Key Institutional Capacities are Developed for a Shared Society

In this framework, Priority 1.2 provides funds for the support of victims and survivors of the conflict.

The Special EU Programmes Body is responsible for the delivery of the Peace III Programme, but a consortium of the Community Relations Council and Pobal⁴⁷ were appointed to deliver Priority 1.2 Acknowledging and Dealing with the Past⁴⁸.

Peace III has a total allocation of €333 million and the most recent annual report available from SEUPB states that €344 million has been committed (over-commitment to allow for predicted slippage)⁴⁹. This is not broken down by Priority, but a list of projects and allocations to Priority 1.2 reported in an Assembly Question answered in April 2014⁵⁰ totals €45,856,876.78⁵¹.

A list of projects funded under Priority 1.2 is at Appendix 4. This list shows 71 individual organisations received funding, 21 of which are also listed as having received funding for victims and survivors via the Community Relations Council or Victims and Survivors Service. A further 13 organisations are situated in the Republic of Ireland, as Peace III is a cross-border programme, and one in London. The remaining 36 organisations in Northern Ireland added to the 110 organisations in receipt of victims and survivors funding referred to above indicates that 146 separate organisations in Northern Ireland have been in receipt of money for the support of victims and survivors in that jurisdiction.

Other Programmes

Victims and survivors groups could apply for funds from any source, such as other Priorities from the Peace Programme or other community relations programmes. In most cases, it is not possible to differentiate what constitutes support to victims and survivors from other funded activities. Examples of significant funding sources are as follows:

- Community Relations Council funding schemes⁵²
- International Fund for Ireland⁵³
- Atlantic Philanthropies⁵⁴
